VOLUME 1 • NUMBER 5

NOVEMBER-DECEMBER, 1964

ENROLLMENT BOOM A CHALLENGE

Top Grid Stars Are Nominees

Scholastic Excellence Gives NCAA Award Chance to 66

Scholastic achievement of 66 of the nation's senior collegiate football standouts has been spotlighted this month by their nomination as candidates for the NCAA's inaugural $1,000.00 post-graduate scholarship awards.

Twenty-two recipients are to be chosen, eleven each from the major and college division classifications. Final decision is to be made by the Association's Scholarship Committee, December 13.

Quarterbacks Bob Timberlake of Michigan, Washington's Bill Douglas, and Jimmy Bell, Clemson, head the major list.

Three others—Ohio State's Arnold Chonko, Kansas's Ron Oelschlager, and Houston's Horst Paul—are also among those who have received most recognition for their gridiron exploits. All six of the above are 1964 National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholar-athlete award winners. Navy halfback star Pat Donnelly is a nominee.

A host of the country's top college division players are listed among the 40 nominations from the smaller colleges and universities. The University of the South's stellar captain, Frank Stubblefield, carried a 3.8 average (4.0 is straight A) in math and physics into his senior year. Kansas State Teachers' standout lineman, Bill Eikerman, is a 3.54 biology major.

Top average among the major university nominations is 3.9 in history by Baylor University's Rhodes Scholar applicant Mike Kennedy (shades of Bryon Whizzer White). Clemson quarterback Bell is a 3.84 pre-med student.

All but three of those nominated are majors in subjects other than physical education. Those with science majors dominate the list.

Busy NCAA Council Meeting Deals with Myriad Matters

While infractions announcements and policy support of the sports Federations rated headlines, more mundane, but nonetheless important matters were dealt with by the NCAA Council, meeting in New York, Nov. 1-4.

Up-to-date tabulation of member institutions under disciplinary penalty may be found at the end of this report. The Council's statement of principle relative to the "right and obligation to sanction" is reprinted on page two under "Council Counsels."

In other action the Council passed a resolution requesting U.S. professional football leagues to delay their player draft until after January 1, in future years (see box), determined resolutions it will sponsor at the forthcoming 59th annual Convention, and acted on the following additional matters:

Approved criteria for the 1965 summer baseball league operation as well as a mutual agreement between the Association, The National Collegiate Baseball Foundation, and the major professional baseball leagues.

Approved personnel of the Nominating Committee (for Association officers and Council personnel) as follows:

Dist. 1—Frank R. Thoms, Jr., Williams College (Ch.)

Theme Hits Facility Need

Chicago's Conrad Hilton Site of 59th Annual January Convention

The population explosion and burgeoning college enrollments are responsible for the theme of the 59th annual Convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

And when approximately 3,000 active and allied faculty, coaching and administrative personnel of the NCAA meet in Chicago's Hotel Conrad Hilton, January 8-14, the official emphasis will be:

"Expanding athletic facilities to meet the educational challenge of the future."

NCAA President, Robert F. Ray of the University of Iowa won't officially gavel the Convention to order until 10 a.m. Monday, January 11, but three busy days of preparation and concentrated activity will precede the NCAA's initial session.

The American Association of College Baseball Coaches and the National Collegiate Track Coaches Association get things started Friday, Jan. 8. The track coaches' meeting ends Saturday.

The American Football Coaches Association, with more than 1,700 members expected to be on hand, start its activities Saturday with a Rules Committee session, while the NCAA Council and College Committees are also slated that day.

Sunday's program will be highlighted by the baseball "Coach of the Year" dinner and the football coaches' Trustees dinner plus an increasing number of various committee meetings.

In keeping with the Convention theme there will be exhibits of new and (or) planned facilities from all size colleges and universities throughout the country. Convention arrangements director, Michael Cleary, of the NCAA executive office, reports that of nearly 300 member institutions heard from in

Pro Draft Resolution

"In the interest of minimizing potential conflicts between signings of two professional contracts and the eligibility of college football players whose seasons have not been completed, the Council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association addresses this request to the two American professional football leagues:

1. That their player selection drafts in the future not be held before January 1, and
2. If this is impractical for the current year, the 1964 drafts be held no earlier than November 30.*

*This resolution was dispatched to both the AFL and NFL, Nov. 3. Subsequently there was mutual agreement between the leagues and the NCAA committee on college professional relations that the draft be held November 28.

FEDERATION SUPPORT REAFFIRMED

The following statement of fundamental support of the Federation Movement, particularly in reference to the principle of "the educational community's right and obligation to sanction competition in which its student-athletes participate," is reprinted below.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, through official action of its Council, meeting in New York, November 1-4, 1964, here affirms its unqualified belief in and support of the sports Federations in which it has joined and in which it is participating as a constituent member.

In so doing and by thus supporting the fundamental principle of an educational institution's right and obligation to sanction the competition in which its student-athletes participate, the NCAA Council wishes to make absolutely clear:

1. That sanctioning authority is for one purpose alone: to encourage well-managed competition, not to inhibit it; to provide a broad base of wholesome and constructive competitive opportunity within the legitimate programs of all amateur organizations.

2. That this does not preclude sanctioning of meets and tournaments by other amateur sports bodies having a legitimate interest therein.

3. And, that if this fundamental educational right and obligation to sanction is restricted or denied by the action of any other amateur athletic organization, the curtailment of competitive opportunity will be the responsibility of that organization.

In recording its position of Federation support, the NCAA Council does so in accordance with a resolution adopted at the 57th National Convention of the NCAA, January 7-9, 1963, in Los Angeles, California, and which now is in full force and effect. The resolution is as follows:

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NCAA in Convention assembled that

1. The members of the Association reaffirm their full support of the amateur sports federations.

2. The member institutions of the NCAA will support only those meets and tournaments which have obtained sanctions from the established sports federations in basketball, track and field, baseball and gymnastics.

3. The member institutions of this Association will contribute to and participate with absolute priority and to the fullest extent in the programs of the Federations and they will provide competition, coaching personnel and facilities for Federations' development programs . . ."

This position received wholehearted membership support in 1963 and was endorsed enthusiastically by the 92 delegates to the Conference of Conferences, held in Denver, Colorado, July 20-21, 1964. This meeting set the following goals:

1. To participate in the federation movement in which the important policy decisions are made in a democratic manner with fair representation of the educational and athletic interests involved.

2. To provide an amateur athletic program consistent with the primary objectives of the student-athlete.

3. To provide as broad a base of sports participation as possible.

4. To realize and maintain strong international sports representation in the national interest.

Essential to the achievement of these common goals as recorded by the Conference of Conferences is the abiding conviction that the educational institutions in the United States have an historic and continuing obligation to approve the forms of athletic competition in which their student-athletes engage.

The most effective and appropriate means of meeting this obligation lies in the recognition and acceptance of the sanctioning authority of the Federations with which the NCAA is affiliated.

Well Said, Sir!

The following is an excerpt of a letter from the Rev. Wilfred H. Crowley, S.J., president of the United States Track and Field Federation, to Jay-Ehret Mahoney, President of the AAU, written November 23. Its validity, we think, is hardly subject to dispute.—ED.

I would assume that all sports groups in America, including the AAU, are willing to recognize a basic principle of American democracy. And that is, that the consent of the governed must determine the type, the structure, and dynamics of any organization claiming jurisdiction over any area of human endeavor carried on in a free society.

And since the school-college community and its affiliated members have freely consented to the structure and the policies of the Federation and have endowed it with jurisdictional responsibility, it should be able to operate within the framework of American democracy without controversy, particularly since it has made no monopolistic claims that would interfere with the legitimate functions of any other sports organization.

The Federation believes that jurisdiction over sports should reflect the same democratic ideas that we find in our American institutions. And the Federation is confident that reasonable men will recognize its position as being in conformity with our heritage of American freedom, especially since it is dedicated to service and not subversion in the sport of track and field. . . .

It is hoped that both the USTFF and the AAU can achieve their goals of advancing the sport of track and field; and, if not as partners, then in a relationship that will allow the principles of free enterprise to prevail and with the recognition of what the late President Kennedy referred to as "freedom in diversity."

SUGAR, ORANGE BOWL TRACK MEETS PLAN TO KEEP USTFF SANCTIONS

The annual Sugar and Orange Bowl invitational track meets, top December attractions of the sport, have requested and have received sanctions from the United States Track and Field Federation, it has been announced by USTFF Executive Director, Charles D. (Chic) Werner.

Officials of both meets, the Sugar Bowl competition at New Orleans slated for December 29, and the Orange Bowl event in Miami, December 30, will present their blue-ribbon events whether or not they are sanctioned by the AAU.

At publication deadline a potential state of cooperative sanction was in effect inasmuch as AAU sanction, which has been applied for, has not been withdrawn.

Each year these two outdoor attractions draw some of the nation's top cinder stars, open as well as collegiate.

Indoors, the Holiday meet at the University of Chicago, December 19, will be a USTFF-sanctioned meet and on January 30, the Oregon Invitational, the northwest's outstanding board competition, will be conducted under USTFF sanction. Both these meets will also request AAU sanction.

Werner said the December 5 Arizona State Federation meet at Arizona State University at Tempe and the Oklahoma City marathon at Oklahoma City University, December 12, carried USTFF sanction. And he listed the Senior Bowl invitational, January 1, at Mobile, Ala.; the Chesterfield, Jaycee invitational at Richmond Va., January 8; and a series of December, January, and February meets in Cincinnati as presently having received USTFF sanctions.

USBF TEAM SUCCESSFUL DURING OLYMPIC TRIP

Team Plays Before 45,000 at Tokyo

The baseball team of the United States Baseball Federation compiled an excellent 14-4-2 record during its trip to Hawaii, Japan and South Korea.

The team, which consisted of 21 players (19 collegians from NCAA member institutions and two servicemen who formerly played at NCAA colleges) and four coaches, played nine games in Japan in conjunction with the Olympic Games.

Rod Dedeaux, Southern California, was head coach for the team. He was capably assisted by Lee Eilbracht, Illinois; W. P. (Dutch) Fehring, Stanford; and Leo Gribkoff, U. S. Sub-Pac Base at Honolulu.

High point of the trip was when the USBF team played before 45,000 fans at Meiji Stadium in Tokyo. The United States tied the Tokyo University All-Stars in the first game, 2-2, and defeated the Tokyo Non-Pro All-Stars in the second, 3-0.

Everett D. Barnes, president of the USBF, was enthusiastic about the tour.

"The United States players were ambassadors of good will and made many Asian friends," Barnes said. "They were invited to visit other nations to play exhibition games against amateur teams, but lack of time and funds prevented acceptance."

The USBF underwrote all expenses for the trip. Although baseball is recognized by the U. S. Olympic Committee, the team was unable to gain status as an Olympic team to participate with other nations. If it had been so recognized, the receipts from the 45,000 persons at Meiji Stadium would have financed the cost of the entire trip.

"Tremendous interest was shown toward the American group and the games were attended by the presidents of many Asiatic Baseball Federations, including South Korea, Nationalist China, the Philippine Islands, the seven European federations and the United States," Barnes said.

Many baseball federation meetings were held to improve and expand both domestic and international baseball. Recommendations were adopted to hold an annual global world series in Honolulu in non-Olympic years.

Group Formulates Plans For Wrestling Federation

An organizing committee will meet in Chicago December 20 to plan a federation for the sport of wrestling, Terry McCann, a gold medal champion in the 1960 Olympics, has announced.

Convention

a pre-convention survey, 75 per cent have either completed new athletic facilities within the last two years or will have done so within the next two.

Monday, while the football coaches begin their main sessions, the NCAA delegates will participate in general round table discussions relative to the Association's position and objectives in the national sports federations, and the educational philosophy of sanctioning. They will hear reports from the Committee on Academic Testing and Requirements relative to establishment of a minimum scholastic floor for NCAA competition, the inter-conference letter of intent, and the impact of the accelerated academic calendar on athletic eligibility and scheduling.

Tuesday will see the mop-up of committee meetings with Wednesday devoted to the main business session of the NCAA and the windup of the AFCA program, climax of which is the "Coach of the Year" dinner.

The NCAA Council will hold a post-convention meeting all day Thursday.

In addition to the NCAA and coaching associations men-

McCann, director of youth-sports development for the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, said a planning conference would be held the next day, December 21, with all major wrestling organizations in the United States invited to attend.

The former Iowa wrestler, who overcame an early defeat to win the 125.5-pound Olympic title at Rome, said the Amateur Athletic Union would be invited to the conference and will be asked to join the federation.

He expressed grave concern for the showing of United States wrestlers on the international scene. As an example, McCann pointed out that the 1960 United States team won three gold medals, while the best it could do in 1964 was one bronze medal.

tioned above, the following affiliate groups and special organizations will also meet during the Convention week:

College Athletic Business Managers Association, College Sports Information Directors of America, National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and eight major athletic conferences.

Rebirth of 'Student Football' Hits Four Member Institutions

THE NCAA NEWS made a special request of one of the nation's most able and respected sports writers and editors, Bus Ham, of the Washington Post. It did so, noting that Bus had devoted more than unusual attention and affection as well as writing skill this fall to a noteworthy revival. Our grateful thanks to Bus for his response you will enjoy reading, below.

By BUS HAM, Washington Post

Something refreshingly different, yes, really rather wonderful, happened on a few college gridirons this fall.

It was a rebirth of "student football."

This is a game in which the players come out of the classrooms of their own volition for the pure fun of playing a game they have loved since boyhood.

It is a rebirth because this is the way the game was played almost everywhere shortly after the turn of the century when grandfather was carrying the ball.

At Georgetown, New York University, Fordham and Chicago, student athletes have revived the sport, and the reaction by educators, alumni, student bodies and the public has been a little breath-taking.

NYU played two games, the first with Fordham, the second with Georgetown, and the spirit of the occasion was delightful in both instances.

For the NYU-Fordham game, the Fordham student government called for volunteers to hammer together temporary bleachers because the seats at Jack Coffey field were torn down years ago. The job was completed on time and more than 13,000 spectators turned out for the game.

At the NYU-Georgetown game, it was estimated that 6,000 seats would be needed at Kehoe Field, high above the Potomac, but the response was so lively that hundreds stood along the sidelines in an audience of 8,000.

Old grads returned to these games as the "Station Wagon set," bringing the kiddies along for lunch off the tailgate, and it was like old-times with a pre-game parade, crowning of a beauty queen, a basketball game and a dance.

"It gave us something to cheer about for the first time since we gave up varsity ball in 1950," Georgetown alumni said, "and it was the most exciting experience in years, even if the quality of the football wasn't up to that of the old days."

None of these schools has any intention of returning to full-scale varsity ball but three or four games may be played by the student teams. In fact, Chicago already has a four-game modified schedule.

And each school has resumed football on a basis designed to fit its own requirements.
