

Silver Anniversary Winners, Today's Top Five Announced

Ten athletes whose contributions to society go well beyond the playing field have been selected as members of College Athletics' Top Ten.

Five current student-athletes who completed their eligibility in 1977 will receive the Today's Top Five Award, while three businessmen, an educator and a minister will be honored with the Silver Anniversary Award.

The Today's Top Five Award recognizes athletic ability and achievement, academic excellence and character and leadership abilities in current athletes, while the Silver Anniversary Award is presented to men who have led distinguished professional careers after illustrious athletic careers in college 25 years ago.

Among the Today's Top Five winners is University of Southern California swimmer John Naber, who won four gold medals and one silver medal at the Montreal Olympics.

Others to be honored will be Michael Bourdeau, Randolph-Macon College, baseball and soccer; Daniel Mackesey, Cornell University, soccer and lacrosse; Gifford Nielsen, Brigham Young University, football; and Bryan Rogers, Delta State University, baseball.

"The Today's Top Five Award recipients represent the character of America's youth while the five Silver Anniversary winners demonstrate the positive effect intercollegiate athletics can have on an entire career," Top Ten Selection Committee Chairman Robert F. Ray, Extension and University Services dean at the University of Iowa, said.

The Top Ten will be honored at the NCAA Honors Luncheon January 11 in conjunction with the Association's 72nd Annual Convention in Atlanta, Georgia.

Evansville Team Killed In Crash

All 14 members of the University of Evansville basketball team and coach Bob Watson were among 29 people killed December 13 when the team's chartered airplane crashed just after takeoff in Evansville.

The team was en route to a game with Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro, Tennessee, when, shortly after its 7:20 p.m. takeoff, the craft crashed into a muddy hillside, killing the crew and all passengers.

It was the fifth crash involving a plane carrying collegiate athletes.

The other accidents involved the California Polytechnic, San Luis Obispo football team (1960), the Lamar Tech track and field team (1968), the Wichita State football team (1970) and the Marshall University football team (1970).

Among university officials killed was assistant director of athletics Bob Hudson, who for many years was tournament manager for the NCAA Division II Basketball Tournament.

The Association contributed $10,000 to the University of Evansville to assist it in meeting contingent expenses resulting from the crash.

Recent Court Rulings Favorable to NCAA

Two courts have ruled in favor of the NCAA in recent decisions, the first involving coaching staff limitations and the second related to the eligibility of a student-athlete.

In a December 16 decision, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the NCAA regulation limiting coaching staffs and ruled against two assistant coaches from the University of Alabama. The two coaches, Lawrence Hennessey and Wendell Hudson, filed the suit to challenge the constitutionality of the regulation, which was adopted by the Association's Division I member institutions.

The case had been appealed by the coaches to the Circuit Court after a federal district court had upheld the regulation. Both the Circuit Court and the District Court concluded that the NCAA coaching staff limitations are constitutional, and that such legislation is not contrary to federal anti-trust provisions.

In the other case, this one involving the eligibility of Larry Gillard, a member of the Mississippi State University football team, the Mississippi Supreme Court upheld the procedures followed by the Association in administering the regulation which affected the young man's eligibility.

The decision by the Mississippi Supreme Court overturned a previous ruling by a Mississippi chancery court which had held that the possibility of a professional football career was a property right protected by Mississippi law. The state's Supreme Court concluded that no property right was involved in the case.

In addition, the Mississippi Supreme Court ruled that Mississippi State University, which joined the young man in filing the suit against the NCAA, had not exhausted its administrative remedies before initiating the litigation. In this regard, it was noted that the University made no appeal to the NCAA Council concerning either the finding of the violation affecting the student-athlete's eligibility, or the decision of the NCAA Subcommittee on Eligibility Appeals to partially restore the young man's eligibility.

In reaching its decision, the court noted that: "It is clear that the protection of Gillard's rights was paramount in the minds of everyone concerned. That protection, however, had to come within the framework of the Association."

Convention in Atlanta

1,000 Delegates Are Expected

More than 1,000 delegates are expected to attend the 72nd annual NCAA Convention, January 11-13, at the Peachtree Plaza Hotel in Atlanta, Georgia.

Approximately 70 per cent of the more than 800 Association member institutions and organizations are expected to be represented for a full slate of activities, including consideration of 161 proposed legislative amendments to the NCAA Constitution and Bylaws.

Several NCAA committees, plus the NCAA Council and Executive Committee, are scheduled for related meetings for the week of January 8-14.

The 161 amendments on the Convention agenda is the Association's third highest total submitted in history, including 21 dealing with membership criteria and classification. Each of these proposals is set forth in the Official Notice of the Convention, which was mailed November 22 to all member institutions and organizations. Amendments to amendments may be filed for consideration up until 1 p.m. January 11.

Highlighting opening-day activities January 11 will be the NCAA Honors Luncheon, at which the Association will present former Eastman Kodak board chairman Gerald B. Zornow with the 1978 Theodore Roosevelt Award, the NCAA's highest honor.

Zornow, once an outstanding three-sport collegiate student-athlete at the University of Rochester (N. Y.), will be recognized as the 12th recipient of the prestigious "Teddy" Award, named after former President Theodore Roosevelt, who was responsible for implementing the organization of the NCAA in 1906.

In addition, College Athletics' Top Ten will be honored at the luncheon.

Sports broadcaster Lindsey Nelson will serve as master of ceremonies for the luncheon.

Wednesday's opening day also will be occupied by individual round table discussions for each of the Association's three legislative divisions in the morning, concluding with a general round table that afternoon.

January 12 and 13 will be the Convention's final business session when the delegates actually consider and vote on the 161 legislative amendments.

Besides meetings scheduled for many of the Association's committees and the NCAA Council and Executive Committee, several affiliated organizations are conducting their annual meetings in conjunction with the NCAA.

The American Football Coaches Association will meet at the Atlanta Hilton Hotel January 8-12; the American Association of College Baseball Coaches will meet at the Atlanta Marriott Hotel January 5-8; and the United States Track Coaches Association will meet at the Peachtree Plaza January 5-7.

Many NCAA allied members and other organizations also are scheduled to meet at the Peachtree Plaza, including the College Athletic Business Managers Association, the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame and the National Youth Sports Program.

Comments by Former NCAA Member

EDITOR'S NOTE: Three years ago, the NCAA Committee on Infractions determined Midland Lutheran College of Nebraska violated an NCAA rule which prohibited its participation in a non-sanctioned post-season football game.

The school, which held joint membership in the NCAA and NAIA, subsequently resigned from the NCAA.

When the Congressional Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations recently requested the confidential case records of all NCAA members investigated since 1970, Midland Lutheran College, although not now an NCAA member, was one of the institutions involved. Its president, L. Dale Lund, was one of the more than 100 chief executive officers who received an inquiry from the NCAA asking whether his institution would object to the NCAA releasing the confidential case records. Lund's response follows.

Dear Sir:

We profoundly regret the trouble NCAA is experiencing because of unnecessary intrusions by the Congressional Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations.

My experience, and that of the vast majority of college and university administrators in this country, is that NCAA and like bodies do a superb job in administering the policies and rules which govern intercollegiate athletics as they have been democratically adopted by the member institutions in annual conventions.

It is regrettable that a few administrators and fans can destroy the collegial practice of self-policing as made possible through the NCAA and the NAIA.

Although Midland feels that its case was handled fairly and in compliance with NCAA policies, it strongly feels that the facts of the case should be held confidential. We resent the violation of our constitutional rights by the Congressional Subcommittee if it subverts them by demanding to see our records and doubly so if it chooses to make the facts public in defiance of our rights of privacy and NCAA's respectful concern for those rights.

Our case—a violation for playing a post-season football game which was not authorized by the NCAA although it was authorized by the NAIA in which Midland also held membership—is trivial and its exposure to the Subcommittee can help nobody. We would be willing to sign a release if your office so requested but we do not feel that NCAA should be forced to reveal its confidential records.

It is of fundamental importance to this great country that responsible institutions and agencies be allowed to manage their own affairs without undue interference by the government. It is my conviction that the Congressmen who entered this case are ill-advised. They ought to be insisting that NCAA rules be enforced rather than interfering in a private dispute, the consequences of which can only be an erosion of the independence and responsibility which have made American post-secondary education the envy of the entire world.

You have my confidence and support. Try to tell the world that the NCAA policies were democratically developed by peers and for peers. If NCAA is destroyed there will be little hope for integrity in intercollegiate athletics in this century.

Sincerely,
L. Dale Lund, President
Midland Lutheran College

Opinions Out Loud

—William S. Matthews, University of Kentucky
Professor of Law
Member, NCAA Committee on Infractions
Cincinnati Enquirer

"I don't want this to sound 'iffy,' but the NCAA enforcement program can continue in its proper processes, despite the appeals to the courts. Those appeals get you a good deal of publicity and attention, but the great majority (of NCAA penalties) are not appealed to the courts. The preponderance of cases before the courts has been decided in favor of the NCAA . . .

"I don't think there's any prospect the NCAA procedures won't stand court procedure. I'm not saying a local or state court will always uphold them, but the enforcement process has had unbelievable court approval, particularly in the federal courts . . .

"What is getting attention is the fact that particular institutions—not many—have had their own problems in applying our penalties to people. What's happening here is a resistance by particular schools to the imposing of penalties on people. I don't think it will be widespread."

—Johnny Swaim, former TCU basketball coach
Dallas Times Herald

"I was determined that I was really going to bring the program back. And I figured the new players coming in would get me 'spizzed up' again. They've turned out to be one of the most enjoyable groups I've ever had, and maybe the hardest-working. But after five weeks of watching them work as hard as they can, I'm still not 'spizzed up.' And I don't think I can coach very well if I'm not.

"Listen, you hear all these businessmen talk. They say, 'Well, I don't have any enthusiasm for my job, either, and I don't know anybody else who does.' Well, you can't work with college kids unless you're enthusiastic."

—Andy Geiger, athletic director
University of Pennsylvania

"I think that in the first instance, I am not convinced that restructuring (for NCAA Division I) is needed. The system works well as is. Voting procedures don't need to be more complex, and they will be if this passes.

"Second, I don't think that stadium size or paid attendance is an appropriate way for us to decide legislative issues or philosophy. For those of us geographically situated in urban centers, it may appear that we are at an advantage. However, there are three major colleges in Philadelphia (Pennsylvania, Villanova and Temple) as well as five professional teams with overlapping seasons.

"It's severe competition. It's not that easy to say, 'Let's have a football game, everybody come.'

"This is a phenomenon that is found in most other major cities. I would cite a Southwest Conference game where 7,000 watched a game in Dallas between SMU and Rice. I don't think they should be penalized for that, and neither should we."

—Boyd McWhorter, commissioner
Southeastern Conference

"We have a long history of feeling as though Division I was too large. What we want to do is protect the game of football as we know it and not restrict it too much. Football, particularly in our section, supports other non-revenue producing sports, and if you restrict football too much, then it affects the other sports.

"It's been said that the only reason people want this is so they can take the lid off limitations. Nothing could be further from the truth. If you go back in history, the Southeastern Conference had limits before the NCAA. We were the first conference with grant limits.

"While this proposal is not perfect, it certainly is the best we've seen. I heartily commend those who came up with it. Our conference is on record with a unanimous endorsement."

Adolph Rupp, 1901-1977

By DARRELL SIMMONS
Atlanta Journal

The route from Jacksonville, Florida, to Gainesville 20 years ago, before superhighways eased the journey, was the same one a lot of men in new khakis traveled in 1941.

The Orange Blossom Special dropped draftees at Jacksonville Terminal, and buses hauled the infantry recruits south through the piney woods past Middleburg to Camp Blanding. The nearest town was Starke, which was best-known then for a bootlegger who kept his stock under a bed.

In 1957 the road had changed little. Camp Blanding had become a weekend facility for the National Guard. The bootlegger was still crawling under that bed most nights for customers in rat caps who made the 28-mile trip up from the Florida campus.

One spring evening that year, a '55 Pontiac coursed over the two-lane blacktop, the young man driving nervously excited. The Florida High School All-Star basketball game was playing that night in Gainesville. But the man behind the wheel already had a better story. The grayhaired fellow in the brown suit in the back-seat had already given him enough stories to last several basketball seasons.

The telephone in the Jacksonville Journal sports department had rung that afternoon, and the caller said, "Is anybody there going over to Gainesville for the all-star game? I want to look at some of those players, and I need a ride. This is Adolph Rupp. I'm from the University of Kentucky."

Coach Rupp got his ride, of course, and the young writer hitched onto a day to remember, one that is magnified by the passing of Adolph Rupp December 10.

Rupp's basketball was international, and even though his championship records were passed by John Wooden, the Baron of the Bluegrass was still held in separate esteem.

"I learn something from being outcoached by him twice every season," Norm Sloan once said when he was working at Florida. Sloan eventually beat Rupp once, the first time for Florida in more than 30 years. That was as good as a national championship at the time.

"Everybody talks about Rupp's defensive strategy," another rival coach once said. "You know how he coaches defense. He grabs a player by the neck and says 'Now you get out there on that man and don't let the sunovabitch score.' I tried that once, and my player just told me to go to hell."

Stories Abounded

Rupp-coached games produced reams of stories in the Southeast. Everywhere for that matter.

There was the year Whack Hyder's outmanned Georgia Tech team beat Rupp, not once, but twice.

"I'll never live this down," Rupp said with his head in his hands. He was gruff, often short-tempered, but a man of extreme humor. Most of the best Rupp anecdotes were by his own hand.

"I was way out in the hills of Kentucky once to sign a player," he said. "I realized I needed gas and didn't have any money with me. I pulled into a little ol' country store to see if I could cash a check.

"The storekeeper agreed to take a check, and as I was signing it I happened to think this was a momentous occasion for that fellow. I pointed to the signature and said, 'You know who that is don't you?'"

"The storekeeper looked at me and said, 'I hope to hell it's you.'"

Discipline was Rupp's basic basketball style, and at times his intensity struck sour chords with his players. Cotton Nash, in the 1960s, was one of Kentucky's greatest players. But there were rumblings of discontent. Rupp kept his star away from the press.

"Mr. Nash doesn't really have anything to say," Rupp would tell reporters. "Mr. Nash is a much better player than he is a talker."

But you could telephone his home in Lexington on a Sunday afternoon during basketball season. The number was in the book. And the Baron would give you a detailed report of just how Ohio State managed to beat him in the NCAA regionals the day before. Complete with an outline of every bad call the referees made. Particularly complete with that.

"I hope I live long enough and last in the Southeastern Conference long enough to be able to intimidate officials the way that old grayhaired '%c&' does," Norm Sloan raged at courtside after one galling close loss to Kentucky.

He thought Rupp had left the building, but the old, grayhaired '%c&' was still standing nearby.

"You will, Norman. You will. Just be patient," Rupp smiled.

Back 20 years ago, that '55 Pontiac came up on a curve just south of Middleburg, Fla., and the driver was laughing at Rupp's repeated rendition of the check-cashing story. The car swayed just slightly onto the shoulder of the road, spraying gravel under the chassis.

"You've got to drive more carefully than that, son," the man in the back seat said. "Remember, you have the world's greatest basketball coach in here with you."

The driver laughed again, and so did the man in the brown suit. But both knew he was serious. And he was also 100 per cent correct.

Detailed Enforcement Procedures in New Manual

The NCAA Committee on Infractions' operating policies and procedures as established by the Council and approved and adopted by the NCAA membership are set forth in the NCAA Manual.

However, the Committee is also empowered to respond as necessary to questions which arise concerning enforcement policies and procedures during the processing of infraction cases in situations not specifically described by the official procedure. This process insures that an institution involved in an infraction case is informed of all applicable guidelines during the processing of its case.

The following is a statement of the Committee's established guidelines, policies and procedures, based on a compilation of recorded policies and procedures, as well as a review of the Committee's present policies and procedures. This statement will be set within the 1978-79 NCAA Manual in a new Section 12 of the Official Procedure Governing the NCAA Enforcement Program.

Under the authority vested in the Committee, these guidelines are subject to continual review and possible change by the Committee and to the extent they are modified or changed between annual conventions, institutions involved in infractions cases will be notified.

It will continue to be necessary for institutions involved in infraction cases to contact the Committee to request answers to new questions which may arise in a particular infractions case.

NO. 101 ENFORCEMENT POLICIES

A. Enforcement Procedure: Amend Section 1, page 121, by adding new subparagraph (2), as follows:

[All divisions, common vote]

"Section 1. The Council shall designate a Committee on Infractions which shall be responsible for administration of the NCAA enforcement program.

"(a) The committee shall:

[Subparagraph (1) unchanged.]

"(2) Formulate and revise as necessary a statement of its established operating policies and procedures, including investigative guidelines, which shall be published in conjunction with the official procedure governing the enforcement program. [Note: The operating policies and procedures appear in Section 12.] [Renumber subsequent subparagraphs.]

[All divisions, common vote]

"Section 12. The following is a statement of operating guidelines, policies and procedures established by the Committee on Infractions and approved by the NCAA Council. These procedures are subject to continual review and possible change by the committee; and to the extent that they are revised, appropriate notification is sent to any member institution involved in the processing of an infractions case and made available to any other member.

"(a) Investigative Guidelines—The Committee on Infractions shall provide general guidance to the enforcement staff through approved and established investigative and procedural guidelines.

"(1) The enforcement staff is responsible for reviewing information reported to the NCAA office and determining the manner in which such information should be investigated and the identity of the individuals to be interviewed. If unusual questions arise concerning investigative procedures during the course of an investigation, the chairman (or the full committee, if necessary) should be consulted.

"(2) The enforcement staff shall submit letters to notify member institutions of preliminary inquiries into their athletic policies and practices when information has been developed to indicate that violations of the Association's governing legislation may have occurred which will require further in-person investigation. Such a letter shall advise the institution that the preliminary inquiry will entail the use of a field investigator; further, the letter shall state that in the event the allegations appear to be of a substantial nature, the committee will submit an official inquiry to the institution in accordance with the provisions of Section 3 or, in the alternative, the institution will be notified that the matter has been closed.

"(3) The director of athletics or other appropriate official of an institution shall be contacted by the enforcement staff in order to schedule interviews with enrolled student-athletes on the institution's campus. If possible, such interviews should be conducted without disrupting the normally scheduled academic activities of the student-athletes.

"(4) If an interview with an enrolled student-athlete is conducted on the campus of a member institution, an institutional representative (as designated by the institution) will be permitted to be present during the interview, provided the subject matter to be discussed in the interview relates directly to the student-athlete's institution. If the investigator wishes to discuss information with the student-athlete related solely to institutions other than the one in which he is enrolled, the institutional representative shall be requested to excuse himself from that portion of the interview; further, in such a situation (after the institutional representative has departed), any information inadvertently reported by the young man related to his own institution shall not be utilized against the young man or his institution.

"(5) When an NCAA enforcement staff member conducts an interview which may develop information detrimental to the interests of the individual being questioned, that individual may be represented by his personal legal counsel throughout the interview.

"(6) In no case shall an enforcement staff member misrepresent his identity or title; further, when an enforcement representative requests information which could be detrimental to the interests of the student-athlete or institutional employee being interviewed, that individual shall be advised that the purpose of the interview is to determine whether the individual has been involved directly or indirectly in any violation of NCAA legislation.

"(7) At the request of the enforcement staff, the committee may grant limited immunity to student-athletes providing information in infractions cases when such individuals otherwise might be declared ineligible for intercollegiate competition based on the information they report, it being understood that such immunity shall not apply to the student-athletes' involvement in violations of NCAA regulations which they fail to report or to their future involvement in violations of NCAA legislation. In any case, such immunity shall not be granted unless the student-athlete voluntarily provides information not otherwise available to the enforcement staff when no previous information has been developed to jeopardize the young man's eligibility.

"(8) It shall not be permissible for any individuals involved in interviews conducted by the enforcement staff to record such interviews through the use of a court reporter or other individuals, or any mechanical device. However, it shall be permissible for all individuals involved in such interviews to take handwritten notes of the proceedings.

"(9) Whenever possible, individuals who have reported information to the enforcement staff should be given the opportunity to review the information set forth in the investigator's report of the interview and be provided the opportunity to make additions or corrections. Copies of such reports are confidential and shall not be provided to individuals (or their institutions) who may be involved in reporting information during the processing of an infractions case.

"(10) The enforcement staff shall attempt to develop any information which would corroborate or refute alleged violations of NCAA legislation reported in previous interviews.

"(11) The enforcement staff shall terminate the investigation related to any preliminary inquiry in which information is developed which does not appear to be of sufficient substance or reliability to warrant an official inquiry, it being understood the enforcement staff shall report to the committee the reasons such a case is closed.

"(12) The committee may authorize an enforcement staff member to meet personally with the chief executive officer of the involved institution to discuss the allegations investigated and information developed by the NCAA in a case which has been terminated.

"(13) The enforcement staff shall attempt to coordinate the processing of infractions cases with the involved allied member conference unless it would hinder the development of the NCAA investigation to do so.

"(14) Subsequent to the filing of an official inquiry in an infractions case, the primary investigator in the case shall be available to assist the involved institution for purposes such as meeting with the institution to discuss the development of its response and assisting in locating various principals in the case.

"(15) The enforcement staff shall not confirm or deny the existence of an infractions case prior to complete resolution of the case through normal NCAA enforcement procedures. However, if the involved institution makes a public announcement concerning a case, the enforcement staff may confirm the information made public by the institution.

"(b) Letters of Official Inquiry—The enforcement staff shall report to the committee the general scope of the matters under investigation in order to obtain authorization to file a letter of official inquiry with the involved institution.

"(1) In the interim between meetings of the full committee, the chairman may authorize the filing of such inquiries.

"(2) In the event the representative of a member institution refuses to submit relevant information to the committee or the enforcement staff upon request, the committee may authorize an official inquiry to be filed with the institution alleging a violation of the cooperative principles of the NCAA bylaws and enforcement procedure; further, institutional representatives may be requested to appear before the committee at the time the allegation is considered.

"(3) At the time an official inquiry is filed, the enforcement staff shall suggest a date and time for the involved institution's representatives to meet with the committee.

"(i) If an objection to this suggestion is expressed by the institution, the chairman (or the full committee, when necessary) shall be contacted to resolve the matter.

"(ii) Although every effort will be made to schedule a meeting at a mutually convenient time and place, the committee reserves the right to determine the actual date and site.

"(4) The cover letter accompanying each official inquiry shall contain notification that the institution is requested to:

"(i) Read each allegation involving a present or former institutional staff member, or a currently enrolled student-athlete, to the identified individual, and

"(ii) Provide him the opportunity to submit in writing and orally any information he desires which is relevant to the allegation in question.

"(iii) In addition, the institution shall be advised that each identified present or former institutional staff member, or enrolled student-athlete, should be notified in person, as well as in writing, by the institution that he and his legal counsel (if any) may appear before the committee at the time it considers each allegation in which the staff member or student-athlete is involved.

"(5) The cover letter accompanying each official inquiry shall contain a specific reference to Section 4 (which describes the general procedures to be followed during a hearing), as well as notice in extensive cases that the primary NCAA investigator in the case is available to assist the institution in the development of its response to the official inquiry.

"(6) The institution's response to the committee's official inquiry should be on file with members of the committee and the NCAA enforcement department at least two weeks prior to the institution's appearance before the committee. An institution may not submit additional documentary evidence (in addition to its initial response) without prior authorization from the committee.

"(c) Institutional Hearings—The following procedures shall apply to institutional hearings.

"(1) When the Committee on Infractions does not request that an institution be represented in person before the committee, the institution may choose to have the matter in question reviewed on the basis of the written record before the committee.

"(2) An institution shall be advised in writing prior to its appearance before the committee of the general procedures to be followed during the hearing. Such notification shall contain a specific reference to Section 4 and shall indicate that, as a general rule, the discussion during the hearing will follow the numbering of the allegations in the official inquiry.

"(3) In cases requiring an institutional hearing before the committee, specific information and evidence developed by the staff related to alleged violations of NCAA regulations shall not be presented to the committee prior to the institution's appearance.

"(4) A member of the committee or the NCAA Council who is prohibited under the provisions of Section 11 from participating in any NCAA proceedings may not attend a Committee on Infractions hearing involving his institution unless specifically requested by the committee to be present as a witness.

"(5) At the time the institution appears before the committee, its representatives may include the following:

"(i) Currently enrolled student-athletes involved in allegations;

"(ii) Present or former institutional staff members involved in allegations;

"(iii) Legal counsel for the student-athletes or staff members in question, and

"(iv) Officials of the institution and the institution's legal counsel.

"(v) None of these individuals who appear before the committee may be represented by an individual other than his personal legal counsel, and no other individuals may be included among the institution's representatives during an institutional hearing unless specifically requested to be present by the committee.

"(6) Institutional officials, staff members or enrolled student-athletes who are specifically requested to appear before the committee at an institutional hearing are expected to appear in person and may be represented by personal legal counsel. Any student-athlete (and his legal counsel) included among the institution's representatives may attend the hearing only during the discussion of the allegations in which he is involved.

"(7) The commissioner or other representative of an allied conference's executive office may attend an institutional hearing involving a conference member, subject to approval of the involved institution.

"(8) The chairman shall request each institution appearing before the committee to select one person to coordinate institutional responses during the hearing. In addition, one individual from the NCAA enforcement department will be responsible for coordinating the responses of the investigative staff.

"(9) The enforcement staff shall prepare a worksheet listing all allegations and applicable NCAA regulations in infractions cases to assist committee members in following discussion of each allegation during the hearing. At the time of the hearing, the institution will be provided copies of the allegation worksheet; and if any variation exists between the statement of allegations in the official inquiry and the worksheet, the allegations contained in the official inquiry shall be controlling.

"(10) The proceedings of institutional hearings shall be tape-recorded by the committee. No additional verbatim recording of these proceedings will be permitted by the committee. An institution shall not be provided the committee's recording or a copy of the transcript of the hearing. However, subject to approval of the committee, authorized representatives of the institution may be permitted to review the tape recording at the NCAA national office, it being understood a verbatim transcript of the recording shall not be taken by institutional representatives during such a review.

"(11) In presenting information and evidence for consideration by the committee during an institutional hearing, the enforcement staff shall present only information which can be attributed to individuals who are willing to be identified. Information obtained from individuals not wishing to be identified shall not be presented. Such confidential sources shall not be identified to either the Committee on Infractions or the institution.

"(12) At the conclusion of the hearing, the institutional representatives and the NCAA enforcement staff will be dismissed in order that the committee may deliberate in private to determine findings of violations and penalties to be imposed, if any.

"(13) In arriving at its determinations, the committee may request additional information from any appropriate source, including the institution or the investigative staff.

"(d) Confidential Reports—The following procedures shall apply to confidential reports.

"(1) Subsequent to an institutional hearing, the enforcement staff shall be authorized to draft the committee's confidential report of the findings of violations and penalties determined by the committee. Further, the staff shall be authorized to draft the committee's expanded confidential report to the NCAA Council upon appeal of any of the committee's findings or penalties. The confidential reports shall reflect accurately the committee's actions and the reasons therefor and are subject to the approval of the chairman (and, if necessary, the full committee).

"(2) The committee's confidential report (as described in Section 5) shall be forwarded to the involved institution under the chairman's signature or under the signature of a committee member selected to act for the chairman. Further, the report shall be sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, in order that the 15-day appeal period applicable to this report may be firmly established.

"(3) In the event an institution appeals any of the Committee on Infractions' findings of violations or penalties to the NCAA Council, a copy of the committee's expanded confidential report to the Council (as described in Section 6) shall be provided the institution prior to the time of its appearance before the Council.

"(e) Penalties—The following procedures shall apply to penalties.

"(1) Once the committee has made its findings of violations in an infractions case but prior to its determination of the penalties to be imposed, information may be obtained from the enforcement staff concerning penalties imposed in previous cases involving findings similar in number and significance.

"(2) In the event the committee imposes a penalty involving a probationary period, the institution shall be notified that after the penalty becomes effective, the NCAA investigative staff will review the athletic policies and practices of the institution prior to action by the committee to restore the institution to full rights and privileges of membership in the Association; further, the institution shall be notified that should any of the penalties in the case be set aside for any reason other than by appropriate action of the Association, the penalties shall be reconsidered by the NCAA.

"(3) In the event the committee considers additional penalties to be imposed upon an institution in accordance with the procedures outlined in Section 7-(b)-(13), the involved institution shall be provided the opportunity to appear before the committee; further, the institution will be provided the opportunity to appeal any additional penalties imposed by the committee to the NCAA Council.

"(f) Press Releases—The enforcement staff shall draft the committee's press release related to an infractions case involving a public penalty.

"(1) The press release shall reflect accurately the committee's thinking and shall be subject to the approval of the chairman (and, if necessary, the full committee). Further, the most serious and significant findings of violations of NCAA legislation shall appear at the beginning of the summary of violations in the release.

"(2) The committee's public announcement related to an infractions case shall be made available to the national wire services and other media outlets. In this regard, the involved institution shall be advised of the text of the announcement prior to its release and shall be requested not to comment publicly concerning the case prior to the time the NCAA's public announcement is released."

NCAA, NAIA Take Cooperative Approach

As a result of the new joint declaration form, the 134 dual members in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) and the NCAA have declared their choice for the associations' 1977-78 championships in the sports of football, basketball, soccer, volleyball, ice hockey and baseball.

The joint declaration form, which was proposed by the NAIA-NCAA Joint Committee, was administered jointly by the NAIA and NCAA demonstrating a cooperative approach by the two associations.

All dual members had to indicate on the joint declaration form by September 30 one of the following for the six sports listed:

1. If eligible and selected, it will participate in the NAIA championship, or
2. If eligible and selected, it will participate in the NCAA championship, or
3. It will not compete in the championship competition for the 1977-78 academic year."

Failure to submit the form by the September 30 deadline automatically resulted in an institution being ruled ineligible for both associations' 1977-78 championship competition in the six sports, although an appeal procedure was established. Several institutions failed to submit the form by the established deadline, but all but one institution's appeal was approved by the NAIA-NCAA Committee on Appeals.

"Hopefully, the jointly issued declaration form will facilitate necessary administrative procedures for the member institutions and assist the two associations in serving intercollegiate athletics generally," said NAIA Executive Director Harry Fritz and NCAA President J. Neils Thompson.

In addition, the NCAA Council is proposing legislation at the 1978 Convention which would permit a dual member to participate without penalty in the NAIA football playoffs provided the institution(s) was in compliance with the joint declaration procedures.

"The joint declaration form and the proposed legislation regarding the NAIA playoffs are being done in the spirit of cooperation between the two organizations," Thompson said.

The joint declaration form procedures will be reviewed by both associations at the end of the 1977-78 academic year. Recommendations will be made at that time on whether or not to continue with the procedure.

Fourth Title for Cal, Berkeley

Golden Bears Win in Water Polo Again

Winning the National Collegiate Water Polo Championship is getting to be a habit for the University of California, Berkeley, which captured its fourth title last month at Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island.

Patiently relying on a strong defense, Cal Berkeley came from behind to defeat its old rival, California-Irvine, 8-6. It was the fourth title match between the teams and provided Cal Berkeley the distinction of having captured the most crowns of any team in the championship's nine-year history.

Coach Pete Cutino's Golden Bears also won three consecutive titles from 1973-75. In its only other championship appearance, Cal Berkeley finished second behind UCLA in the 1969 championship. UCLA and Cal Berkeley were tied with three titles apiece.

California teams dominated the competition in the first championship ever held in the Eastern section of the country. Every previous championship has been staged at Long Beach, California, except when the University of New Mexico hosted in 1972.

Cal Irvine felt the disappointment of finishing second for the fifth time in the last six years. Coach Ed Newland's team is the only team ever selected to participate in all nine championships. The Anteaters captured the title in 1970.

Leading 2-1 after one quarter, Cal Irvine held onto a 5-4 half-time edge. The championship's outstanding player, Ed Figueroa, scored the Anteaters' first three goals and Simon Boughey nailed the other two.

Mike Loughlin tied the score for Cal Berkeley in the first minute of the third period, and the Golden Bears took the lead when Jim Purcell scored at 1:20. Boughey tied the score for Cal Irvine by scoring his third goal after a minute had elapsed in the fourth quarter to complete Anteater scoring.

With 5:11 remaining in the game, Jeff Roy scored his second goal of the game to put Cal Berkeley on top to stay. Purcell added his second tally for insurance at 3:37.

Cal Irvine desperately tried to come back and, with only 47 seconds remaining, Figueroa had an excellent opportunity to bring the Anteaters to within one on a direct penalty shot. Cal Berkeley goalie Bob Morrish made an incredible save by blocking his first penalty shot of the year against one of the nation's finest scorers. After that, it was only a matter of time.

Semifinals

Defending champion Stanford lost a tough 9-7 semifinal contest to Cal Irvine as the Anteaters capitalized on several man-up situations. Cal Berkeley advanced to the finals by edging Pepperdine, 11-10, in the semifinals.

Stanford topped Pepperdine, 10-6, for third place. Arizona defeated Loyola (Illinois), 14-4, to take fifth. Bucknell and Brown were only the fourth and fifth Eastern teams ever to participate in the championship. Bucknell captured seventh place and became the first Eastern team ever how hard I worked, you'd say, 'Earl deserves it.'

"I don't mean just working hard on Saturday during a game, but on Mondays and Wednesdays and the rest of the week. I had a construction job last summer and every day before I went to work I'd do 50 or 60 sit-ups. After work I'd do my running and while I was running I'd visualize a situation like I'm in now."

Campbell came off an injury-plagued junior season to win the award. In 1976, when his Longhorns slumped to a 5-5-1 mark, Campbell rushed for only 653 yards—missing four games along the way.

But with his banner 1977 season, Campbell became the No. 1 rusher in Southwest Conference history with 4,444 career yards.

Campbell was the first player from the University of Texas ever to win the award and he was the first winner from the Southwest Conference since John

Campbell Captures Heisman

Texas halfback Earl Campbell, a 220-pound strongman from the rose fields of Tyler, Texas, won the 43rd Heisman Trophy, awarded on national television December 8 in New York.

Campbell, who won the national rushing title with 1,744 yards, collected 1,547 votes in capturing the award. Oklahoma State running back Terry Miller finished second with 812 points while Notre Dame tight end Ken MacAfee was third with 346 points. Campbell won the voting in five of the six regions, losing only in the Southwest where Miller outpolled him by 20 votes.

Hard Work

"I deserve what happened to me tonight because I worked so hard," Campbell said after receiving the trophy. "Last year, I knew there was gonna be a tomorrow and I started working out in the middle of May. The Heisman Trophy means 22 years of hard work. If you only knew

Hartwick College Wins Soccer Crown

Defensive-minded Hartwick College, which opened the season with shutouts in eight of its first nine games, put the finishing touches on an undefeated season by nipping the University of San Francisco, 2-1, for the National Collegiate Soccer Championship.

With freshman goalie Aly Anderson supplying nine saves, the Warriors (from Oneonta, New York) got the needed goals early in the second half from Art Napolitano and Steve Long. USF rallied late in the second half on a goal by Anthony Gray.

Hartwick certainly is no stranger to the NCAA Tournament. This was the 10th consecutive year for the Warriors to appear; indeed, only San Francisco and St. Louis University have won more NCAA tournament games than Hartwick. The Warriors finished third in last year's tournament, losing 2-1 in the semifinals to eventual runner-up Indiana.

The 1977 championship game (hosted by the University of California, Berkeley) featured an action-filled first half that ended with no scoring. However, that changed with 2:40 elapsed in the second half when Hartwick's Napolitano put in a six-yard header, aided by an assist from Duncan MacDonald.

Several minutes later, Steve Long broke away, found himself one-on-one with the Don goalie and banged in a 10-yard shot from the right side to give Hartwick a 2-0 lead. There was 19:07 gone in the second half.

San Francisco countered with 41:58 elapsed when Gray used an assist from Tony Igwe to knock in a four-yard head shot from the front.

With just 10 seconds left in the contest, San Francisco's John Brooks tried a 10-yarder from the left side, but it bounced off the top of the goal.

Hartwick finished the season with a 16-0-2 mark while the Dons concluded at 24-3-2.

The Warriors earned their way to the finals by defeating Brown, 4-1, in the semifinals. In its earlier tournament games, Hartwick had defeated St. Francis of New York, 5-1; Cornell, 2-1; and Philadelphia Textile, 2-0.

San Francisco advanced to the finals with a 2-1 victory over Air Force; a 4-1 win over UCLA; and a 2-1 triumph over Southern Illinois-Edwardsville.

Third Place

Southern Illinois-Edwardsville won the consolation game, using a six-yard goal by Tim Guelker at 85:08 to nip Brown, 3-2.

Brown took a 2-0 first-half lead on goals by Tom Turnbull and Greg Leather but SIU-Edwardsville countered late in the period on Bob Bozada's 20-yard goal.

Chris Cacciatore, aided by an assist from Don Ebert, scored from eight yards out at 76:44 to tie the score. Minutes later, Guelker booted in the winner.

Defeats Seattle Pacific in Finals

Alabama A&M Captures Division II Soccer Title

In its first year of varsity competition, Alabama A&M displayed the composure of champions by defeating Seattle Pacific University, 2-1, for the 1977 National Collegiate Division II Soccer Championship at Florida International University.

A&M finished with an 18-1 record—the only loss coming at the hands of George Washington University, which defeated the Bulldogs, 3-0, during the regular season.

Seattle Pacific, which finished runnerup for the third time in the last four years, had 12 shots-on-goal compared to A&M's 9. However, the Bulldogs took advantage of seven corner kicks to Seattle Pacific's four.

At the 19:10 mark of the first half, Alabama A&M halfback Luke Whitley received an assist from teammate Obi Emnike and deflected a shot off a Seattle Pacific defender for the only score of that half.

Seattle Pacific had a chance to tie the score two minutes into the second half when the Falcons were awarded a penalty kick, but forward Kevin Bloudoff hit the crossbar and the score remained 1-0.

Forward Kenneth Okafor increased the A&M lead to 2-0 with a breakaway shot 19:22 into the second half, but Seattle Pacific did not give up as the Falcons battled back within one on Servando Rivera's penalty kick with just under nine minutes left in the game. From that point on, Seattle Pacific placed tremendous pressure on the Bulldogs and had several opportunities to tie the game, but the Falcons could not score that one important goal.

Seattle Pacific entered the finals after a physically draining, triple-overtime victory against Wisconsin-Green Bay one day earlier. The Falcons finally broke the deadlock in the third overtime for a 2-1 semifinal victory.

First-round action saw the Falcons defeat California-Davis, 2-1, before they moved on to the second round and a 2-1 win over San Francisco State.

Alabama A&M had to go one overtime with defending champion Loyola (Maryland) for a 2-1 edge in first-round play before crushing host Florida International, 4-0, in the second round. The Bulldogs defeated New Haven, 2-0, in the semifinals on their march to the championship.

New Haven, 1976 runnerup, captured third place by taking advantage of a penalty kick to defeat Wisconsin, Green Bay, 3-2, in the third overtime period.

Lock Haven Uses First-Half Goal To Win Division III Soccer Title

A 16-yard chip shot by Lock Haven's Tim Robinson proved to be the margin of victory as the Bald Eagles defeated favored Cortland State, 1-0, in the 1977 National Collegiate Division III Soccer Championship in Wellesley, Mass.

Despite an 18-10 shot-on-goal advantage, Cortland State was unable to push the ball over as Robinson scored the game's lone goal at the 14:50 mark of the first half on the frozen Babson College Field.

Lock Haven's goal was set up by an assist from right wing Larry Jones who skidded the ball off his head to Robinson in the penalty area. Cortland goalie Scott Manning charged the play, which allowed Robinson to kick the ball over his head.

"It was the first time all year I've been beaten that way," said Manning, who posted a 1-0 shut-out against Babson in a semifinal game the day before that was extended to four overtimes.

However, Cortland coach Fred Taube refused to make excuses, although many observers felt his team had to be physically exhausted after playing Babson. "We weren't attacking correctly. Lock Haven played the best game, they scored the goal and that's what counts."

Haverford fell to Lock Haven, 4-1, in first-round action before the Eagles shut out Scranton, 3-0, in the second round and defeated Wooster, 3-1, in the semifinals.

Host Babson won the consolation game, 1-0, over Wooster on a penalty kick by forward Mark Paylor. Babson was awarded the kick after a hand ball violation was whistled against a Wooster defender.
