Vacancies listed on sports committees

Nominations for vacancies on NCAA sports committees to be filled at the 1985 NCAA Convention in Nashville must be forwarded to each member's district representative no later than December 1, according to Vernon M. Smith, chair of the Men's Committee on Committees, and Mary R. Barrett, chair of the Women's Committee on Committees.

Commission officers meet on legislation

The executive committee of the NCAA Presidents' Commission will meet Sunday, November 4, in Chicago to determine the Commission's final decisions regarding possible roll-call votes and placement of certain proposals in the agenda for the 1985 NCAA Convention.

In its October 3-4 meeting, the Commission authorized the executive committee—consisting of the Commission's four elected officers—to take those actions after the November 1 deadline for submission of legislation.

Meeting in Chicago will be Otis A. Singletary, University of Kentucky, Division I chair; Barbara J. Seelye, Keene State College, Division II chair, and Kenneth J. Weller, Central College (Iowa), Division III chair. Commission Chair John W. Ryan, Indiana University, Bloomington, is in China and has appointed President Singletary as interim chair until his return.

The Commission officers will review all legislation submitted for the 1985 Convention; identify any proposal(s) to be designated for a mandatory roll-call vote; determine the proposals of greatest interest to chief executive officers, which then will be grouped in the Convention agenda to facilitate attendance by CEOs, and attempt to identify any legislation not already discussed by the Commission that it may want to support at the Convention.

Proposals identified for roll-call vote will be indicated in the Official Notice of the Convention, which will be mailed from the NCAA national office November 21.

to the chairs of the committees. Men's committee nominations should be sent to Vernon M. Smith, Director of Athletics, University of Toledo, 2801 West Bancroft, Toledo, Ohio 43606. Women's committee nominations should be sent to Mary R. Barrett, Associate Director of Athletics, University of Massachusetts, Boston, Massachusetts 02125.

In order that a complete summary of nominations can be prepared, a copy also should be sent to Fannie B. Vaughan, Administrative Assistant, NCAA, P.O. Box 1906, Mission, Kansas 66201.

When submitting nominations, the nominee's name, title, institution, division, district and conference should be provided, along with a brief paragraph describing the qualifications of the candidate. A separate nomination should be provided for each nominee and should indicate whether the nominee would serve if elected.

Committee members who are eligible for reelection normally are re-elected. Particular attention should be given to eligibility requirements set forth in Bylaws 12-1, 12-4 and 12-5 of the NCAA Manual. Other members of these sports committees can be found in the 1984-85 NCAA Directory, which was mailed to the membership last week.

At least three amendments regarding committee structure will be acted upon by the 1985 Convention, including a proposal to combine the Men's and Women's Track and Field Committees. Another amendment would make all high school and junior college members of NCAA sports committees with rules-making responsibilities nonvoting and ex officio. Currently, high school and junior college representatives may vote only on rules changes.

If approved by the Convention, another amendment would limit the terms of sports committee members to two years. Committee members could be reelected immediately for an additional two years.

The Men's and Women's Committees on Committees are responsible for soliciting nominations from the membership for individuals interested in serving on NCAA sports committees. They then make their recommendations.

Oil firm backs college athletics; will assist NCAA youth programs

Valvoline Oil Company has become a major corporate sponsor of intercollegiate athletics and national youth programs sponsored by the NCAA. The announcement, the first corporate sponsorship ever announced by the NCAA, was made jointly October 26 by Valvoline and NCAA officials at the company's world headquarters in Lexington, Kentucky.

Valvoline will provide financial and promotional support to a variety of activities that include two youth oriented programs—the National Youth Sports Program and the Volunteers for Youth, the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship radio network, 21 National Collegiate Championships official souvenir programs, professional development seminars, and other intercollegiate promotions.

"The NCAA looks forward to this new association with the Valvoline Oil Company," said NCAA President

Frogs horn in at head of the (most improved teams) line

By James M. Van Valkenburg
NCAA Director of Statistics

Texas Christian's free-wheeling veer offense and irrepressible coach Jim Wacker are strongly out in front in the race for national most-improved honors in Division I-AA for 1984—up six full games over 1983 with four games left.

The Horned Frogs stand 6-1, with Houston, Texas Tech, Texas and Texas A&M left. A year ago, TCU finished 1-8-2. Five more victories and seven fewer losses add to 12, then divide by two, and you have six full games improvement. Four teams are up 4½ games at this stage—4-2-1 Army, 5-3 Vanderbilt, 4-4 Stanford and 4-4 Kent State. South Carolina, one of four perfect-record teams remaining at 7-0, is up four full games at this point.

The all-time regular-season record in Division I-AA is eight games, set by Purdue at 9-0 in 1943 vs. 1-8 in 1942. However, that was a wartime situation, with Purdue gaining a whole team of naval trainees in 1943 with previous football experience.

When you include bowls, Stanford shares the record, going from 1-7-1 in 1939 to 10-0 in 1940, with a 21-13 Rose Bowl victory over Nebraska. Those players were the famous T-formation originals, quarterbacked by Frankie Albert and coached by Clark Shaughnessy, who installed the first T-formation since the early days of the century. Before long, the whole country was using the T.

TCU can break the record

Texas Christian has a mathematical chance to reach a record 8½ games improvement by sweeping its last four games, then winning in the Cotton Bowl. Unlikely, you say? Quite true, but look at what "Wacker's Wackos" already have accomplished.

Here is a team that has been down longer than the Andrea Doria. Long-suffering supporters are popping buttons as they stampede out of the woodwork. They are jamming the ballrooms to hear Wacker preach the gospel.

Football notes

"I can't stand it any longer," Jerre R. Todd, TCU class of 1957, said as he left a Frog Club luncheon. "I'm going home, put on an old uniform and then find someone to hit."

"I just can't cotton-pickin' believe these kids," Wacker roars. It reminds one of 1974, when Baylor staged its famous comeback to reach the Cotton Bowl. "We're a long way from there," Wacker says. "But I would say it's at least a possibility now. Isn't that crazy?"

Four new on the job

Of 11 teams in I-AA now up more than three games, four have coaches new on the job in 1984—Stanford's Jack Elway, Minnesota's Lou Holtz, Louisiana State's Bill Arnsparger and Rutgers' Dick Anderson.

After the six teams mentioned above up four games or more, there are five more teams currently up 3½ games—9-0 Cal State Fullerton, Minnesota, LSU, Rutgers and 6-1 Southern California. Two more are up exactly three games—Purdue and San Diego State—and several more up 2½ games.

Montana State leads in I-AA

Montana State has a big lead in the race for most-improved honors in Division I-AA. Under second-year coach Dave Arnold, a 1967 Drake graduate, the Bobcats are up 6½ games, with a current 6-2 vs. last year's final 1-10. Remaining games are with Montana, Northern Arizona and Fresno State.

Two teams are up four games—3-3 Yale and 5-2-1 Western Illinois—and three more are up 3½ games—5-3 Citadel, 5-3 East Tennessee State and 3-6 West Texas State. And two teams currently are up three games—6-3 Louisiana Tech and 4-3 Richmond.

Presidents are last line of defense in athletics

By Bob Hammel

Bloomington (Indiana) Herald-Telephone

Walter Byers, accused many times of being a czar of intercollegiate athletics, never was and never sought to be, but he has had the sound recently of an aggrieved despot looking out with horror on subjects who have turned into rabble.

Byers, chief executive of the NCAA organization almost since its formation, by virtue of that office leads the attempt to keep things clean. In national interviews this fall, he has seemed more despondent than ever before. Perhaps it is time to give the cheaters their head, he appeared to be saying. Set up an open category in which anything goes, and enroll whatever believers in amateurism remain into their own shrunken version of an NCAA.

It was alarming because Byers is a warrior, not a Chamberlain or a Quisling. He has fought an unyielding fight for almost 30 years now. If he, in truth, feels the cause is lost, it may well be.

Indiana University President John Ryan met with Byers recently. "I felt he was very somber in his view of the future of intercollegiate athletics," Ryan said.

"He's very concerned. He even goes beyond being concerned. I don't think it's a distortion of his views for me to say that he believes the situation is so bad that it borders on a disintegration of what we have known for decades as a kind of self-discipline in American educational institutions when it comes to organization and administration of athletics programs.

"And that can be averted only by enlisting the direct attention and involvement of presidents of the institutions, who have to decide that the matters are important enough to become involved... that the practices and the people who are inconsistent with ethical standards and fair play won't be tolerated.

"If the presidents decide that, then they won't be tolerated."

Ryan has emerged as the leader of a rear-guard action that hardly is rear guard. He chairs the NCAA Presidents' Commission, a new group that represents the first organized involvement of chief executives into the administration of intercollegiate athletics.

For a long while, such involvement seemed redundant. The central nervous system of intercollegiate athletics is the doctrine of institutional control, the belief that each school has as a first responsibility making its own program honorable. The idea was that failure to handle so clear a responsibility should represent embarrassment to the university and the people running it.

The cynical say that when money gets big enough, embarrassment declines. Money is quite large in athletics these days, both incoming and outgoing.

Still, Ryan contends, cheating is not the norm. "I would say that the normal thing is that people (i.e., administrators) do watch, and in most of the places, the programs are clean," Ryan said.

"I'd never claim that I do a perfect job on that, but I make a serious and consistent effort to satisfy myself that nothing improper is going on. I ask people. I ask my athletics director, I ask two or three other people whose involvement takes them into athletics matters.

"Then, of course, there is the structure of the Big Ten Conference and at Indiana University, in which there is a faculty representative and an athletics committee, made up of faculty members, students and alumni. I tell them I expect to know what's going on and to tell me. And I think they do.

"Now, we're not immune at all. We might find we have some horrible problems. I have absolutely no reason to think we do, but if we do, then I think the second test is how you respond to these problems.

"We're just not going to tolerate them."

That's the presidential involvement that people within the intercollegiate athletics structure have sought for years. That's the last line of defense that the presidents represented when the NCAA—not the office in Kansas City but the membership from across the land—yielded some of its governing power to set up the Presidents' Commission.

Given a chance to act as a group, the presidents have moved quickly. Set up was a 44-man Commission representing all classifications of the NCAA and all major conferences. Ryan, the Big Ten representative, was elected the group's first chairman.

From a meeting of the Commission [October 3-4] came 10 steps that represent recommendations and proposals. One backs the original intent of Proposal No. 48, the rule the NCAA passed, for 1986 implementation, requiring incoming students to have at least a 2,000 grade-point average, on 11 core subject and a minimum standardized test score.

The presidents were "concerned" by charges and evidence that the standardized tests have a built-in discrimination toward black athletes. "very concerned; I don't know anybody who isn't concerned about that," Ryan said.

"The Presidents' Commission option in favor of an index method (combining test and core-subject results) was to retain some measure of the test score because without it we felt we could find developing at various places around the country courses with the right labels but not necessarily the right content.

"Rule 48 in its present form simply dealt with eligibility in the freshman year, so the worst that could happen to an athlete would be ineligibility in the freshman year."

It's a root-cause issue. The idea is that recruiting abuses can be lessened significantly if only legitimate college students are sought. The shame of low graduation rates for athletes is one indication the present system needs tightening. The data that say test results work against black male athletes were compiled in a different era, when high schools were allowed to let star athletes slide through, as a prelude to colleges of the same inclination doing the same thing.

The presidents' assumption is that the new core-curriculum requirements will outdate the data. "The assumption isn't just a wish," Ryan said. "If Rule 48's core curriculum takes over, all students should be better prepared to enable them to be successful in college work. They also ought to reflect this better preparation in their test scores."

Ryan doesn't see himself engaged in a lost cause, nor does he see a real possibility of the open concept that Byers mentioned as a future possibility. "I guess I don't," he said. "That kind of change is just about beyond my ken."

"I really believe the coaches want a professional opportunity. They don't want to have to deal with shady characters who are under the table taking some money.

"But they are in a particularly vulnerable profession. A lot of presidents don't realize how essential it is that they provide an incentive, a protection, a visual manifestation for these professions that that's all that's expected of them—to do a competent job—and that cheating in athletics isn't any more acceptable than cheating in the classroom."

He doesn't see winning as a casualty of such a philosophy.

"I don't think I'd be very comfortable with people who like to lose," he said. "I want people who want to win. I think there's nothing inconsistent with that and with a position that says winning by cheating is unacceptable because that's losing in another form."

Athletic competition's contribution to society is "people who learn the essence of teamwork that they can carry into any activity," Ryan said.

"Teamwork is built on fairness. That's all part of it. If we lose that in athletics, there's hardly any reason to keep athletics as part of the academic scene any more.

"I think that's what Walter Byers is trying to say: that the situation is serious, public confidence may be at stake and the presidents are going to have to be part of the effort to save it."

Too many games on television could produce empty seats

James I. Tarman, athletics director
Pennsylvania State University

The Associated Press

"I don't like the fact we have to be on TV so much to earn the same amount of money. The heart and soul of Penn State football is tailgate parties and 84,000 people in the stands. It's support at the gate. We don't want to become a studio game.

"We're always sold out, but if we continue to be on TV so often, we might start seeing a lot of no-shows. I think two or three games on television is as much as I'd want to see. That's at home. I don't care how often we're on TV on the road. That's some other AD's problem."

Rick Majerus, men's basketball coach
Marquette University

USA Today

"I think you're always enthused in October. When it gets to be 90 below zero with the wind-chill factor in February and you're coming off a two-game losing streak, then that bit of anxiety sets in."

Jim Wacker, football coach
Texas Christian University

The Washington Post

"I scare some kids, coming on too strong. They wonder if I'm for real. So I look for kids who have a burning desire to come to this school. We're best with good old country boys, the fellas out in East and West Texas. You see, a highly sophisticated kid doesn't want us. They all want Southern Methodist, or maybe even the University of Texas in Austin. The money, prestige, they go at it like a bug on a light. Now TCU, there's nothing overwhelming about TCU."

Joey Meyer, men's basketball coach
De Paul University

Chicago Tribune

"Some people were saying last year that I was doing the coaching, which was ridiculous. There will be some people who will say this year that he's (former coach Ray Meyer, Joey's father) coaching. I have no fear. I'd be stupid not to call Coach in and say, 'Sit down and watch practice and tell me what you think.'

"I want to coach to my own personality, but I don't want to change a lot of things just to prove I'm not Ray Meyer. I've been involved in this program for 13 years, so I must have been pretty stupid for those 13 years if I was going to change everything. We've had the best won-lost record in the country over the last seven years. We did a lot of things right."

Dr. Loyal W. Combs, team physician
Purdue University

Athletic Business

"We had very definite ideas about drug testing. The first was that we didn't think it should be punitive and the second was that no one should be tested unless they were educated about drugs first. We spent some time talking to the athletes about the health hazards involved with marijuana, cocaine, steroids and amphetamines so they would have a definite understanding about what we were trying to do.

"What we are trying to do is to create an environment where they could perform to the best of their abilities, both athletically and academically."

G. William Whitehurst

U.S. Congressman from Virginia

Speech at Virginia Sports Hall of Fame

"Where do we go from here? How do we provide a judicious mix of games and books? None of us has overnight solutions and, unfortunately, neither do those in charge of our academic institutions. It's a hard problem.

"What we don't need are more inducements to make our kids strong of body and weak of mind. I fear that the recent developments in college football are a telescope into the future.

"I hope my fears are not realized. But the burden on the participating schools will grow. And, ultimately, that weight must be carried by the 19-year-old who can bench press 300 pounds, run faster than anyone else and score points when they're needed most.

"I really don't think any of us believes that so much pressure should be put on someone that young. When it is, there is no chance for him to learn the lessons of sportsmanship and determination; no chance he will feel compelled to give something back to sports."

is a single-game record for Division I-A (by one yard over the 356 by Georgia Tech's Eddie Lee Ivey vs. Air Force in 1978), but perhaps overlooked is that with his 216 a week earlier, it gave him a two-game record at 573 yards, breaking the 538 by Charlie Davis of Colorado against Oklahoma State (342) and Air Force (196) in 1971.

By the way, Washington State won both games 50-41 over Oregon State and 47-42 over Stanford a week earlier, and this may be the first time a team has given up 83 points in two games and won them both. Mayes, a 6-foot, 200-pounder, played high school football in Saskatchewan, Canada. He now is second to Ohio State's Keith Byars in the national rushing standings.

Byars can break Whizzer's record

Speaking of Byars, he has a chance to break one of the oldest records in the books, the 246.3 all-purpose yards per game by Colorado's Byron "Whizzer" White (now a U.S. Supreme Court justice) in 1937 (1,970 yards in eight games). Byars has 1,908 in eight games for a 238.5-yard average in rushing, receiving and all runbacks. To break White's mark, Byars needs 801 in his last three games for a 267-yard average.

Flutie needs 142 for record

Boston College's Doug Flutie needs only 142 rushing-passing yards Saturday at Penn State to set an all-time I-A record for total offense yards. He has 9,582, and the record is 9,723 by Brigham Young's Jim McMahon, whose last season was 1981. With five games left, Flutie seems certain to become the first 10,000-yard man in I-A history.

Long: 22 straight completions

Iowa's Chuck Long set a Division I-A record with 22 straight completions against Indiana, breaking the 18 set by BYU's Steve Young last season against Air Force. That helped him move even closer to BYU's Robbie Bosco in the passing race.

Streak-enders

That 17-14 victory for West Virginia over Penn State last Saturday ended one of the longest no-victory streaks in college football history. A year ago, West Virginia had a perfect record through six games when it lost to Penn State. That made it 28 seasons without a victory for West Virginia in its series with Penn State, an 0-27-1 span marked only by a tie—in 1958. Penn State had won 25 straight times since then.

The longest current no-victory streak in Division I-A is now Indiana's 0-27-1 vs. Ohio State over the same span, and Indiana plays the Buckeyes at Columbus this Saturday.

The I-A record no-victory streak is Kansas State's 0-33-1 vs. Oklahoma (also 0-32-0 from the third game on), which was ended 59-21 by Kansas State in 1969.

When Kansas knocked Oklahoma from the unbeaten ranks last Saturday, 28-11, it was only the second victory by the Jayhawks over the Sooners in the last 20 years, or since Kansas won, 15-14 at Lawrence, in 1964 on a two-point conversion after time had expired.

The only other Kansas victory in the 20 years came in 1975 at Norman, 23-3, and it was a triple streak-ender: (1) Oklahoma had won 28 straight games, still tied for fifth among the longest winning streaks in modern I-A history; (2) the Sooners had gone unbeaten for 37 games including one tie; and (3) it was Barry Switzer's first defeat as a head coach, coming in his third season at the helm and covering 30 games. (Despite the loss to Kansas, Oklahoma was voted No. 1 in all polls after a bowl victory.)

Wabash SID Brad Rodebeck reports Wabash's 37-20 loss to Dayton ended a streak of 30 straight home victories for Wabash.

Never say first

We speculated in The NCAA News

Ed Rubbert of Louisville ranks among the leaders in Division I-A total offense of October 15 that, although many teams have used the no-huddle offense for short periods, "Gunslinger and company" of Mississippi Valley State surely must be the first to use the no-huddle for an entire season.

Now, Livingston SID Dee Outlaw reports: "Livingston used the no-huddle offense for the entire season in 1975. We ran the wishbone and only huddled for punts, running 938 plays from scrimmage in 13 games. LU finished 10-3 that year, losing to Northern Michigan, 28-26, in the Division II semifinals. Jim King was the head coach and Jack Crowe, who now is the offensive coordinator at Auburn, was our offensive coordinator."

Quotes of the week

Earlham coach Ed Clemmer, whose team has been shut out four times this season: "After the (last) shutout, I called suicide hotline and they told me it was the first right call I made all day. Then I walked into the local lounge and they kicked me out after telling me they were trying to have a happy hour." (Stuart Nelson, Earlham statistician)

Mike Sheppard is in his first season as a major college head coach at age 32 and coaching a Long Beach State team with only five returning starters. If that was not enough he had to open with four straight road games at Oregon, UCLA, Fresno State and Arizona, then open at home against Nevada-Las Vegas, preseason title favorite in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association. When a writer recently asked Sheppard if the university was worried about hiring a coach only 32 years old, he replied: "They wanted an older coach—that's why they made that schedule and brought me in. They knew that after the first five games I would be 37." (Terry Ross, Long Beach State SID)

Cal State Fullerton is 9-0—a school record for victories—but the Titans have not forgotten that in 1983 it took a Long Beach State upset over Nevada-Las Vegas to give Fullerton the PCAA title outright and a California Bowl berth. So, sophomore defensive tackle Ron McLean (yes, him again) has come up with another slogan: "No back door in '84." And coach Gene Murphy, noting there are four undefeated-untied teams in Division I-A and his is the only one not in the wire service rankings, said "We have gone from the outhouse to the penthouse, but we still live on the same budget." (Mel Franks, Cal State Fullerton SID)

Nebraska defensive tackle Jim Skow talking about his teammate Ken Graeber: "You look at Ken in practice and his blood pressure is so bad his eyes get red. He used to just kill Travis Turner in practice. He'd just drill him. Then he'd realize it, look up and say he was sorry. He's a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Coach Tom Osborne on his Nebraska defense: "If we could have had this kind of defense last year with the offense we had, it would have been lights out."

Travis Turner, a junior walk-on quarterback who won the starting job over Craig Sundberg after coming off the bench to lead a victory over Oklahoma State, on how he felt about his promotion: "I wanted to scream and cry at the same time. I wanted to scream for joy because it was a goal I'd reached and I wanted to cry for Craig because it had to be a letdown for him." (Tim Allen, Big Eight Conference SID)

Brigham Young quarterback Robbie Bosco, finally addressing the question of whether he could compare himself to former quarterbacks Gifford Nielsen, Marc Wilson, Jim McMahon and Steve Young, told Michael Wilbon of the Washington Post: "I think we're all pretty different. I don't know if there were many similarities. Well, I know one. We're all great guys."

Ohio State's Keith Byars, after setting a school single-game record of 274 yards rushing against Illinois: "I'm sure somebody will come along and break it. Hopefully it will be me." (Byars is a junior.) (Marv Hoeman, Ohio State SID)

Richard Flutie, father of Boston College quarterback Doug Flutie, when asked why his son wears No. 22, replied: Everyone assumed he went to college as a defensive back, but that's not true. The one player he used to watch a lot was Mercury Morris. Doug has worn No. 22 ever since junior midget football. (Flutie played high school football in Natick, Massachusetts, but played midget football in Melbourne, Florida, where his father was his coach.) (Reid Oslin, Boston College SID)

Kansas coach Mike Gottfried, after that shocking victory over Oklahoma, said he really believes you can beat anybody on a given day, and he started the team thinking along those lines six days in advance. "We knew that to have a chance to win, we had to be the aggressor all the way," he told Tom Shatel of the Kansas City Star. "We had to make the kids believe it. Our kids were talking about Syracuse-Nebraska this weekend. They really believed in themselves." The next part of Gottfried's plan was to have the team loosen up at the new indoor facility (dedicated the day of the game), then arrive at the stadium 20 minutes before kickoff—just in time to avoid pregame jitters. Well, the team bus arrived with a police escort, sirens blaring, but it was early and the Jayhawks had to wait outside the locker room for 10 minutes. Oh, well. Said Gottfried: "There's a saying, 'Nothing ventured, nothing gained,' and I think we're at the point where we need to venture." (Doug Vance, Kansas SID)

Tulane coach Wally English after his team had gained its first victory, a 27-23 upset over Vanderbilt: "Our theme all week was: 'We've been close, now it's time to close the deal.' We have been like the guy trying to sell a set of encyclopedias. We had been in the house and everybody was excited, but we hadn't made the sale." (M.L. Lagarde, Tulane SID)

Family affairs

For North Carolina State's Rickey Isom, a 6-foot, 225-pound senior fullback, football always has been a family affair. At John Harris High School in his native Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, he played with his two brothers and four cousins during his three-year prep career. His memories are sweet, including a 22-9 record. "At one time, our family had starters at quarterback, both wide receivers, guard and running back," Isom recalled. "And that was just on offense. On defense, we had one linebacker and the entire secondary covered. Each of us earned grants-in-aid at major universities. My brothers are at Penn State and Purdue, while my cousins play at Minnesota, Kentucky, Kansas and Florida A&M. I guess that's a bit unusual." (Ed Seaman, North Carolina State SID)

It is not uncommon for football players to have special relationships with their high school coaches. But for Penn State inside linebacker Trey Bauer, the relationship went beyond coach-and-athlete to father-and-son. Bauer, a 6-1, 218-pound sophomore from Paramus, New Jersey, thoroughly enjoyed being coached in high school by his father, Charles Bauer. "My dad has coached football for over 20 years," Bauer said. "When my brother and I were little, we loved going to his games. Finally, when I was big enough to play, my dad gave me some real good advice. He said, 'If you're going to do it, give it 100 percent or don't do it at all. You'll just end up wasting your time and the time of others.'" (Patricia Chandler-Garvin, Penn State graduate SID aide)

The name game

Though Bowling Green State cannot match Cal State Hayward's two sets of twins, Falcon fans have trouble keeping track of the Johnsons—there are four on the starting team, but none are related. Erik is a linebacker, Brian a center, Greg a defensive tackle and Greg A. the team's punter. Bowling Green also has two sets of brothers—quarterback Brian and linebacker Bill McClure and offensive guard Dan and offensive tackle Ken Schriener. If that is not enough, there are two unrelated Hunters—wide receiver Stan and defensive end John, both starters—not to mention two unrelated Kings and two unrelated Jacksons. (Steve Shutt, Bowling Green SID)

The kick blockers

North Alabama senior cornerback Daryl Smith has eight kick blocks in his career and five punt blocks, the latest in a victory over Alabama A&M. Last season in the first two rounds of the NCAA Division II play-offs, Smith blocked punts in back-to-back games against Virginia State and Central Ohio. He also has two punt blocks against Delta State and has blocked two field goals and one extra point. (Jeff Hodges, North Alabama SID)

Joe Wessel started the season for Florida State as a little-known, fourth-string defensive back, but has made a name for himself with three blocked punts and a blocked field goal this season. "I have a theory," Wessel told USA Today. "If I can run 10 yards in 1.8 seconds, I can block a kick. You have to be a little crazy to do this, but it's better than running head on to a 235-pounder to make a tackle. We (the kick-coverage team) see ourselves as the third phase of the game. There is nothing so demoralizing to another team than to hear two thumps—a ball being kicked and then being blocked." One problem arose, though. After his first block, a picture of himself was identified as one of his teammates. His second block was credited to "Joe Russell." But Wessel says he isn't worried: "All I have to do is keep blocking them and they'll get it right." (Wayne Hogan, Florida State SID)

In Division I-A, the records are eight punt blocks in a season by Jimmy Lisko of Arkansas State in 1975 and 19 total kick blocks in a career by James Ferebee of New Mexico State from 1978 to 1981 (eight field-goal attempts, six point-after attempts and five punts). No records have been established in Division II.

I-A attendance gap all but closed

Attendance in Division I-A dropped drastically last weekend as 49 games averaged only 37,655. That all but closed the lead over 1983, as the per game figure for the season to date fell to 42,856—only 0.56 percent, or 238 per game, above last year's pace. Just a week ago the gap was 1,318 per game. In Division I-AA, the per-game average climbed to 11,086, or 229 per game behind the 1983 pace. The chart:

	Games	Attendance	Average	Percent Capacity
Division I-A season figures to date	425	18,213,868	42,856	81.4
Same 105 teams at this stage in 1983	439	18,709,148	42,618	80.6
Division I-AA season figures to date	344	3,813,456	11,086	55.4
Same 87 teams at this stage in 1983	342	3,869,849	11,315	55.4

No clear-cut favorite seen in Division III field hockey

A quandry is defined as a perplexing situation, which is the dilemma of the committee that will select the field for the 1984 Division III Field Hockey Championship.

Regionals will be held November 2-3, and the semifinals and finals will be played November 9-10. All contests will take place on the campuses of tournament qualifiers.

Sixteen teams will be involved (see pairings below), and any one of them could win the championship. New faces have emerged, but old powers have stayed on top. So, no clear-cut favorite can be identified.

Cortland State, Trenton State, Bloomsburg and Messiah seem to have the best chances of advancing to the finals, but consider the numbers:

In the final Division III poll, which is in the NCAA Record section of this issue, only two of the top 20 teams had lost more than three games. Three teams—Trenton State, Bloomsburg and Messiah—were undefeated. The average winning percentage of the 20 teams in the final poll is .822.

Cortland State is ranked No. 1, and the senior-laden team of coach Pat Rudy will be tough. Shannon Porter, Donna Denaro and Chris Garrett, all senior forwards, have led the Red Dragons attack that has out shot opponents, 539-153.

Goalie Lisa "Shorty" Noll has 11 shutouts and an 0.5 goals-against average. Cortland State's only loss was to Division I Lock Haven, while Noll and the Red Dragons have stopped Division I teams from Cornell, Colgate and Syracuse. Cortland State won the State University of New York Athletic Conference title.

Trenton State coach Melissa Magee has "double trouble" in goal—Charlotte Heenan and Darlene Franchi.

"Charlotte is an aggressive goalie; Darlene is more conservative," Magee said. "They both have played very well, so we use them." The two have combined for 15 shutouts in 20 games. The Lions' top scorer is Robin Schwartz (23 goals).

A newcomer to the play-off scene is Messiah. "We're very excited about all this," said coach Jan Trapp. "This is all new to us." Maybe so, but with young players like sophomores Jennifer Terranova and Annette Mullen, the Falcons may be among the leaders for awhile.

Terranova has 23 goals in 16 games, and teammate Kim Leppo has 15.

Goalkeeper Mullen has left little room for improvement for the next two seasons. She did, however, give up a goal to Eastern Mennonite.

In 16 games this season, Mullen has 15 shutouts, 52 saves and the one goal. Mullen did not play field hockey at Messiah as a freshman. Her last previous season was as a senior at Susquehanna High School in Duncannon, Pennsylvania.

Bloomsburg coach Jan Hutchinson also has an excellent goalie—Lori Guitson, who has allowed only six goals in 13 games, with eight shutouts. Diane Shields, Kate Denny, Karen Hertzler and Linda Hershey have supplied the scoring punch with 31 goals and 11 assists.

Bloomsburg and Millersville (8-3-3, ranked No. 14 in the final poll) are the only Division II squads that have affected the Division III play-off picture.

Drew and Ithaca dropped from fifth and seventh to 15th and 16th, respectively, in the final poll but should not be counted out.

Salisbury State, Denison, Salem

State and Wooster are other top championship contenders. At least two teams were selected from each region. Following are the pairings for the 1984 Division III Field Hockey Championship.

At Cortland State: Ononota State (14-4-1) vs. Wooster (15-2-2); Ithaca (9-5-1) vs. Cortland State (15-1).

At Plymouth State: Denison (17-1-1) vs. Salem State (13-2-1); Messiah (17-0) vs. Plymouth State (13-2).

At Elizabethtown: Millersville (8-5-3) vs. Bloomsburg (15-0); Salisbury State (13-5-1) vs. Elizabethtown (15-3-2).

At Trenton State: Fairleigh Dickinson-Madison (11-2-1) vs. Frostburg State (13-3-2); Lynchburg (16-2) vs. Trenton State (20-0).

Regionals are November 3, semifinals are November 9 and the final will be November 10.

Tar Heels try to continue control of Women's Soccer Championship

If a poll were conducted among North Carolina's women soccer players about their favorite game off the field, "Monopoly" just might claim first place.

The Tar Heels, in fact, have a monopoly on first place in national-tournament play and will try to make it three straight NCAA Women's Soccer Championships when first-round action begins next week.

North Carolina beat George Masons, 4-0, in the 1983 championship game in defending its 1982 crown. The Tar Heels won the first and only Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) crown three years ago and added the U.S. Soccer Federation trophy last summer.

Coach Anson Dorrance returned his 1983 season team intact, and, through games of October 28, boasted a 17-0-1 record. The Tar Heels did not allow a goal in the regular season until 1983 national runner-up George Mason tied the Tar Heels, 1-1, last week.

"The pressure we put on other teams keeps the goals-against numbers down," Dorrance said. "We put pressure on teams with a combination of a dangerous attack and a solid midfield and defense. We're on the attack most of the time, but when pressed or challenged, we have had excellent play out of our backs and goalkeeper." There are 10 seniors playing for North Carolina.

Dorrance said one of the preseason goals was "to end up being seeded in the top two in the country, because that will give us a first-round bye in the NCAA tournament." That goal is as attainable as those scored on the field.

The championship-tournament field has been expanded from 12 to 14 teams, with the top two receiving first-round byes. First-round games must be conducted no later than November 4, and second-round games must be played by November 11. The Tar Heels will serve as host for the championship, November 17-18. The Tar Heels' three national championships could work both for and against them, Dorrance said.

"Our experience can be a really positive factor, but complacency from having won it before is a factor," he said. "We'll be an easy target for other teams to get up for, and it's always tough being in our position to keep being motivated to play well."

"I hope our seniors' enthusiasm to win it again is contagious," Dorrance expects George Mason and Central Florida (1-0 losers to North Carolina) to provide strong challenges in the national tournament.

"We've also heard that Massachusetts (12-2-2 as of October 28) and Brown (12-0-1) have had excellent seasons," he said.

Brown, in fact, along with North Carolina, will receive first-round byes. Brown is the No. 1 seed, and North Carolina is No. 2. Other seeded teams are No. 3 George Mason and

No. 4 Massachusetts.

Following are the pairings for the 1984 NCAA Women's Soccer Championship:

Northeast regional—Cortland State (11-5-2) at Connecticut (14-3-2). Winner will play Brown (12-0-1).

New England regional—Vermont (11-2-1) at Harvard (11-2-1); Boston College (11-5-1) at Massachusetts (12-2-2).

West regional—Colorado College (10-4) at George Mason (13-2-1); California-Santa Barbara (16-4-1) at California (10-3-1).

South/Mideast regional—William and Mary (7-6-4) at Central Florida (11-3). Winner will play North Carolina (17-0-1).

Track qualifying standards set

Qualifying standards for the 1985 Division I Men's and Women's Indoor Track Championships have been approved by the NCAA Executive Committee. The Division I common-site event will be held March 8-9 at the Carrier Dome in Syracuse, New York.

For one year only, limits on field sizes have been dropped so that the fields will be determined by absolute standards only. Marks must be made during the current season in indoor competition and no later than the Sunday prior to the meet.

Fully automatic times or manual times may be used for qualification purposes, with four exceptions. Manual times may not be used to qualify for the 60 yards, 55 meters, 60-yard high hurdles and 55-meter high hurdles events.

Qualifying standards in oval events may not be met on banked tracks of more than 220 yards.

Summitt regroups Vols for another try at title

Tennessee head women's basketball coach Pat Head Summitt took a group of women who never had played together as a team and led them to an Olympic gold medal last summer.

A similar situation exists this year at Tennessee, one of the Division I powers in recent years. Summitt must take one senior, one junior, five sophomores and five freshmen and turn them into a team capable of handling one of the toughest schedules in the country.

The schedule in the Southeastern Conference alone is frightening. Five other teams won 23 or more games last season; Georgia won 30. Two squads recorded 19 victories. A decisive factor in the division this season is whether Summitt's Olympic wand will work in the college game.

Another big question concerns Cheryl Miller and the national champions at Southern California. What will happen to Miller's game without the McGee sisters, Pam and Paula? Their departure leaves a 32-point, 18-rebound gap in the Southern Cal offense.

Coach Linda Sharp has work to do, but Miller's presence will make the task easier. Unquestionably the most skilled player in the women's game, Miller will draw opponents' best defenders, which could take pressure off the younger USC players.

Miller's scoring and rebounding averages should increase, even though she still will hand out assists. With Miller, Southern Cal is a contender for the final four for at least two more seasons.

Louisiana Tech coaches Sonja Hogg and Leon Barmore have lost some players too, but the Lady Techsters should bounce back. Louisiana Tech has only one starter back. In addition to guard Pam Gant, sophomores Tori Harrison and Stacey Davis should improve with each game.

There are other programs with the potential to crack the top 10 and compete for championship honors—Cheyney, Georgia, North Carolina, Texas and the list goes on. Amazingly, 62 teams won at least 20 games in Division I last season. More than a few of those squads return at least three starters.

Here is a conference-by-conference breakdown and top independents in Division I this year:

Atlantic Coast: Virginia won the regular-season title a year ago, but North Carolina took the postseason championship. Another dogfight looms in the ACC this season. The Cavaliers finished 22-7 overall in 1983-84 and return four starters. The Tar Heels (24-8, three) again will be strong, as will North Carolina State (23-9, four). Maryland (19-10, three) should not be counted out.

Top players—Chequita Wood, junior, forward, Maryland (16.9 points per game, 6.6 rebounds per game in 1983-84); Dawn Royster, sophomore, forward/center, North Carolina (10.6 ppg, 8.8 rpg); Linda Page, senior, forward, North Carolina State (22.6 ppg); Robyn Mayo, senior, guard, North Carolina State (5.6 assists per game in 1983-84); Amy Privette, sophomore, guard, Wake Forest (14.0 ppg); Maura Hertzog, senior, guard, Duke (6.7 apg); Cathy Grimes, senior, forward, Virginia (18.6 ppg, 9.6 rpg).

Atlantic 10: Penn State is the preseason favorite. All Lady Lions starters are back from a team that finished 19-12 overall and 9-2 in the league. West Virginia (17-12) will provide the stiffest opposition as it also returns five starters. Rutgers (20-9, three) and Temple (17-10, four) should contend also.

Top players—Kas Allen, sophomore, forward, George Washington (22.4 ppg, 10.2 rpg); Kahadejah Herbert, senior, center, Penn State (18.1 ppg, 9.5 rpg); Michele Washington, junior, forward, Rhode Island (16.5 ppg, 8.8 rpg); Regina Howard, sophomore, forward, Rutgers (12.5 ppg, 8.3 rpg); Trish Brown, senior, forward, St. Joseph's (Pennsylvania) (13.1 ppg, 7.6 rpg); Mimi Carroll, junior, forward, Temple (13.4 ppg); Olivia Bradley, senior, forward, West Virginia (14.2 ppg, 13.3 rpg); Georgeann Wells, junior, center, West Virginia (10.3 ppg, 8.5 rpg, 117 blocked shots).

Big East: Pittsburgh (12-16, four) would not seem a likely candidate for Big East honors this season, until Jennifer Bruce is mentioned. She averaged 23.9 points and 9.4 rebounds a year ago. With her scoring punch and a veteran squad, this team could threaten last year's top three teams—St. John's (New York) (24-6, three), Providence (19-7, two) and Villanova (22-7, three). This should be one of the most competitive leagues in the division.

Top players—Sally Madeira, junior, forward, Boston College (14.6 ppg, 7.1 rpg); Leigh Curl, senior, forward, Connecticut (14.4 ppg, 8.2 rpg); Britt King, junior, forward, Providence (10.2 ppg, 9.8 rpg); Barbara Rapp, senior, forward, St. John's (New York) (14.3 ppg, 8.2 rpg); Sally Pennfather, sophomore, forward, Villanova (19.4 ppg, 9.7 rpg).

Big Eight: Kansas State (25-6, three) lost coach Lynn Dickey, but Matilda Willis inherits more than enough talent to be a challenger for the league title again this season. Oklahoma (22-10, four) again should be strong, as should Missouri (25-6, three).

Top players—Tonya Burns, senior, center, Iowa State (16.4 ppg, 8.4 rpg); Vickie Adkins, junior, center, Kansas (16.9 ppg, 9.9 rpg); Jennifer Jones, junior, forward, Kansas State (13.3 ppg); Joni Davis, senior, forward, Missouri (20.1 ppg); Debra Powell, senior, forward, Nebraska (18.3 ppg); Jacquetta Hurley, junior, forward, Oklahoma (14.3 ppg, 6.2 rpg); Kathy Schultz, senior, center, Oklahoma State (20.4 ppg).

Big Ten: Ohio State (22-7, four) will be a senior-dominated team and is the favorite to win its fourth straight conference title. The list of potential challengers includes Wisconsin (18-10, three), Iowa (17-10, four) and Indiana (17-11, one).

Top players—Lisa Becker, sophomore, center, Iowa (15.4 ppg); Kris Emerson, sophomore, forward, Michigan State (13.0 ppg, 8.7 rpg); Carol Peterka, junior, forward, Minnesota (14.8 ppg); Anucha Browne, senior, forward, Northwestern (21.3 ppg, 10.4 rpg); Carla Chapman, senior, center, Ohio State (15.3 ppg, 7.1 rpg); Chris Pruitt, senior, forward/guard, Wisconsin (15.0 ppg, 7.0 rpg).

Cosmopolitan: Wagner (24-5, four), Siena (19-9, four) and Fairleigh Dickinson-Teaneck (15-14, three) probably will battle it out for postseason honors. If Wagner can put together another winning streak (17 games) like last season's, a championship should be forthcoming.

Top players—Stephanie Burt, junior, guard, Fairleigh Dickinson (14.4 ppg); Linda Wilson, sophomore, forward, Monmouth (New Jersey) (16.4 ppg); Ann Marie Graney, senior, center, Siena (15.6 ppg, 10.3 rpg); Grace Paterno, senior, center/forward, Wagner (14.8 ppg); Cindy Bonforte, senior, forward, Wagner (11.1 rpg).

East Coast: Towson State (19-8, four) won the conference tournament and would seem to have the experience to duplicate that feat. Lehigh (13-9, five) could be a surprise, and Delaware (22-4, two) also should be in the hunt.

Top players—Colleen Dougherty, junior, forward, Drexel (14.0 ppg); Shawn Steward, junior, guard, Lehigh (15.8 ppg); Cindy Phillips, senior, forward, Towson State (15.4 ppg).

ECAC: Top teams abound in this large grouping of teams. Among the best are New Hampshire (20-8, one), North Carolina-Wilmington (22-6, three) and Northeastern (19-8, four).

Top players—Dana Diller, sophomore, guard, American (12.4 ppg); Jody Thornton, sophomore, guard, American (10.4 ppg); Sylvia Bragg, junior, guard, East Carolina (13.4 ppg); Sue Manelski, senior, guard, James Madison (13.1 ppg); Kelly Butterfield, senior, forward, New Hampshire (9.6 ppg, 6.0 rpg); Gwen Austin, senior, center, North Carolina-Wilmington (21.0 ppg, 13.0 rpg); Pam Green, junior, forward, Northeastern (20.5 ppg); Karen Elsner, senior, center, Richmond (23.0 ppg, 12.3 rpg).

Gateway: Drake (22-7, two) and Illinois State (23-8, four) will battle for the top spot again this season, and Illinois State's edge in veteran players may make the difference.

Top players—Wanda Ford, junior, forward, Drake (18.6 ppg, 14.1 rpg); Toni Collins, senior, forward, Eastern Illinois (13.7 ppg); Marla Maupin, senior, center, Illinois State (14.8 ppg, 7.8 rpg); Amy Hile, sophomore, forward, Indiana State (13.8 ppg, 7.8 rpg); Petra Jackson, junior, guard/forward, Southern Illinois (12.5 ppg, 6.1 rpg); Jeanette Tendai, junior, center, Southwest Missouri State (21.3 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Tammy Keenan, senior, center, Western Illinois (15.1 ppg, 8.9 rpg); Allison Daniel, junior, forward/guard, Wichita State (14.8 ppg).

Cheryl Miller

Gulf Star: Southwest Texas State (10-17, two) should improve and become a challenger for the title. Another contender should be Northwestern State (Louisiana) (15-11, three).

Top players—Realia Davis, sophomore, center, Nicholls State (14.1 ppg, 9.5 rpg); Lonnie Banks, junior, guard, Northwestern State (11.2 ppg); Rene Daniels, junior, Southeastern Louisiana (17.3 ppg, 9.9 rpg); Linda Muelker, senior, center, Southwest Texas State (20.7 ppg, 10.6 rpg).

High Country: Everything is coming up "threes" for the High Country this season. There are three contenders, and each has three starters back. Brigham Young (18-8, three), New Mexico (16-11, three) and Utah (19-12, three) are the teams to watch.

Top players—Tresa Spaulding, sophomore, center, Brigham Young (16.0 ppg, 7.4 rpg); Karen Hosck, senior, forward, Colorado State (18.0 ppg); Alison Foote, senior, forward, New Mexico (16.8 ppg, 8.3 rpg); Jeanette Feaster, junior, guard, New Mexico State (16.6 ppg); Anne Handy, senior, forward, Utah (15.7 ppg, 9.8 rpg); April Hatch, senior, for-

Women to use smaller basketball

By Timothy J. Lilley
The NCAA News Staff

Women's collegiate basketball will receive a lot of attention this season. The U.S. Olympic team, behind the play of the nation's most talented female athletes and the coaching of Tennessee's Pat Head Summitt, won the gold medal in Los Angeles last summer.

Cheryl Miller is back, which automatically makes Southern California a contender for its third straight NCAA Division I championship. Miller is one of several players whose talents are taking the game to new heights in proficiency and excitement.

But the players, coaches and their past successes all may take a back seat to another happening in 1984-85—something that has stirred as much dialogue as baseball's designated hitter, lacrosse's long-stick defense and swimming's one-false-start disqualification.

The topic will be the new basketball, one lighter and smaller than ever. Rule 1, Section 4 of the United States Girls' and Women's Basketball Rules Committee official 1984-85 rules reads thusly: "The ball should be spherical and have a leather case. It shall weigh between 18 and 20 ounces, with a circumference of 28½-29 inches. Channels and/or seams shall be approximately 1/8 inch." (The ball used in previous seasons weighed between 20 and 22 ounces, with a circumference of 29½ to 30 inches).

The change seems to have as many foes as it has friends. In a letter to the editor of The NCAA News, North Dakota women's basketball coach Gary Schwartz made a request to his colleagues: "I implore women's coaches around the country to reconsider the use of a smaller ball at the collegiate level. The consequences could be permanently damaging to the women's game. The final vote of 221 for and 177 against was hardly decisive."

The voting Schwartz referred to was among the results of a spring survey conducted by the Women's Basketball Coaches Association. It was the third such survey conducted by the WBCA, all with positive results for a smaller ball.

While Schwartz echoed the sentiments of more than a few women's coaches, Southern Colorado head coach Jessie Banks' comments in the May 30 issue of the News also speak for a large number of women's coaches:

"I have been advocating using a smaller basketball for a long time. I think it will make the game more exciting to watch. We'll just sell them (the larger, older basketballs) to the men's team."

Proponents argue that the new ball will improve skills and that the dunk may become as common in the women's game as it is in the men's. Certainly, a look at some of the returning talent (see accompanying stories) suggests that a female "skywalker" is not beyond possibility.

Opponents do not believe that the skills-improvement logic and the argument that better women's players will make a more exciting game justify the move to the small ball. They believe lowering the basket and decreasing the dimensions of the floor would accomplish the same thing.

"As with any change in equipment or rules, I believe it will take some time to adjust to the new women's basketball," said Nora Lynn Finch, chair of the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Committee. "I believe perimeter players will benefit through improved ball-handling skills, and inside players will become more confident with their moves around the basket.

"I have seen the team here at North Carolina State (where Finch is an assistant athletics director) practice three times, and I already have seen some positive things. The guards are surprised at how crisp they can pass this ball, and the front-line players are developing a better inside game."

Finch said the N.C. State transition game also seems to benefit from a ball that permits better outlet passes off the rebound. "The players have to adjust to having more control over the ball, and that will take some time."

The new ball should permit frontliners to take the ball up with one hand and more confidence, and good perimeter shooters may be able to find their range even better.

"Of course, a lot of that depends on the coach," Finch said. "If a coach doesn't believe in taking 20-footers, that particular team will not try many perimeter shots." Finch said she has seen sloppy play in practice, mostly attributable to the different feel of the new women's ball.

"Our coach has been very positive about the change, and the team has responded well because of that. I believe those coaches who take a positive approach will see a quicker adjustment to the new ball."

"I was a proponent of the change, and I have been happy with what I've seen at practice so far. When our players and coaches get used to the new ball, we are going to see a very exciting game. A lot of fans will be hooked on women's basketball."

Top Division II teams in 1983-84 looking strong again

A lot of good players return to many of the top teams in Division II women's basketball this season. Although there undoubtedly will be some upsets, last year's top squads should prevail.

Take Central Missouri State, for example. The Jennies lost Carla Eades, last year's player of the year who led them to the Division II national championship. The victory was particularly gratifying since the Central Missouri men's team also won its Division II title game.

While head coach Jorja Hoehn has some juggling to do, Central Missouri State has some talented recruits and a good nucleus to build around.

A key to the rebuilding will be senior center Rosie Jones, an all-Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association player who was named to the Division II all-tournament team.

Hoehn will not have much time to experiment; the MIAA schedule is demanding. Central Missouri tied for the league title last year, matching Northwest Missouri State's 10-2 mark. One of the Jennies' two league losses came in double overtime to coach Wayne Winstead's Northwest Missouri squad.

And watch for fireworks in Cape Girardeau, Missouri, where Southeast Missouri State returns most of its team. The Otahkians also tied for the league title with a 10-2 mark, and head coach Ed Arnzen has more veterans returning than the other two contenders.

Will the MIAA schedule decide the Division II championship? Although it is possible, it probably will not happen. There are too many other strong programs in the division.

Virginia Union also returns three starters from a squad that lost (83-73) to Central Missouri State in the 1984 national-championship game. After winning the 1983 title and finishing second last year, the Panthers probably will not be denied a return to postseason action.

Bentley has been in every NCAA Division II tournament, advancing to the final four a year ago. Like last year's championship finalists, the Falcons have three starters back; unlike the finalists, they will not have the same coach.

Paula Mullen has become an assistant athletics director at the school, and Kathy Sanborn has taken over the basketball program. Still, Bentley should have another good season.

The other 1984 final-four participant, Dayton, will compete in Division I, taking a 27-4 record and three returning starters. The Flyers' departure will open the door for other fine Great Lakes region teams.

The Pennsylvania Conference always is tough, with Lock Haven and Millersville leading the way.

Here is a region-by-region rundown of some of the top teams and players in Division II:

New England

Top teams—Bentley (26-3 last season, three starters returning) won the Northeast-8 title a year ago, and new coach Kathy Sanborn has the talent to repeat. Bryant (20-6, four) will be tough, and Springfield (20-5, three) also could be strong in league competition. Quinnipiac (28-3, four) and New Haven (18-11, four) will battle for the New England Collegiate Conference championship. St. Michael's (16-8, four) also will be strong.

Top players—Carol Krupa, senior, forward, Assumption (20.1 points per game, 10.1 rebounds per game in 1983-84); Claire Holston, senior, forward, Bentley (13.3 ppg, 7.1 rpg); Karyn Marshall, junior, center, Bryant (17.7 ppg, 9.7 rpg); Tricia Johnson, senior, forward, New Hampshire (10.8 ppg, 8.8 rpg); Arnetta Eaddy, senior, forward, New Haven (15.6 ppg, 6.1 rpg); Francine Perry, senior, center, Quinnipiac (16.4 ppg, 13.9 rpg); Rachel Jackson, senior, center, St. Anselm (18.6 ppg, 12.6 rpg); Becky Bouchard, senior, guard, St. Michael's (12.3 ppg); Kathy Urbanowicz, senior, guard, Springfield (11.0 ppg).

East

Top teams—In the Pennsylvania Conference, the teams to watch include Millersville (19-7, four), East Stroudsburg (15-12, four) and Lock Haven (16-9, four). Traditionally one of the most competitive leagues in all of intercollegiate athletics, the Pennsylvania Conference should live up to that reputation this season. In New York, Canisius (23-8, three) and Utica (20-6, three) will battle in the Upstate Women's Basketball Conference, while the race in the Empire State Conference could boil down to Army (25-3, three), Mercy (22-8, five) and Pace (25-5, four). This region is one of the most balanced and powerful in the division.

Top players—Pam Pearson, junior, center, Army (12.3 ppg, 11.6 rpg); Jean Millen, junior, forward, Bloomsburg (20.7 ppg, 15.6 rpg); Duania Tyler, senior, forward, California (Pennsylvania) (16.1 ppg, 10.3 rpg); Debbie Laux, senior, forward, Canisius (15.8 ppg, 6.9 rpg); Gina Castelli, junior, guard, Canisius (13.2 ppg); Lorelei Grosskurth, junior, center, Colgate (14.5 ppg, 9.4 rpg); Sue Richards, senior, center, East Stroudsburg (12.6 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Janice Youorski, senior, forward, East Stroudsburg (11.9 ppg, 13.9 rpg); Mary Kay Lynch, senior, forward, Gannon (17.6 ppg, 12.6 rpg).

Also, Tina Martin, junior, guard, Lock Haven (21.6 ppg); Deb Schneider, junior, center, Mansfield (14.7 ppg, 14.3 rpg); Stacey Gillespie, junior, center, Mercy (16.7 ppg); Shelly Bowie, senior, center, Millersville (15.5 ppg, 10.6 rpg); Laura Regal, junior, center/forward, Niagara (17.7 ppg, 8.0 rpg); Tracy Jackson, senior, forward, Pace (12.6 ppg, 9.6 rpg); Vincene Morris, junior, forward, Philadelphia Textile (19.4 ppg, 13.9 rpg); Mary Endsley, senior, guard, Shippensburg (12.9 ppg); Sharon Lyke, senior, forward, Utica (16.7 ppg, 11.0 rpg).

South Atlantic

Top teams—Will Hampton unseat two-time Division II finalist Virginia Union for the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association title? Maybe, but the Virginia Union Panthers (22-5, three) have considerable experience in clutch situations. Hampton (24-7, four) may have an edge in returning talent, which could make this an interesting race. Other top teams in the region include Davis and Elkins (18-8, four) and Pembroke State (27-3, four). Also watch for Mount St. Mary's (26-2, one), if Bernadine Bocus, a starter last year, can recover from a serious knee injury, Mount St. Mary's could be a surprise.

Top players—Anita Cooper, junior, forward, Hampton (13.4 ppg, 8.0 rpg); Darlene Chaney, senior, center, Hampton (11.8 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Valerie Turner, senior, forward, Longwood (18.4 ppg, 14.5 rpg); Tammy McCarthy, sophomore, forward, Maryland-Baltimore County (17.5 ppg, 8.9 rpg); Emily Harman, senior, forward, Navy (15.3 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Barbara Green, senior, center, Pembroke State (19.3 ppg); Michelle Davis, junior, forward, Pembroke State (15.7 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Dee Major, senior, guard/forward, Pembroke State (13.6 ppg); Veta Williams, senior, center, Virginia Union (12.9 ppg, 11.9 rpg).

South

Top teams—Alabama A&M (19-9, three) and Fort Valley State (19-8, two) will be strong again in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Clark (Georgia) (11-18, four) has experienced players and could improve. Other teams to watch include Florida Southern (15-7, four) and North Alabama (25-5, two).

Top players—Pat Gix, junior, guard, Alabama A&M (11.7 ppg); Clemmie Smith, sophomore, center, Albany State (Georgia) (12.8 ppg, 11.5 rpg); Robin Rhodes, senior, forward, Augusta (20.7 ppg); Lisa Floyd, sophomore, guard, Clark (18.3 ppg); Tia Whatley, sophomore, forward, Clark (12.4 ppg, 9.2 rpg); Deidre Lane, senior, center, Florida Southern (12.1 ppg, 9.4 rpg); Lela McDonald, senior, forward, Mississippi University for Women (12.8 ppg, 12.0 rpg); Glynnis Shirley, sophomore, forward, Mississippi University for Women (11.5 ppg); LaConger Cohran, senior, forward, North Alabama (21.8 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Brenda Mayes, senior, forward, North Alabama (15.6 ppg); Mary McDaniel, senior, forward, Rollins (15.2 ppg, 10.2 rpg); Stephanie Glance, junior, guard, Rollins (16.3 ppg); Brelinda Copeland, senior, forward/center, Tuskegee Institute (17.4 ppg, 10.1 rpg).

Great Lakes

Top teams—With four starters back, Lewis (21-8) should be considered the favorite in the Great Lakes Valley Conference. This is not to be confused with Saginaw Valley State and the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference. The Cardinals (30-1, four) of Saginaw Valley should be strong again in that league, as will Oakland (15-11, three). Others to watch in this region are Northern Kentucky (17-10, five) and Wright State (17-10, five).

Top players—Karin Esten, junior, forward, Ashland (14.1 ppg, 7.6 rpg); Maria Poschinger, junior, forward, Bellarmine (18.8 ppg); Katy Kelley, senior, forward, Ferris State (16.5 ppg, 8.5 rpg); Rhonda Unverferth, senior, forward, Indiana/Purdue-Fort Wayne (20.2 ppg, 9.5 rpg); Angelia Barnett, senior, forward/center, Kentucky State (16.4 ppg, 9.2 rpg); Julie Fruendt, senior, center, Lewis (18.9 ppg, 10.1 rpg); Nancy Dickman, senior, forward, Northern Kentucky (15.6 ppg, 8.8 rpg); Brenda McLean, senior, forward, Oakland (15.9 ppg, 10.1 rpg); Patty Harris, senior, forward, Quincy (13.6 ppg); Lois Warburg, sophomore, center, Wright State (15.1 ppg, 10.2 rpg).

South Central

Top teams—This region was dominated by Missouri schools last year. Even though Central Missouri State's Jennies won the Division II championship, they tied for first in the conference with Northwest Missouri State and Southeast Missouri State. This season should be another highly competitive one. The Jennies (27-5, three) lost Carla Eades, the division's player of the year. Northwest Missouri State (25-5, two) also has some positions to fill; Southeast Missouri State (23-6, four) has the most experience. But like Virginia Union in the South Atlantic, Central Missouri State has "clutch game" experience, and that will help. Other teams to watch are Abilene Christian (20-7, three), Denver (20-6, four) and Regis (Colorado) (20-9, five).

Top players—Claudia Schleyer, junior, forward, Abilene Christian (25.1 ppg); Rosie Jones, senior, center, Central Missouri State (17.5 ppg, 7.9 rpg); Micki Singer, senior, guard, Denver (15.1 ppg); Annette Walters, senior, forward, Denver (11.4 ppg, 6.1 rpg); Marla Sapp, senior, forward, Northwest Missouri State (16.1 ppg); Waverly Dodrill, senior, forward, Regis (13.6 ppg); Virginia Blissett, junior, guard, Southeast Missouri State (19.2 ppg); Pat Colon, junior, center, Southeast Missouri State (18.9 ppg, 9.6 rpg); Linda Muelker, senior, center, Southwest Texas State (20.7 ppg).

North Central

Top teams—The North Central Conference dominates this region. South Dakota (22-7, four) won the title a year ago, but several other teams were on its heels. Look for top performances from Mankato State (19-7, four), North Dakota (22-7, four) and St. Cloud State (27-3, five), which joins the North Central from the Northern Sun Conference.

Top players—Kim Anderson, senior, forward, Augustana (South Dakota) (12.7 ppg, 7.2 rpg); Laurie Peterson, junior, forward, Bemidji State (12.6 ppg); Lora Weiers, sophomore, center, Bemidji State (12.5 ppg); Julie Cink, junior, center/forward, Mankato State (13.6 ppg, 9.8 rpg); Pat Burns, junior, guard/forward, Mankato State (14.4 ppg); Jackie Scholten, sophomore, center, Nebraska-Omaha (15.1 ppg, 8.8 rpg); Lori Carriere, senior, guard, North Dakota (12.2 ppg); Janice Woods, junior, forward, North Dakota State (13.0 ppg); Lisa Stamp, sophomore, center, North Dakota State (10.5 ppg, 10.3 rpg); Romona Rugloski, See Top, page 11 ward, Utah State (19.5 ppg, 7.6 rpg); Michele Hoppes, sophomore, forward/guard, Wyoming (13.5 ppg, 9.2 rpg).

Ivy: Brown (16-8, five) should defend its 1984 title without a lot of trouble. Cornell (13-13, five) is an experienced team and could surprise the favorite.

Top players — Donna Yaffee, senior, forward, Brown (17.2 ppg); Michelle Smith, junior, forward, Brown (16.2 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Karin Dwyer, junior, forward, Cornell (15.0 ppg, 8.0 rpg); Jayne Daigle, junior, center, Dartmouth (21.5 ppg, 10.7 rpg); Wendy Joseph, senior, forward, Harvard (11.6 ppg, 9.2 rpg); June Stambaugh, junior, guard, Pennsylvania (12.4 ppg); Ellen DeVoe, junior, forward, Princeton (16.5 ppg, 9.7 rpg); Sue Johnson, junior, forward, Yale (17.5 ppg, 8.0 rpg).

Metro: Despite an overall losing record, Louisville (15-16, four) won the Metro and should be a challenger again. Memphis State (18-12, four) and South Carolina (18-12, five) likely will provide the tests for the Cardinals.

Top players — Cheryl Cook, senior, guard, Cincinnati (27.4 ppg, 7.4 rpg); Lorraine Rimson, sophomore, forward, Florida State (14.8 ppg, 8.7 rpg); Jackie Spencer, senior, guard, Louisville (14.6 ppg); Regina Street, senior, forward, Memphis State (19.9 ppg, 11.0 rpg); Brantley Souther, junior, forward, South Carolina (18.4 ppg, 8.0 rpg); Wilhelmina Smith, senior, forward, Southern Mississippi (19.8 ppg); Taiqua Brittingham, senior, guard, Virginia Tech (13.3 ppg).

Metro Atlantic: Fairfield (22-6, four) and St. Peter's (22-6, three) are the teams to watch in the MAAC this season. Fairfield may have the edge because of the return of senior center Katrina Fields (21.1 ppg, 12.0 rpg).

Top players — Sharon Nast, junior, forward, Fordham (20.3 ppg, 8.3 rpg); Janet Hourihan, junior, forward, Holy Cross (10.7 rpg); Ursula Winter, senior, forward, Marist (18.8 ppg, 8.8 rpg); Blanche Jones, senior, guard, St. Peter's (13.7 ppg); Bonita Singleton, junior, guard, St. Peter's (10.6 ppg).

Mid-American: Central Michigan (27-3, four) appears to be the class of the conference, but former Philadelphia 76ers player Steve Mix, who takes over at Toledo (18-11, two), may have something to say about that.

Top players — Emma Jones, sophomore, forward/center, Ball State (10.6 ppg, 10.1 rpg); Judi Dum, sophomore, forward, Kent State (14.0 ppg, 7.8 rpg); Sylvia Odum, senior, guard, Central Michigan (16.7 ppg); Lisa Staroster, senior, forward/center, Northern Illinois (15.9 ppg); Sonya Crider, senior, center, Northern Illinois (13.8 ppg, 8.8 rpg); Vicky Musky, senior, guard/forward, Western Michigan (17.6 ppg).

Mid-Eastern: South Carolina State (17-8, four) is the favorite. Bethune-Cookman (22-5, three) had a good recruiting year and should be strong; Morgan State (19-9, four) joins the conference and could be a contender right away.

Top players — Rosina Pearson, senior, forward, Bethune-Cookman (15.9 ppg, 13.4 rpg); Robin Duncan, senior, forward, Howard (16.7 ppg, 11.5 rpg); Cynthia Robinson, senior, center, Morgan State (16.3 ppg, 11.5 rpg); Wanda Pittman, sophomore, center, South Carolina State (15.4 ppg).

Mountain West: Montana (26-4, three) put together a perfect (14-0) league record last season, but the Grizzlies could be challenged by a strong Eastern Washington team (21-7, four) this season.

Top players — Lisa Comstock, senior, guard, Eastern Washington (13.1 ppg); Brenda Souther, sophomore, center, Eastern Washington (12.5 ppg, 10.4 rpg); Barb Kavanagh, senior, guard, Montana (10.8 ppg); Kathleen McLaughlin, junior, forward, Montana State (15.8 ppg).

NorPac: The conference title should be decided in the state of Oregon. Oregon (23-7, four) won a year ago, and Oregon State (21-8, four) finished second. Both teams should fight to the finish again.

Top players — Cynthia Cooke, senior, forward, California (13.9 ppg, 6.4 rpg); Wendy Martell, sophomore, guard, Fresno State (12.0 ppg); Lauri Tennant, sophomore, guard, Oregon (10.4 ppg); Juli Coleman, senior, guard, Oregon State (22.7 ppg); Brenda Arbuckle, sophomore, forward, Oregon State (14.0 ppg, 10.3 rpg); Rhoda Chew, senior, center, San Jose State (14.0 ppg, 12.7 rpg); Leteia Hughley, senior, guard, Washington (18.0 ppg); Marcia Miles, junior, forward, Washington State (18.8 ppg).

North Star: This could be a wide-open race between Dayton (27-4, three), a newcomer from Division II this year, Detroit (14-12, four), Loyola (Illinois) (23-4, three) and Notre Dame (14-14, five). Defending champion Loyola would have to be rated an early favorite.

Top players — Leah Abila, senior, guard, Dayton (15.7 ppg); Cassandra Pack, sophomore, forward, Detroit (17.4 ppg, 9.5 rpg); Regina Pierce, senior, guard, Detroit (17.1 ppg); Shalley Brand-Adlard, senior, guard, Evansville (19.5 ppg); Kathy Leyden, junior, guard, Loyola (13.6 ppg).

Leah Abila, Dayton

Ohio Valley: A three-way race is shaping up in the OVC between 1984 champion Middle Tennessee State (19-10, three), Eastern Kentucky (17-11, three) and Tennessee Tech (17-11, four). Any of the three could claim the title in February.

Top players — Tina Cottle, senior, center, Eastern Kentucky (15.2 ppg, 9.5 rpg); Kim Webb, sophomore, guard, Middle Tennessee State (15.3 ppg); Jennifer McFall, senior, forward, Middle Tennessee State (14.6 ppg, 7.2 rpg); Karen Hubert Price, senior, forward, Murray State (19.0 ppg, 11.3 rpg); Cheryl Taylor, sophomore, center, Tennessee Tech (16.2 ppg, 12.1 rpg); Chris Moye, junior, forward, Tennessee Tech (15.5 ppg); Danielle Carson, junior, guard, Youngstown State (17.5 ppg, 7.7 rpg).

Oil Country: Another three-team tussle should take place in the Oil Country Athletic Conference. Oral Roberts (15-13, three), Texas-San Antonio (21-6, three) and West Texas State (20-8, four) should battle it out to the wire.

Top players — Joy Kellogg, senior, forward, Oklahoma City (13.8 ppg, 16.2 rpg); Michelle Moore, junior, guard, Oklahoma City (20.8 ppg); Margie Jackson, senior, forward, Oral Roberts (16.0 ppg); Lenore Dembs, senior, forward, Texas-El Paso (13.6 ppg); Margaret Martinovich, senior, center, Texas-San Antonio (11.5 ppg); Maria Linggi, senior, forward, West Texas State (14.1 ppg).

Pacific Coast: Anteaters or Rebels, take your pick. It looks like the UC Irvine Anteaters (20-9, five) and the Runnin' Rebels of Nevada-Las Vegas (24-7, two) will square off for the PCAA title. The Anteaters have more experience.

Top players — Cheri Graham, junior, forward/center, UC Irvine (20.5 ppg, 8.6 rpg); Kristen Nicholson, junior, forward, California-Santa Barbara (16.5 ppg, 6.3 rpg); Jeanne Wade, sophomore, center, Hawaii (11.5 ppg, 8.9 rpg); Misty Thomas, junior, guard, Nevada-Las Vegas (15.5 ppg); Donya Monroe, junior, center, Nevada-Las Vegas (11.8 ppg, 8.5 rpg).

Southeastern: Several excellent teams make this race too tough to call. Alabama (23-9, two), Florida (19-9, five), Georgia (30-3, three), Louisiana State (23-7, three), Mississippi (24-6, four), Tennessee (23-10, one) and Vanderbilt (23-9, four) all are legitimate contenders. This could be the most exciting conference schedule in the country this season. Mississippi's Deborah Temple, a transfer from Delta State, could give the Lady Rebels the necessary edge.

Top players — Carol Smith, junior, center/forward, Alabama (16.7 ppg, 7.4 rpg); Tammy Jackson, senior, center, Florida (14.9 ppg, 8.4 rpg); Janet Harris, senior, forward, Georgia (17.8 ppg, 8.5 rpg); Teresa Edwards, junior, guard, Georgia (14.1 ppg); Leslie Nichols, junior, forward, Kentucky (18.4 ppg, 8.0 rpg); Madeline Doucet, senior, forward, Louisiana State (17.8 ppg); Jennifer Gillom, junior, forward, Mississippi (18.2 ppg, 9.1 rpg); Eugenia Conner, senior, center, Mississippi (15.5 ppg, 9.2 rpg); Deborah Temple, senior, forward, Mississippi (31.2 ppg); Sandra Butler, junior, forward, Mississippi State (16.8 ppg, 12.3 rpg); Sheila Collins, senior, guard, Tennessee (10.4 ppg); Harriet Brumfield, senior, center, Vanderbilt (14.4 ppg, 9.4 rpg).

Southern: Tennessee-Chattanooga will be seeking a fourth straight league title (26-5, two), but East Tennessee State (18-9, three) and Marshall (18-10, four) will challenge the Lady Mocs.

Top players — Tammy Larkey, senior, center, East Tennessee State (16.0 ppg); Regina Blair, senior, forward, East Tennessee State (14.5 ppg, 9.4 rpg); Karen Pelphrey, junior, forward, Marshall (25.1 ppg, 7.4 rpg); Emily Holliday, junior, center, Western Carolina (10.2 ppg, 7.3 rpg).

Southland: Northeast Louisiana (23-4, three) will try to repeat its 12-0 league slate from a year ago. Southwestern Louisiana (22-6, one) also will be a title challenger.

Top players — Charlotte Fields, sophomore, center, Arkansas State (11.9 ppg, 8.6 rpg); Aundra Rhone, senior, forward/center, Lamar (15.5 ppg); Pam Booker, junior, guard, McNeese State (18.3 ppg); Lisa Ingram, junior, center, Northeast Louisiana (24.0 ppg, 11.7 rpg); Eun Jung Lee, junior, guard, Northeast Louisiana (18.0 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Jeanne Curry, senior, forward, Texas-Arlington (10.9 ppg, 7.1 rpg).

Southwest: Texas (32-3, three) should win the league. If Texas A&M (13-15, five) can adapt to former Kansas State coach Lynn Hickey's system quickly, the Aggies will be in contention. Texas Tech (23-7, two) and Arkansas (20-9, four) also may be tough, but the road to the Southwest Conference title goes through Austin.

Top players — Bettye Fiscus, senior, forward, Arkansas (16.9 ppg, 6.0 rpg); Sonya Watkins, junior, forward, Houston (14.4 ppg); Holly Jones, senior, forward/center, Rice (16.7 ppg, 7.9 rpg); Fran Harris, junior, forward, Texas (18.6 ppg); Andrea Lloyd, sophomore, forward, Texas (14.7 ppg, 9.9 rpg); Kamie Ethridge, junior, guard, Texas (9.0 ppg, 7.3 rpg); Lisa Langston, junior, forward, Texas A&M (16.8 ppg).

Sun Belt: Old Dominion (24-5, four) brings to mind one of the oldest clichés in sports: "They don't rebuild, they reload." Coach Marianne Stanley's squad will be back in the post-season spotlight again. South Alabama (24-6, four) and North Carolina-Charlotte (21-8, three) also will be strong.

Top players — Candy Lucas, senior, guard, North Carolina-Charlotte (18.9 ppg); Medina Dixon, senior, forward, Old Dominion (20.8 ppg); Tracy Claxton, senior, forward, Old Dominion (19.9 ppg, 11.3 rpg); LaSandra Jenkins, senior, center, South Alabama (16.2 ppg, 9.1 rpg); Mary Klinewski, senior, forward, South Florida (14.5 ppg, 8.9 rpg); Clemette Haskins, sophomore, guard, Western Kentucky (13.6 ppg).

Western Collegiate: Cheryl Miller-led Southern California is the clear favorite. The Trojans (29-4, two) must be considered the best as long as Miller is healthy and in uniform. Every program in the league is strong, and some have more returning veterans, but Southern Cal stands at the top.

Top players — Robin Holmes, junior, guard, Cal State Fullerton (15.4 ppg); Kirsten Cummings, senior, forward, Long Beach State (17.7 ppg); Tina Hutchinson, sophomore, forward, San Diego State (29.9 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Cheryl Miller, junior, forward, Southern Cal (22.0 ppg, 10.6 rpg); Annette Keur, sophomore, center, UCLA (15.6 ppg).

Others: Louisiana Tech (30-3, one) is a perennial power that should be strong again. Cheyney (25-5, one) will have to replace most starters, as will the Lady Techsters. Both programs have the ability to stay among the division's top 10 this season. Other top teams — Central Florida (23-7, one), Delta State (20-8, three), Florida A&M (19-8, three), Miami (Florida) (19-12, three) and Robert Morris (23-5, five).

Top players — Jurice Hardin, sophomore, forward, Alabama State (11.3 ppg, 8.9 rpg); Susan Patz, junior, forward/center, Central Florida (15.7 ppg); Connie Yori, junior, guard, Creighton (20.3 ppg, 8.6 rpg); Rosa Hudgins, senior, forward, Florida A&M (14.6 ppg); Pam Gant, senior, guard, Louisiana Tech (16.3 ppg); Cordelia Fulmore, senior, forward, Miami (Florida) (19.5 ppg, 11.6 rpg); Chris Starr, junior, forward/center, Nevada-Reno (25.6 ppg, 11.5 rpg); Sandy Lucht, junior, center, New Orleans (11.9 ppg); Missy Walls, senior, forward, Robert Morris (13.4 ppg); Shelly Sparks, senior, forward, Southern-Baton Rouge (16.8 ppg); June Hardy, junior, center, Texas Southern (13.5 ppg); Felicia Caldwell, senior, center, Tulsa (14.1 ppg, 10.1 rpg); Toya DeCree, junior, center, U.S. International (17.9 ppg, 11.8 rpg).

Division III champion Rust has all its starters returning

There seems to be no way for most Division III women's basketball teams to "Rust-proof" their dreams of a national-championship trophy this season.

The Lady Bearcats of Rust, 26-5 last season and winners of the national championship, have everybody back.

Head coach A. J. Stovall has only one senior on the squad, and eight of the 14 players on the roster are freshmen and sophomores. No wonder Rhodes College was the only nonconference team within 200 miles of Holly Springs, Mississippi, to add Rust to its schedule.

Just about all the division's top teams have a lot of talent back. At least half of the top 10 performers in all four individual statistical categories (scoring, rebounding, field-goal percentage and free-throw percentage) return.

Elizabethtown has two starters back; Salem State has four. North Central coach R. Wayne Morgan got a pleasant surprise when center Cheryl Juris decided against sitting out this season.

Throughout the country, this may be the most balanced division in women's basketball this season. Many teams are capable of challenging perennial powers, although no one seems to have the capability—on paper, at least—of overtaking Rust.

"Not to win the title this year would be a great disappointment, considering that we have the same team this year, with the addition of one proven top-notch player and some quality freshmen," Rust coach Stovall said. "Thus, our goal this year is to be the only NCAA Division III school ever to win back-to-back [women's basketball] titles."

The proven newcomer is Louise Sanders, who rejoins the squad after a year off. She was Rust's leading scorer in 1982-83.

The only sure thing about the 1985 season is that Division III women's basketball will be very competitive. Rust should go a long way, but several teams could challenge the Lady Bearcats for national honors.

Here is a region-by-region outlook for Division III women's basketball, including the top teams and players:

New England

Top teams—Many of the region's best teams from last year return most of their players. Bridgewater State (Massachusetts) (22-5, four) may be the best of the bunch, but challenges will come from Salem State (27-3, four), Eastern Connecticut State (20-7, five), Norwich (17-3, five) and Colby (23-3, four). Other strong entries include Worcester Polytechnic (20-4, four), Connecticut College (19-3, four), Mount Holyoke (21-3, three) and Western Connecticut State (15-6, four).

Top players—Hali Hammer, junior, forward, Amherst (13.4 points per game, 7.0 rebounds per game in 1983-84); Amy Harper, senior, guard, Bowdoin (18.4 ppg); Jenny Artman, sophomore, guard, Brandeis (18.1 ppg); Cathy Baker, senior, forward, Bridgewater State (8.0 rpg); Therese Langlois, senior, forward, Colby (14.3 ppg, 9.1 rpg); Laura Brunner, junior, center, Connecticut College (17.3 ppg, 11.8 rpg); Tracey Finer, sophomore, guard, Connecticut College (15.0 ppg); Patti Ferraro, junior, forward, Eastern Connecticut State (10.3 ppg); Sue Governo, junior, center, Eastern Connecticut State (10.0 ppg).

Also, Meta Poulos, junior, forward, Hellenic (15.0 ppg, 8.0 rpg); Julie Koster, senior, center, MIT (14.6 ppg, 10.3 rpg); Tricia Ginley, senior, forward, Mount Holyoke (13.3 ppg, 8.6 rpg); Kelly White, junior, center, Norwich (16.1 ppg, 15.6 rpg); Lisa Richardson, senior, forward, Plymouth State (13.8 ppg, 11.3 rpg); Debbie Konuch, senior, center, Roger Williams (16.6 ppg, 10.9 rpg); Ann Breitenwischer, junior, center, Salem State (11.6 ppg); Evelyn Oquendo, junior, guard, Salem State (16.2 ppg); Marcella Zalot, sophomore, forward, Smith (10.4 ppg, 10.9 rpg); Cathy Johnson, junior, guard, Southeastern Massachusetts (16.5 ppg); Trish Neary, sophomore, forward, Western Connecticut State (12.6 ppg); Sue Robertson, sophomore, forward, Western Connecticut State (12.2 ppg); Jane Marjanski, junior, forward, Western New England (21.6 ppg, 10.6 rpg); Kim Fay, junior, guard, Worcester Polytechnic (15.7 ppg); Cindy Perkins, sophomore, forward, Worcester Polytechnic (12.7 ppg, 8.9 rpg).

East

Top teams—New Rochelle (23-9, three) keeps on rolling. Three starters are back, and coach Louis Kerns seems to have had an excellent recruiting year. A fifth consecutive 20-victory season seems likely. Others to watch in the region include Buffalo State (21-6, three), Geneseo State (13-8, five), Stony Brook (23-7, three) and Hartwick (16-8, three).

Top players—Diane DeGurian, junior, guard, Alfred (16.0 ppg); Kathy Hutchins, senior, guard, Hartwick (13.0 ppg); Charlene Thomas, junior, center, Herbert Lehman (9.1 ppg, 7.9 rpg); Robin Robinson, junior, guard, Buffalo State (11.1 ppg); Michelle Stiles, senior, forward, Buffalo (14.4 ppg); Jackie Schoder, junior, forward, Geneseo State (10.2 ppg); Karen Vercelli, junior, forward, Manhattanville (12.2 ppg); Julie Watts, senior, center, Manhattanville (8.1 ppg, 10.5 rpg); Dawn Cillo, sophomore, forward, New Rochelle (14.5 ppg, 6.0 rpg); Linda DeRyke, junior, center, Oswego State (16.3 ppg, 11.4 rpg); Michele White, sophomore, guard, Stony Brook (17.9 ppg); Linda Sullivan, senior, forward, Stony Brook (13.9 ppg, 6.6 rpg).

center, Alaska-Anchorage (18.6 ppg, 11.2 rpg); Kristi Flores, senior, forward, Alaska-Fairbanks (19.1 ppg); Amy Arwood, senior, forward, California-Riverside (12.0 ppg, 9.9 rpg); Vickie Mitchell, junior, forward, Cal Poly-Pomona (14.7 ppg, 11.0 rpg); Janine Phillips, senior, center, Cal Poly-Pomona (14.1 ppg); Deadra Johnson, senior, forward, Cal State Dominguez Hills (17.4 ppg, 10.3 rpg); Adrienne Harris, senior, center, Cal State Dominguez Hills (17.6 ppg, 9.9 rpg); Zetta Hurter, senior, center, Cal State Los Angeles (13.0 ppg, 9.3 rpg); Denise Sitton, junior, center/forward, Cal State Northridge (14.1 ppg, 10.3 rpg); Delisa Carter, senior, center, Chapman (13.6 ppg, 9.3 rpg); Leone Patterson, junior, center, Chapman (11.2 ppg); Lisa Burris, junior, forward, Sonoma State (11.7 ppg).

Atlantic

Top teams—Muskingum (23-6, four) has a lot of experienced players and may have an edge over Trenton State (20-8, three) and Kean (25-2, one). All three should be strong, along with Stockton State (20-7, four), Capital (16-6, five) and Frostburg State (17-8, three).

Top players—Diane Hess, senior, guard, Bethany (West Virginia) (15.0 ppg, 8.4 rpg); Bonnie Coulter, senior, forward, Capital (12.0 ppg, 6.7 rpg); Sheri Conrad, senior, center, Capital (9.2 rpg); Diane Lancashire, senior, forward, Capital (14.1 ppg); Kathy Orsini, senior, forward, Frostburg State (12.6 ppg, 10.5 rpg); Tammy Steele, junior, guard, Glassboro State (16.8 ppg, 7.2 rpg); Betsy Lukens, junior, forward, Kenyon (10.4 ppg, 8.3 rpg); Traci Weaver, senior, guard, Muskingum (19.1 ppg); Jacque Stahley, senior, guard, Ohio Northern (15.0 ppg); Jerilyn Bushong, sophomore, guard/forward, Ohio Wesleyan (13.0 ppg); Carolyn Lekavich, senior, guard, Ohio Wesleyan (10.5 ppg); Sara Marvel, junior, forward, Salisbury State (14.0 ppg, 8.0 rpg); Valerie Brown, senior, guard, Stockton State (20.7 ppg); Sandy Sellers, junior, center, Trenton State (13.4 ppg).

Mid-Atlantic

Top teams—Elizabethtown (29-2, two) has to be considered the favorite in the region and one of the top teams in the division after advancing to the Division III championship game a year ago. Also strong will be Pittsburgh-Johnstown (25-3, two), Allegheny (21-4, five), Allentown (18-7, five), Susquehanna (19-8, five), Spring Garden (23-5, two) and Scranton (19-8, two). And, Dickinson (11-11, four) could be a darkhorse.

Top players—Heidi Wiederkehr, junior, center, Allegheny (12.7 ppg, 9.6 rpg); Brenda Bates, senior, forward, Allegheny (14.2 ppg); Lynn Butler, sophomore, forward, Allentown (18.9 ppg); Michelle Schlegel, senior, forward, Carnegie-Mellon (11.9 ppg, 10.9 rpg); Nancy Oppenheimer, senior, forward, Dickinson (19.2 ppg, 7.2 rpg); Denise Brown, senior, center, Drew (16.7 ppg, 9.3 rpg); Mona Steinhauer, senior, forward, Elizabethtown (11.0 ppg);

Debby Buzanoski, senior, guard, Grove City (13.4 ppg).

Also, Brenda Kanar, sophomore, forward, Grove City (13.0 ppg, 7.5 rpg); Patti Ryan, senior, forward, Juniata (17.5 ppg, 10.3 rpg); Patti Thomas, sophomore, center, King's (18.5 ppg, 12.0 rpg); Steph Smith, sophomore, guard, Lebanon Valley (21.4 ppg); Diane Arpert, senior, guard, Lycoming (22.9 ppg); Jamie Noble, senior, guard, Messiah (17.0 ppg); Terry Solema, senior, forward, Pittsburgh-Johnstown (13.7 ppg, 7.6 rpg); Kathy Killian, senior, guard, Spring Garden (19.4 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Deb Yeasted, senior, forward, Susquehanna (19.4 ppg); Michele Fowler, junior, forward, Swarthmore (20.8 ppg, 8.6 rpg); Cynthia Kelly, junior, forward, Washington & Jefferson (16.3 ppg, 9.5 rpg).

South

Top teams—Rust is the overwhelming choice in the South. The Lady Bearcats, defending Division III champions, have all five starters back from last year's 26-5 squad. They will be tough to beat. Other strong programs in this part of the country include Roanoke (18-9, four), Emory and Henry (20-6, three), Virginia Wesleyan (20-9, two), North Carolina-Greensboro (22-7, four) and LeMoyn-Owen (18-10, four).

Top players—Debu Bennett, senior, forward, Centre (13.8 ppg, 7.1 rpg); Cindy Nice, senior, forward, Christopher Newport (12.6 ppg, 9.8 rpg); Mariann Morris, junior, center, Eastern Mennonite (12.7 ppg, 11.5 rpg); Carolyn Foster, junior, center, Emory and Henry (14.1 ppg, 11.0 rpg); Jewnell Fisher, senior, guard, LeMoyn-Owen (15.7 ppg); Sylvia Conrad, junior, forward, LeMoyn-Owen (13.3 ppg, 8.3 rpg); Tina Beasley, senior, center, Lynchburg (12.1 ppg, 11.1 rpg).

Also, Nancy Perkins, senior, center, Mary Baldwin (17.9 ppg, 11.9 rpg); Ruth Bonner, senior, center, Mary Washington (13.2 rpg); Kate Kimener, Marymount (Virginia) (16.9 ppg, 9.5 rpg); Sara Covington, senior, center, Maryville (Tennessee) (17.4 ppg, 12.2 rpg); Renee Coltrane, senior, forward, North Carolina-Greensboro (14.6 ppg, 12.7 rpg); Wendy Engelmann, senior, guard, North Carolina-Greensboro (14.7

ppg); Vickie Zimmerman, junior, center, Roanoke (11.4 ppg, 8.3 rpg); Lesley Secrist, senior, guard, Roanoke (10.5 ppg); Mittie Heidelberg, senior, forward, Rust (15.7 ppg); Sandra Ivory, junior, center, Rust (15.0 ppg, 15.9 rpg); Laura Johnson, senior, forward, Shenandoah (26.7 ppg).

Great Lakes

Top teams—Among the teams to watch are Carroll (20-6, four), Wisconsin-Whitewater (17-11, three), St. Norbert (17-6, five), Wisconsin-LaCrosse (19-8, three), Alma (15-8, five), Calvin (13-10, four) and Ripon (12-10, four).

Top players—Kim Richardson, senior, center, Albion (9.7 ppg, 10.0 rpg); Dana Johnson, senior, forward, Alma (11.2 ppg, 7.7 rpg); Judy Wasmer, senior, forward, Calvin (14.9 ppg, 7.4 rpg); Pam De Biel, senior, center, Carroll (10.5 ppg, 9.9 rpg); Amy Vanden Langenberg, junior, guard, Carroll (18.0 ppg); Karen Gingras, junior, forward, Hope (14.7 ppg, 8.0 rpg); Shari Piehl, junior, forward/guard, Ripon (13.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg); Amy Proctor, junior, forward, St. Norbert (19.3 ppg, 11.4 rpg); Karen Mueller, senior, forward, Wisconsin-LaCrosse (16.3 ppg); Terry Schumacher, senior, forward, Wisconsin-Oshkosh (23.8 ppg); Sharon Romel, senior, guard, Wisconsin-Whitewater (14.9 ppg).

Central

Top teams—North Central (24-6) again seems like the team to beat. Center Cheryl Juris (13.9 ppg, 12.7 rpg) changed her mind about taking a year off, so coach R. Wayne Morgan has to be optimistic about his chances for a third straight trip to the Division III final four. Other top teams in the region include Central (Iowa) (17-8, three), Millikin (19-6, three), Carthage (14-11, four), Augustana (Illinois) (13-9, three), Eureka (18-5, four), Simpson (17-9, four), Chicago (15-5, three), Illinois College (14-7, four), Wartburg (14-10, four) and Dubuque (13-12, four).

Top players—Cindy Czubakowski, sophomore, guard, Carthage (19.0 ppg); Gretchen Gates, junior, center, Chicago (20.7 ppg, 10.8 rpg); Kathy McGuire, junior, forward, Coe (14.4 ppg, 7.5 rpg); Chris Morrison, junior, center, Dubuque (17.3 ppg, 10.2 rpg); Cathy Nolen, senior, forward, Elmhurst (12.6 ppg); Deb Owen, senior, forward, Eureka (9.9 ppg, 7.7 rpg); Chris McBride, sophomore, forward, Lake Forest (13.8 ppg, 12.6 rpg); Carol Johnson, senior, forward, Illinois College (18.6 ppg, 16.4 rpg); Cheryl Juris, junior, center, North Central (13.9 ppg, 12.7 rpg); Laurie Sankey, senior, center, Simpson (20.1 ppg, 11.7 rpg); Sharon Ubben, senior, forward, Wartburg (14.8 ppg, 7.5 rpg); Robin Rich, senior, forward, William Penn (16.5 ppg, 8.6 rpg).

West

Top teams—Concordia-Moorhead (21-7, two) and Bishop (21-7, one) face rebuilding years, but they could make the play-offs again. Pomona-Pitzer (22-6, five), with a veteran squad, must be given the edge. St. Mary's Minnesota (18-6) also has five starters back. St. Thomas (Minnesota) (23-5, one) and St. Olaf (17-9, three) also could be tough teams.

Top players—Trudy Fairbanks, senior, guard, Augsburg (13.3 ppg); Willie Merideth, senior, forward, Bishop (7.9 rpg); Jeanine Demers, sophomore, guard, Buena Vista (24.8 ppg); Ann Kucera, senior, forward, Cal State Stanislaus (14.0 ppg, 6.7 rpg); Jo Dee Bock, senior, center, Concordia-Moorhead (18.5 ppg, 9.8 rpg); Jennifer Wohlmuth, senior, guard, Redlands (15.7 ppg, 5.0 rpg); Mary Schultz, junior, center, St. Mary's (Minnesota) (19.6 ppg, 9.8 rpg); Mary Tomsche, senior, guard, St. Thomas (Minnesota) (13.8 ppg); Julie Curtis, sophomore, guard, Whittier (24.2 ppg).

junior, center, St. Cloud State (18.8 ppg); Bonnie Henriksen, senior, forward, St. Cloud State (15.3 ppg); Ann Pancoast, senior, guard, South Dakota (16.4 ppg).

West

Top teams—The California Collegiate Athletic Association race should involve the same teams that tied for last year's championship. Cal Poly-Pomona (22-7, three) and Chapman (26-5, four) probably will fight to the finish again. Chapman advanced to the final eight last year, so the Panthers should get the nod. In the land of the midnight sun, Alaska-Anchorage (20-10, four) and Alaska-Fairbanks (19-11, three) could be play-off contenders this season.

Summary of NCAA Council Actions

Following is a listing of all actions taken by the NCAA Council in its October 15-17, 1984, meeting in Kansas City, Missouri.

Legislation

The Council voted to sponsor the following legislation at the 1985 Convention (in addition to those proposals acted upon in the April and August Council meetings and listed in the May 2 and September 10, 1984, issues of The NCAA News):

Amendments to Constitution 3-1-(g)-(1) and 3-4-(d) and Bylaw 6-1 to remove the definition of commonly accepted educational expenses from the constitution and place it in the bylaws, thus reversing the Council's decision not to sponsor that proposal.

An amendment to Constitution 3-4-(b) to permit an undergraduate student-athlete to receive financial aid beyond the period of eligibility set forth in Bylaw 4-1. Also, an amendment to Constitution 3-4-(g) to free an institution from the financial aid notice and hearing obligations once the student's five-year period of eligibility has expired.

An amendment to Bylaw 7-1-(c)-(1) to permit a volunteer coach in Division I football and basketball to receive certain specified expenses directly related to coaching duties in that coach's sport.

Affirmed sponsorship of an amendment to Bylaw 4-1-(a) to eliminate the exceptions to the Division I five-year rule for time spent in the armed services, on official church missions or with recognized foreign-aid services of the U.S. government.

Affirmed sponsorship of an amendment to Bylaw 5-1-(j)-(8) to require a junior college transfer student who was a 2,000 qualifier and who has graduated from junior college to demonstrate satisfactory academic progress in order to be immediately eligible upon transfer to a Division I member institution and to affirm that the credit utilized by a junior college transfer student who has not graduated from junior college to meet the immediate-eligibility requirements must be credit acceptable toward a baccalaureate degree program at the certifying institution.

An amendment to Bylaw 5-6-(d)-(5) to require the director of financial aid at a Division III institution or an institution competing in a sport in that division to sign a statement concerning compliance with NCAA legislation as a part of the institution's annual certification of compliance.

An amendment to Bylaw 6-5-(i) to establish in Division I a method of making equivalency calculations utilizing units for tuition and fees, room, board, and required course-related books; to count any financial aid received by the student-athlete in one of those categories as a unit in that category; to limit a student to only one unit in a category; and to limit the total number of units in each category in a sport to the maximum awards limit for that sport.

An amendment to Bylaw 11-4 to establish minimum numbers of contests in field hockey and women's softball and a minimum number of participants in each contest in women's gymnastics in order to count those sports toward meeting the minimum sports sponsorship criteria for women's programs in Divisions I and II.

An amendment to Constitution 3-4-(a) to permit a student-athlete to receive an established financial aid award on the basis of the recipient's past performance, including athletics participation, provided the award is disbursed through the recipient's institution for educational expenses, the recipient's choice of institutions is not restricted by the donor, the donor and awarding organization or individual are not representatives of the athletics interests or an athletics booster group of the member institution, and the financial aid is applied to the maximum awards limitations of Bylaw 6 for the sport in question or Bylaw 11-3-(a)-(3) for Division III institutions.

Amendments to O.L. 12, Constitution 4-2-(g)-(5), and Bylaws 5-6-(a) and 9-2 to affirm that NCAA membership is on an institutional basis and to require member institutions to affiliate both their men's and women's athletics programs with the Association as a condition of active membership.

An amendment to Constitution 5-4-(c) to permit the Presidents' Commission greater flexibility in scheduling its meetings, rather than specifying the times of the year in which those meetings shall occur.

An amendment to Constitution 5-8-(f) to specify that a division championship in a particular sport can be established only by a two-thirds majority vote of the members of all divisions present and voting together at an annual Convention.

Amendments to Constitution 5-8, Bylaw 10-6-(b), and Executive Regulations 1-1-(a)-(2) and 1-1-(e) to specify that if only one championship is conducted in a sport, it shall be a National Collegiate Championship for which any active member in good standing is eligible; to require any member institution that desires to compete in a National Collegiate Championship in a sport to meet the institutional and individual eligibility rules of the division in which a two-thirds majority of the member institutions that sponsor the sport are classified, as well as the rules of its own membership division; and to specify that any National Collegiate Championship that falls below the required minimum sponsorship percentage will not be eligible for transportation expenses but would be permitted to continue, except that it would be discontinued immediately if sponsorship falls below 50 institutions. [Note: Payment of transportation expenses for any championship is an annual discretionary authority of the Executive Committee.]

Amendments to Bylaw 3 to establish limitations on playing seasons in all sports in all three divisions, as reported in detail in the October 22, 1984, issue of The NCAA News.

Affirmed sponsorship of an amendment to Bylaws 3-2-(h) and 3-3-(d) to permit a member institution located in Alaska or Hawaii to participate in a 12th football game each season.

Amendments to Bylaws 4-1 and 5-1-(d)-(3) to replace the Division I five-calendar-year limitation on eligibility with a five-year residence limitation (as is now the case in Divisions II and III) and to count any year of organized competition in a sport during a period in which the student is not enrolled in a member institution as a season of intercollegiate eligibility in that sport.

An amendment to Bylaw 4-1-(b) to authorize the Council to grant a two-semester or three-quarter extension of the period of eligibility set forth in Bylaw 4-1-(b) for a female student-athlete in Division II or III who withdraws from intercollegiate athletics participation due to pregnancy. [Note: The Council voted in its August meeting to sponsor a similar proposal for Division I.]

An amendment to Bylaw 5-1-(m)-(13) to permit a student who transfers to a Division III institution from a nonmember four-year institution after competing at the previous institution to be immediately eligible if the student receives a written release from the director of athletics at the previous institution.

An amendment to delete Bylaw 5-1-(m)-(14), as recommended by the Pacific-10 Conference. At the request of the Division III Steering Committee, the Council also will sponsor an amendment to Bylaw 5-1-(m)-(14), in case it is not deleted, to specify that a student transferring from a Division III institution under those provisions shall not receive financial aid during the first academic year in residence at the new (certifying) institution.

An amendment to Bylaw 5-6 to establish the former Division I Men's Gymnastics Championships as the National Collegiate Men's Gymnastics Championships, for which all member institutions in good standing are eligible.

An amendment to Bylaw 5-6-(d)-(4) to specify that the annual certification by the chief executive officer shall include verification that the institution has published in an institutional publication at the start of each academic year its regular entrance requirements; its requirements for satisfactory progress toward a degree in accordance with Constitution 4-2-(d), and its policies regarding and description of special-admission opportunities made available for the academic year. In addition, the CEO would verify that each student-athlete who will represent the institution in competition during the academic year is in good academic standing and is maintaining satisfactory progress toward a baccalaureate or equivalent degree and that each student-athlete has satisfied the quantitative hour requirements necessary to meet satisfactory academic progress.

An amendment to O.L. 600 to include in the definition of financial aid for Bylaw 6 purposes assistance that is awarded from outside sources under certain prescribed conditions.

Affirmed sponsorship of an amendment to Bylaw 9-3-(c) to increase the dues for membership in the Association, effective September 1, 1985, as recommended in August by the Executive Committee.

Amendments to Bylaws 10-1-(a), 11-1 and 13-1-(g) to permit legislative autonomy for Division I-A and for the remainder of Division I (Divisions I-AA and I-AAA voting together) in the divided bylaws, except for Bylaws 5-6, 5-7, 6-5-(c), 7-1-(b) and other Bylaw 7 provisions pertaining to basketball, 11-1-(a) through (c), 11-4, and the definition of commonly accepted educational expenses if it is moved to the bylaws; to establish a Division I majority rescission procedure in such instances; and to clarify that legislation applicable only to single division or subdivision can be submitted only by members of that division or subdivision.

An amendment to Bylaw 10-1-(f) to specify that an institution shall be placed in the "unclassified membership" category if either its men's program or its women's program fails to meet the appropriate division sports sponsorship criteria.

An amendment to Bylaw 10-3-(b) to eliminate the opportunities for a Division I member to have a women's sport classified in Division II or III and for a Division II member to have a women's sport classified in Division III.

An amendment to Bylaw 10-3-(b) to permit a Division II member to petition to be classified in Division III in a sport if there is a Division III championship but no Division II championship in that sport.

An amendment to Bylaw 12-2-(g)-(2) to affirm that the terms of individuals serving on the Nominating Committee and the Men's and Women's Committees on Committees begin with their appointment, rather than September 1.

An amendment to Bylaw 12-4-(a) to specify that high school and junior college representatives serving as members of NCAA sports committees shall be ex officio, nonvoting members.

An amendment to Bylaws 12-4-(n) and (o) to combine the Men's and Women's Track and Field Committees into a single Men's and Women's Track and Field Committee, noting that it is the Council's intent that the appointing agencies would give consideration to some appropriate rotation of the chair between men's and women's track representatives.

Affirmed sponsorship of an amendment to clarify the Council's procedures in considering appeals from actions taken by the Committee on Infractions.

Amendments to Constitution 6-4 and 7-1 and Bylaw 13-1 to require the sponsors of proposed legislation that would result, if adopted, in significant expenditures by the Association to provide written documentation of the estimated costs to the Association, and that such information be included in the Official Notice of the Convention.

An amendment to Bylaw 3-5 to require all regular-season competition to be played in accordance with NCAA playing rules in all sports in which the Association draws those rules and to permit the sports committees with rules responsibilities to adjust the rules as needed to permit exceptions for in-season application where desirable.

An amendment to Bylaw 12-1-(a) to limit service on all standing committees of the Association (unless otherwise specified) to two two-year terms, rather than the current two three-year terms.

An amendment to Bylaw 12-3-(h) to expand the membership of the Drug Education Committee, with the Administrative Committee to approve the final amendment by the November 1 deadline.

The Council decided not to sponsor the following proposals:

An amendment to Constitution 3-4-(d)-(2)-(iv) to exempt the full amount of a Pell Grant award from the limitation on the amount that a student-athlete may receive under NCAA legislation. This reversed the Council's earlier decision. Instead, the Council will submit legislation to permit the student-athlete to receive up to $1,400 of the Pell amount. It was noted that the original proposal is properly submitted for the 1985 Convention by the Division I-A midyear legislative meeting.

Amendments to Bylaws 1-2-(a)-(1) and 1-2-(a)-(6) to prohibit all in-person recruiting contacts in all sports during the period surrounding the first date on which the prospective student-athlete is eligible to sign a National Letter of Intent, noting that mixed reactions had been received from coaches asked to comment on the proposal.

An amendment to Bylaw 3-2 to prohibit member institutions from participating in contests in the sport of women's volleyball during a specified period.

An amendment to Bylaw 5-1-(d)-(3) to establish exception provisions in the Division I 20-year "age rule" to include participation in organized competition during time spent in the armed services, on official church missions or with recognized foreign-aid services of the U.S. government.

An amendment to Bylaw 5-6 to establish a Division III Women's Lacrosse Championship. The Division III Steering Committee recommended taking no position on that issue.

An amendment to Bylaws 6-5-(a) and (b) to eliminate the overall limitation of 70 in the Division I men's equivalency sports.

[Note: The Council took action on certain additional legislative proposals in the reports of various committees, as noted later in this summary.]

Appointments

The Council appointed individuals to fill vacancies on Council-appointed committees effective September 1, 1985. In some instances, action was postponed until after the 1985 Convention inasmuch as proposed legislation would alter the size or composition of certain committees. The appointments are not announced until next spring, when all appointees have had an opportunity to accept or decline.

Interpretations

All new or revised interpretations approved by the Council appear in The NCAA News, in either the Interpretations or Legislative Assistance section. One appeared in the October 22 issue, several are included in this issue and others will appear in future issues.

In addition to those, the Council concluded that it does not have the authority to grant an exception to the provisions of Bylaw 1-8-(b) to permit the University of Miami (Florida) to exceed the basketball visitation limitation as it reinstates its men's basketball program.

Membership

In response to a request by Colorado College, the Division III Steering Committee recommended, and the Council agreed to sponsor, an amendment to Bylaw 10-6-(a) to permit the steering committee, by a two-thirds vote, to approve exceptions to the application of Division III regulations to a sport in certain specified circumstances.

The Division III committee also denied a request by the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, to place its women's athletics program in Division II under the provisions of Bylaw 10-1-(a).

Presidents' Commission

The Council received a report on actions taken by the Commission in its October 3-4 meeting (see October 15, 1984, issue of the News) and took these actions.

Voted to affirm its previously stated intention to cooperate with the Commission in all of its activities.

Agreed that the division steering committees should consider the Commission's suggestion that any proposed legislation that would increase institutional costs should include an estimate of such costs.

Voted to inform the Commission that the Council supports Executive Director Walter Byers in his efforts to identify publicly the critical problem areas in college athletics and supports the Presidents' Commission in the initiatives it has taken to conduct two major studies of chief executive officers and to call a special meeting in 1985 to act on recommendations from those studies.

Committee Reports

Eligibility: The Council voted to affirm its support of the Association's principles of amateurism and to sponsor a resolution at the 1985 Convention for member institutions to reaffirm their commitment to those principles pending completion of a study approved by the Council in August of the NCAA sports committees' views regarding amateurism developments in their respective sports.

The Council approved a recommendation of the Eligibility Committee that the enforcement staff be asked to increase its emphasis on monitoring the relationships student-athletes may have with athletics equipment companies to ensure compliance with NCAA amateur regulations.

The Council voted to sponsor an amendment to Constitution 3-4-(a) as recommended by the committee and as noted earlier in this summary.

The Council voted to sponsor an amendment to Bylaw 5-5 to specify that a student-athlete shall be denied eligibility for intercollegiate competition in his or her sport if the student participates in intercollegiate competition while ineligible under the provisions of Constitution 3-3 or Bylaw 5.

The Council also voted to sponsor an amendment to Bylaw 5-1-(m)-(10) to specify that a student who participates in a limited preseason tryout can qualify for a waiver of the transfer residence requirement under Bylaw 5-1-(m)-(10).

Nominating: The committee considered the suggestion that there be at least two candidates for each elective office in the NCAA structure and that elections be conducted by mail or secret ballot. The committee noted that such a procedure would create difficulties in meeting all of the representation criteria and questioned the necessity of such a policy inasmuch as members are welcome to nominate individuals for all positions, including from the Convention floor. No action was taken.

Financial Assistance: The Council took the following actions on recommendations of the Special Committee on Financial Assistance for Student-Athletes:

Voted to sponsor an amendment to permit a student-athlete who qualifies for a Pell Grant to receive the amount of that grant up to $1,400 in excess of commonly accepted educational expenses. The staff was directed to prepare legislation to treat the Pell issue in the bylaws, rather than in Constitution 3-4-(d), and the Administrative Committee was authorized to approve the final legislation in the name of the Council by the November 1 deadline.

Voted to sponsor an amendment to Constitution 3-4-(d)-(2) and (3) to permit a student-athlete who qualifies for a need-based governmental grant (other than the Pell Grant), over which neither the institution nor any representative of its athletics interests has any discretion in determining the recipient or the amount, to receive such a grant up to $1,400 in excess of commonly accepted educational expenses.

Declined to sponsor an amendment to Constitution 3-4-(d)-(1) to permit a student-athlete to obtain employment off campus during term time and outside his or her sports season, not arranged by the institution or a representative of its athletics interests, and to earn up to $1,400 from such employment in excess of commonly accepted educational expenses.

Did not support a suggestion that the NCAA develop a program to provide up to $200 per month to student-athletes in Division I football and men's basketball, funded by revenues generated by the Division I Men's Basketball Championship.

Voted to sponsor legislation to permit legitimate summer employment without earnings restrictions for a student-athlete attending summer school as a recipient of institutional financial assistance.

Approved a recommendation that the Council authorize research regarding nonrenewal of financial aid, beginning with members of

More pupils by the year 2000

A baby boomlet among the post-World War II "baby boomers" will add about five million children to the school-age population by the year 2000, according to a study by a life insurance company.

There currently are 48 million children aged four to 17 years and the figure should reach 53 million by 2000, according to the study by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Regional variations in the forecast show more children will grow up on the West Coast and in the Northeast.

Other highlights of the study showed:

The school-age population is expected to decrease 6.8 percent by 1990. The decline will be sharpest in the Northeast—21 percent—and the population will increase by eight percent in the West.

The number of children 10 to 14 in the West will increase 7.7 percent, but the rest of the country will show a decrease.

The most dramatic increase, about 50 percent, is likely in Utah and Wyoming.

System thwarting its top scholars

The president of Columbia University says that America's best scholars are being forced out of education, threatening universities with a future lack of professors.

"With professors at many universities teaching longer, young Ph.D.s have had enormous difficulty in finding jobs in recent years," according to Columbia's Michael Sovern.

"When so many of today's tenured professors retire in the 1990s, when the best minds have departed from American graduate schools, who will be left to shape scholarship and define excellence?"

"If graduate schools find themselves in the future without first-rate faculty, without renewed facilities, without adequate resources to fund voyages of discovery, the damage could be irreversible," Sovern said.

He said that consideration might be given to an apprenticeship system, similar to that which has drawn graduate students in science into the work of eminent scholar-teachers.

More women seek college degrees

The Census Bureau reports that American women are pursuing higher education in ever greater numbers, accounting for much of the increase in college enrollment over the past decade. Women now outnumber men in the country's universities.

Women accounted for about 52 percent of college students in October 1982, with the biggest increase among women aged 25 to 34 and those attending two-year colleges.

Additionally, the National Science Foundation has reported that in 1983, women collected one-fourth of the doctorates in science and engineering—nearly twice their proportion of a decade ago.

Legislative Assistance

1984 Column No. 26

Use of off-campus facilities for intrasquad practices

Constitution 3-1(h)-(1) states that a member institution may provide its student-athletes actual and necessary expenses for reasonable trips to practice sites other than those of the institution if the practice site is within the state in which the member institution is located or a distance not to exceed 100 miles if outside that state. Under the provisions of Case No. 237 (page 310, 1984-85 NCAA Manual) and Bylaw 1-9-(a), a member institution using a high school facility for an intrasquad game or practice may not contribute any funds realized from the event to the high school or its athletics booster club except actual and necessary expenses for rental of the facility.

This restriction on contributions would apply to any funds generated by the event, including—but not limited to—gate receipts, concessions, parking or other contributions. This case also would relate to other schools, junior colleges, organizations and sports clubs that involve prospective student-athletes.

Publicity related to signing national letters of intent

Under the provisions of Bylaw 1-4(a), publicity released by an institution about the commitment of a prospective student-athlete to attend the institution shall be limited to announcing the prospect's signed acceptance of the institution's written offer of admission and/or written tender of financial assistance and shall be limited to communications in those media forms normally used by the institution. Furthermore, the release of such communications shall be limited to the media outlets normally used by the institution and those normally used by the educational institutions currently and formerly attended by the prospective student-athlete. No photographs of the prospective student-athlete with members of the institution's coaching staff may accompany any release of such information, and no special conference telephone hookups may be used for the announcement.

As set forth in Bylaw 1-4(a)-(2), press conferences, receptions, dinners or similar meetings held to release such information are expressly prohibited, as is personal contact by institutional staff members with media representatives at the site of any form of acceptance of an offer by a prospect. Press conferences may be independently arranged by the prospect or his or her family provided there is no arrangement or involvement whatsoever by the institution or representatives of the institution's athletics interests. Coaches attending a signing may not have any personal contact with media representatives at the site of the signing (e.g., high school, home) and may not be available for comments or interviews at any other prearranged site.

An institution is responsible for signings on an institution's campus (whether involving an individual or group of prospects). Hence, the institution must assume an active role in preventing opportunities for media contact or other attendant publicity.

As set for in Bylaw 1-4(a)-(3), the institution may not publicize in any way a prospect's oral commitment to attend a particular institution. Prior to obtaining a prospective student-athlete's signed acceptance of the institution's written offer of financial assistance, the institution may confirm its recruitment of particular student-athletes, but any additional comments concerning specific prospects must be general in nature (e.g., an acknowledgement that a specific recruit is a talented athlete and would be a welcome addition to any institution's athletics program), avoiding any attempts to gain a recruiting advantage through the media.

Bylaw 7-1(e)

In its October meeting, the NCAA Council revised an earlier Administrative Committee interpretation regarding Bylaw 7-1(e) that prohibited a graduate assistant football coach at a Division I member institution from attending a high school football game involving a member of the graduate assistant coach's family. The Council determined that the provisions of Bylaw 7-1(e) would not preclude a Division I member institution's part-time coach, graduate assistant coach, undergraduate coach or volunteer coach in football and basketball from attending a high school athletics contest to watch a member of that coach's immediate family who is participating in such contest so long as the coach does not engage in recruiting activities or talent evaluation. For purposes of this interpretation, immediate family members are limited to children, brothers and sisters.

Scouting expenses for part-time and graduate assistant coaches

In its October 25 meeting, the NCAA Administrative Committee voted to modify Case No. 384 (page 355, 1984-85 NCAA Manual) to allow graduate assistant coaches in Division I in football and basketball to receive actual and necessary expenses for scouting opponents for the team they coach pursuant to Bylaw 7-2.

Further, Legislative Assistance Column No. 23 in the October 8, 1984, issue of The NCAA News incorrectly included part-time coaches in the list of coaches who may not receive any expenses in connection with the scouting of opponents under the provisions of Bylaw 7-2. Accordingly, part-time coaches also may receive actual and necessary expenses incurred in scouting opponents for the team they coach in accordance with the provisions of Bylaw 7-2.

Texas grade rule draws criticism

The executive vice-president of the Texas High School Coaches Association has criticized as unrealistic a provision in a new education reform bill that will require high school athletes to pass all courses with a grade of 70 to remain eligible.

"It's unrealistic to think a 15- or 16-year-old student is not going to stub his toes somewhere along the line," said Eddie Joseph, the high school association official.

Despite fierce opposition from coaches, the Texas Legislature included the provision in the reform bill. It goes into effect January 1, 1985.

A survey by the Houston Chronicle showed that a drastic drop in the number of students participating in extracurricular high school activities can be expected because of the new standard.

The survey also showed that 3,625 students involved in extracurricular activities in 38 area Houston high schools would be ineligible if the new grading rule were in effect now.

Kansas Supreme Court to decide whether Association is tax exempt

The Kansas Supreme Court is expected to rule within 60 to 120 days on whether the NCAA should be exempted from local property taxes in Johnson County, Kansas.

An exemption was granted earlier by the Shawnee County District Court, but that ruling was challenged by Johnson County officials who asked the Supreme Court to overturn the ruling.

The Supreme Court heard arguments in the case October 25.

The Association claims that its property is used for educational purposes and should be exempted.

C.W. Crumpecker Jr., an attorney representing the Association, told the court that facilities such as the gymnasiums, stadiums and field houses at Kansas State University, the University of Kansas and Wichita State University are exempt from taxation because of their educational roles. Automobiles used by the three institutions also are exempted for the same reason.

Crumpecker said it would be a denial of equal protection under the law to exempt those properties and not exempt properties of the NCAA.

"The reason the NCAA exists," Crumpecker said, "is to carry out its fundamental policy of keeping sports as part of education. And all 780 members of the NCAA attest to that responsibility."

"The NCAA is not a separate entity," Crumpecker said. "It is a voluntary organization; consequently, it cannot be less educational because member institutions are doing something together rather than individually."

Crumpecker cited the Kansas state association governing high school activities, which was organized pursuant to state law to regulate contests between high schools in the state.

"That association is exempt from taxation," Crumpecker said, "on the basis that its function is for educational purposes. The Kansas association performs exactly the same function for high schools that the NCAA performs for all its members in the United States, including those located in Kansas."

Bruce Landeck, assistant Johnson County counselor, told the court that the NCAA could not show that its

NCAA rule is upheld by district judge

A challenge to an NCAA eligibility rule has been disallowed by a Wisconsin district court judge.

U.S. District Court judge Barbara Crabb refused to issue a preliminary injunction that would have permitted Jan-Ake Danielson to rejoin the University of Wisconsin, Madison, men's ice hockey team. Danielson contended that he is being denied a year's eligibility by a rule that provides that a student-athlete's participation in organized athletics competition during each 12-month period after his or her 20th birthday is equivalent to one year of varsity competition.

Danielson played for a club in Sweden after reaching 20 years of age while he was still in high school. That, plus his play for the Badgers, totaled the four years of eligibility permitted under Association rules.

Danielson said the rule is being applied retroactively against foreign students who had no notice of it and whose secondary school systems are different from those in the United States. Judge Crabb said Danielson had not shown he is likely to win the case and that Wisconsin could face NCAA sanctions if it allowed Danielson to participate.

property is used exclusively for education purposes that are of benefit to the people of Kansas, as required by law for an exemption.

He said the facility in Johnson County is not for teaching or other education purposes but is primarily concerned with investigating and regulating sports.

"Rules, regulations and revenue-raising. That's what their concern is," Landeck said.

Crumpecker denied the claim that the NCAA merely provides entertainment. He said the schools, not the NCAA, have the sports teams.

College football powers will meet

In an attempt to solve the problems arising from unrestricted television coverage this season, major college football powers will try to form a single coalition at a December meeting.

Representatives of the Big Eight, Big Ten, Pacific-10, Southeastern, Southwest Athletic, Atlantic Coast and Western Athletic Conferences and both Northern and Southern independents will meet in Dallas December 13-15, the Associated Press reported.

Thomas C. Hansen, executive director of the Pac-10, said the group's goals include increasing network TV income by having one administrative body, working out a fair plan for television appearances, protecting receipts at stadiums and meeting all legal requirements.

Following a Supreme Court ruling that voided the 1982-1985 NCAA Football Television Plan, the College Football Association negotiated TV contracts, while the Pac-10 and Big Ten negotiated their own agreements with the networks.

Ford looks to Super Bowl XIX

Ford Motor Company is hoping to acquire the domestic auto sponsorship for ABC's Super Bowl XIX broadcast.

The network already has sold 39 of the 50 available 30-second advertising spots at a cost of $500,000 each. The 30-second price reflects a $50,000 increase over CBS's price last season.

Advertising Age reports negotiations between ABC and Ford include the Super Bowl sponsorship as part of a prime time, big events package.

Chevrolet, the exclusive Super Bowl XVIII domestic auto sponsor, rejected the ABC spot based on cost, as did Atari, Eastern Airlines and 7-Eleven stores.

ABC's efforts to combine sports and prime-time advertising into one package is apparently tied to the network's efforts at getting the $1 million-per-minute price for the Super Bowl while maintaining exclusive contracts with one import and one domestic auto manufacturer.

Nissan Motor Corporation is the exclusive import auto advertiser for the Super Bowl.

should complement the commitment that Ashland Oil (Valvoline's parent firm) has made to improving educational opportunities for young people the past several years."

The NYSP focuses on disadvantaged youth at no cost to the participants. It is a partnership administered by the U.S. Office of Community Services, the NCAA and selected institutions of higher education.

The NCAA Volunteers for Youth is a unique community program in which current and former student-athletes become companions to local junior high school youths who need a "brother or sister" role model.

"The NCAA is convinced that this corporate program will provide the impetus for tremendous growth and opportunity for NYSP and VFY," said Richard G. Shrider, director of athletics at Miami University (Ohio), who represented the NCAA

Council and the Division I Men's Basketball Committee at the press conference. "We believe, as does Valvoline, that there is no commodity more precious than the youth of America."

The CBS-NCAA Radio Network has generated record audience figures for its play-by-play coverage of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship. The network includes more than 500 stations and, in addition, the broadcasts are heard in more than 30 countries under the auspices of the Armed Forces Radio Network. Host Communications Inc. of Lexington, Kentucky, has held the broadcast rights for the championship for the past nine years.

Host Communications also produces a series of 21 NCAA championships souvenir programs.

Two professional development seminars in a variety of topical areas also are sponsored by the NCAA each year for athletics administrators.

USE THE SOFTWARE GEORGETOWN TRUSTS!

Another basketball season is getting started, and that means yet another year of the job you love to hate—keeping statistics. This year, throw away your calculator and put your IBM PC to work with the ASSIST™ basketball statistics program from PM Software. All season long, ASSIST stores and updates your team's statistics quickly and easily in a fraction of the time required by hand.

Even if you're a computer novice, ASSIST is remarkably simple to use. After each game, you just fill in a boxscore on the screen, right from the official NCAA paper boxscore. The program then takes this information and creates all the reports you need to keep track of your team's performance: composite stats (overall/conference), scoreboard, game-by-game, individual highs, team highs, career highs, and career totals.

The ASSIST basketball statistics program was written last season for the national champion Georgetown Hoyas and is being offered to other schools for the first time at a price of $250. For more information, call or write:

Division I conferences, in order to respond to a request by the Subcommittee on Education, Arts and Humanities of the U.S. Senate Labor Committee.

High School All-Star Games: The Council took these actions regarding the committee's recommendations:

Voted to sponsor an amendment to Bylaw 12-3-(m) to require membership on the committee by a representative of state high school associations recommended by the executive director of the National Federation of State High School Associations.

Approved a revision of the committee's Criterion No. 9 to require that each participant in a high school all-star football game conducted more than two weeks after the participant's last high school contest shall have had at least nine days of organized practice prior to the day of the game, of which the first three days shall be limited to noncontact conditioning drills in which no football gear or protective equipment other than headgear and shoes shall be worn; further, that each participant in an all-star game conducted within two weeks of the participant's last high school football game shall have had at least four days of organized practice prior to the day of the game, of which none need be noncontact conditioning drills.

Agreed that an all-star contest under the provisions of Constitution 3-9-(a) is not permitted to escape the application of that legislation by selecting participants on the basis of open tryouts.

Division I Steering: The committee received a revised recommendation regarding possible modification of Bylaw 5-1-(j) from the Special Committee on Academic Research, which would require a student (to be eligible in the freshman year in a Division I institution) to take and earn credit in all 11 core courses with a 2.000 in those courses and to take either the ACT or SAT test to assure the availability of test-score data, but to delay the effective date of the minimum test-score requirement (700 on the SAT or 14 on the ACT) until August 1, 1988. In the interim, a student who passed all 11 core courses but did not achieve a 2.000 in those courses could achieve initial eligibility by scoring 700 on the SAT or 14 on the ACT. The Council approved a steering committee recommendation that the proposal be submitted to the Presidents' Commission for consideration and that the Administrative Committee be authorized to decide whether to submit that proposal to the 1985 Convention or whether to submit a resolution stating that the matter would continue to be studied and a proposal would be submitted at the 1986 Convention.

The steering committee recommended that a proposed appeals procedure in the championships selection process be referred to the Executive Committee.

The steering committee approved the scheduling of the meeting of primary women's athletics administrators, the Division I summer meeting and the Division I-A midyear legislative meeting at the same site (Kansas City) on consecutive dates during the week of July 14-18, 1984. A Council member suggested, however, that the women's administrators' meeting be conducted in May. That suggestion was referred to the Special Committee on Women's Interests, and the Administrative Committee was authorized to take any necessary action in the interim.

The Council also heard reports from the Governmental Affairs, Football Television, Division II Steering and Division III Steering Committees, as well as the Special Committee on Women's Interests.

Miscellaneous

The Council noted that it would not be possible to complete the NCAA Manual revision project in time for it to be considered at the 1985 Convention and approved an additional year for completion of the project.

The Council approved a suggestion that a one- or two-hour meeting open to all faculty athletics representatives be conducted at the 1985 Convention. The program is intended as the beginning of an ongoing forum for faculty representatives.

The Council agreed that any proposal or project submitted to the Council for approval that has cost implications for the Association should include an estimate of those costs and that the submitting committee, organization or institution should be asked to provide such an estimate.

The Council approved a recommendation that the Academic Testing and Requirements Committee be directed to develop a study of special admissions in Division I intercollegiate athletics, with the results to be reported to the spring 1985 meetings of the Presidents' Commission and the Council. That committee also will be asked to develop a recommended national definition for purposes of determining graduation rates and a format for collecting and publishing such data.

The Council referred to the Administrative Committee, acting for the Executive Committee, the Divisions II and III Steering Committees' reactions to the proposed format and numbers of qualifiers in the Divisions II and III Men's and Women's Indoor Track Championships.

Complimentary tickets

(Revises Case No. 57)

Situation: Complimentary tickets shall be distributed only to persons designated by the student-athlete and who have identified themselves and signed a receipt therefor. (604)

Question: What procedures officially have been approved to govern the administration of this legislation?

Answer: The Council has approved the following procedures to be utilized in implementing legislation governing the issuance of complimentary tickets: (1) Individuals designated by the student-athlete to receive the complimentary tickets shall be provided the tickets on a single-game (not full-season) basis; (2) not more than 10 days prior to the game (or in the case of a postseason football game, either 10 days prior to the game or at the end of the traditional fall season per O.I. 307, whichever occurs first), the complimentary tickets may be mailed to the recipient or accepted in person by the designated recipient, with appropriate identification, and (3) the same individual may not be designated by more than one student-athlete to receive complimentary tickets for any given game. Printed recruiting aids

(Revises Case No. 182)

Situation: A member institution wishes to provide certain printed recruiting aids (i.e., an annual press guide, an annual recruiting brochure, game programs and wallet-size playing schedules) to a prospective student-athlete or to a high school or junior college coach. (514)

Question: Would the provision of these items be permissible?

Answer: Yes, it being understood that each of the items in question is regularly published by the institution for distribution to the media or to individuals or business organizations supporting the institution's intercollegiate athletics program. Further, the gift of any tangible recruiting aid other than those specified above would be considered an improper inducement prohibited under the provisions of Bylaw 1-1-(b)-(1). [B 1-1-(b)-(1)]

Staff members' involvement in promotional activities

Situation: A staff member of a member institution's athletics department is compensated by an individual or commercial business outside of the institution for employment or assistance in the production, distribution or sale of items (e.g., calendar, pictures, posters, advertisements, cards) on which the names or pictures of student-athletes appear. (623)

Question: Is it permissible for the institution to permit its staff member to realize income from such activities?

Answer: No. The use of the names or pictures of student-athletes on promotional items is limited to institutionally controlled activities involving the sale of official institutional publications and the sale of team or individual pictures by the institution. Such activities shall not generate income from outside sources for the staff member in addition to the individual's regular institutional salary. This restriction shall apply even if the promotional item is provided without charge to the public by an outside individual or commercial business that produces or purchases the item through the assistance of the institution's staff member.
