Committee outlines 5-1-(j) interpretations

Acting for the NCAA Council, the Association's Administrative Committee has reviewed a compilation of interpretations related to the applications of Bylaw 5-1-(j) [initial eligibility standard].

The actions taken by the Administrative Committee to review the interpretations applicable to the implementation of this legislation are listed in the Legislative Assistance column in this edition of The NCAA News, (page 16). These interpretations are consistent with those published in the Legislative Assistance column of the September 23, 1985, issue of the News, although some additional information is included for emphasis.

The interpretations are being listed again to assist Division I member institutions and high schools in reviewing in detail the manner in which a student entering a Division I institution in the fall of 1986 must meet eligibility requirements for financial aid, practice and participation on an intercollegiate team during the first year of attendance.

This legislation, which was known as Proposal No. 48 when adopted originally by the membership during the 1983 Convention, is designed to establish a specific core curriculum (for which a student must present a minimum grade-point average of 2.000 in high school) as well as a minimum SAT or ACT score for initial eligibility at a Division I member institution. Pending its effective date (August 1, 1986), Proposal No. 48 was amended to include the index tables set forth in 1986 Convention Proposal No. 16. The legislation as amended is known as Bylaw 5-1-(j) [initial-eligibility standard] and will be applicable to the 1986 high school graduating class.

Under these requirements, a qualifier is defined as a high school graduate who, at the time of graduation from high school, presented an accumulative minimum grade-point average of 2.000 (based on a maximum of 4.000) in a core curriculum of at least 11 academic courses. Those courses must include at least three years in English, two years in mathematics, two years in social science and two years in natural or physical science (including at least one laboratory class, if offered by the high school) as certified on the high school transcript or by official correspondence. In addition, a student must achieve a minimum SAT or ACT score in order to be considered a qualifier. Only a high school graduate who meets both the minimum test-score requirement and the satisfactory completion of a basic core curriculum would be considered

Membership assistance sought in Manual revision project

A revision of the NCAA Manual, including a major rearrangement of the Association's published rules and regulations, currently is being developed by the NCAA Special Committee on Deregulation and Rules Simplification.

"Every member of the special committee is cognizant of the importance of this project," said Wilford S. Bailey, Auburn University, NCAA secretary-treasurer and chair of the special committee. "For that reason, the committee believes it is important to inform the membership of our target schedule for the next two months and solicit input. We must have the help and support of the membership to make the effort truly successful."

The group met February 4-5 to review a target plan for revamping the Manual. The two-pronged approach to updating the publication includes reworking both the format and the language of the NCAA's basic governance document.

"The members of the special committee also believe it is important that the membership understand this group's perception of its role in this project," Bailey explained. "It is the sense of the special committee that deregulation, in the context of this assignment, means the deletion of all or part of existing legislation, or a reduction in the complexity of existing language, to promote efficiency and effectiveness in compliance.

"We are grateful for all the input we already have received, but I must emphasize that some of the suggestions have been contradictory to the group's charge.

"Consider the current regulations governing recruiting contacts in the sport of football," said Bailey. "The special committee is not interested in changing the number...changing an existing rule. That kind of move should be pursued through the Association's normal legislative channels."

Rather, Bailey said, the group will offer editorial revisions that it believes will provide more efficient communication and understanding of existing regulations. Once that has been accomplished, the special committee will review the entire body of NCAA legislation in an attempt to identify those areas it considers candidates for deregulation.

Over the next few months, a series of articles in The NCAA News will outline the special committee's tentative proposals for rules deregulation and solicit comment from the membership.

"Given the membership of the committee, we believe we have a pretty good feel for the kinds of changes the membership is looking for," Bailey said. "However, it certainly would be presumptuous for us to lock ourselves away and complete this massive project without asking for feedback from the NCAA membership.

Convention dates clarified

The NCAA's 81st annual Convention is scheduled for January 7-9, 1987, at the Town and Country Hotel in San Diego.

That is a departure from the traditional scheduling of NCAA annual Conventions. January 7, 8 and 9 are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, rather than the usual Monday-through-Wednesday Convention format.

The earlier dates and different days of the week were scheduled to assure availability of the hotel and to avoid a conflict with another major convention already scheduled at the Town and Country.

Related meetings will be held from January 4 through at least January 10.

In addition, the American Football Coaches Association will conduct its annual meeting January 5-

The special committee also has formalized plans for including graphic presentations (e.g., charts, tables and other illustrations) in a revised NCAA Manual. "One of the most common suggestions we have received is the need for illustrations that make some of these complex regulations easier to interpret and digest," explained Bailey. "I would encourage anyone in the membership to suggest specific illustrative materials for our consideration as soon as possible. In fact, any suggestions for deregulation and/or simplification of the rules are welcome."

8 and the American Baseball Coaches Association will meet January 9-12. Both of those organizations will be headquartered at Sheraton's Harbor Island Hotel in San Diego, rather than at the Town and Country.

In an earlier NCAA publication listing dates and sites of NCAA championships, the 1987 Convention dates were listed erroneously as January 12-14.

While the Association's 1988 Convention has not been scheduled officially, tentative plans are to return to the traditional Monday-through-Wednesday schedule. That would mean January 11-13, 1988. Tentative sites include the Opryland Hotel in Nashville and the Marriott Marquis Hotel in Atlanta. The Executive Committee will schedule that Convention in its May 1986 meeting.

Comments and suggestions should be directed to William B. Hunt, NCAA assistant executive director and staff liaison to the special committee.

Bailey also indicated the group's desire to obtain feedback on the merits of the expanded index that will appear in the soon-to-be published 1986-87 NCAA Manual.

"This more detailed index was developed as a separate but parallel project relative to the work of the special committee," he said. "We certainly would like to receive reactions, comments and specific suggestions from the membership as we attempt to incorporate the new index into a revision of the Manual."

Serving with Bailey on the special committee are Clayton W. Chapman, Eastern College Athletic Conference; Prentice Gautt, Big Eight Conference; Donna A. Lopiano, University of Texas, Austin; and David Price, Pacific-10 Conference.

Concerns of smaller colleges given short shrift

By Robert E. Stewart

Steve Richardson's article on Pell Grant aid ("Student-athlete again over looked by Convention, Weaver believes") in the January 22 issue of The NCAA News presented the Division I viewpoint on this admittedly thorny issue, while the concerns of small colleges were given short shrift. That's nothing new. But the story contained an alarming implication that Division II institutions are denying aid to needy student-athletes and keeping the money themselves. This is a gross misrepresentation.

There are fundamental differences between the two divisions that were not addressed. There are ameliorating circumstances at the Division II level, which justify its prevailing opinion on this matter. And any implication that Division II institutions are profiting by unjustly withholding funds from needy student-athletes is untrue and patently offensive.

It is noteworthy that big-time Division I football programs are pressing the hardest for a rules revision that would increase the amount of available Pell Grant aid to be given directly to fully scholarship athletes.

On the surface, this may appear a legitimate proposition. However, of the entire NCAA membership, only schools that turn good profits on athletics would benefit. It is darkly ironic that representatives of such institutions should be postured as defenders of the rights of the underprivileged, fighting a losing battle against uncaring, self-serving small colleges.

The crux of the issue from the Division II viewpoint is that we are limited to 45 athletics grants-in-aid but may divide them up, counting fractional equivalencies. In Division I, 95 scholarships are allowed, but equivalencies are not calculated. That is, whether a student receives $1 or $5,000 in financial aid, it counts as one full, allowable scholarship. Because of this, at most Division I institutions, and certainly at the big-time football schools, "full rides" are awarded to all football athletes.

Division II institutions, on the other hand, use Pell Grant monies to supplement athletics aid, thereby granting what amounts to a "full" scholarship to more athletes.

No Division II school withholds Pell Grant monies from student-athletes. Whether a student is an athlete or not, he receives every dime of a Pell Grant to which he is entitled. That is the law.

At Division II institutions, a Pell Grant is applied toward tuition, room and board, fees, etc. It does not go into any slush fund, nor is it used to augment athletics or institutional budgets.

Rather, the athletics grant is adjusted by Division II schools. Not only are Division II schools fully within their rights to adjust grants, the 45 scholarship limit makes it a necessity.

It is important to understand that many Division II athletics administrators believe the 45 scholarship limit is inequitable. Division I is allowed 95 grants, Division I-AA 75, then the disproportionate drop to 45 at Division II. If the Division II scholarship limit were more realistic, it is doubtful the Pell Grant issue would have received such fierce opposition from Division II. A football program with 95 scholarships to award can look upon Pell Grants as a painless way to provide their players with a little spending money. A Division II program looks upon Pell Grants as a means to provide more aid to more athletes.

While most American taxpayers probably would willingly support a program intended to help needy young people receive a higher education, they might think twice about providing pocket money to football or basketball players. Enacting NCAA legislation to exploit what amounts to a government loophole is questionable, both morally and practically. If the Division I proposal passed and athletes began receiving Pell Grant monies in addition to their full athletic scholarships, after which the government recognized the flaw in its policy and corrected it, then what?

With the precedent having been established to award spending money to athletes, some Division I schools might then be faced with the prospect of having to dip into profits to continue to pay players. It would be interesting to see how some of these noble champions of the poor would react to that contingency.

Sarcastic speculation aside, it is easier for a Division I program that garners vast sums in gate receipts, television revenues and myriad other sources to take the stand that athletes deserve more money. At Division II institutions, where salaries, grants-in-aid and operating expenses almost exceed income, it is harder to justify increasing the deficit.

Division II schools willingly incur athletics deficits because the philosophy is that an athletics program should provide an outlet for students with the talent to play, affording them an opportunity to receive an education while doing something they're good at, and, in the offing, hopefully create a source of enrichment, entertainment and pride for the university community. In the beginning, that was everyone's philosophy. But not any more. Too often, making a buck takes precedent over higher ideals.

For many years, it was common for athletes to hold a job while going to school and participating in athletics. But that venerable tradition has become a thing of the past. Not only do coaches place demands on college athletes that preclude holding a job while in school, but it's also against NCAA rules for a scholarship athlete to hold a job.

That rule applies across the board, to all divisions. Its intent was to eliminate the potential of abuse at Division I institutions with monied boosters who gladly would pay an all-America halfback more than a Division II assistant coach makes in a year to drop by the office once a week and sharpen pencils. The potential for such abuse does not, for the most part, exist at Division II institutions, but it is a rule by which we must abide. It is a rule many of us feel is a bad one, and we have all seen instances where it caused pain and suffering for our young athletes who needed the money. All we could do was look them in the eye and tell them we were fighting to change it.

Asking schools to come up with money to pay students for time spent associated with athletics that could have been spent working at some job is viewed with a jaundiced eye by Division II administrators. Plenty of history majors on academic scholarship or concert pianists on a Pell Grant hold jobs in addition to their academic schedules.

The needs and concerns of small-college programs, where funds are limited, where deficits are incurred annually, where athletics is not self-sustaining, where football grants are limited to 45—which isn't enough to hold full-line blocking drills without some kind of supplementation—are very different from those of institutions whose primary concern is whether to fly commercial or charter to the bowl game.

There are no easy answers. Perhaps allowing Division I institutions to make decisions as they apply to themselves alone is an equitable solution. Perhaps the NCAA constitution is in need of revision, in light of the widening chasm between the divisions.

But I hope sincerely that the obvious disdain that certain Division I administrators have displayed toward their Division II colleagues comes from a lack of understanding, not from hypocrisy or cynicism. Such attitudes have no place in intercollegiate athletics as we strive to resolve problems that have called our integrity to question.

Letter to the Editor

To the editor:

Drew University President Paul Hardin's editorial comment in the January 29 issue contains some of the most insightful observations I have yet read in this most valuable publication—which, incidentally, has come a long way since its inception in 1964 when I was the fledgling editor.

I draw my own response to some of his comment more from current research into the history of the Pacific-10 Conference going back to 1915, about which I am currently writing, than from my experience as former executive director of the Pac-10. Our problems have been with us from the beginning. It is only that each media generation believes it is "exposing" something new and more reprehensible than before. When all is said and done, major college athletics simply mirrors the ethics of American free enterprise, right or wrong. If it's worse now, it's because our adherence to original, unimpeachable high standards generally has been eroded with time.

Of course, the proposition that student-athletes be placed on salary is ridiculous, for the three reasons Dr. Hardin states so well; also, because such an admission of the inability to conduct major intercollegiate athletics as an integral, amateur and legitimate function of higher education really would not eliminate any of the abuses that now exist—not a single one.

"Stay the course for awhile" is so rightly advised by Dr. Hardin. To the chief executive officers of the NCAA, I would humbly say: "Your commitment to oversee for more than awhile what you have started is crucial to the curbing of these abuses. Progress is being made."

"You are the only group that can overcome the difficult obstacles, but your involvement cannot be sporadic. It must be constant and probably everlasting. It may not be enough even then. You may not feel it's worth the drain on an already overloaded obligation to your institution, your time or your overtaxed energy."

"But, if there is no Rose Bowl game, no NCAA Final Four, no baseball College World Series and no collegiate competition at the highest skill level in other U.S. sports, America will have lost one of its most precious leisure activities, and its most physically talented youth will be denied a unique opportunity and a cherished dream."

Recruiting losses can get you down

Grant Teaff, head football coach
Baylor University
Dallas Morning News

"I used to take recruiting losses so personally. But I learned I couldn't take 20 or 30 losses like that and retain my health. I present the facts about Baylor and hope he decides to come here."

"And it may not only be for the big blue-chip list kind of player. I don't even look at those things. A few years ago, we recruited Thomas Everett out of Daingerfield (Texas), and it came down to us or Henderson Junior College. No one else recruited him. Now he's an all-America."

Opinions Out Loud

Donald Jimerson, assistant athletics director
University of Oklahoma
The Associated Press

"This (the court decision favoring Jan Kemp in her suit against administrators at the University of Georgia) is a signal to all of us. Athletes are not to be treated differently... by instructors or by us. I'd say we better listen to that."

Amy Alcott, professional golfer
The Associated Press

"There is a negative side to all the money (in professional athletics). When athletes use the amount of money won as a barometer of success, I think that's wrong. Just because you're the top money-winner at the end of the year doesn't necessarily make you the best golfer."

"I'm concerned that there are those who turn pro for all the wrong reasons. I'm concerned that we are getting away from putting something back into the game. I'm concerned that we are getting away from the way Billie Jean King and Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus played. They played to be the best they could be and to win."

"Now, you have a lot of people playing sports just for the money."

"There's nothing wrong with making money. It's just that we're trying to create instant heroes."

"It makes me sick that someone comes out of college for a $15 million deal, and then you find out they're into drugs. Their values are all screwed up because there is so much money. They have the wrong goals, and usually it's money."

Stan Torgerson, columnist
Southeastern Conference Report

"You have to ask yourself why it should be necessary to write a defense of Proposition 48, the one that spells out eligibility standards for prospective athletes."

"After all, the colleges and universities have been using the term student-athlete for a long time, even though at many schools the description is only half right."

"Now the NCAA members have voted that, like the line in the old song 'Love and Marriage,' you can't have the one without the other."

"Isn't it about time?"

"I spent over 30 years broadcasting college football and basketball. Seventeen of those years were in the Southeastern Conference. During that time, I interviewed hundreds of athletes. It is no exaggeration to say that a high percentage of them could not speak acceptable English."

"When college students pair singular subjects with plural verbs or plural subjects with singular verbs; when they obviously have no knowledge of grammar or sentence structure; when their vocabulary is restricted to only the simplest of words, you have to ask yourself, what is this kid doing in school?"

"Or perhaps the question should be, what can they possibly be getting out of sitting in the classroom, if that is indeed what they are doing, and what classrooms are they sitting in?"

"We need Proposition 48. It's the only way to be certain that the kids who attend our colleges and universities have the tools to be competitive in a game more important than any athletics contest—the game of life."

Ralph Miller, head men's basketball coach
Oregon State University
Dallas Morning News

"I think (basketball) should be primarily for the kids. Dr. Naismith himself had a fear that the coaches would get into the act and not think about the participants but start thinking about the competitive game, the wins, the losses. Naismith never coached at all and didn't care about it a lick."

"The game hasn't changed very much. The only thing that changed after 1940 was the advent of the jump shot. Everything else is the same. Of course, there weren't any Jabbar's then, there weren't any Ewings. It was just an ordinary bunch of guys out there playing."

Redskins' Harper joins select Division I group

By James Van Valkenburg
NCAA Director of Statistics

One of the more prestigious achievements in men's Division I college basketball in the 1980s is reaching 1,000 career rebounds, along with 2,000 points. It is more difficult these days for two reasons: (1) Fewer missed shots and fewer shots taken mean far fewer rebounds, and (2) more leapers on the court mean rebounds are more widely shared.

Only one 1986 senior has reached 2,000 points and 1,000 rebounds so far this season—Miami's (Ohio) 6-6 Ron Harper, with 2,207 and 1,028 through February 17. Harper is only the 48th Division I player in history to do it. Just one more seems certain to make it before the end of the season—Utah State's 6-7 Greg Grant, with 2,036 and 959. A third has an outside chance—Auburn's Chuck Person with 2,086 and 865. Navy's Vernon Butler, with 1,061 rebounds, and Montana's Larry Krystkowiak, with 1,007, will have to pump up their scoring averages and play a maximum number of tournament games to do it. Each needs 217 more points to reach 2,000.

Reaching 2,000 career points still is notable, but 165 in history had done it entering 1986, and a dozen or more make it every year. So far, five others have reached 2,000 (besides Harper, Grant and Person). They are Indiana State's John Sherman Williams at 2,268, Richmond's John Newman at 2,253, Duke's Johnny Dawkins at 2,240, Virginia Tech's Dell Curry at 2,226 and Nebraska's Dave Hoppen—his college career ended by a knee injury—at 2,167.

Six more have a good chance—Duke's Mark Alarie (1,925), Northern Iowa's Randy Kraayenbrink (1,913), Loyola's (California) Forrest McKenzie (1,908) and teammate Keith Smith (1,868), Seton Hall's Andre McCloud (1,887) and Kentucky's Kenny Walker (1,813).

National scoring leader Terrance Bailey of Wagner, who can become only the second 30-point season scorer in six years, now has 1,770 with another season to go.

Miller leads women

Southern California's Cheryl Miller amazingly reached 2,000 and 1,000 last year as a junior, so it is no surprise she leads five 1986 seniors who have joined the exclusive club, with 2,778 points and 1,405 rebounds through February 17. The others are Northeast Louisiana's Lisa Ingram (2,413 and 1,098), Drake's Wanda Ford (2,362 and 1,745), Ohio's Caroline Mast (2,292 and 1,170) and Pepperdine's Maureen Formico (2,054 and 1,134).

Four more have reached 2,000 points—Karen Pelphrey of Marshall (2,616), Chris Starr of Nevada-Reno (2,283), Jennifer Gillom of Mississippi (2,038) and Eun Jung Lee of Northeast Louisiana (2,027). Starr has 933 rebounds, Pelphrey 853 and Gillom 892, so all have a chance to make the club. Ford also can become the first Division I woman to win national season crowns in both scoring and rebounding, while Starr can become the first to win in both field-goal and free-throw shooting.

A total of 61 Division I women now have reached 2,000 points and 1,000 rebounds, and not one played before 1974 (missed shots and shot attempts are more numerous in women's basketball with the 30-second clock). There have been 96 women's players with 2,000 career points so far in history.

A marked player

Southern California senior Cheryl Miller, writes Scott Ostler of the Los Angeles Times, is the game's most famous female player—a running, jumping, diving, showboating legend in her own time. And that's part of the reason she has become such a marked player, with the marks to prove it.

The latest injury came recently against UCLA—a concussion and sprained neck suffered in a circus fall. UCLA coaches yelled at the officials that it was just another theatrical stunt, but all was quiet when the stretcher crew was called out.

Miller's medical box score this season includes four discolored eyes from flying elbows; one cut eyeball from a flying fingernail, the cut requiring four stitches in the eyeball; neck and head injuries, and numerous bumps and bruises.

That is not counting her bike accident. The three-time all-America and Olympic standout of 1984 flew over the handlebars when a chain snapped on her bike a month ago. Neck sprain.

"It's almost like sometimes I'm being punished for being good," says Miller. "There are always some people who hate winners. I guess I'm like a gunfighter. But I'm tough. I'm like Clint." Except that Cheryl is a lot more emotional than Dirty Harry. Don't call her a hotdog, though. "I still have never heard a definition of a hot dog," Miller told Ostler (who wrote that he looked up 'hotdog' in a

Quotes of the week

After his Siena team lost two overtime games in three days, 84-81 to Niagara and 60-58 to Canisius at the buzzer, men's coach John Griffin was searching for a reason and could not find one. He did offer one suggestion, though: "Maybe we have to attend mass more often before games." (John D'Argenio, Siena SID)

Purdue's men's coach Gene Keady before a three-game road swing to Indiana, Ohio State and Illinois: "I feel like a cowboy who's been driving cattle across the country without any problems or incidents, and we're about to go through a blind canyon to get ambushed."

Keady after three road losses to the above teams: "When I spoke of that ambush, I didn't know there was going to be an avalanche in there, too." He added: "After these three losses, I was driving slowly near home, hoping no one would recognize me. I approached a school-bus stop and have children," Gillen told Dave Manthey of the Chicago Sun-Times, "God lends them to you for 18 years. Then they go their own way. Every day that goes by, I'm missing part of that. When it's gone, it's gone. That hurts." (Ben Benedict, Xavier SID)

Missouri had just upset Oklahoma, 101-88, at Columbia, giving Kansas (a 100-66 winner over Missouri two days earlier) a two-game loss-column lead over Oklahoma in the Big Eight race. "I would say we kind of set somebody free and clear," Missouri coach Norm Stewart told Steve Richardson of the Kansas City Star. "And of all the people to do a favor for. It's kind of like helping Satan." He added with a smile, "That's a shot—right?"

Wyoming's Fennis Dembo has a flair for the dramatic both off and on the court. The Cowboy sophomore told Mark Kizla of the Denver Post that a loss to New Mexico (Wyoming won, 67-65) would not have been good to say the least: "A loss would have been terrible. It would have been disrespectful. We would have been headed for the pits of death." (Jeff Hurd, Western Athletic Conference SID)

Eric Brown, who leads Miami (Florida) in scoring, says his mother tried to talk him out of going to Miami (Florida). "She watches 'Miami Vice' on TV," he explained. "She was afraid for me because of all that violence." Brown is from Brooklyn.

Texas Christian coach Jim Killingsworth apologized to walk-on Kurt Wall, a former swim-team manager, for not getting him into a 69-48 victory over Rice. He said it was an oversight. "That's okay," Wall said. "I'll just have these guys get me another 20-point lead sometime later this season." (Charles Dierker, Texas Christian assistant SID)

After Indiana Central's 63-43 home victory over Northern Kentucky, coach Bill Keller was seen running around the court, high-fiving the student body. Said Keller: "This is the best student crowd we've had in my six years here, and they need to realize just how important they are to the success of our team." (Chris Denari, Indiana Central SID)

Every time North Carolina State center Panagiotis Fasoulas laces up his shoes, he marvels at how far he has come in the past few years. In 1980, he was a typical teenager in the Greek town of Thessaloniki, hitting the books with hopes of being one of the few students accepted into the city's university. That was before he was discovered. It is important to realize that Fasoulas is easy to spot in a crowd. He is 7 feet and weighs 220, with a square jaw and a wing-span that seems to stretch across the room. He was 16 and waiting for a bus in front of a gym when the coach of a Greek club team spotted him. "It's true," says Fasoulas. "The coach just came up and started talking. In fact, I missed two buses while I listened. I didn't know many things about basketball then. No one taught us the sport in physical-education class. Soccer was the big sport in Greece, as it is now. If you were tall, people didn't automatically see you as a basketball player, as they do in this country. But once I played the game, I loved it."

North Carolina State coach Jim Valvano first saw Fasoulas in the fall of 1983 when his team traveled to Greece for an exhibition series. He was impressed enough that when a scholarship became available last fall, it went to Fasoulas because he had expressed an interest in coming to the United States. "Fans here in Raleigh are great," he says. "Greek fans are more violent. A teammate of mine was beaten up after a loss and spent two days in a hospital. Later, he had his car windows broken. The worst thing that happened to me was finding my car covered with yogurt and being insulted in a restaurant." (Ed Seaman, North Carolina State SID)

Kansas State coach Jack Hartman, looking back on his career after announcing his retirement: "Coaching is all I've ever done. I've never had a real job."

Oklahoma State coach Paul Hansen, after it was announced his contract would not be extended, saw the large media turnout for his next game with Missouri at Stillwater and commented: "I've never seen this much media here before—is this my funeral?" His team then buried Missouri, 86-65. (Tim Allen, Big Eight Conference SID)

Another triple double

The February 5 notes had an item about Youngstown State senior guard Danielle Carson, who ranks among the national assist leaders. Youngstown State sports information director Greg Gulas reported that Carson had achieved a "triple double"—double-figure scoring, rebounding and assists in one game—on three occasions, and he asked to hear about any other players who have done the same. Alabama-Birmingham senior guard Kitty Price has two "triple doubles" in an eight-day span so far this season, reports Alabama-Birmingham assistant sports information director Chuck Bennett. Any others out there?

They're academic

The 14 members of the Buena Vista women's team have a cumulative grade-point average of 3.160. The team is led academically and athletically by all-America junior Jeannie Demers, who, along with reserve Kim Steffens, has a 4.000 in the classroom. Starters Katy Feldman, Sheryl Book, Shari Lewis and Demers average 3.500 on the grade scale. (Jay Miller, Buena Vista SID) dictionary and found a picture of Miller next to the entry; he adds that he loves hotdogs).

All this is not to imply that Miller consistently has been on the receiving end of cheap shots all season. Certainly, some came from frustrated opponents. But the UCLA spill was a no-fault accident, and some of her injuries have been self-inflicted.

She is one of the game's great divers. In the UCLA game, for instance, Miller leaped over the UCLA bench to save a loose ball, sat down for a moment in a front-row seat—a nice hot-doggish touch—ran along the court-side aisle, vaulted the scorer's table and got back into the action, without missing a play.

Also, says Southern Cal coach Linda Sharp, officials are permitting women to pummel, push and hand-check this season as never before. "I don't think the college (men) are allowed to be as physical as the women this year," Sharp said.

Except for sitting out a couple of games with injuries, the bruising has not slowed Miller down. And her popularity rages unchecked. She is the big story in every city and town where her team plays, and she receives about 300 letters a day—more mail than any Southern Cal athlete since Heisman Trophy winner Marcus Allen.

Miller is probably the most looked-up-to female in Los Angeles, and she takes that responsibility seriously. Says Miller: "I have to sit down once in a while and say, 'Cheryl, are you being a good role model?' I try to be happy, personable, do well in class, go to elementary schools when I can, one of the first graders suddenly pointed at me and shouted, 'you stink!' Boy, even the first graders are getting after me now." (Jim Vrugink, Purdue SID)

Florida International had waited 14 years for what used to be the end of the old Tamiami Airport runway to be turned into Sunblazer Arena, a $6.85 million facility dedicated February 1 with a 75-60 victory over Nova University. The celebration started early, with the student government supplying free pizza and soft drinks outside and ended late with a band providing a free concert and free beer.

It was a night when a 36-year-old man cried: "It is obvious how I feel," men's coach Rich Walker told Mike Phillips of the Miami Herald while trying to fight back the tears. "How many kids get to grow up and build a basketball program? Let alone a nobody like me. When I first came here five years ago, people told us that basketball would never come to south Florida. They said it had about the same chance as hockey. Well, basketball is here." Then Walker bowed his head and the tears came pouring out. (Rich Kelch, Florida International SID)

Xavier (Ohio) basketball coach Pete Gillen is lonesome, even with his team fighting for the Midwestern Collegiate Conference championship in his first season. He was an assistant at Notre Dame before Xavier (Ohio) hired him last August. His wife, Ginie, and son, Brendan, 2, are back in South Bend, Indiana, waiting for their house to sell. Gillen has not seen them since Christmas. "When you

This could be the big year for Washington State

By Lacy Lee Baker
The NCAA News Staff

The Cougars are hungry—and with good reason.

After Division I men's outdoor track runner-up finishes in both 1984 and 1985, Washington State is ready for the main course in 1986.

It will not be easy, though. The Cougars will have to fight off defending champion Arkansas and other top teams Southern Methodist, Tennessee, Texas, UCLA and Alabama.

Washington State—Things have been brewing in Pullman for several years now. Besides the two second-place finishes in outdoor track, the Cougars finished fifth in 1983 and third in 1982. Indoors, they were runners-up in 1984 and previously won the national indoor crown in 1977. In addition, Track & Field News ranked Washington State the top 1985 dual-meet team, for the fourth time in the last five years.

A veteran crew returns for coach John Chaplin in 1986. Gabriel Tiacoh, collegiate record holder in the 400 meters (44.54), is back for his senior year. The Ivory Coast native was the 400-meter-dash silver medalist in the 1984 Olympic Games. His time of 44.87 ranks eighth on the 1985 world list. He also will help out in the 200 meters (20.84).

Julius Korir, the 1984 NCAA champion in the 5,000 meters and Olympic gold medalist in the steeplechase, has returned from a 1985 redshirt year. The junior from Kabsabet, Kenya, has personal best times of 13:38.6 in the 5,000 and 8:11.80 in the steeplechase. Junior Nathan Norris also will run the steeplechase (8:36.79).

Defending NCAA hammer champion Tore Gustafsson returns for his senior season, as does Dimitrios Koutsoukis, 1984 fifth-place finisher in the shot put. Gustafsson's hammer best, 247-8, is a Swedish national record, while Koutsoukis set a Greek national record in the shot with a 67-3½. Other field-event leaders for the Cougars are junior Brett Lowery in the high jump (7-4); javelin throwers Jan Johansson (273-8), James Miller (250-3) and Randy Mendenhall (262-1), and long jumper Demetrios Araouzos (25-9½).

Arkansas—Although the Razorbacks appear to be favorites to defend their 1985 indoor title, coach John McDonnell says they will be hard-pressed to repeat in the outdoor category. However, with talent like defending NCAA 400-meter champion Roddie Haley (44.67) and Marty Kobza, 1985 fourth-place finisher in the shot put (66-9½ personal best), Arkansas is a contender. Track & Field News ranked Haley the third best 400-meter athlete in the world in 1985 and the second best in the United States, behind former Southern Illinois standout Michael Franks. His 1985 mark of 44.67 placed him fourth on the 1985 world list.

Senior Espen Borge will run the 800 (1:47.41) and 1,500 meters (3:40.4), along with senior Gary Taylor in the 1,500 (3:40.7). Doug Consiglio, who recently ran a 3:55.91 indoor mile, is penciled in for the steeplechase (8:43.0). Freshman Joe Falcon, who paced the Razorbacks to a second-place finish in the 1985 Division I Men's Cross Country Championships, is the top 10,000-meters entry (30:36).

In the field events, high jumper Bill Jasinski (7-6), pole vaulter Jeff Pascoe (17-5 indoors), freshman triple jumper Femi Abejide (54-2) and long jumpers Mike Davis (26-9), Joey Wells (26-6) and John Register (26-2) should be counted as possible scorers. Jasinski finished third in NCAA competition in 1985.

Southern Methodist—The Mustangs tied for ninth place at last year's outdoor championships and finished first in 1983. They'll be paced in 1986 by strong sprinting and relay corps.

Freshman Roy Martin, a former world junior record holder in the 200 meters (20.13), will anchor the 400-meter relay team, which also includes John Parker, Rod Jones and Kevin Robinzine. Track & Field News ranked Martin the third best 200-meter specialist in the world in 1985, while Robinzine's time of 45.09 places him seventh in the U.S. Jones runs the 400 and currently holds the school record (44.94).

Sven Nylander, Eric Josjo, Harold Spells and Robinzine will run the 1,600-meter relay. Nylander hurdles for the Mustangs and finished first in the 1983 NCAA 400-meter hurdles event (48.88).

Field-event personnel include: John Parker, a transfer from George Mason, in the long jump (26-3); triple jumpers John Williams (54-0¼) and Vernon Samuels (53-4½); Lars Nilsen in the shot put (62-8); freshman Ragnar Danielsen, the reigning Norwegian champion in the javelin (249-1), and Sten Ekberg, 1985 NCAA third-place finisher in the decathlon (7,886).

Tennessee—Doug Brown, former Tennessee track star and current administrative manager for Athletics West track club, has taken over the coaching reigns for the Volunteers. He is well-stocked with high-caliber athletes such as 1985 NCAA 100-meters champion Terry Scott and 1984 100-meters titlist Sam Graddy. Both are seniors with bests of 10.08 and 10.09, respectively. Scott is ranked seventh in the world for 1985.

Graddy leads the Volunteers in the 200 meters (20.30), while Jeff Powell (13.67) and Belfred Clark (49.45) are national contenders in the 110-meter hurdles and 400-meter hurdles, respectively. Triple jumper John Tillman (55-7) placed second in the nation last season and appears to be the front-runner again in 1986.

Tennessee should be a top contender for a fifth straight Southeastern Conference title.

Texas—The Longhorns will be under the direction of new coach Stan Huntsman, who formerly led Tennessee to its only outdoor national championship, in 1974. Huntsman says Texas will have quality at every event, although depth is lacking.

Some of that quality will be in the steeplechase event, featuring 1985 NCAA runner-up Patrick Sang (8:22.45 personal best) and sixth-place finisher Joseph Chelelgo (8:32.35). Sang's 1985 time of 8:23.68 puts him at 24th on the 1985 world list. Chelelgo, a junior from Eldama-Ravine, Kenya, also will compete in the 5,000 (13:51.1).

Longhorn field-event standouts are James Lott in the high jump (7-5½) and Dag Wennlund in the javelin (302-6). Lott was second in the 1984 NCAA championships and Wennlund placed third in the javelin in 1985. Wennlund's toss of 302-6 was the seventh best in the world in 1985 and he was ranked the 10th-best javelin athlete in the world by Track & Field News.

UCLA—The Bruins could be a surprise this year, especially with the addition of some blue-chip recruits. High school all-America Henry Thomas leads the pack and will compete in the 100 meters (10.25), 200 meters (20.4) and 400 meters (45.09). Thomas' 400-meter mark places him 16th on the Track & Field News world list for 1985. Another high school all-America, Danny Everett, also will run the 400 meters (45.76).

Great things also are expected from freshman Brandon Richards, the all-time prep indoor and outdoor record holder in the pole vault at 18-2.

In addition, UCLA signed Brian Blutreich, who led the nation in both the shot (69-6½) and discus (210-8) as a senior at Capistrano Valley High in Mission Viejo, California. He will be redshirted in 1986 to adjust to the international implements.

Top old-timers for the Bruins include three-time cross country all-America Jon Butler in the 5,000 meters (13:53.0) and 10,000 meters (28:47.7), back from a redshirt year; Steve Kerho in the 110-meter (13.68) and 400-meter hurdles (50.56); John Frazier in the shot put (65-2¼) and hammer (208-6), and 1985 redshirt Jim Connolly in the javelin (256-10) and decathlon (7,771 points). In addition, former UC Irvine standout Mike Powell has transferred; he owns a personal best of 27-2 (wind-aided) in the long jump.

Alabama—The Crimson Tide will be led by field-event specialists Vestinn Hafsteinson, an all-America in the discus (215-3), and Sigg Einarsson, the fourth-place finisher in the 1985 NCAA javelin competition (288-1). Tony Davis holds the school record in the 800 meters (1:47.70) and was the 1985 Southeastern Conference champion. Alabama hopes to improve on its 1985 second-place finish in the conference.

Event-by-event—The following is a top-10 collegiate list for each individual event, based on responses from sports-information departments. The times are personal bests, not necessarily from 1985.

100 meters—Defending champion Scott returns, along with 1984 champion Graddy. Missouri's Chidi Imoh, the runner-up in 1985, is back for his senior season. His time of 10.11 is 10th on the world list for 1985. In addition, East Carolina's Lee McNeill's time of 10.17 made the list at No. 15. McNeill's total performance for the year earned him a No. 9 world ranking by Track & Field News.

10.02, Terry Scott, Sr., Tennessee; 10.04, Chidi Imoh, Sr., Missouri; 10.07, Lee McRae, So., Pittsburgh; 10.09, Sam Graddy, Sr., Tennessee; 10.11, Raymond Stewart, So., Texas Christian; 10.12, Michael Morris, Sr., Syracuse; 10.12, Carl Carter, Sr., Texas Tech; 10.14, Lorenzo Daniel, So., Mississippi State; 10.16, Elliston Stinson, Sr., Rice; 10.17, Lee McNeill.

Louisiana State's women have momentum in their favor

The rapid ascent of the Louisiana State track program is well-documented. Two years ago, the Tigers managed only one point at the 1984 Division I Women's Outdoor Track Championships. But last year, they burst into the nation's elite circle with a 46-point showing that earned a second-place tie with Florida State.

This year, many expect the Tigers to win it all.

Coach Loren Seagrave's team should be challenged by Florida State, Texas, Alabama, Southern California and UCLA. Defending champion Oregon lost several key performers and is not considered a threat to repeat.

Louisiana State—Ranked the best collegiate women's track program in the nation last year by Track & Field News, Louisiana State looks powerful in 1986. Ten all-Americans return from the indoor and outdoor Southeastern Conference champion squad that also finished nationally at No. 2 outdoors and No. 3 indoors.

Sprints and relays again are the Tigers' strength. Seven of the eight legs of the NCAA champion 400-meter and 1,600-meter relay teams are back. Michelle King, who ran the second leg of the 400-meter relay, is the top Tiger sprinter. She placed fourth in the 100 meters in 1985 (11.31 wind-aided). Angela Phipps, third leg of the 400 relay, placed fourth in the 1985 200 meters (23.05 wind-aided); and Michelle Morris anchor for both the 400 and 1,600 relays, also is slated for competition in the 200 meters (23.53) and 400 meters (52.64).

Leadoff 1,600-meter relay runner Wendy Truvillion finished fourth in the NCAA indoor 500 meters in 1985. She will run the 400 meters outdoors (52.91). Second leg Schowonda Williams placed third in the NCAA outdoor 400-meter hurdles (55.65) and will run that event, along with the 100-meter hurdles, again in 1986. SEC 800-meter champion Camille Cato, third leg of the 1,600 relay, again is the Tigers' top 800-meter specialist (2:03.52).

In the jumping department, Sharon Clarke could score in the long jump (21-5½ wind-aided) and triple jump (41-4¼), along with Julie Lewis, who was sixth in the outdoor triple jump (41-10¼). Sophomore heptathlete Cheryl Wilson was ninth in 1985 (5,400).

Florida State—Michelle Finn and Esmeralda Garcia should lead the Lady Seminole attack again in 1985. The two combined for 41 of Florida State's 46 points last season, with Finn winning the 100 meters (11.04 wind-aided) and placing second in the 200 meters (22.77) and Garcia taking the triple jump championship (43-7½), finishing third in the long jump (21-7) and placing fifth in the 100 meters (11.38). The two also helped the Lady Seminole 400-meter relay team earn third-place honors.

Janet Davis, who finished sixth in the 1984 200 meters, returns from a redshirt year. Her times of 23.13 in the 200 and 52.85 in the 400 make her a national threat.

Texas—1985 200-meters champion Juliet Cuthbert (22.55) leads the Longhorn contingent, along with Mary Bolden, fifth in both the 1984 100 (11.23) and 200 meters (23.18) as a freshman at Tennessee.

Two other Tennessee transfers, Karol Davidson in the 800 meters and Liz Natale in the 1,500 (4:18.0) and 3,000 (9:06.0), could score. Junior Anne Schweitzer will run the 5,000 meters, where she placed seventh in 1985 (15:51.52). In the hurdles, Karen Nelson will compete in the 100 (13.32 wind-aided) and Sametra King is slated for the 400 (57.66).

High jumper Shelly Fehrman was fourth in the 1985 NCAA indoor meet and has a 6-1¼ jump to her credit. Senior Terri Turner will try to match her 1984 triple jump title (44-4¼); she finished third in 1985.

Alabama—With the return of 1984 400-meters indoor champion Lillie Leatherwood, the Crimson Tide should improve on its 1985 10th-place showing. Leatherwood red-shirted in the 1985 collegiate season but won The Athletics Conference 400-meters title (50.46). Her overall season performance impressed Track & Field News enough to rank her seventh in the world in the 400 meters for 1985. She also will run the 100 meters (11.42) and 200 meters (22.84).

Freshman Pauline Davis will be the top 100-meter entry for the Tide with a best of 11.14. The Nassau, Bahamas, native also has a best of 22.99 in the 200 meters. In the 800 meters, last year's third-place national finisher—Evelyn Adiru—is back (2:02.27). Distance specialist Liz Lynch (9:03.0 in the 3,000) is capable of scoring, as is defending NCAA javelin champion Iris Gronfeldt (191-1).

Southern California—American and collegiate triple jump record holder Wendy Brown (44-6¼) and NCAA 1984 fifth-place shot put finisher Diana Clements (52-11) are the biggest names on the Trojan roster. However, junior Gervaise McCraw should help out in the 100 (11.37) and 200 meters (22.81).

The addition of several key freshman recruits, like Elise Lyon in the 1,500 meters (4:16.12), makes Southern California a contender.

UCLA—1985 sixth-place 100-meters and 100-meter hurdles finisher Gail Devers returns to the Bruin lineup. The sophomore from San Diego is slated for six events in 1986—100 meters (11.19), 200 meters (23.12), 100-meter hurdles (13.16), 400-meter hurdles (59.26), long jump (20-8½)

Abilene Christian men seeking fifth straight team crown

There was no stopping Abilene Christian in 1985. The Wildcats outdistanced second-place finisher East Texas, 171-63, to win their fourth consecutive Division II Men's outdoor track championship.

Although 119.5 points were lost to the graduation of 11 seniors, coach Don Hood has assembled another impressive squad of returnees and top freshman recruits.

Freddie Williams, who won the 800 meters (1:48.64) in 1984 and 1985 and the 1,500 meters (3:42.65) in 1984, leads the returnee list. Defending shot put champion Ahmed Shata also returns. Sophomore Greg Meghoo, a silver medalist in the 1984 Olympic 400-meter relay event, was injured at the end of 1985 but should be in good form for the 100 meters (10.24w) and 200 meters (20.6w) in 1986. Junior Darren Williams also will run the 100 (10.26w) and 200 meters (21.12w).

Junior Kevin Pullen, runner-up in the 1985 high jump (7-2¼), tops a seasoned group of high jumpers, including sophomores Russ Taylor (6-11¼) and Mike Ledsome, who also was the third-place finisher in the decathlon (7,473). Freshman Mark Oboso completes the high jump roster (7-0).

Ian Morris appears to be the most promising freshman recruit. The Trinidad national champion in the 400 meters had the 29th best time in the world in that event in 1985 (45.24). He also will run the 200 meters (20.5).

Another freshman, Michael Moloto of Cape Town, South Africa, is slated for the 5,000 meters (13:52.0) and 10,000 meters (28:58.0). In the pole vault, freshman Cam Miller, the third-ranked high school vaulter in the U.S. last season (17-1), joins junior Steve Thaxton (17-11), Ledsome (17-5), junior Mike Thornton (17-6) and junior Gene Haynes (17-0). Freshman James Browne in the triple jump (50-3½) rounds out the freshman lineup.

Sophomore Mike Marsh, who was eighth in the 1985 decathlon, also could challenge.

East Texas State, St. Augustine's and Mount St. Mary's look to be the Wildcats' main threats. East Texas State's mainstay is Samson Obwacha, 1985 winner of the 1,500 meters and 3,000-meter steeplechase. He also took the Division II cross country championship this past fall with a 30:49.40 time on the 10,000-meter course.

Sprinter Tyrone Harrell, sixth in the 200 meters (21.21) and second in the 400 meters (46.37), leads the St. Augustine's contingent. Several freshmen should help out.

Mount St. Mary's returns individual champions Dave Lishebo in the 400 meters (45.87) and Robert Ekpote in the 110-meter hurdles (14.00). Ekpote and other returnees Knut Gunderson and Carlos O'Connell earned all-America honors in the decathlon.

Mustangs hope to rally for fourth women's title in five years

Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, winner of the first three of four NCAA Division II Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships, is out to make up for the one that got away.

The favored Mustangs were upset by Abilene Christian, 106-103, in last year's national championships. It was the closest Division II race ever.

So in 1986, even though a total of 50 points from last year will not return, Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo is a realistic contender for a fourth trophy in five years. The Mustangs will have to fight off a solid Abilene Christian team.

Of Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo's returning 53 points, junior Gladees Prieur, winner of last year's 1,500 meters (4:16.78), leads the pack. Other scorers were Lori Lopez, second in the 3,000 meters; Katy Manning, eighth in the 3,000 meters; Patrice Carpenter, third in both the 100 and 200 meters and a member of the championship 1,600-meter relay team, and Felicia Saville, a member of both relay teams.

Returnees in the field events are Deena Bernstein, second place in the javelin; Julie Weigmann, fifth place in the high jump, and Sharon Hanson, seventh in the heptathlon, despite a leg injury.

However, the Mustangs will have more to count on than just 1985 returnees. Seven all-Americans from the 1983 and 1984 seasons are back from redshirt years, including 1984 10,000-meter champion Carol Gleason and 1984 1,500-meter winner Jennifer "Jeni" Dunn.

Freshmen and sophomores contributed 76 points of Abilene Christian's winning total in 1985. However, several did not return to school this year, including two-time javelin champion Sonya Smith.

The Wildcats still will be contenders with the help of sprinter Camille Coates, who earned 19½ points, and hurdler/jumper Yolanda Henry, an 18-point contributor. Henry was the winner of the high jump (6-0) and Ann Foster, another returnee, won the triple jump (41-9½). Stacy Atkinson, the heptathlon runner-up (5,239), and discus runner-up Marlene Lewis (169-1) also return.

Several outstanding freshmen will be counted on, such as Yolanda Straughn in the 400 meters (54.3) and Sylvia Dyer in the 100-meter hurdles (14.2).

Alabama A&M, the third-place finisher, and St. Augustine's, fourth place in 1985, have many capable of scoring. Alabama A&M's Dannette Young, winner of both the 100 meters and 200 meters, is a key Division II returnee.

The following is a top-eight collegiate list for each individual event, compiled from questionnaires returned from sports-information offices. The times are personal bests, not necessarily from 1985. (Wind-aided times are marked with a "w.")

Competition deep in Division III

Lincoln (Pennsylvania), Wisconsin-LaCrosse and St. Thomas (Minnesota), the top three finishers in the 1985 Division III Men's Outdoor Track Championships, should field strong teams again in 1986. The Grassboro State Profs, who won the championship from 1980 through 1984, also should contend for national honors.

Lincoln (Pennsylvania) coach Cyrus Jones will be without the services of Barrington Fearon, winner of the 1985 400 meters and runner-up in the 200-meter dash. However, several outstanding freshmen have joined the Lions' ranks. William Darby will run the 100 meters (6.33 in 55 meters) and 200 meters (21.5), while newcomers

Jeffrey Hester, Mark Elong and Dekalo Whitfield are slated for the 400 meters. Junior Dave Hightower, who finished fourth in last year's 110-meter hurdles (14.51), heads the list of returnees.

Wisconsin-LaCrosse features several scorers from 1985, paced by defending decathlon champion Mike Meteer (7,030). In addition, Dave Valentine, the Division III record holder in the 10,000 meters (29:14.95), has transferred to Wisconsin-LaCrosse from North Park.

Challenging Valentine in the 10,000 meters will be defending champion Nick Manciu of St. Thomas (Minnesota) (29:26.10). Tom Faust, fourth place in the 5,000 meters (14:39.02), also returns for the Tommies.

Following is a list of top returnees for each individual event, compiled from questionnaires returned from sports-information offices. The times are personal bests, not necessarily from 1985. Wind-aided times are marked with a "w."

and triple jump (38-8½).

UCLA's distance corps, led by junior Polly Plumer, should be powerful. Plumer finished fourth in the NCAA cross country championships and led the Bruins to a sixth-place overall finish. Junior Toni Lutjens could challenge in the discus, where she finished fourth in 1985 (180-1). In addition, high school all-America Choo Choo Knighten will help out in the sprints and on the Bruin 400-meter relay team.

Other top teams—San Diego State, Stanford, Arizona, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Nebraska and Cal State Los Angeles will field strong teams; however, the depth to win it all could be missing.

After earning its highest finish ever at an NCAA meet in 1985 (ninth), San Diego State is encouraged. The Aztecs return defending NCAA champions Latanya Sheffield in the 400-meter hurdles (54.64) and Laura DeSnoo in the discus (190-6). At Stanford, 1985 redshirt Ceci Hopp, who won the 1982 3,000 meters, is back, along with 1983 3,000 winner Alison Wiley. Lisa Bernhagen, who holds the American junior record in the high jump at 6-3, is a Cardinal sophomore. In addition, Pam Dukes in the shot put (53-2½), Karen Nickerson in the discus (181-3) and freshman Erica Wheeler in the javelin (189-7) are possible point-getters.

Arizona, known for its field-event success, features 1985 high jump champion Katrena Johnson (6-4¼ personal best) and 1985 shot put runner-up Carla Garrett (55-7½). Wisconsin, the 1985 NCAA cross country champion, will be outstanding in the distances, thanks mostly to Katie Ishmael. The senior from Madison, Wisconsin, is the collegiate record holder in the 10,000 meters (32:37.37).

Tennessee returns a strong sprint and middle-distance crew. LaVonna Martin, the seventh-place finisher in the 200 meters (23.16) and fifth-place finisher in the 100-meter hurdles (13.02), and Ilrey Oliver, who was second in the 400 meters and eighth in the 200 meters, are back. Nebraska's Angela Thacker returns for her senior year in the sprints and long jump. She is a 12-time all-America and 1984 NCAA indoor long jump champion (21-10¼). Laura Wight, who was third in the 1985 3,000 meters, also should be a Sooner point-getter.

The senior Howard sisters, Sherri and Denean, will lead the Cal State

Los Angeles contingent. Sherri was first in the 400 meters (50.95) and third in the 200 meters (22.88) last season.

Traditional mat powers strong again in Divisions II and III

Teams that have dominated wrestling in Divisions II and III appear strong again as the 1986 championships approach.

Division II

Cal State Bakersfield's school colors are blue and gold; however, red would be an appropriate color for its wrestling team.

After winning seven NCAA Division II Wrestling Championships team titles in 10 years and placing second in two others, the Roadrunners slipped to a seventh-place finish at last year's championships, due in part to a coaching change and the subsequent departure of some of the team's top wrestlers.

But a talented group of transfer redshirts who followed second-year coach T. J. Kerr from San Jose State has Cal State Bakersfield back on top and poised to regain the team title at the February 28-March 1 championships, hosted by defending champion Southern Illinois-Edwardsville.

The Roadrunners qualified eight wrestlers for the championships, most notably Darryl Pope (167) and Marvin Jones (177). Both earned Division

I all-America status in 1984 while at San Jose State.

Other redshirts from San Jose State who qualified for the championships are Bill Newton (142), Matt Olejnik (150), Pat Huyck (158) and Eric Mittlestead (190). Alan Paradise (126) and Richard Bailey (134) round out the Roadrunners' powerful lineup.

SIU-Edwardsville also qualified eight wrestlers for the championships, but the Cougars of coach Larry Kristoff know Cal State Bakersfield will be out to take away their team title. The Roadrunners pinned a 39-16 dual-meet loss on Kristoff's squad in late January, serving notice that last year's seventh-place championships finish was a fluke.

However, Tim Wright (118), Alan Grammar (126), Steve Stearns (134), Brian McTague (150), Mark Kristoff (158) and Ernie Badger (190) give the Cougars enough firepower to make a strong bid for their third consecutive national title.

Other teams in contention (with the number of qualifiers that were determined by press time in parentheses) for the team title or a top-10 finish include: Edinboro (8), Lake Superior State (6), Pembroke State (5), Liberty (5), San Francisco State (7), Northwest Missouri State (6), Portland State (6), North Dakota State, South Dakota State, North Dakota, Wright State, Liberty, Ashland and Augustana (South Dakota).

Division III

If Brockport State wrestling coach Don Murray had to coin a phrase for the upcoming NCAA Division III Wrestling Championships, he probably would come up with something like "will the cycle be unbroken."

Brockport State and Trenton State have made the championships a two-team show for the last seven years. Trenton State won the 1979 and 1981 titles; Brockport State won the 1980 title and then added a twist to the rotation by winning two straight team titles in 1982 and 1983. Trenton State followed suit by winning the last two team titles.

If the cycle holds true, it is Brockport State's turn to reclaim the title.

Brockport State is led by defending national champion Scott DeTore (134) and Todd Slade (158) and John Leone, who placed third and fifth, respectively, at last year's championships. Tim Slade (177) and heavy-weight Rusty Middlebrook, qualifiers for last year's championships, along with first-time qualifiers Troy Monks (118), Rob Allison (142), Dave Lang (167) and Mike Sanzo (190) round out the Golden Eagles' well-balanced lineup.

Trenton State's Lions have a "cycle-busting" lineup and will have the home-mat advantage for the February 28-March 1 championships.

Defending champion Tim Jacoutot

(118), last year's most outstanding wrestler at the championships as a freshman, has roared to a 34-2 record and is an overwhelming favorite to defend his title.

Team captain Ralph Venuto (134), who placed fifth at last year's championships, has compiled a 27-7 record and could wind up facing DeTore in the championships finals. Two-time all-America Dwayne Standridge (158) also has had a fine season, compiling an 18-6 record. Other Trenton State qualifiers include Rich Widmer (126), Mark Nace (142), Kevin DiPatri (177) and heavyweight Dennis Chavis.

Teams that could break up Brockport State's and Trenton State's annual showdown include St. Lawrence, Wisconsin-Whitewater, Wisconsin-River Falls, John Carroll, Ithaca, Buena Vista, Montclair State and Central (Iowa).

Unbeaten teams are Division III choices

Salem State and St. Mary's (Minnesota), both undefeated near the end of the regular season and among the strongest teams in their respective regions, head the list of contenders for the 1986 Division III Women's Basketball Championship.

Defending champion Scranton, which dropped from sixth to 13th in the Division III poll (see the NCAA Record), still could be a challenger for a return trip to the finals. The Lady Royals are one of the top teams in the Mid-Atlantic region.

Regional action in the 32-team tournament will begin February 28 at on-campus sites. Quarterfinals, also at on-campus sites, will be played March 7 or 8. The semifinals and championship game are set for March 14-15 and will be held on the campus of one of the final-four teams.

Eleven berths in the 1986 play-offs will be awarded to conference champions. Among the top teams expected to be in the thick of their respective league battles are Virginia Wesleyan, North Carolina-Greensboro and Christopher Newport in the Dixie Intercollegiate; Scranton, Elizabethtown and Juniata in the Middle Atlantic States; and Whittier and Pomona-Pitzer in the Southern California Intercollegiate.

Selection for the championship will take place Sunday, February 23. All teams will be notified of their selection no later than Monday, February 24. Following is a listing of the top teams in each of the eight Division III regions:

Northeast—Bridgewater State (Massachusetts) (15-4); Eastern Connecticut State (15-4); Emmanuel (15-1); Salem State (19-0); Southern Maine (18-3), and Western Connecticut State (14-7).

East—Albany (New York) (19-2); Buffalo State (19-1); Columbia-Barnard (15-4); New Rochelle (12-9); New York University (14-6), and Rochester (10-5).

Great Lakes—Alma (17-2); St. Norbert (14-1); Wisconsin-La Crosse (11-10); Wisconsin-River Falls (14-9); Wisconsin Stevens Point (14-5), and Wisconsin-Whitewater (18-3).

South—Christopher Newport (17-5); North Carolina-Greensboro (20-

2); Le Moyne-Owen (12-3); Rust (16-3), and Virginia Wesleyan (20-3).

Mid-Atlantic—Elizabethtown (16-5); Juniata (13-4); Moravian (21-2); Scranton (20-4); Spring Garden (20-3), and Susquehanna (15-3).

Atlantic—Allegheny (20-1); Capital (18-2); Kean (21-1), and Ohio Northern (14-4).

Central—Carroll (19-1); Elmhurst (19-1), and William Penn (17-5).

West—Bishop (19-1); Concordia-Moorhead (17-2); Hamline (15-6); St. Mary's (California) (19-0), and Whittier (17-5).

Potsdam State, the only undefeated men's basketball team remaining at any level of NCAA competition, is one of the favorites to capture the 1986 Division III championship. Others include Western Connecticut in the Northeast, DePauw in the Great Lakes, defending champion North Park and Wisconsin-Whitewater in the Midwest, and Nebraska Wesleyan in the West.

Coach Jerry Welsh, who has taken Potsdam State to the championship game four times in the last seven years (including last year's 72-71 loss to North Park), apparently has the Bears playing a stifling brand of defense. The team leads the division in scoring margin through February 8 (besting opponents by an average of 26.9 points) and ranks fourth in scoring defense (54.2 per game).

Regional competition in the 32-team tournament will be played February 28 and March 1 at on-campus sites. Quarterfinalists will square off March 8, also at on-campus sites. The semifinals and championship game will be held at Calvin College, Grand Rapids, Michigan, March 14-15.

Eighteen berths in the play-off bracket will go to automatic qualifiers representing 17 conferences (the Middle Atlantic Conference has been awarded two berths). Final selection of the tournament field will be made by February 23.

Following is a look at some of the championship contenders from each region:

Northeast—Western Connecticut State (19-1); Clark (Massachusetts) (16-4); Southeastern Massachusetts (16-6); Norwich (14-6), and Salem State (16-3).

East—Potsdam State (22-0); New York University (19-2); Nazareth (17-4); Alfred (16-2); Hartwick (14-4), and Old Westbury State (18-3).

Middle Atlantic—Washington (Maryland) (18-3); Muhlenberg (18-5); Franklin and Marshall (15-8); King's (16-5); Susquehanna (17-6), and Scranton (17-6).

South Atlantic—Jersey City State (19-4); Upsala (17-2); Catholic (16-6); Trenton State (19-5); Stockton State (15-6); Emory and Henry (15-7), and Roanoke (13-11).

South—Centre (17-5); LeMoyne-Owen (21-2); Millsaps (14-7), and North Carolina Wesleyan (16-6).

Great Lakes—DePauw (20-1); Otterbein (21-2), and Calvin (18-2).

Midwest—Wisconsin-Whitewater (19-2); North Park (19-4); Augustana (Illinois) (17-5), and Ripon (14-5).

West—Nebraska Wesleyan (18-4); St. John's (Minnesota) (17-3); Duquesne (16-6), and Pomona-Pitzer (15-8).

Any of five teams could claim women's Division III crown

The race for the 1985 Division III women's national championship was the closest ever in the four-year history of the event. When the final count was in, Cortland State had won its first title by edging Southern-New Orleans, 62-61.

Although still early, the 1986 track season looks to be another down-to-the-wire affair, with at least five institutions—Cortland State, Massachusetts-Boston, St. Thomas (Minnesota), Wisconsin-LaCrosse and Southern-New Orleans—in contention for national honors.

Following is a list of top returnees for each individual event, compiled from questionnaires returned from sports-information offices. The times are personal bests, not necessarily from 1985. Wind-aided times are

NCAA adopts conference action against UNLV

The NCAA Committee on Infractions has adopted action taken against the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, during the fall of 1985 by the Pacific Coast Athletic Association for violations related to the eligibility of four football team members.

The penalty included a requirement that the university forfeit all football victories in which ineligible student-athletes participated during the 1983 and 1984 seasons. The university also was required to forfeit its 1984 PCAA football championship and the 1984 California Bowl, victory.

The PCAA found violations involving a total of four football team members that resulted from misinterpretation of certain provisions of the NCAA 2,000 eligibility rule.

Frank J. Remington, chair, NCAA Committee on Infractions stated, "The actions taken by the conference in the case were representative of and consistent with NCAA policies and procedures, and the committee determined that no additional action by the Association was warranted. The conference's investigation involved a review of academic records of all football team members over a three-year period, and no evidence was developed to indicate that the violations were intentional in nature.

"In addition, the university has taken steps to correct its eligibility certification procedures to ensure against similar violations in the future."

Insurance plans to be reviewed by committee

The NCAA Insurance Committee will review the Association's current programs and consider Association sponsorship of group athletics liability insurance during its February 24-25 meeting in Phoenix, Arizona.

Current membership programs that will be reviewed include the lifetime catastrophic injury plan, the basic athletics injury plan and the athletics department staff accident plan.

The group also will meet with representatives of American Sports Underwriters, Inc., and K & K Insurance Agency, Inc., of Fort Wayne, Indiana, to discuss a proposed new athletics liability insurance program that could be made available to the membership for 1986-87.

Complete coverage of the meeting will appear in the March 5 issue of The NCAA News.

Cheryl Levick

Levick named to position with Pac-10

Cheryl L. Levick has been named assistant commissioner for women's programs by the Pacific-10 Conference. She has been on the NCAA national office staff since December 1982.

In her new position, Levick will assume responsibility for maintaining contact with the primary administrator of women's athletics programs on each league member's campus, as well as coordinating administration of all Pac-10 championships except men's basketball.

She also will staff selected championships events and meetings and will create and maintain league records for women's sports.

Levick joined the NCAA staff after serving as women's gymnastics coach and later as athletics director at Slippery Rock University of Pennsylvania. She has served as NCAA assistant director of communications and most recently worked in the administration department as coordinator of the Association's youth programs.

Actions taken by member are accepted

The NCAA Committee on Infractions has accepted actions taken by Oral Roberts University related to three violations found to have occurred in the men's basketball program during the 1984-85 academic year.

The violations involved personal airline transportation arrangements for two student-athletes. In August 1985, the university's newly appointed head basketball coach became aware of the violations and reported them to university officials. Immediate action was taken by the university to investigate, report its findings to the NCAA and remove from the athletics program two assistant basketball coaches who were involved in or aware of the violations.

"The prompt investigation and actions taken by the university in this case were exemplary, and the committee determined that a public announcement of the case was warranted to express support for the university's efforts to assure compliance with NCAA rules," said Frank J. Remington, infractions committee chair. "It also should be noted that neither young man is enrolled currently in the university and neither was permitted to represent the institution in intercollegiate competition."

The NCAA Council has approved a standardized reporting form to be completed by the high school principal that must be used in administering Bylaw 5-1-(j). Copies of this form have been mailed to principals of high schools throughout the United States, as well as to Division I member institutions.

The Administrative Committee asks Division I member institutions to note in their communications with high schools regarding the completion of these forms that it is necessary to include on the form only the student's best grades in the 11 units necessary to meet the distribution requirements of the core curriculum. It is not necessary to list other core-curriculum courses on the form because only 11 units will be utilized to calculate the core-curriculum grade-point average.

If a high school initially indicates that it is unable to provide a grade-point average for the student-athlete's core-curriculum courses, the Administrative Committee notes that the member institution involved should make an additional, written request to the high school for this information (including an additional explanation of the applicable procedures). If the high school still maintains its position that such information is unavailable, the member institution then may contact the NCAA national office to request assistance from the Academic Requirements Committee in reviewing the student's official transcript to calculate his grade-point average for the core curriculum.

These requirements will not apply to Divisions II and III institutions, where eligibility for financial aid, practice and competition will continue to be governed by institutional, conference and other NCAA regulations.

It also should be noted that this legislation establishes a minimum standard only for athletics eligibility; it is not a guide to a student's qualifications for admission to the institution. Under NCAA legislation, a student's admission is governed by the regularly published entrance requirements of each member institution.

Committee Notices

Member institutions are invited to submit nominations for interim vacancies on NCAA committees. Nominations to fill the following vacancy must be received by Fannie B. Vaughan, administrative assistant, in the NCAA national office no later than March 12, 1986.

Division III Women's Basketball: Replacement for Nancy Latimore, Juniata College, who will be leaving that institution. New appointees must be from Division III.

COMMITTEE CHANGES

Men's Golf: Joseph B. Feaganes, Marshall University, appointed as chair of the Men's Golf Committee to replace David M. Yates, resigned.

Women's Tennis: Andy Johnston, Clemson University, appointed to replace Ike Groce, deceased.

Legislative Assistance

1986 Column No. 8

Bylaw 5-1-(j) interpretations

The provisions of Bylaw 5-1-(j), as amended at the 1986 NCAA Convention, become effective August 1, 1986, and will be applicable to the 1986 high school graduating class. This column will provide member institutions a compilation of NCAA Council and Administrative Committee interpretations regarding the administration of the rule to assist in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes for enrollment in the fall of 1986. [Note: These interpretations are more extensive than, but do not contradict, those set forth in the Legislative Assistance column published in the September 23, 1985, edition of the News.]

Any entering freshman whose initial full-time attendance in a regular term occurs subsequent to August 1, 1986, must meet the core-curriculum and test-score provisions of Bylaw 5-1-(j), as amended to include the index table set forth in 1986 Convention Proposal No. 16. It should be noted that attendance in an institution's summer school will not be considered attendance prior to August 1, 1986.

The NCAA Council has approved a standardized reporting form to be completed by the high school principal that must be used in administering Bylaw 5-1-(j). Copies of this form were mailed to the principals of high schools throughout the United States, as well as to Division I member institutions, in October 1985. An additional mailing to high school principals will be made this month to emphasize the directions for completing the form appropriately. The primary stipulation in this regard is to utilize the form only for purposes of indicating the student's best grades in the 11 units necessary to meet the distribution requirements of the core curriculum. It is not necessary to list other core-curriculum courses on the form because only 11 units will be utilized to calculate the core-curriculum grade-point average.

The NCAA Administrative Committee asks each member institution to note that in accordance with the provisions of Case No. 173 (page 305 of the 1985-86 NCAA Manual), it is the responsibility of the member institution to determine whether a high school transcript is valid for purposes of applying appropriate NCAA legislation to the eligibility of the student-athlete. A member institution is obligated to administer its athletics program in accordance with the Association's constitution and bylaws, and this would include determining whether the information on which the administration of this legislation is based is valid.

In administering the provisions of Bylaw 5-1-(j), the following interpretations have been approved by the NCAA Council or Administrative Committee and serve as official interpretations of Bylaw 5-1-(j):

Definition of core course

For the purposes of meeting the core-curriculum requirement, a "core course" is defined as a recognized academic course designed to prepare a student for college-level work (as opposed to a vocational or personal-services course).

Courses that are taught at a level below the high school's regular academic instruction level (e.g., remedial, special education or compensatory) shall not be considered as core courses regardless of course content.

English

Core courses in English shall include instructional elements in the following areas: grammar, vocabulary development, composition, literature, analytical reading or oral communication.

Mathematics

Core courses in mathematics shall include instructional elements in algebra, geometry, trigonometry, statistics or calculus.

Social sciences

Core courses in social sciences shall include instructional elements in history, social studies, economics, geography, psychology, sociology, government, political science or anthropology.

Natural or physical science

Core courses in natural or physical science shall include instructional elements in biology, chemistry, physics, environmental science, physical science or earth science. In addition, students must complete at least one laboratory class, if offered by the high school.

Additional core courses

The two remaining years of additional academic credit must be from courses attempted in English, mathematics, social science, natural or physical science,

Professional Sports Liaison: Added to the committee, as a result of the adoption of Proposal No. 10 by the 1986 NCAA Convention: Joe Restic, Harvard University (representing the American Football Coaches Association); Dean Smith, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill (representing the National Association of Basketball Coaches).

Public Relations and Promotion: Chalmers W. Elliott, University of Iowa, replaces George S. King, Purdue University, resigned, effective immediately instead of September 1, 1986.

Recruiting: Ann Marie Lawler, University of Florida, appointed to replace Barbara J. Palmer, Florida State University, resigned.

Research: Added to the committee, as a result of the 1986 NCAA Convention's adoption of Proposal No. 11: Glennelle Halpin, Auburn University; Robert Stake, University of Illinois, Champaign.

Television, Football: Ronald S. Perry, Holy Cross College, appointed as the Division I-AA East representative (the position formerly held by Andrew T. Mooradian, whose term expired September 1, 1985).

Modern Pentathlon Association Board of Governors: Discontinued, by action of the Administrative Committee and Council, appointment of delegates to the Modern Pentathlon Association Board of Governors.

Special NCAA Budget Subcommittees: Note that, by virtue of their appointment as division vice-presidents, Lewis A. Cryer, Pacific Coast Athletic Association; Asa N. Green, Livingston University, and Judith M. Sweet, University of California, San Diego, automatically serve on this committee.

Special NCAA Staff Evaluation Subcommittee: Connie Claussen, University of Nebraska, Omaha, appointed (as the senior member of the Executive Committee) to replace Walter Reed, Jackson State University.

Special NCAA Postseason Drug-Testing Committee: William D. Bradford, M.D., Duke University; Daniel F. Hanley, M.D., Dartmouth College; Paul W. Gikas, M.D., University of Michigan; Roy F. Kramer, Vanderbilt University; George H. Raveling, University of Iowa; John L. Toner, University of Connecticut, chair; Chris Voelz, University of Oregon.

Men's Committee on Committees: Lawrence P. Boyd, Framingham State College, appointed to replace Robert E. Hartwell, Babson College, resigned because of illness.

foreign language, computer science, philosophy, or non doctrinal religion (e.g., comparative religion).

Computation of grade-point average

Each grade earned in a core course must be converted to the 4.000 scale (A-4, B-3, C-2, D-1, F-0). Pluses or minuses within a grade level shall not receive greater or lesser quality points. A school's normal practice of weighing honors or advanced courses may be used to compute the quality points awarded in those courses and the accumulative grade-point average.

Core-curriculum interpretations

A. The decision as to whether a particular course qualifies as a core course will be made by the principal of a high school from which a student graduated and must be properly verified by the member institution in accordance with Case No. 173 (page 305, 1985-86 NCAA Manual).

B. To encourage a student to take as many academic courses as possible, the core-curriculum grade-point average will be calculated using the student's 11 best grades from courses that meet the distribution requirements of the core curriculum.

C. A "unit" should represent approximately 180 classroom instructional hours.

D. Only courses completed in grades 9-12 may be considered core courses.

E. All core courses used to establish a student's grade-point average must be completed within the student's first eight semesters of high school (grades 9-12) in accordance with Case No. 343 (page 355, 1985-86 NCAA Manual).

F. A student may count a repeated course only once and must present 11 different (nonrepeated) courses in meeting the core-curriculum requirement. Further, the student may use the best grade in the repeated course in calculation of the grade-point average in the core curriculum.

G. Foreign student-athletes who meet the guidelines set forth in the NCAA Guide to International Academic Standards for Athletics Eligibility will satisfy the core-curriculum requirement.

H. Independent-study courses or correspondence courses may not be used to satisfy core-curriculum requirements. A college course may be utilized for this purpose if accepted by the high school and placed on the student's high school transcript prior to completion of the student's first eight semesters of high school (grades 9-12).

I. A one-year course that is spread over two years (e.g., elementary algebra) shall be considered as one course.

Test-score interpretations

A. The SAT or ACT used to establish eligibility must be taken by the student prior to initial enrollment in a collegiate institution; must be taken under normal testing conditions on a national testing date [i.e., no residual (campus) testing], and, while the test may be taken on any number of occasions, only the best scores from any single testing date may be utilized.

B. All students, foreign and domestic, must take a required test.

C. The GED test may be used for high school graduation but may not be substituted for the SAT or ACT. Further, the GED students must satisfactorily complete the core curriculum and the use of the GED must be in accordance with Case No. 337 (pages 353-354, 1985-86 NCAA Manual).

D. The Academic Requirements Committee may approve exceptions for SAT or ACT scores from special untimed tests administered for legally defined handicapped students.

Practice activities

A student-athlete who is only a partial qualifier under this legislation (i.e., one who earns an overall grade-point average of 2.000 in high school and graduates but does not meet the core-curriculum grade-point average or test-score requirement) may receive athletically related financial aid, but not practice or participate, during the first year of residency at the certifying member institution. Under such circumstances, the student-athlete may not participate in any manner (e.g., as a team manager) in any sports-related team practice activity during the first year of residency and loses one year of eligibility.

This material was provided by the NCAA legislative services department as an aid to member institutions. If an institution has a question that it would like to have answered in this column, the question should be directed to William B. Hunt, assistant executive director, at the NCAA national office.
