THE NATIONAL COLLEGIATE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

VOLUME 2 • NUMBER 4

NOVEMBER-DECEMBER, 1965

NCAA TO HONOR U.S. OFFICIALS

Convention To Begin January 10

As is ever the case, the NCAA's jubilee Convention in Washington, D. C., January 10-13, will be anything but humdrum.

The year's largest gathering of athletic administrators, coaches and officials, affiliate, allied and just plain interested groups will descend on the nation's capital for the 60th time since the NCAA's founding in 1906 to deal with hundreds of myriad problems which plague, challenge and inspire the men of college sport. They'll number nearly 3,000.

To celebrate its jubilee, the NCAA will honor 50 distinguished members of the executive and legislative branches of the Federal Government—all varsity sports lettermen in their college days. Three cabinet members, 17 senators and 30 congressmen make up the list of honorees who will receive commemorative plaques during a special luncheon January 11 at the Sheraton - Park Hotel, Convention headquarters for the NCAA.

NCAA Backs Panel

NCAA stands behind Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's Arbitration Panel in dispute with AAU. The five men seated with Vice President Humphrey (third from left) are being looked to with considerable expectation in the hope they may be able to restore harmony in the administration of track and field as well as other amateur sports in the United States. They are left to right, Gen. David M. Shoup of Arlington, Va., former Marine Corps Commandant; Ralph Metcalf, Chicago alderman and internationally famous U.S. Olympic champion sprinter; Chairman of the Panel Theodore Kheel, distinguished labor arbitrator and lawyer of New York; Thomas Vail, publisher and editor of the Cleveland PLAIN DEALER, and Archibald Cox, President Kennedy's Solicitor General and Harvard University law professor. NCAA representatives present in Washington, December 14, when the appointment of the panel was announced by Vice President Humphrey are, left to right, Phillip B. Brown, NCAA legal counsel; Charles M. Neinas, assistant to the NCAA executive director; Walter Byers, NCAA executive director; Everett D. (Eppy) Barnes, NCAA president; and Donald B. Canham, University of Michigan, executive vice president of the United States Track Coaches Association.

Athletic Talent Abundant In 22 Scholarship Winners

A pleasing combination of outstanding athletic ability and superior academic achievement marks the 22 award winners of the NCAA's postgraduate scholarships in football.

The academic achievement was assured—a minimum grade point average of 3.0 (based on a 4.0 scale) was required—but the preponderance of elite athletes was not.

The 11 recipients in the University Division are Tony Yezer, Dartmouth; Sam Champi, Army; John Cochran, Auburn; Don Unverferth, Ohio State; Tom Lynn, Missouri; Eddie Whiddon, Baylor; Bill Krum, California; Joe Bellas, Penn State; Stan Hindman, Mississippi; Dave Fronek, Wisconsin, and Charles Arrobio, Southern California.

College Division Winners

chall, University of the South; Mike Ryan, St. Norbert; Mike Scrogin, William Jewell; Richard James, Eastern New Mexico; Stuart Bennett, Colorado Mines; Jim Wanless, Occidental; Jim Schindler, North Dakota State; Robert Adelaar, Lehigh, and Steve Smith, Davidson.

The scholarship offer carries just one prerequisite—that the recipient must enroll in a graduate program at the earliest opportunity except for military service or church obligations.

Four alternates were named for the University Division and three for the College Division. Alternates receive a scholarship in order of rank if any of the original winners cannot accept.

University Division alternates, in order, are Larry Anderson, Kansas State; James Groninger, Yale; Terry DeSylvia, Stanford, and Lawrence

20 New Members Join Association

NCAA membership has skyrocketed to an all-time record high with the addition of 20 new members in the last two months, Executive Director Walter Byers has announced.

There are presently 645 member institutions, conferences, associate and affiliated organizations belonging to the NCAA, Byers said. Association membership has more than doubled in the last 15 years, with 90 per cent of the increase coming in the rapidly expanding College Division.

Fourteen new active members are among the incoming group. Also included are four associate members, one allied conference and one affiliated organization.

New active members are:

Alcorn A&M College, Lorman, Mississippi
Biola College, La Mirada, California
California Western University, San Diego

The American Football Coaches Association will provide the largest single group of delegates to the combined meetings, approximately 1,700. They meet at the Shoreham, also January 10-13, and their Coach of the Year dinner on the final night will close out the entire conclave.

Actually, things get under way as early as Friday, January 7, when the United States Track Coaches Association members meets in the first of two daily clinics. The American Association of College Baseball Coaches begins three days of busy meetings Saturday, January 8, at the Mayflower Hotel. The baseball Coach of the Year dinner highlights their sessions, Monday, January 10. Also meeting are The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, the College Athletic Business Managers Association, College Sports Information Directors Association, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

COUNCIL COUNSELS

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED

The National Collegiate Athletic Association's supreme authority — its annual national Convention — will consider at this 60th session a variety of subjects which both reflect on the trends in higher education generally and which will blaze the trail for intercollegiate athletics in the future.

College-professional sports relations, establishment of minimum academic standards for student-athletes, a proposed return to single-platoon football and limited substitution—these are some of the prominent issues with which the Washington Convention will deal.

Seven of the proposed amendments to the NCAA constitution and by-laws come sponsored or endorsed by the NCAA Council. The proposal to eliminate unlimited substitution comes in the form of a resolution to be offered by the University of New Mexico, on behalf of the presidents of the Western Athletic Conference.

Following is a capsulized summary of proposed amendments:

From the Council

To the Constitution—Principles of Ethical Conduct—Incorporate the terms of the 59th Convention Resolution and subsequent referendum prohibiting member institutions and their personnel from accepting compensation, directly or indirectly for scouting or negotiating on behalf of professional sports organizations.

To the Constitution—Eligibility—Would refine the present five-year rule, enabling the split-season sport participant to complete a full final season's eligibility if he be eligible under the five-year rule during the first semester (or quarter) of that split-season.

To the By-laws—Committees—Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports would be increased from six to seven members with one member to be selected from NCAA Football Committee.

To the By-laws—Eligibility for NCAA Events—Would permit a freshman to become eligible for varsity sports upon completion of one academic year as defined by certifying institution and eliminate calendar year requirement.

To the By-laws—College Division Exceptions to Eligibility for NCAA Events—Would raise the male enrollment figure from 750 to 1250 to determine freshman eligibility for varsity NCAA college division competition.

To the By-laws—Limitation of Playing Seasons—Would permit scheduling of one 'club' team member of the Basketball Federation of the United States not to be computed in 26-game maximum allowable basketball season schedule.

To the By-laws—Exceptions to Playing Seasons—Would make it mandatory that games played on foreign tour during the permissible playing and practice season be computed in 26-game maximum allowable basketball season schedule.

From the Atlantic Coast Conference

To the Constitution — Principles Governing Financial Aid — Would limit the number of grants-in-aid or scholarships, full or partial to incoming students, freshman or transfer, to a maximum of 35 in football and five in basketball in any one year.

To the By-laws—1.6 Eligibility for NCAA Events—Would make it mandatory for incoming student-athletes, in addition to present requirements, to have a combined score of at least 800 on the verbal and mathematics sections of the Scholastic Aptitude Tests, or a composite score of at least 18 on the American College Test, whichever test is required of all applicants.

Reduce 1.6 requirement to 1.3 for freshman year performance only.

To the By-laws—Limitation of Playing Seasons—Would not permit basketball practice to begin prior to November 1, instead of October 15.

From the Southeastern Conference

To the By-laws—1.6 Eligibility for NCAA Events—Would move back the effective date of the 1.6 legislation from January 1, 1966 to January 1, 1967.

Would limit subsequent scholarship and grant-in-aid awards and eligibility (under the 1.6 provisions) to juniors and seniors rather than sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Would eliminate entire paragraph (2) of Article 4, Section 6-(b), thus eliminating all minimum 1.6 academic requirements for enrolled student-athletes.

From the Southwest Conference

To the By-laws—1.6 Eligibility for NCAA Events—Would add "institutional employment" and participation in "athletic practice sessions" to the restrictions on incoming student-athletes who do not qualify for aid under the 1.6 legislation.

From the Big Eight

To the By-laws—1.6 Eligibility for NCAA Events—Would move back the effective date of the first paragraph [Article 4, Section 6-(b) -(1)] of the 1.6 legislation from January 1, 1966 to January 1, 1967.

Western Michigan, Luther, St. Louis Final '65 Champs

Western Michigan, St. Louis and San Diego State are the first NCAA team champions for the 1965-66 academic year.

Western Michigan won the National Collegiate Cross-Country Championships at Kansas, St. Louis captured the NCAA Soccer Championship on its home grounds, and San Diego State ran away with the title at the National College Division Cross-Country Championships at Wheaton College.

Individual titlists at the cross-country meets were John Lawson, Kansas senior, at the University Division meet, and Gene Takle, Luther senior, at the College Division run.

Lawson easily won the cross-country meet, defeating runner-up Eamon O'Reilly of Georgetown by 150 yards. Doug Brown, Montana's ace, stayed with Lawson for four miles before he collapsed and was unable to continue. Defending champion Elmore Banton of Ohio was seventh. Western Michigan placed 5-14-17-22-23 to win the team crown without pressure.

Takle, who won the three-mile and six-mile runs at the College Division track meet last year, wasn't pressed, either. Dennis Boeher of Western Illinois was second and David Herren of South Dakota third.

St. Louis cruised to its fifth NCAA soccer championship in seven years by nudging Michigan State, 1-0, on a penalty kick by Olympian Carl Gentile. Gentile was the starting rightfielder on St. Louis' 1965 baseball team which finished third in the College World Series.

St. Louis reached the finals by dropping the 1964 champion, Navy, 3-1. Michigan State defeated Army by an identical score in the other semifinal contest.

Machinery Established For Soccer Certification

Machinery has been established to implement Article 3, Section 10-(d), NCAA Constitution, regarding certification of outside soccer teams.

The legislation, adopted at the 1965 NCAA Convention, prohibits collegiate players from competing on outside soccer teams during the intercollegiate soccer season or from competing on any occasion on an outside soccer team which has not been approved by the Council.

The Council passed the authority for approving the outside soccer teams to the institution's director of athletics for most of the first year until it could organize the machinery to implement the legislation.

Forms for approving outside soccer teams may be acquired from the Association's executive offices.

Athletic Talent Abundant

Marzetti, Boston College. College Division alternates, also in order, are Raymond Niznik, Beloit; Robert Martin, Cornell, and John Rhody, Dickinson.

This is the second year the scholarships have been awarded. Each winner receives a $1,000 scholarship payable to the university or professional school of his choice. Ten basketball scholar-athletes will receive awards later, as will 18 scholar-athletes in sports other than football and basketball.

The 18 "other sports" scholarships are being awarded for the first time this year. Only basketball and football awards were made in the program's first year of existence.

An NCAA Committee on Post-graduate Scholarships made the final selections for the scholarship awards. Chairman of the Committee is A. D. Kirwan, University of Kentucky. Members are Robert G. Bernreuter, Pennsylvania State University; Captain Peter W. Dawkins, U. S. Army; Leo A. Harris, University of Oregon; Dr. Jerome H. Holland, Hampton Institute; Carl A. Trocster, American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and Laurence C. Woodruff, University of Kansas.

Athletic Talent Obvious

Indicative of the athletic talent among the winners is the fact that four played on teams in bowl games (Auburn and Mississippi in Liberty, Missouri in Sugar, North Dakota State in Pecan). Dartmouth, the Lambert Trophy winner, and North Dakota State, ranked first in the nation among the smaller colleges

Alma College Wants To Complete Schedule

Alma College, Alma, Michigan, is interested in scheduling NCAA member institutions in football competition on November 12, 1966; September 30, 1967; November 11, 1967; September 21, 1968; and November 9, 1968.

Interested institutions should contact Charles A. Gray, director of Athletics, Alma College.

by the Associated Press and United Press International, also were represented.

Military Olympics Requests Help From Coaches, AD's

Coaches and directors of athletics at NCAA member institutions have been asked to aid the Conseil International du Sport Militaire (CISM) by notifying the organization when an outstanding athlete from their college is inducted into any branch of the armed services.

CISM, translated into English as the International Military Sports Council, is an organization dedicated to the promotion of goodwill through military sports competition. It is sometimes referred to as the Military Olympics, but, unlike the Olympics, is held annually.

In its 17-year existence, CISM has sponsored more than 200 international championships for more than 25,000 military athletes. Nineteen different sports championships are sponsored by CISM.

Team sports cover basketball, soccer, water polo, field hockey, volleyball and orienteering. Individual competition is held in fencing, swimming and diving, shooting, track and field, wrestling, boxing, parachuting, judo, modern pentathlon and cross-country.

Personnel at NCAA institutions may help CISM and encourage competition for their athletes by notifying CISM when an outstanding college athlete is inducted into the armed service.

If the coach or athletic director will notify CISM where the young man is stationed and the sport in which he participates, the athlete will be considered for future CISM competition.

Information should be directed to William K. MacNamera, CISM Chief of Information, OASD (PA), Room 2E773, Pentagon, Washington, D. C. 20301. He also will provide additional details upon request.
