Study under way on equivalency awards

The NCAA Special Committee on Equivalency Awards, which was established by the Division I Steering Committee in January, is studying more equitable procedures for applying the equivalency award limitations for Divisions I and II members.

At its April meeting, the NCAA Council approved a recommendation from the special committee that limitations addressed in Bylaws 6-5 (b) and (h) be on an academic-year basis rather than at any given time during the academic year. Legislative alternatives will be considered by the Council at its August meeting.

Wilford S. Bailey, faculty athletics representative at Auburn University, is chair of the special committee. Other Council members serving with Bailey are Lewis A. Cryer, commissioner of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, and Jack V. Doland, president of McNeese State University.

Legislative proposals at recent NCAA Conventions have addressed distortions of equivalency calculations caused by substantial differences in tuition at private and public institutions and between in-state and out-of-state students. In addition, the special committee will consider inequities in the calculations for institutions at which the cost of tuition is figured on a per-credit-hour basis rather than as a flat rate for all full-time students.

"As an example, a student-athlete receiving only a tuition grant at an institution with expensive tuition could be considered an 80 percent grant, while a student receiving only a tuition grant at an institution with a relatively low tuition cost might be receiving only a 40 percent grant, even through the students are left with similar additional costs for room and board and books," Bailey said.

Members of the special committee noted that, although the equivalency limits initially were adopted primarily as a cost-saving restriction, they are being used to help maintain competitive balance as well. The committee reported that many believe institutions should be able to meet approximately the same educational costs for the same number of students in complying with the limitations.

In August, the Council is expected to review several alternatives, including assigning a specific equivalency percentage to tuition grants for all institutions, a head-count equivalency procedure (e.g., a certain number of tuition awards, a certain number of room-and-board awards and a certain number of awards for books) and a unit system. Bailey encouraged Council members to seek information from conferences and institutions on these and other alternatives.

If the Council supports any modification of the existing equivalency calculation procedures, legislation will be presented at the 1985 Convention.

Notice, form mailed for I-A meeting

The Official Notice of the first Division I-A midyear legislative meeting was mailed from the NCAA national office May 14 as planning continues for four major NCAA-sponsored meetings to be conducted in a one-month period.

The sequence of four meetings begins May 30-31 when the NCAA women's meeting mandated by 1984 Convention adoption of Proposal No. 42 is held at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare in Chicago (Rosemont), Illinois. Agendas and a review of topics recommended for possible legislation were mailed this week (May 16) to those planning to attend that meeting.

Immediately after that meeting, the NCAA Professional Development

Seminar, coproduced by Host Communications, Inc., will be held June 1-2, also at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare.

Five days later, the second annual Division I summer meeting is scheduled June 7-8 at the Westin Crown Center Hotel in Kansas City, Missouri, and three weeks after that, the initial Division I-A legislative meeting—approved by 1984 Convention adoption of Proposal No. 38—will take place June 28-29 at Chicago's Hyatt Regency O'Hare.

The Official Notice, which also will serve as the program—of the I-A legislative meeting was mailed to the chief executive officer, faculty athletics representative, director of athletics and primary woman administrator of athletics programs at all

Division I-A member institutions, as well as to Division I-A allied conferences.

Accompanying the copy sent to the chief executive officer was the form on which the CEO appoints the institution's or conference's delegates to the meeting.

The Official Notice contains an opening message from NCAA Secretary-Treasurer John R. Davis, who chairs the planning committee for the meeting. The 14 Division I-A members of the NCAA Council comprise the planning committee.

The booklet also presents instructions for accrediting delegates and other meeting policies and procedures, as well as the schedule of meetings for the two-day session. It lists the members of the planning committee and the special Voting Committee and Credentials Committee.

Commission elects Division III chair

Kenneth J. Weller, president of Central College (Iowa), has been elected to serve as chair of the Division III subcommittee of the NCAA Presidents' Commission.

Chairs of the Divisions I and II Commission subcommittees will be determined by the Commission members in those divisions by May 22. Weller was elected by the Division III members of the Commission.

The three division chairs will join John W. Ryan, president of Indiana University, Bloomington, as officers of the Presidents' Commission. Ryan was elected by the commission last month to serve as its chair.

Weller, president of Central College since 1969, was an economics professor and football and tennis coach at Hope College for 20 years before moving to the Pella, Iowa, institution. He received his bachelor's degree at Hope and completed his master's degree and doctorate at the University of Michigan.

He has been active in NCAA matters since joining the Division III

Kenneth J. Weller

Steering Committee in 1977. He served six years on the Long Range Planning Committee and completed a four-year term on the NCAA Council in January of this year. He was Division III vice-president during the final year of that term.

Supplementary football TV series awarded to ESPN for 1984-1985

The Entertainment and Sports Programming Network has been awarded exclusive cable television rights for the NCAA supplementary football television series in 1984 and 1985.

The NCAA Football Television Committee, after considering competing bids, recommended awarding the rights to ESPN. The recommendation was approved by the NCAA Administrative Committee on behalf of the NCAA Council.

ESPN's rights will include 14 national cable exposures each in 1984 and 1985. The cablecasts will air primarily on Saturday nights, with the exception of selected Thursday night exposures. ESPN may schedule games from an inventory of qualifying teams after ABC Sports and CBS Sports have selected games for exclusive television rights on the NCAA's national over-the-air series. Division I-AA institutions will be guaranteed a minimum of two appearances each in 1984 and 1985.

In addition, ESPN will air pre-season and postseason shows, pre-game and postgame shows, a weekly highlights show, and a monthly NCAA feature program. A daily series of promotional messages from September 1 through March 31 during each contract year also was included as part of ESPN's agreement. ESPN has expressed interest in covering the NCAA honors luncheon held in conjunction with the Association's annual Convention in January.

"The committee was pleased with the bids it received," said John D. Swofford, director of athletics at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and chair of the Football Television Committee. "ESPN submitted an attractive package, and the television committee is convinced that package will serve best the needs of college football during the next two years."

ESPN has had a contractual arrangement with the NCAA to televise selected National Collegiate Championships since 1979. ESPN is seen in more than 34 million homes in the United States.

Turner Broadcasting System, Inc., held rights to the supplementary series in 1982 and 1983.

New world begins after college competition

Nine years and three basketball coaches ago, Calvin Freeman came to Iowa State University as a highly touted junior college recruit, aiming for the big money and prestige of a pro basketball career.

Somewhere, the script went awry.

Instead of roaring crowds applauding base-line jump shots, the bottom line for Calvin Freeman these days is a drab basement apartment and a dead-end job peddling ashtrays, stuffed animals and household goods door-to-door. And today, he's 6 feet, 5 inches of disillusionment.

"Maybe if someone would explain the thing to me, why it wasn't my fault that things didn't work the way they should have, then maybe doors would open up a little better for me," he said.

Freeman, 28, is an example of high-flown athletic hopes—perhaps stoked by recruiters—coming down to earth when eligibility expires. He was a young talent who got the notion an athletics scholarship would be a fast break to success.

Part of the problem is institutional. Part of it is not.

He came to Iowa State in 1975 from Connors State College in Oklahoma, where he averaged 24 points a game during two years and was named most valuable player in the conference during his sophomore season.

He was recruited by then-coach Ken Trickey to be part of the run-and-gun offense that was eased out along with Trickey during Freeman's first year here. He thinks a lot of his opportunities left with Trickey, and Freeman finished an undistinguished college career under succeeding coaches Gus Guydon and Lynn Nance.

In 1981, six years after he arrived with two years of junior college already under his belt, Freeman got a degree in distributive studies, just meeting graduation requirements.

Since then, he's been hanging around Ames, looking for work, and not finding much. So what is Calvin Freeman to do with Calvin Freeman now?

"I feel sorry for him, because he certainly is a young man who's tried everything," said John Mahlstede, Iowa State's faculty representative to the Big Eight Conference and a member of the ISU Athletic Council. Mahlstede helped line up a custodial job for Freeman and has purchased some of the wares he's been selling lately.

It's a problem Iowa State and other colleges have been trying to come to grips with.

In 1980, vocational psychologist Jerry Gurney joined the athletics department staff, one year before Freeman finally graduated.

"We work very hard to talk about student-athletes' chances of being a professional when they arrive on campus," Gurney said, sometimes even broaching the subject when they come for a recruiting visit.

The numbers are not very encouraging.

"I know that when they're highly recruited by universities during their high school years, their chances of (ultimately) making it as a pro coming out of high school are one in 250,000," Gurney said.

If they get accepted at a college, become eligible for the team as a freshman, chances improve all the way to one in 2,000.

Columnary Craft

"And if they make it to their senior year, their chances go up to about one in 400," Gurney said.

"For some athletes, no matter how much you talk about it, they think they're going to be the exception to the rule," he added.

Faced with those long odds, Gurney begins working early on with athletes, exploring their interests and aptitudes, trying to get them into an academic discipline they can turn into a job once their eligibility expires and the pros haven't come knocking.

Usually it works, Gurney said. A recent study showed Iowa State graduated 88 percent of its athletes in six years. About 67 percent of the basketball team graduated. Still, "there are some athletes who are here primarily for their athletic aspirations, and it's difficult, at best, to change their minds about that," he said.

But what about guys like Calvin Freeman? He stayed at it, eventually jumped through all the necessary hoops and finally got a degree in a major that has little market value.

Back when he was recruited, he says, he was promised off-campus housing for his senior year and employment when he finished playing. "They promised me some sort of job that they might be able to get through an alumni or friend, some sort of deskman job, or something," he said. "If he (Trickey) was over there now, and I needed something or needed some sort of work, I probably could get it."

But Trickey has been through two coaching jobs since Iowa

State and is now managing a golf shop at a resort southeast of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Athletics Director Max Urlick said any promises made Freeman have been fulfilled. Freeman has been hired at various times to work for the athletics department's ground crew, but Urlick said no promises of eventual employment are given athletes.

And he said all students, athletes and nonathletes alike, must confront the job world once they graduate. "Sometimes what they want and what they can get are two different things," Urlick said. "You've got to be qualified."

Coaching changes do affect a player's outlook. "Cal was here during a couple of regimes that were less than stable, and consequently, I'm sure that impacted on him," Mahlstede said.

Asked if it is a coach's responsibility to find players jobs, Freeman says, yes, that's the way the world is supposed to work. "That's the way I was told when I was recruited," he insists.

Other players make a name for themselves in the sports pages and, especially if they're crowd favorites, have an easier time finding work.

Calvin Freeman never achieved that status.

In fact, during his final year of eligibility, Freeman was involved in an incident in which he eventually pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery. And he never really made a name for himself on the basketball court.

Freeman has not been able to fall back on his college degree. Richard Van Iten, associate dean of the college of sciences and humanities at Iowa State, said that is a problem schools face. "I hate to say this, but every now and then we will have a student come through and meet all the requirements and not be a good, solid performer in these areas," he said. "The problem is the grades people get are not always a reflection of a minimum level of achievement."

Every coach who wants to do well in the highly competitive world of college sports wants to recruit from as wide a pool of talent as possible and also wants impressive graduation statistics for his athletes, Van Iten said.

The system "has a lot of potential compromise built right into it," he said. "One of the most serious challenges confronting intercollegiate athletics today is that in the rush to get more athletes graduated, they get graduated with a degree of substance."

Calvin Freeman graduated, but his employment prospects look slim.

Presidents have key support role

John Byrne, president

Eugene Register-Guard

"One of the key issues for all of higher education is that if we're really going to have institutions that rank among the best in the country, we're going to need a dramatic increase in support. Presidents play a key role in taking this message to people in the state, particularly the president of an institution such as Oregon State. . . .

"An athletics program has to be compatible with the character of an institution. You have a problem when the athletics program is too separated from the intellectual service side of the university."

John Thompson, men's basketball coach

"When people congratulate me on being the first black coach to win a national title, I don't know exactly how to feel. This is a sport that's been dominated by Blacks. So, what does it tell you that I'm the first black coach to win the NCAA? That I'm the first black coach smart enough? Don't try to sell me that. Don't expect me to say, 'Thank you, I'm honored,' when people bring up that 'first black. . . .

"But, in another sense, I am very proud to be the 'first black coach.' I was at the barber shop down by the bus terminal, what I call the car barn, and the drivers just emptied out coming over to congratulate me. I'm not an idiot. I know why they were so happy. A lot of it was because I was black.

"I have to guard myself against not enjoying things like that. I have to tell myself to make sure we all enjoy this as much as we should. You know me, always looking for the pessimistic side."

"Ideally, I believe the athletics program should be for the student body, and ideally, student-athletes should be regular students. That's not the fact, though. In many cases, they become entertainment to very large audiences.

"Those kids would be here to entertain. I do not favor that. I am a strong advocate of 'let's try to make it work; make it as normal as possible.' But if we can't make it work, within five years or so I'd be willing to say 'let's give up on this' and go for the pure entertainment."

"It's a big step in the wrong direction (using a smaller ball in women's intercollegiate basketball). We've been trying to gain equal footing with the men's game, and this undermines the effort.

"Women just physically don't play as fast a game as the men do. Sure, it will help a little with passes, but the committee (United States Girls' and Women's Basketball Rules Committee) did find a lower shooting percentage from inside five feet of the basket. Where are most of the shots taken? I suspect the lower percentage is a result of forwards throwing the ball up too hard.

"If we used the same reasoning in accommodating the game to women because of their size and speed, and hoped to improve the pace of the game, we should be shortening the court and dropping the basket."

Frank E. Vandiver, president

"Universities with big-time athletics programs are often accused of using athletes to enhance their image—at the expense of academics. . . .

"At A&M, we recognize that excellence in athletics is important—for our alumni, who want to see their alma mater as a winner, and for our student body, whether they are spectators or participants.

"Winning teams raise campus morale in all areas, and winners breed winners. . . .

"Having 'big-time' athletics doesn't prevent us from having big-time academics. In fact, the two enhance each other. We don't have to choose between academic or athletic all-Americans. We have both."

Terry Crawford, women's track coach
University of Tennessee, Knoxville

"I've always felt that Title IX was the savings in the bank, what you fell back on if you couldn't get your case across to the administrators. This could be a real bomb on women's athletics programs. I think administrators who are trying to save will use the decision as a real strong sword to slash away at women's sports."

NCAA Executive Committee Summary

Following is a listing of all actions taken by the NCAA Executive Committee in its May 7-8 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri:

Financial

The Executive Committee took the following actions on financial affairs and related matters: Agreed to study a recommendation from a chief executive officer of a Division II member institution that rules-orientation workshops be conducted annually on a regional basis. Costs of such a program will be presented at the August meeting.

Appointed the following to the National Collegiate Realty Corporation: John R. Davis, Oregon State University, president (ex officio); Robert F. Riedel, Geneseo State University College, vice-president; Connie Claussen, University of Nebraska, Omaha, vice-president; Walter Byers, NCAA, secretary (ex officio); Louis J. Spry, NCAA, treasurer (ex officio).

Reviewed the Special Committee on Drug Testing's proposal to implement a drug-testing program, as directed in 1984 Convention Proposal No. 163, and authorized the NCAA Administrative Committee to act for the Executive Committee when final costs of the program are developed.

Noted that a recommendation would be forthcoming in August to make the NCAA legislative services staff a separate department instead of being a part of the administration department. The effective date for the change would be September 1, 1984.

Received a progress report on organizational plans and possible agenda items of the NCAA Presidents' Commission and agreed that resources would be obtained through the regular Association budgetary process.

Championships

Division I Women's Basketball: The Executive Committee denied a request to review the automatic-qualification criteria approved in August 1983. Thus, effective in 1984-85, to be considered for automatic qualification for the Division I Women's Basketball Championship, a conference must conduct, as a minimum, either single round-robin, in-season competition plus a postseason tournament or double round-robin competition to determine the conference champion.

In other Division I women's basketball matters, the Executive Committee postponed until August a proposal to seed nationally a maximum of eight teams, rather than four, and place them in the bracket without geographical restriction.

Men's Fencing: The Men's Fencing Championships will continue to be conducted with a two-day format and with 30 fencers per weapon; however, the Executive Committee approved the following changes in format:

First day—Thirty fencers per weapon will compete in six brackets (five fencers per bracket) to determine seeding for the remainder of championship; 2. Thirty fencers per weapon will compete in six brackets (five fencers per bracket) with four fencers from each bracket advancing to the next round (24 fencers); 3. Twenty-four fencers per weapon will compete in four brackets (six fencers per weapon) with four fencers from each bracket advancing to the final bracket (16 fencers).

Second day—Sixteen fencers per weapon will compete in a 10-touch double-elimination bracket of 16.

Team scoring—A team's score will be determined by place finish of each institution's fencers in each of the three weapons.

The Executive Committee approved the following regional allocation system for the Men's Fencing Championships:

Region base—Approximately 60 percent of the field (54 participants) will be allocated equally in each weapon to a region based on the number of institutions sponsoring the sport on a varsity intercollegiate basis.

At-large allocations—The remaining 40 percent of the field (36 participants or 12 per weapon) will be allocated at large to the East, Midwest and West regions based on performance of the top 12 place finishers in each weapon for the previous three NCAA championships.

The following regional allocations for the 1985 Men's Fencing Championships were approved: Sabre—East (20), Midwest (6), West (4); Foil—East (19), Midwest (7), West (4); Epee—East (19), Midwest (8), West (3).

The Executive Committee denied a request to expand the Men's Fencing Committee from five to six and approved a request for the chair and one other person from the Men's Fencing Committee to meet for one day with the Women's Fencing Committee June 5-6, 1984, to discuss possibilities for common-site championships.

Field Hockey: The Executive Committee denied a request from the Field Hockey Committee to conduct a postseason poll in Divisions I and III. The Executive Committee approved the following recommendations dealing with automatic qualification: (1) Effective with the 1984 season, if a conference champion declines to compete, is ineligible to compete or cannot compete for any reason, automatic qualification should be withdrawn and remaining members considered at large; (2) Automatic qualification for the Division I Field Hockey Championship was granted to the Big Ten Conference; (3)

Automatic qualification to the 1984 Division III Field Hockey Championship was granted to the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference and the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference.

The Executive Committee approved an expansion in the Division III Field Hockey Championship bracket from 12 to 16 teams and agreed to eliminate the third-place games from the Divisions I and III championship finals. The Division III expansion was approved to accommodate the loss of the Division II championship.

Springfield College was approved as host institution for the 1984 Division I Field Hockey Championship November 17-18.

Division II Football: The following items were approved by the Executive Committee: (1) McAllen, Texas, was selected as the site of the 1984 Division II Football Championship December 8, with Palm Bowl, Inc., serving as sponsoring agency; (2) Palm Bowl, Inc., will not be responsible for any financial loss in conjunction with the 1983 championship game program; (3) The 1984 championship game program will be included in the NCAA-Host Communications agreement.

Women's Golf: The Executive Committee approved a recommendation to conduct the 1985 Women's Golf Championships at the New Seabury Golf Resort, New Seabury, Massachusetts.

Men's Gymnastics: Compulsory competition was eliminated from the Division I Men's Gymnastics Championships. The Men's Gymnastics Committee cited lack of compulsory in regular-season competition and the financial drain associated with the NCAA championships. With the elimination of compulsories, dates of the Division I championships were changed to April 12-13 (instead of April 11-13), 1985, and April 4-5 (instead of April 3-5), 1986. The Executive Committee also approved a recommendation to limit each team to six entries per event with the top five scores determining the team score and authorized the committee to conduct seven telephone conferences during the 1984-85 season. The Executive Committee denied a request to have one Division II or Division III representative assured of a position in each event at the championships. The Division II Men's Gymnastics Championships have been eliminated because of lack of sponsorship.

Women's Gymnastics: Future sites for Divisions I and II championships were delayed until budgets are complete. The Executive Committee approved the following from the Women's Gymnastics Committee:

Qualification for Division I regional competition will be based on the average of the five best regular-season meet scores, of which two must be home and two must be away, rather than on the average of the four best scores, one home and one away.

Procedures for breaking ties in all-around and individual-event competition at the national championships were eliminated, thereby allowing any ties among the first six finishers to stand. In the case of a tie for sixth (team or all-around) for regional qualification, the team or all-around competitor with the next highest regular-season average will qualify.

Members of the Divisions I and II subcommittees who do not have a team or individual in the competition will receive transportation expenses and 3½ days' per diem to attend and staff the respective championships.

The Women's Gymnastics Committee's request to receive transportation and per diem expenses to conduct a two-day meeting each year at the site of the U.S. Gymnastics Federation Congress was denied.

Financial penalties were assessed against institutions for failure to adhere to championship policies and procedures, in accordance with Executive Regulation I-2(a).

The Executive Committee denied a proposal to allow all college, high school and grade-school students the same discount ticket price that is available to students with identification cards from the participating institutions. A proposal to grant transportation expenses for head coaches of qualifying teams also was denied.

Men's Soccer: The Executive Committee voted not to support a possible amendment that would add soccer to the two sports (football, basketball) in which member institutions are required to use NCAA playing rules during the regular season.

The Executive Committee took the following actions on recommendations from the Men's Soccer Committee:

Approved an alternate official from the local area who would receive a $20 fee plus travel expenses.

Approved the following increases in fees for officials: preliminary rounds $65 referee, $42.50 linesman; semifinals $70 referee, $47.50 linesman; finals $80 referee, $50 linesman. These increases are effective through the 1986 season.

Denied an increase in the Division III bracket from 24 to 28 teams.

Approved a realignment in the Division III bracket to move the state of Maryland to the South region and New Jersey to the Pennsylvania region.

Denied an increase in the Division II bracket from 12 to 13 teams.

Approved a change from four to six regions in Division II, with two bids coming from each region. The top four teams will be seeded, and the remaining teams will be matched geographically.

Approved a new policy to allow more than four teams to be selected from a region in Division I.

Directed the committee to study further the possibility of starting the Divisions I and II tournaments a week later because of conflicts with final exams.

Directed the Men's Soccer Committee to study further the 1984 championship site in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, December 15.

Women's Soccer: The Executive Committee approved an increase in the championship field from 12 to 14 teams and approved two future dates and sites. The 1984 Women's Soccer Championship will be held November 17-18 at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and the 1985 championship will be held November 23-24 at George Mason University.

Men's Swimming and Diving: The Executive Committee took the following actions on recommendations from the Men's Swimming Committee:

Approved Indiana University Natatorium, Indianapolis, Indiana, as the site for the 1986 Division I Men's Swimming and Diving Championships, March 27-29.

Approved a one-year policy (1984-85) to allow student-athletes who have qualified in one event to participate in another event, if the approved number of participants per event has not been exceeded.

Reduced the number of individuals per event from 36 to 32 in Division I, 28 to 24 in Division II and 32 to 28 in Division III. Qualifying standards will be reconsidered by the committee.

Approved the number of automatic qualifiers in diving for the following Division I conferences: Southeastern (two in one-meter, two in three-meter), Big Ten (four in one-meter, five in three-meter), Big Eight (one in one-meter, none in three-meter), Southwest (three in one-meter, two in three-meter), Western Athletic (none in one-meter, one in three-meter), Zone A (Districts 1 and 2) will have four qualifiers in one-meter diving and four in three-meter; Zone B (District 3) will have eight and 10; Zone C (District 4) will have 12 and 11; Zone D (Districts 5 and 6) will have eight and six, and Zone E (Districts 7 and 8) will have four and five.

Women's Swimming and Diving: The Executive Committee took the following actions on recommendations from the Women's Swimming Committee:

Approved Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia, as the site for the 1985 Division III Women's Swimming and Diving Championships, March 14-16.

Retained the 20-event program for all women's championships.

Reduced the number of individuals per event from 34 to 30 in Division I, 28 to 24 in Division II and 32 to 28 in Division III. Qualifying standards will be reconsidered by the committee.

Approved the number of automatic qualifiers in diving for the following Division I conferences: Southeastern (one in one-meter, three in three-meter), Metropolitan (one in one-meter, one in three-meter), Big Ten (six in one-meter, five in three-meter), Southwest (three in one-meter, two in three-meter), Western Collegiate (one in one-meter, none in three-meter), Zone A will have three qualifiers in one-meter diving and four in three-meter; Zone B will have nine and 10; Zone C will have 12 and 12; Zone D will have seven and six, and Zone E will have five and four.

Men's and Women's Swimming and Diving: The Executive Committee directed the Men's and Women's Swimming Committees to study further a proposal to conduct the 1985 Division II men's and women's championships at a common site—the University of North Dakota. The Executive Committee approved a proposal to score 16 places in all events. Individual awards will remain at six, but eight individuals will be competing for six awards.

Men's and Women's Track and Field: The Executive Committee received a report from the combined track committees on the championship-participation ratios for cross country, indoor track and outdoor track. The Executive Committee approved 10 participants per event and 11 events (including one relay) with 140 participants for the first Division II and Division III Men's Indoor Track Championships and 10 participants per event and nine events (including one relay) with 120 participants for the first Division II and Division III Women's Indoor Track Championships.

Division I Women's Volleyball: The Executive Committee took the following actions on recommendations from the Division I Women's Volleyball Committee:

Approved national seeding of the top four teams in the championship and seeding within regions for regional pairings. If a region has more than one seeded team, the lower seed will be moved to another region.

Approved proposal for regional sessions to be played at on-campus sites rather than predetermined sites. Also, the higher seed would be host if all other criteria are comparable.

Approved automatic qualification to the 1984 Division I Women's Volleyball Championship for the following conferences: Atlantic 10, Big Eight, Big Ten, Gateway Collegiate, High Country, Metro, Mid-American, Northern Pacific, Mountain West, Southland and Western Collegiate.

Division II Women's Volleyball: The Executive Committee took the following actions on recommendations from the Division II Women's Volleyball Committee:

Voted to retain the bracket at 16 teams.

Approved Portland State University as host institution for the December 7-8, 1984, championship.

Approved the following change in automatic-qualification procedures: Effective with the 1985 season, a conference must conduct either double round-robin, in-season competition or single round-robin competition and a postseason tournament to determine its champion. Conferences of eight or more institutions may establish subdivisions of four or more teams and conduct double round-robin competition in each division in addition to a postseason tournament. All conference matches must be three-of-five matches played to 15 points.

Granted automatic qualification to the 1984 championship to the following: California Collegiate Athletic Association and North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Division III Women's Volleyball: The Executive Committee took the following actions on recommendations from the Division III Women's Volleyball Committee:

Approved the following changes in the 1984 championship format: First rounds—eight sites will serve as host for three teams each November 16-17; second rounds—four sites will be host to two teams each November 30 or December 1; finals—four teams will compete at the championship site December 7-8.

Granted automatic qualification to the 1984 championship to the following conferences: Chicago Metro, Dixie Intercollegiate, Michigan Intercollegiate, Minnesota Intercollegiate, Ohio Athletic and Southern California Intercollegiate.

Wrestling: The Executive Committee agreed to keep the Division II field at 160 participants rather than reducing the field to 100 participants. The Executive Committee denied a request to keep the Division III field at 233 but decided to cut the field to 200 participants instead of 175.

In other championships matters, the Executive Committee agreed to review the use of sports polls in its August meeting.

Committee Recommendations

Insurance: The Executive Committee received a report on the future of a catastrophic injury insurance plan. The plan recently was delayed for another year.

Legislative Assistance

Financial aid for summer school

Under the provisions of Constitution 3-4(b)-(1), financial aid may not be provided to a student-athlete while attending a summer school or summer term unless the student-athlete has been in residence a minimum of one term during the regular academic year, or the student is attending a summer orientation program for which participation is required of both athletes and nonathletes and financial aid is administered on the same basis for all participants in the program.

It is important to note that an entering freshman with no previous collegiate attendance who matriculated as a 2.000 nonqualifier in a Division I member institution and whose matriculation was solicited per O.I. 100 is not eligible to receive financial aid while attending a summer orientation program as provided in Constitution 3-4(b)-(1), inasmuch as such a student would not be permitted to receive institutional financial aid until completion of the first academic year in residence at the Division I institution.

In addition, financial aid for summer school expenses may be used only to attend the awarding institution's summer school, except in those instances in which the NCAA Council has approved an exception because of the use of an institution's facilities for the Olympic Games. As discussed in Case No. 122 (page 278, 1984-85 NCAA Manual), it would not be permissible for the parent institution in which the student-athlete is enrolled to pay the student-athlete's summer session expenses incurred in attending the institution's branch campus.

Financial aid awarded to an eligible student-athlete under Constitution 3-4(b)-(1) for summer school attendance is considered a separate award and would not be countable toward the maximum financial aid awards limitations set forth in Bylaw 6-5. The amount of aid an individual student can receive is limited by Constitution 3-1(g)-(1) to tuition and fees, room and board, and required course-related books.

Football and basketball volunteer coaches

Inasmuch as 1984 Convention Proposal No. 152, relating to permissible expenses for volunteer coaches in football and basketball at Division I institutions, was not adopted, the current provisions of Bylaw 7-1(c)-(1) remain in effect for Division I members. Under this legislation, a Division I institution may permit an uncompensated volunteer to participate in the coaching of intercollegiate basketball or football, provided no more than one such volunteer is involved in either sport, the person receives no compensation or remuneration of any sort, including expenses from the institution's department of athletics, and the person is not permitted to recruit or scout off campus. Accordingly, such a volunteer coach could accompany a team on intercollegiate athletics trips only at his or her own expense.

This material was provided by the NCAA legislative services staff as an aid to member institutions. If an institution has a question that it would like to have answered in this column, the question should be directed to Stephen R. Morgan, director of legislative services, at the NCAA national office.

SIU-Edwardsville wins seventh straight title

For the first time since 1976, a Southern Illinois-Edwardsville player failed to win the NCAA Division II Men's Tennis Championships singles title. But that did not stop the Cougars from winning their third consecutive doubles crown and seventh straight team championship.

Unseeded Steve Riza of Stephen F. Austin State was a surprising winner in singles, defeating Hampton Institute's Yaya Doubmbia, 6-3, 6-4, in the final last week in San Marcos, Texas. Riza advanced to the finals with a victory over Southern Illinois-Edwardsville's Johan Sjogren in one semifinal, while Doubmbia topped Kevin Moore of home-town Southwest Texas State.

SIU-Edwardsville was without defending singles champion Ken Flach, who turned pro after winning three straight titles, and the Cougars were unable to cash in on three quarterfinal singles berths. Young Min Kwon fell to Riza and Monty Oppenheim lost to Moore. Only Sjogren advanced.

Coach Kent DeMars' Cougars survived two close matches en route to the team championship. SIU-Edwardsville defeated Chapman, 5-4, in the semifinals, and, for the second year in a row, posted a 5-4 victory over Southwest Texas State in the championship.

In doubles, Sjogren and partner Dave Delseni, the top seeds, beat the second-seeded team of Rolf Wiedenmeyer and Brian Mehmedbasich of Cal State Hayward, 6-4, 6-4.

Redlands wins team, individual titles in Division III tournament

For the second straight year, Redlands dominated the NCAA Division III Men's Tennis Championships.

The Bulldogs of coach Jim Verdick won the team championship with a 7-2 victory over Gustavus Adolphus, losing only at Nos. 2 and 3 doubles. In the singles championship, Redlands' No. 2 player, Scott Moore, who was seeded sixth, captured the title with a 6-1, 7-6 (7-4) decision over Kalamazoo's Alex Palladino. Moore knocked off top-seeded Steve Brown of Swarthmore in the semifinals.

Redlands won the same two titles last year. The Bulldogs defeated Claremont-Mudd-Scripps in the team competition, and Erik Michelsen, since graduated, won the singles title.

The biggest upset of the tournament came in doubles, where Gustavus Adolphus' No. 3 team of Raman Jayapathy and Riley Horan won the title, defeating Eugene Jones and Dan Beers of UC San Diego, 6-0, 6-3, in the final. Jayapathy and Horan were last-minute replacements in the 32-team field and managed to defeat their teammates, Rich Skanse and Bill Sternard, in the second round.

The championships were held last week at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia.

Lady Mocs claim doubles, Division II tennis tourney

The home-court advantage and a No. 1 seeding were big factors last week in the 1984 NCAA Division II Women's Tennis Championships in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

In team, singles and doubles competitions, the top seeds won. And host Tennessee-Chattanooga took full advantage of its familiar surroundings, dominating the doubles and winning its second straight team title.

The Lady Moccasins were not threatened in the team competition. Coach Tommy Bartlett's charges swept by Radford, 9-0; Notre Dame, 6-3, and Southern Illinois-Edwardsville, 8-1. Rain forced most of the team matches indoors.

Top seed Elisabeth Calander of Southern Illinois-Edwardsville defeated unseeded Sharon Swanbery of Stetson, 6-2, 6-4, for the singles title. Along the way, she knocked off Tennessee-Chattanooga's top players, Pam Yates in the second round and Sue McCulloch in the semifinals. Swanbery defeated another unseeded player, Idaho State's Laura Slade, in the other semifinal.

The doubles boiled down to two semifinal match-ups between Southern Illinois-Edwardsville and Tennessee-Chattanooga. McCulloch and Christine Picher, the Lady Mocs' top team and the No. 1 seed, defeated Calander and Monica Briddle, the No. 2 seed. In the other semifinal, Yates and Lori Massengill of Chattanooga defeated Laurie Foederer and Patty Tiddy of SIU-Edwardsville.

After dropping the first set in the final, McCulloch and Picher rallied to defeat their teammates in the doubles final.

Davidson women win Division III tennis title

Davidson used a deep lineup, winning flights at Nos. 3, 4 and 6 singles and No. 2 doubles, to capture the team title in the 1984 NCAA Division III Women's Tennis Championships last week at Kalamazoo, Michigan.

The Division III women's championship has a fledgling team championship, rather than head-to-head, dual-match competition. And victories by Adelyn Lutz (No. 3), Elizabeth Johnson (No. 4), Debbie Podolin (No. 6), and Patricia Ives and Johnson (No. 2 doubles) were keys for coach Caroline Brown's squad.

UC San Diego won three flights (No. 5 singles and Nos. 1 and 3 doubles). For the second straight year, Occidental's Jean Marie Sanders won at No. 1 singles.

However, Sanders did not repeat as overall singles champion. Principia's Courtney Allen was a 6-2, 6-0 winner over Laurie Laughlin of Southwestern (Tennessee) in the singles final. Laughlin knocked off Sanders in the semifinals, while Allen advanced by beating Julie Gilbertson of Concordia-Moorhead.

Allen also added the doubles championship, teaming with Suzy Verheul to defeat Caroline Barclay and Eleanor Knobloch, Davidson, 7-5, 6-1. It marked the second straight year a Principia team had won the doubles title. Kristi Martin and Wendy Clark took the 1983 title.

Oklahoma State's Tommy Moore

Houston, Brigham Young to battle in Division I golf

Houston golf coach Dave Williams could not have asked for a better combination. Williams, who has led the Cougars to 14 NCAA Division I Men's Golf Championships in his 33 years as coach, has another outstanding team and the home-course advantage for this year's championships.

However, Brigham Young upset Houston earlier this season and is one of a number of teams that will try to spoil Houston's title plans in the 72-hole tournament May 23-26.

In March, Brigham Young claimed a 16-shot victory in the 30th annual All-America Intercollegiate Invitational (AAII), hosted by Houston, by blistering the 7,100-yard Bear Creek Golf World course, site of this year's championships, with a four-round, two-under-par 1,150 in periods of rain and strong winds.

Oklahoma, the first-round leader, was second at 1,166, followed by defending NCAA champion Oklahoma State (1,167), Texas A&M (1,176) and Houston (1,181).

"Nobody is supposed to do that to Bear Creek," said Williams of Brigham Young's play. "We had 30 of the nation's best in the tournament, and I'd have bet that nobody would break par."

Brigham Young was led by Rick Fehr, who was low amateur at the Master's in April, and Robert Meyer, who tied for fifth with a four-round total of 286. Fehr tied for third with a 282.

In addition to the AAII title, Brigham Young, which won the 1981 NCAA championship under coach Karl Tucker, has won two other top tournaments. The Cougars are the top-ranked team in the latest Florida Golfweek coaches poll.

Oklahoma State will rely on veterans Scott Verplank, Andy Dillard and Tommy Moore in defending its title. Verplank tied for medalist honors in last year's championships before losing in a four-man play-off. This spring, he has led the Cowboys with a 70.5-stroke average. Dillard and Moore placed in the top 30 last year and have averaged approximately 72 strokes per round this spring.

Oklahoma State won the Henry Hombert and Chris Schenkel Intercollegiate tournaments this spring and lost a play-off with Brigham Young for the Rafael Alarcon Intercollegiate title.

Oklahoma has emerged as a top contender behind the play of Andrew Magee, who consistently has been a top-10 finisher. Magee and Greg Turner recorded 71.2- and 71.6-stroke averages, respectively, this spring and, with support from the Nos. 3, 4 and 5 players, could lead the Sooners to their first title.

Florida could be the sleeper. The Gators have a consistent fivesome that has won three consecutive tournaments this spring. At one point, the Gators' per-round averages were separated by just nine-tenths of a stroke, topped by Jay Townsend's 72.6.

Although a number of teams are capable of winning the championship, Houston still is the team to beat. The Cougars recently won the Morris Williams Intercollegiate by four strokes over Texas and their 18th Southwest Conference title by 43 strokes—the largest margin in conference history.

Houston should have some added incentive this year with Williams' probable retirement. The Cougars' Billy Ray Brown, the 1982 NCAA champion; John Slaughter; Steve Elkington, and Steve Russell will be going all out to make Williams' finale a winner—should he decide to retire.

In any event, the favorite for the team title is the Cougars—Brigham Young or Houston.

Other top players who should contend for individual honors include defending champion Jim Carter, Arizona State; Brandel Chamblee, Texas; Chris Perry, Ohio State; John Inman and Davis Love, North Carolina; Sam Randolph, Southern California; Ken Earle, Pacific; Peter Persons, Georgia; Stan Utley, Missouri, and Phillip Parkin, Texas A&M.

No clear-cut favorite for College World Series crown

The suspense might not match "The Perils of Pauline," but answers to some elusive questions are being sought by college baseball fans as the 1984 NCAA Division I Baseball Championship begins.

- Will defending champion Texas (54-12) continue its surprising season and win again despite losing several key players? Southern California (1970-74) was the last team to repeat.

- Will Arizona State (48-17) prove the preseason prognosticators right and win its first championship since 1981?

- Will North Carolina (42-9) become the first champion from the Atlantic Coast Conference in nearly 30 years? The last ACC winner was Wake Forest in 1955.

- Which team will emerge as this year's Cinderella entry? Last year, Alabama surprised the experts by reaching the final game of the College World Series. In 1982, Maine upset Cal State Fullerton and Stanford before losing to eventual champion Miami (Florida).

The answers will begin to appear when regional play starts May 24. Eight double-elimination tournaments will be completed by May 28, with the winners advancing to the 38th annual College World Series June 1-10 in Omaha, Nebraska. College World Series games again will be cablecast by the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network (ESPN).

Five regional sites have been chosen: Fresno State (West I), Arizona State (West II), Oklahoma State (Midwest), Texas (Central) and Florida State (South).

Half of the 36-team field is in place due to conference automatic qualification. Seven other conference winners must be determined, and the NCAA Baseball Committee will select an additional 11 at-large teams.

Arizona State started the season ranked No. 1 but has shared that spot with San Diego State and Texas. San Diego State, one of four Western Athletic Conference contenders, has slumped; Texas has remained strong.

Other highly ranked teams are North Carolina, Mississippi State and Cal State Fullerton. Mississippi State was upset in the Southeastern

New women's golf champion predicted

The declining golf fortunes of defending champion Texas Christian almost assure that a new champion will be crowned at the NCAA Women's Golf Championships May 23-26 at Innisbrook Resort and Golf Club in Tarpon Springs, Florida.

The Horned Frogs little resemble the team that edged Tulsa by three strokes last year. Only two members—Rita Moore, who placed fourth, and Kris Hanson—are back from that squad, and first-year coach Carolyn Dixon has not found a competitive lineup.

With Texas Christian out of the picture, Tulsa, Miami (Florida), Florida, Arizona State and Duke are the top contenders.

Tulsa, the 1982 champion, is led by Judy Rosenthal, who was ranked fifth in the latest NCAA computer rankings, with a 74.2-stroke average.

Rosenthal led Tulsa to the Betsy Rawls Invitational title with a three-round 221 for medalist honors. It was the ninth straight first- or second-place tournament finish for Tulsa in 1983-84 against most of the nation's top teams.

Tulsa, top-ranked team in the NCAA computer rankings, also relies on Kim Gardner, with a 74.6-stroke average, and the consistent play of Adele Lukken.

Florida edged Miami by one stroke for fifth place in last year's championships. Miami might return the favor this year.

Paced by medalist Donna Cusano, Miami shrugged off wind and rain to shoot a three-round 908 and win the 13th annual Florida Women's State Collegiate Championships by 10 strokes over South Florida. Florida was next at 926.

The Lady Hurricanes, winners of the Florida championships six times, also have been getting steady play from defending NCAA champion Penny Hammel, who is ranked second in the nation with a 73.3-stroke average.

Florida has shown strength this spring. The Lady Gators tied for fourth at the Betsy Rawls Invitational and upset Tulsa for the Lady Gator Invitational title. Laurie Burns has paced Florida with a 75-stroke average.

Arizona State should improve last year's 13th-place showing. The Sun Devils have three golfers ranked in the top 15—more than any other team. Fourth-ranked Heather Farr leads Arizona State with a 73.8-stroke average, followed by ninth-ranked Tina Tombs (74.8) and 15th-ranked Danielle Ammaccapane (75.2).

Duke also has balance, led by top-ranked Mary Anne Widman (72.6). Widman, who won three tournaments last fall and finished second twice, has continued to play well. Widman overcame Miami's Hammel in the final round of the Peggy Kirk Bell Invitational to post a three-shot victory.

Widman and Hammel, who have been selected to the eight-member U.S. Curtis Cup team, could renew their rivalry in the 72-hole NCAA championships.

Other contenders for individual honors include Kathleen McCarthy, Stanford; Laurette Maritz, U.S. International; Debbie Thomas, South Florida; Robin Hood, Oklahoma State; Theresa Schreck, New Mexico; Ann Walsh, San Jose State, and Caroline Gowan, Georgia.

Marietta is favored to defend baseball title

Winning national baseball championships is becoming a habit for Marietta. The Pioneers have two titles (1981, 1983) and two second-place finishes in the past six years and have been the top-ranked Division III team all season.

Marietta (42-4-1) will begin its title defense May 23-26 in a six-team regional tournament at North Central. A victory in that tournament would advance the Pioneers to the finals series on its home field May 31-June 3.

Regional play in the 1984 NCAA Division III Baseball Championship began May 11 as La Verne defeated Whittier, three games to two, to capture the West title. Five double-elimination tournaments will determine the other finalists.

If Marietta is a finalist, it would portend something unusual occurring. In 1981, the Pioneers won their first championship by defeating defending champion Ithaca, 14-12, in 12 innings in the tournament's only extra-inning title game.

Last year, Marietta faced Otterbein, the regular-season Ohio Athletic Conference champion. Marietta had lost three decisions to Otterbein, including a 5-4 game earlier in the finals series. But the Pioneers exploded in the final for a 36-8 victory that included a 12-run fourth inning. Marietta set four team batting records in the game.

Pitcher Terry Mulholland and infielder Monte Duncan are among the top returnees from last year's champion.

Otterbein will be competing in the Mid-Atlantic regional, so the conference rivals could be rematched. North Carolina Wesleyan, Eastern Connecticut State and Montclair State are other 1983 finalists in the 1984 field.

Regional dates, sites and pairings are:

Northeast—May 24-26 at Eastern Connecticut State. Montclair State (26-9-1) vs. Ithaca (26-7); Eastern Connecticut State (28-8-1) vs. Brandeis (22-5-1).

South—May 18-20 at North Carolina Wesleyan. Frostburg State (29-3) vs. Methodist (37-7); North Carolina Wesleyan (33-9) vs. Glassboro State (23-9).

Mid-Atlantic—May 22-24 at William Paterson. Ramapo (26-10) vs. Westfield State (23-12); William Paterson (24-8) vs. Otterbein (20-14-1).

Midwest—May 23-26 at North Central. Marietta (42-4-1) vs. Calvin (16-11); Oswego State (23-10) vs. Ohio Northern (22-7); John Carroll (18-9) vs. North Central (22-11-1).

West—May 23-25 at Wisconsin-Oshkosh. St. Olaf (25-10) vs. Wisconsin-Whitewater (24-9); Luther (21-7) vs. Wisconsin-Oshkosh (23-7).

West—May 11-13 at La Verne. La Verne won, three games to two, over Whittier.

Abilene Christian has inside track on Division II crown

It is conceivable that Abilene Christian could win a record seven individual events at the NCAA Division II Men's Outdoor Track Championships and capture its third consecutive title.

The meet will be held May 21-26 at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau in conjunction with the Division II women's meet.

No Division II team has ever won seven individual events, and only Ohio State in Division I has matched the feat. That was in 1936 when Jesse Owens won four events.

The probable winners for the Wildcats are Dale Jenkins, with a best of 18-1 in the pole vault; Jose Salazar, who at 52-10 $\frac{3}{4}$ is almost a foot ahead of the nearest qualifier in the triple jump; Freddie Williams, who has run 1:46.85 in the 800; Mark Witherspoon, who probably could win the 100 or 400 but has the division's best qualifying mark in the 200 at 20.59, and the 400-meter relay team at 39.33.

The other two victories could come from Greg Culp, who has 7,732 points in the decathlon and has run a 13.78 in the 110 hurdles. Both are the second-best qualifying marks.

A third possibility is the 1,600-meter relay team, which has the division's second-best mark at 3:05.93.

With 16 qualifiers in 14 events, Abilene Christian's team score could approach 200, which does not leave many points for everyone else.

No team is likely to challenge the Wildcats for the championship, but the race for the best of the rest could be interesting. The contenders include Angelo State, Cal Poly-Pomona, St. Augustine's and Cal State Northridge.

Angelo State was second a year ago, and the Rams could finish as high again. They do not have Abilene Christian's depth, but there is plenty of quality, led by defending 400-meter hurdle champion Tranel Hawkins.

The Rams also have the division's top qualifiers in the decathlon (Connie Silfver, 7,867 points), shot put (Lenart Flyman, 63- $\frac{1}{2}$), hammer (Lennart Bodell, 213-9) and the long jump (Kerry Therwarger, 26-1).

Cal Poly-Pomona will rely on the distance events. Pomona's Tony Reyes is the division's top qualifier in the 1,500 at 3:46, and the Broncos also can score points in that event with Matt Blaty and Jeff Williams.

Reyes also is qualified in the 5,000 and the steeplechase. Pomona's other 5,000-meter qualifiers are Demetrius Cook and Gary Borbon. Cook has the division's second-best 800 qualifying mark.

St. Augustine's, which tied for third last year, will rely on speed and jumping. William Lightbourne has run 21.13 in the 200. Michael Weir has one of the division's top marks in the 800 at 1:51.06. Tim Leach has the No. 2 mark in the long jump at 25-10 $\frac{1}{2}$, and triple jumpers Dorant Bartlett and Norman Mitchell are Nos. 3 and 4.

Cal State Northridge has the top two javelin qualifiers. Shawn Benton has thrown 261-10, and Dave Stephens has a 246-10 $\frac{1}{2}$. Rick Weyers has thrown the discus 187-5, second among the qualifiers, and he is fourth among the hammer qualifiers.

Other returning national champions include Indiana Central's Randy Heisler in the discus, Morgan State's Jack Pierce in the 110 hurdles, California's (Pennsylvania) Brian Ferrari in the 10,000 and Southeast Missouri State's Mike Vanatta in the steeplechase.

Mustangs seeking third straight Division II women's track title

The Mustangs of Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo probably will hold on to bragging rights to the NCAA Division II Women's Outdoor Track Championships for a third consecutive year—but not without being challenged.

The meet will be held May 21-26 at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

Coach Lance Harter's squad has made it look easy in the past, outdistancing the competition by about 100 points both years. On paper, they again appear unstoppable.

Harter will have about 20 qualifiers in at least 14 of 19 events; in the middle-distance and distance events, the Mustangs are overpowering. Five athletes are qualified in the 5,000, eight in the 3,000 and six in the 1,500.

There is a maximum of 82 points available in an event. And given their qualifying times, the Mustangs could score 90 points or more in those three events alone.

Top performers for Cal Poly-SLO will be Gladees Prieur, who has the division's best times in the 1,500 and 3,000; Carol Gleason, the top qualifier in the 10,000; Ce Ce Chandler, favored in the 100-meter hurdles, and Sue McNeal, with the best of the year in the high jump at 6-1 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Cal State Hayward has the best chance of holding the Mustangs to 150 points or less. The Pioneers, third last year, are stronger this spring.

With qualifiers in 15 events, Hayward has assured points in the 400, where second-place finisher Delphina Banks returns, and the discus, with second-place finisher Diane Oswald. Hayward also will give Cal Poly-SLO stiff competition in the middle-distance and distance events.

The Pioneers have two qualifiers in the 1,500, five in the 3,000 and three in the 5,000. Hayward's Rosianne Byrd will match up well with Chandler in the 100 hurdles, and she is a top qualifier in the 200; also, the Pioneers' 1,600-meter relay team may be the division's best.

The team that could benefit from a battle between Cal Poly-SLO and Hayward is Abilene Christian, probably the division's most improved team. The Wildcats were 15th a year ago but are assured of a higher finish this year.

Sonya Smith has hurled the javelin 178-0, farther than anyone in Division II. Ann Foster has the top triple jump—a new event for women—at 40-11 $\frac{1}{2}$. And the 400-meter relay team has run 46.05, the best qualifying mark.

The Wildcats also have qualifiers in 10 more events.

St. Augustine's was seventh last spring, but coach George Williams believes the Falcons are improved, with qualifiers in 14 events.

Patricia Davis has the second-best qualifying mark in the 100 at 11.71 and the top 100-meter hurdle mark at 13.41. Another standout for St. Augustine's is defending long jump champion Sabrina Douglas, who has reached 21-4 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Diane Oswald

Angelo State, 17th last year, also should be a contender. The Rambelles have 100-meter hurdler Cindy Stewart, whose 13.74 is the top qualifying mark this spring; Carla Seldon, whose 21-7 long jump also is the best; Rhonda Herndon, who has a 40-2 triple jump, and heptathlete Barbro Sjoborg, who has scored 5,305 points.

Other returning champions include Air Force's Gail Conway in the 400, Alabama A&M's Serene Mitchell in the 800, and Cal Poly-SLO's Amy Harper-Avrit in the 1,500 and 5,000 and McNeal in the high jump.

Battle for second place could be high point of Division III meet

The competition will be fierce at the NCAA Division III Women's Outdoor Track Championships—for second place.

Unless the bus breaks down on the way to Northfield, Minnesota, the Indians of Wisconsin-LaCrosse have a lock on the team championship. They won by 30 points a year ago and are stronger for this year's championships May 21-26 at Carleton College.

Coach Gary Wilson has 33 athletes qualified in 14 events—six deep in the 5,000 and the 10,000. He also could enter five triple jumpers and four 3,000-meter runners.

Now, for the Indians' strength.

Defending shot put and discus champion Cindy Lensmire has reached 50-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ in the shot and 165-11 in the discus—no one in the division is close. The other power play for LaCrosse is Tori Neubauer, the defending champion in the 3,000 and the 5,000.

Neubauer also may run the 10,000; if she wins all three, it would be a first for any division.

Lensmire and Neubauer could amass 60 points. That leaves another 31 qualifiers to help the Indians win a second consecutive title.

The top candidate for second place could be Cortland State, which was third last year. The Red Dragons have balance and boast the top sprinter in the country, Tracy Armstead, who won both the 100 and 200 last year. She also is a member of the 400-meter relay team that has run 49.0. Armstead has run 11.9 in the 100 and 24.7 in the 200. She also has gone 19-4 in the long jump; she was second last year in the event.

Supporting Armstead are distance and middle-distance runners Ellyn Block and Nancy Nicholson, shot putters Karin Hand and Laura Martin, discus throwers Hand and JoAnn Tymeson, high jumper Judy Ingham, and triple jumper MaryAnn Simoniello.

Occidental has eight athletes qualified in 15 events, and there is not a senior on the squad. The standout is Shawn Lawson, who has scored 4,751 in the heptathlon and has qualified in four open events.

Lawson has run 12.60 in the 100, heaved the shot put 42-4, and recorded jumps of 17-0 in the long jump and 36-5 in the triple jump.

Cynthia Rogers is another standout who has qualified in the 3,000, 5,000 and 10,000. Cheryl Burditt has an 18-6 $\frac{3}{4}$ in the long jump and 36-11 in the triple jump.

Pomona-Pitzer could be the division's most improved team. The Sage Hens scored only six points in last year's meet but could be among the top five this spring.

The Hens will rely on a strong field team, with three qualifiers in the javelin and two in the discus. The standout is Brenda McIntyre, who has thrown the javelin 155-10 and hurled the discus 141-10. More javelin throwers are Ginger Ferguson and Connie Negus. Carolyn Howe has best marks of 133-10 in the discus and 40-3 in the shot.

Pomona-Pitzer also has qualifiers in the 100-meter hurdles, the 400, the 5,000 and the 10,000, the high jump, and both relays.

Profs planning to make another run on records book

A year ago, Glassboro State became the only team to win four consecutive NCAA Division III Men's Outdoor Track Championships, and the Profs could extend the string this spring.

The meet is scheduled May 21-26 at Carleton College in Northfield, Minnesota. It will be held in conjunction with the Division III women's championships.

It has been six years since Glassboro finished worse than second. During that time, the biggest margin of victory was 16 points. The 1984 meet likely will continue that tradition.

In fact, it is difficult to separate the top five or six teams, but the top challenger may be Lincoln (Pennsylvania).

Glassboro State coach Oscar Moore has built his team around the hurdle events the past few years, and the Profs have won the high hurdles four consecutive years.

Robert Abdullah will try to continue that string. He was second two years ago. Abdullah also has qualified in the 400-meter hurdles. Also qualified in the 110 hurdles is Anthony Abica, third last year, and Andy Sokolowski.

The other qualifiers in the intermediate hurdles are Ed Lanshing and Anthony Stone. Moore also has three steeplechase entrants in Lennie Hernandez, third two years ago;

Don Deckert, and Robert Rimkis, third last year.

High jumper Peter Sharpless, who has cleared 7-4, is the only field event qualifier.

Lincoln also has three qualifiers in both the high and intermediate hurdles. The best is Van Youngblood, fourth a year ago in the 110-meter hurdles.

Lincoln will try to make its mark in the sprints, where Barry Fearon is defending champion in the 400. He also was third in the 200 a year ago. The other sprinters are Jeff Austin, Gary Guerrier and George Hadrick, who was seventh in the 400 last year. Guerrier and Austin have run 10.5 and 10.6, respectively, in the 100.

Additionally, Lincoln has five 800-meter qualifiers. The best are Steve Randolph at 1:51.6 and Alonzo Cephus at 1:52.4.

Whatever Lincoln accomplishes, it will be done on the track because coach Cyrus Jones does not have a qualifier in the field events.

If Glassboro State and Lincoln counteract each other in the sprints and hurdles, Brandeis could be the team to slip in. The Judges are the 1983 Division III cross country champions, and they expect to score in the distance events.

Miler Kevin Curtin is the biggest question for Brandeis coach Norm Levine. Curtin has run 3:45.02 in the 1,500 meters this spring but has a stress fracture that could keep him sidelined. The best of the middle-distance runners is Mark Beeman, a cross country all-America.

Mount Union had high hopes before sprinter Rick Hairston broke his foot. Hairston finished second in both the 100 and 200 last year. However, the winner in both was Mount Union's Derrick Rippey and he is back.

Other potential top-five teams are Occidental, with defending pole vault and decathlon champion Doug Porter; Pomona-Pitzer, with defending hammer throw champion James Hilbert, and St. Thomas, with outstanding 10,000-meter runner Nic Manciu.

I-AA championship site recommended

The NCAA Division I-AA Football Committee has recommended that the present two-year contract with the city of Charleston, South Carolina, to host the NCAA Division I-AA Football Championship be extended three years.

A record crowd of 15,950 attended last year's game at Johnson Hagood Stadium and a nationwide television audience estimated at six million watched the contest between Southern Illinois and Western Carolina.

"We are very pleased with the first championship game we conducted here last December," Andrew T. Mooradian, chair of the committee, said after the May 7-10 meeting in Charleston. "We are delighted that the city of Charleston, the Trident Chamber of Commerce, The Citadel and the fans of Charleston want the championship to continue through the 1987 season."

The committee also voted to expand the play-off field from 12 to 16 teams.

Four-team play-off formats were used in the first three Division I-AA championships, which began in 1978. The play-off format expanded to eight teams for the 1981 championship and increased to 12 for the 1982 and 1983 championships.

Under the proposed 16-team format, the committee recommended that automatic-qualification privileges be awarded to the champions of the Big Sky Conference, Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference, Ohio Valley Conference, Southland Conference, Southwestern Athletic Conference and Yankee Conference. The top two independent teams, as evaluated by the committee, will receive berths; the remaining teams will be selected at large by the committee.

All recommendations must be approved by the NCAA Executive Committee.

Briefly in the News

The Sun Belt Conference has instituted a tennis sportsmanship policy, used for the first time during the conference tournament last month, to curb player misconduct experienced in some collegiate and professional circles in recent years, according to Victor A. Bubas, commissioner. The new policy, in a departure from past guidelines that first have given players warnings for misconduct before taking away points or games, brings immediate default and disqualification from the tournament for any offense. Bubas said, "I think we have taken a step in the right direction. . . . Tennis has been tainted by just a few individuals of the superstar class. . . . We decided to take a strong stand, and we are pleased with the results of the sportsmanship policy. . . . and we urge others to try it. . . ."

All nine members of the men's tennis team at Northeast Louisiana University have been named to the fall semester honor roll, which requires a 3.000 grade-point average on a 4.000 scale. "It's something we can be proud of, and it's a tribute to our players' dedication to all areas of their responsibility," said coach Wilson Campbell. . . Varsity women's soccer has been added to the athletics programs at Haverford College; Rutgers University, New Brunswick; the University of Rhode Island, and California State University, Dominguez Hills. Meanwhile, Cal State Dominguez Hills is dropping men's and women's tennis as varsity sports. . . Hope College will discontinue its wrestling program because the sport has been dropped by the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Adrian College dropped the sport at midseason, leaving only three institutions with active programs.

The Lacrosse International, in cooperation with the Lacrosse Foundation, has announced that the second annual Lacrosse International Games will be held at Johns Hopkins University June 8-9, featuring the top men's and women's teams in the world. The first match features the 1984 NCAA all-stars vs. the United States women's national team. . . Students at Illinois State University have approved a measure that will add $35 per semester per student toward the purchase of $8 million to $10 million in bonds to help construct a new student arena on campus. The arena would house Redbird basketball and volleyball and give ISU a larger facility for concerts and conventions. The scheduled opening is fall 1986.

Five of the eight institutions in the Western Collegiate Athletic Association will withdraw from the league and will organize another conference for the 1985-86 season. Schools making the move because of "administrative convenience, especially . . . scheduling," are the University of Arizona; Arizona State University; the University of California, Los Angeles; Stanford University, and the University of Southern California. The WCAA has had competition in basketball, volleyball, softball, gymnastics and tennis.

Notice

tee that were appointed for the meeting.

No legislation dealing exclusively with Division I-A football was proposed by the April 29, 1984, deadline; therefore, the Official Notice contains no actual proposed legislation.

Division I-A members have until June 21 to submit other legislation, which the midyear legislative meeting is entitled to sponsor for consideration at the 1985 NCAA Convention if it votes to do so. All legislation submitted by that deadline will be distributed at the meeting itself.

Included in the Official Notice are three appendices dealing with major topics to be discussed at the meeting—a recommended procedure by which a member institution would be required to report annually its institutional practices in matters of admission, satisfactory progress toward a degree and student-athletes' compliance with that requirement, and the graduation rate of student-athletes; a review of attempts to alter the NCAA membership structure over the past 10 years, accompanied by defeated Proposal No. 37 from the 1984 Convention, and the Post-season Football Committee's presentation of a format for a Division I-A football play-off, which that committee submitted without recommendation.

In other developments regarding the upcoming meetings:

Women's meeting

A total of 260 primary women administrators of athletics programs and other athletics administrators had reported their intention to attend the May 30-31 meeting as of May 11.

Complete information on the women's meeting will be featured in the May 23 issue of The NCAA News.

Development seminar

As of May 14, a total of 85 persons had registered for the June 1-2 Professional Development Seminar, which is designed to assist member institutions' athletics personnel with radio and television packaging, marketing, special events, and ticket sales. The final registration total is expected to approach 150.

The development seminar also will be featured in the May 23 issue of the News.

Division I summer meeting

Agendas and supplementary materials for the June 7-8 Division I summer meeting will be mailed to all participants not later than May 25. A total of 167 institutional and conference representatives had been appointed or invited to attend as of May 14, in addition to the members of the Division I Steering Committee. The final attendance should exceed 200.

Additional information regarding that meeting will appear in the next three issues of the News.

Effort continues to complete drug-test plan

The effort to develop an NCAA-administered drug-testing program is continuing.

The Special Committee on Drug Testing met May 13-14 in Los Angeles to further refine the plan. Discussion included refinement of procedures for collection of samples, agreement on substances to be included on a prohibited list and review of the number of samples necessary to ensure effectiveness.

The committee's final meeting will be June 22-24 in Los Angeles, when the plan will be completed. After committee approval, the plan will be distributed to the NCAA membership through The NCAA News. The June meeting is being held in conjunction with the U.S. track and field trials for the summer Olympic Games so that committee members can observe testing procedures.

Oregon State draws one year's probation

Oregon State University has been placed on probation for one year by the NCAA's Committee on Infractions as a result of violations occurring primarily in the conduct of the men's intercollegiate basketball program.

The Committee on Infractions will require the university to return $342,634.62 to the NCAA from earnings the institution received from its participation in the 1982 Division I Men's Basketball Championship.

Further, the university's record of participation in the 1980, 1981 and 1982 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championships shall be deleted, the team's place in the final standings shall be vacated, and any trophy earned in those events by the university shall be returned to the Association.

The university also will forfeit two athletics grants-in-aid in men's basketball for one year.

The university's future eligibility for television appearances and post-season tournaments was not affected.

"The violations in this case occurred during a period from 1979 to 1983 and primarily involved improper arrangements between several basketball team members and outside representatives related to the purchase of complimentary basketball tickets and the receipt of other prohibited benefits by the involved team members," said Frank J. Remington, infractions committee chair.

"The investigations conducted by the NCAA and the institution did not indicate that any athletics department staff member was aware of or involved in the serious violations, but the committee determined that certain student-athletes did have reason to know at the time the violations occurred that their eligibility could be affected by their actions as well as by the benefits received from outside athletics representatives, if discovered.

"Therefore, the committee concluded that the requirement for the university to return funds earned from NCAA championship competition in which the young men participated would be appropriate," Remington said.

"It also should be emphasized," Remington said, "that the university's assistance in developing information in this case was invaluable. In fact, the university uncovered approximately one-third of the serious violations found in the case and self-disclosed those violations to the NCAA. The university's disclosure of this information, which otherwise would have remained unknown to NCAA personnel, clearly demonstrated the institution's commitment to future compliance with NCAA legislation.

"In considering an appropriate penalty in this case," Remington said, "the committee believed that the university should bear appropriate responsibility for the improper actions of its student-athletes and outside representatives in light of the interests of all NCAA member institutions to maintain compliance with NCAA legislation. In this regard, the committee believes its penalty is meaningful and fully justified in that it recognizes the demonstrated commitment of the university to control its intercollegiate athletics program and it minimizes the possible improper advantage gained by the university as a result of the violations."

The Committee on Infractions also found violations related to local automobile transportation that involved basketball coaching staff members as well as violations regarding the posting of bail for three student-athletes by football coaching staff members. These violations were not determined to be intentional in nature and were not a significant factor in the Committee on Infractions' judgment in the case.

The committee found violations in this case involving complimentary tickets, extra benefits to student-athletes, transportation, recruiting and eligibility.

The following is the text of the penalty imposed upon the university and a summary of violations in the case.

Penalty to be imposed upon institution

1. Oregon State University shall be publicly reprimanded and censured, and placed on probation for a period of one year, effective May 14, 1984, it being understood that should any portion of the penalty in this case be set aside for any reason other than by appropriate action of the Association, the penalty shall be reconsidered by the NCAA, further, during this period of probation, the NCAA shall review the athletics policies and procedures of the university, which will include periodic visits to the university by NCAA staff members.

2. The university shall be required to return $342,634.62 to the NCAA executive office from its participation in the 1982 National Collegiate Division I Men's Basketball Championship (90 percent of its share of net receipts); further, the record of the university's performance in the 1980, 1981 and 1982 championships shall be deleted, the team's place in the final standings shall be vacated and any team trophy earned in these events by the university shall be returned to the Association.

[NOTE: The Committee on Infractions reserves jurisdiction to monitor arrangements for the university to return these funds to the Association, and any reduction in the actual amount of money to be returned shall result in reconsideration of this portion of the penalty by the Committee on Infractions and consideration of additional sanctions in this case.]

3. During the 1984-85 academic year, no more than 13 student-athletes in men's basketball shall be recipients of athletically related financial aid (as set forth in O.I. 600) that is arranged or awarded by Oregon State University. [NOTE: In the event the university is unable to comply with this sanction without terminating the aid of any current team member who will return to the university for the 1984-85 academic year, this portion of the penalty shall be applied to the 1985-86 academic year.]

Investment: The Executive Committee approved the revised investment guidelines formulated by the NCAA Special Investment Committee. The guidelines are categorized by funded operating reserve and surplus operating funds.

Eligibility: The Executive Committee approved one 1½ day, in-person meeting per year for the Eligibility Committee. The committee has met by telephone conference in the past.

Extra Events: The Executive Committee approved a proposal to allow members of the Extra Events Committee to monitor two all-star football or basketball games per year with one member of the committee in attendance. The member of the committee closest to the all-star game will be selected.

Convention

Special Committee on Convention Operations: The Executive Committee received the report from the special committee regarding the possibility of electronic voting at the NCAA Convention. Another report will be given at the August meeting.

The Executive Committee also studied the results of a survey of member institutions regarding future dates of NCAA Conventions. A detailed story will be published in a future issue of The NCAA News.

Executive Regulation

The sports of field hockey, softball and volleyball were added to Executive Regulation 1-13-(d) as exceptions to the rule that requires Executive Committee approval before final site commitments can be made.

Miscellaneous

The Executive Committee reviewed NCAA women's policies and programs with regard to the August 1, 1985, deadline for women's programs in the NCAA to be in full compliance with NCAA rules and regulations. A detailed report was published in the May 9 issue of The NCAA News.

The committee also voted to prepare a report for its August meeting that will outline the committee's general operations and its obligations and responsibilities that are dictated by the NCAA constitution. The report will review sports committees' accountability to the Executive Committee and will discuss a federated approach to championships financing and management.

Future Meetings

The Executive Committee approved two future meetings: December 10-11, 1984, in Atlanta, Georgia, and May 6-7, 1985, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Kansas City, Missouri. The December 10-11 meeting will replace the traditional Executive Committee meeting at the NCAA Convention in January.
