Each division to determine its own playing-season limits

In a slight departure from the Association's usual approach to voting on legislation that affects more than one division, each of the three membership divisions will vote separately, in their own business sessions, on the legislation at the special Convention to limit playing seasons.

Several parts of the legislation developed by the NCAA Council Subcommittee to Review Playing Seasons would apply to all three divisions, if approved, while other portions would differ from division to division (e.g., numbers of contests).

As a result, the Council subcommittee—chaired by Mikki Flowers of Old Dominion University—expressed a preference to have each division vote separately on the entire package. And that is what will happen June 30 in Dallas. The playing-season legislation will be the first to be voted upon in the Divisions I, II and III business sessions, which begin at 9:30 a.m. that day.

First, though, the Divisions I-A, I-AA and I-AAA subdivisions will hold their own meetings. The first two have the right to adopt legislation pertaining exclusively to their programs; Division I-AAA does not have that privilege but will conduct its own discussion session.

Here is a breakdown of the proposals to be voted upon in each session June 30:

Division I-A

8 to 9:15 a.m., four proposals:

Modest restrictions in the Division I-A spring football practice period. Reduction in grants in Division I-A football. Reduction in the number of permissible coaches in Division I-A football. Reduction in the number of 16 new championships could be established by requiring baseball, golf, softball and tennis play-offs both in the fall and in the spring paid visits in Division I-A football. The first three of those will be roll-call votes.

Division I-AA

8 to 9:15 a.m., seven proposals: Three alternative approaches to spring football practice in Division I-AA, including elimination. Reduction in grants, both initial and overall, in Division I-AA football. Reduction in the number of permissible coaches in Division I-AA football. Permissibility of using part-time assistant coaches for junior varsity teams in I-AA football. Reduction in the number of paid visits in Division I-AA football. Three roll-call votes.

Division I

9:30 a.m. to noon, 14 proposals: Limitations on playing seasons in Division I, along with two amendments to that proposal. Reduction in grants in most Division I sports. Attempt to reinstate two grants in Division I basketball. Attempt to increase number of grants (and go from equivalency to head-count) in Division I ice hockey. Three alternative proposals to reinstate part-time coaches in Division I basketball, one of which would add a coaching position.

Resolution calling for a study of numbers of coaches and numbers of ancillary athletics personnel in Division I sports. Reduction in number of paid visits in Division I basketball. Limitation on contacts in Division I women's basketball. Establishment of separate evaluation period in Division I women's basketball. Resolution calling for a study of the number of credit hours attempted and the number actually completed by student-athletes in Division I-A football and Division I men's and women's basketball. Four roll-call votes.

Division II

9:30 a.m. to noon, six proposals: Limitations on playing seasons in Division II, along with an amendment to that proposal. Elimination of spring football practice in Division II. Three different amendments to reduce grants in various sports in Division II. Four roll-call votes. See Each division, page 5

NCAA hopes to keep athletes in school after eligibility gone

For three years beginning in 1988, NCAA members will enjoy more financial benefits than ever before from the Division I Men's Basketball Championship.

The Executive Committee's Budget Subcommittee still must work out specific details of the net-receipt-distribution plan, as reported in the May 6, 1987, issue of The NCAA News. However, the Division I Championships Committee and the Executive Committee have approved, in principle, the following recommendations, which were made by the Division I Men's Basketball Committee:

- Continuation of the 60/40 (member institution/NCAA) split of

net receipts;

- Imposition of a ceiling on the percentage of increase in shares to participating institutions;

- Creation of a scholarship-endowment fund for student-athletes who exhaust their athletics eligibility before they complete academic requirements for an undergraduate degree.

- Distribution of receipts to each Division I institution (excluding those on NCAA probation) that did not participate in the tournament;

- Payment of insurance premiums for student-athletes;

- Grant awards to the Association's officiating-improvement program and

Youth Education through Sports (YES) clinics, and

- Grant awards to all Division I men's and women's conferences that have automatic qualification into their respective NCAA basketball tournaments for use in compliance, officiating-improvement and drug-education efforts.

All recommendations were formulated by the men's basketball committee following the negotiation of a three-year network television contract for the Division I championship with CBS Sports. In forwarding the suggested distribution plan to the Division I Championships Committee and Executive Committee, it was noted that the programs and grants to be funded would be limited to the three-year life (1988, 1989 and 1990) of the new contract.

"I believe the committee has been very innovative in its approach to the distribution of net receipts," said Richard D. Schultz, athletics director at the University of Virginia and chair of the Division I Men's Basketball Committee.

"As members of the committee, we talked to an awfully lot of people as we worked on these recommendations. We received input from members of the Executive Committee and the Budget Subcommittee, and from the (Division I) Women's Bas-

"And I have talked to a number of coaches. All of them have been very pleased with the plans."

Following is a detailed summary of the basketball committee's recommendations, which are based on the continuation of the 60/40 split currently utilized in determining the distribution of net receipts from the championship.

1. During the years of the new TV contract, the increase in distribution of net receipts for the championship participants (currently 64 teams) would be limited to five percent annually. See NCAA, page 5

'Easier to use' NCAA forms go out to members

Mailing this week of the NCAA Squad List (Form 87-5) will complete distribution of a series of revised forms to the membership. "Many of the forms have been redesigned for 1987-88," said John H. Leavens, NCAA director of compliance services. "Revisions have been made to make them more readable and easier to use."

Mailed May 1 to chief executive officers were the Certification of Compliance for Institutions and Staff Members forms. Those are to be completed and returned to the national office no later than September 15. Copies of the cover memo included in this package were sent to athletics directors, faculty representatives and primary women administrators of athletics programs.

"Like the other forms this department administers, the certification-of-compliance material has been totally revamped," Leavens explained. "The forms look new, and more explicit instructions have been prepared." Form 87-1 is to be used for institutional certification, and Form 87-2 is to be completed by staff members.

Also included in this initial mailing was a summary entitled "NCAA Forms for the 1987-88 Academic Year" a "road map" that describes the handling of each form distributed by the national office.

"That road map includes information on Form 48-C, which is used to certify initial athletics eligibility under Bylaw 5-1-(j)," Leavens noted. "While the summary indicates that the athletics director is ultimately responsible for the form's proper administration, it should be emphasized that 48-C will be received and should be completed by the appropriate admissions official on each campus. After completion, it should be forwarded to the athletics director for use in certifying initial eligibility."

Athletics directors also are receiving the Student-Athlete Statement, which was mailed from the national office May 5. These forms (87-3 and 87-4) are to be completed prior to the first day of competition in 1987-88 and retained on campus.

Also mailed May 5, to Division I CEOs, was the Academic Reporting Form (87-6), which must be completed and returned to the NCAA by October 1.

Distribution of the forms will be completed this week with the mailing of the NCAA Squad List, which is being sent to athletics directors, faculty representatives, primary women administrators and to certain conference offices. Included in this mailing are Division I-A football squad lists, Division I-AA football squad lists, forms for Division I "head-count" sports (e.g., men's basketball), and forms for Divisions I and II equivalency sports.

To be completed prior to the start of practice in each sport, the squad lists are to be retained on campus and in the conference offices.

"We believe all of these forms are easier to use than ever before," Leavens noted. "We certainly would welcome feedback from the membership on the revisions, and we will be happy to provide additional information to those receiving this material."

Basketball grants to be restored, Schultz says

By Nelson Williams Jr.
Richmond Times-Dispatch

In the name of cost containment, the NCAA ruled at its Convention last January to reduce from 15 to 13 the number of basketball grants-in-aid allowed Division I colleges and universities. No alteration was made, however, in the total number of football scholarships allotted each Division I-A school, currently 95.

Needless to say, the reasoning behind the cuts was questioned. And there were calls for the two axed scholarships to be reinstated.

According to University of Virginia athletics director Richard D. Schultz, who also serves as chair of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee, that reinstatement will be made at the NCAA meetings next January.

"I can guarantee you that (the 15 scholarships) will be there in January," Schultz told sports writers and editors at the Associated Press sports editors' regional convention at Richmond.

Schultz joined Old Dominion University athletics director Jim Jarrett, among others, in a panel discussion on the state of college athletics.

As the NCAA Convention in January wound down, Jarrett explained, "I think they were just push and shove over the scholarship thing... and at the end, they just wanted to pass something."

"The basketball coaches ended up being the ones hurt, then, because all other legislation had been withdrawn."

If indeed the reason behind the cuts was to help schools keep down athletics costs, then other methods could have been used, Schultz said. "When you talk (eliminating) two scholarships—that's not cost containment," he said. "There's a lot of places you can go (in an athletics budget) for $10,000 without taking it away from the athletes...."

The NCAA next meets in June, but the switch back to 15 grants can't be approved then [unless the Convention overrules the chair].

There should be a rule to punish athletes, too

University of Mississippi athletics director Warner Alford says last year's NCAA investigation of the school showed him that some Association rules need changing.

The NCAA in December placed the school's football program on probation for two years.

Alford, who felt Ole Miss deserved the punishment it received, said his complaint is not the current rules. Instead, Alford argues there is need for a few more rules, including a requirement that the athlete in question be punished as well.

"We had a coach break a rule and give a boy money," Alford said. "The boy broke the rule and took the money. The problem I have is the boy is still playing and the coach is fired."

Alford's thinking is that the NCAA needs to come up with some form of punishment for players who do not abide by the rules.

Warner Alford

He said the players know what the rules are and know when they are breaking them, the Associated Press reported.

"There should be no ignoring the rules on the part of the athlete,"

Proposition 48 just don't get no respect

By Taylor Bell
Chicago Sun-Times

Unfortunately, educators are slow to learn.

Proposition 48 continues to be ignored like a parking ticket.

It commands as much respect as the Ku Klux Klan. Its critics still predict it will fade away. Athletes cross their fingers and pray it won't jump up and bite them. Many parents and even some coaches and educators still haven't got a clue what it is all about.

What educators are afraid to admit is that the problem with requiring student-athletes to take an ACT or SAT to meet certain academic standards (for athletics eligibility) isn't so much that the exams are discriminatory or unfair to minorities. The truth is many of them can't read the test. How can you pass a three-hour exam if you can't read it?

Ever wonder how an athlete can achieve a 2.500 grade-point average out of 4.000 in high school but only is capable of reading at a third-grade level? Ask a college professor if it is possible for a third-grader to do college work that doesn't include courses in "Introduction to Basketball"

If commitment to education is made, athletics problems are easily solved

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president
University of Notre Dame

The Dallas Morning News

"I'll tell you, the question (of athletics integrity) is really very simple. Who's running the university and what's it being run for?"

"Is it being run for athletics and entertainment, or is it being run for education?"

"Once you commit to education, the problems of athletics are the easiest in the world to solve."

David L. Maggard, athletics director
University of California, Berkeley

California Athletic News

"This is a major step we are attempting (the launching of a $2 million endowment campaign for water polo and swimming), but it is one that really is vital if we are to ensure that swimming and water polo are to flourish in the future."

"This is the direction we must go with all of our nonrevenue sports in order to live our philosophy of maintaining a broad-based sports program. I hope this will encourage former athletes in all sports to support the sports in which they participated."

Eric Dickerson, running back
Los Angeles Rams of the NFL

The Associated Press

"When I got recruited (by college football programs), I got offered a lot of stuff from a lot of schools."

"The things they offered, you're just amazed they could offer."

"Just like anyone else, I got it (benefits in violation of NCAA rules). If I asked for $50, if I needed some spending money, they would give it to me. I never got thousands of dollars or condominiums and all that kind of stuff."

"The things that have happened there (at Southern Methodist University) since I left are unfortunate. But let's face the facts. Schools can sit and say, 'We don't do it.' All of them can say, 'We don't do it.' But they're not telling the truth."

"Nebraska can say it. Oklahoma can say it. SMU can say it. All of them can say it, but I'm sure someone has. If it's only $5, if it's only $2, they're giving a guy something. Even if it's a pair of shorts, that's illegal to the NCAA."

"I guess you could say my school got caught, and they really came down hard on us."

"It's real hard for any athlete to live on the little money they give us. I'm not from a rich family. A lot of guys were real poor. How are we supposed to make it? Go out and rob and steal at night?"

Norm Stewart, head men's basketball coach
University of Missouri, Columbia

The Kansas City Times

"I don't know of anyone who ever graduated in one year, so you go into it (awarding an athletics grant-in-aid) with the idea that it isn't one year. We tell our kids when we recruit them that it is for four years."

"Missouri has a tradition of taking care of its athletes, sometimes to the detriment of its teams."

Walter Byers, executive director
NCAA

Chicago Tribune

"If Gov. (Bill) Clements (of Texas) believes that it is common in major athletics programs for governing boards and university executives or university management to condone improprieties, he should name the university and examples of their transgressions. That would be the fair and expeditious way of resolving that allegation."

Donald Stewart, president
College Board

The New York Times

"After a period in which minorities were courted and welcomed (by colleges and universities), disillusionment has now set in on both sides."

"Many universities, particularly the more selective ones, found that Blacks and Hispanics were less well-prepared than they wanted and that absorbing significant numbers of minorities into campus life could be somewhat disruptive."

"On the other side, many Blacks found the academic environment rather inhospitable."

Jim Killingsworth, former head men's basketball coach
Texas Christian University

The Dallas Morning News

"I feel 10 years younger (since leaving the coaching profession). And you know why? Because I'm not worried about where that high school guard goes to school, or that forward. I don't give a flip."

Rev. Hesburgh

David L. Maggard

Paul R. Lawrence, author
The Wall Street Journal

"Why not pay the (college) athletes for their performances?"

"Under such a system, the marketplace, not the NCAA, would determine the wages of athletes. Such a plan has two appealing features:

"First, recruiting would become more open and honest. School could readily bid for athletes much as they do for professors, and competition similar to that for research funds would emerge."

"Second, the cost of administering intercollegiate athletics would decrease. Less time and effort would be devoted by schools to recruiting and by the NCAA to investigating its members. These savings could be devoted to ensuring that athletes graduate.

Opinions Out Loud

"Ironically, the NCAA is not the morally superior organization it appears to be. It was convicted in 1982 of an antitrust violation for manipulating college football television; its control of athletics recruiting and compensation flirts with new legal trouble."

"Perhaps, intercollegiate athletics would be better served if the NCAA organized tournaments, provided counsel, but did not regulate the participants."

Bill Clements, governor
State of Texas

The Associated Press

"I think the NCAA is beginning to feel a little pressure. There's an awful lot of discussion going on about how prevailing this problem (rules infractions) is—not just in the Southwest (Athletic) Conference but on a national basis."

"The basic pressure they're (NCAA) feeling is that anyone who knows anything whatsoever about intercollegiate athletics and big-time football knows that the system historically has not worked, it is not working and it won't work in the future."

Leon Botstein, president
Bard College

The New York Times

"(College) curriculum changes usually arise out of political and social crises."

"Columbia's general education curriculum grew out of World War I. Chicago's came out of the crisis of democracy in the 1930s."

"The current reform movement reflects a sense of urgency about American economic and political power. A curriculum is the imposition of one generation's sense of crisis on the next generation."

Some sports agents have no business being in the business

By Bob Sansevere

Minneapolis Star and Tribune

He can be a lawyer. He can be a fugitive from the law. He can be sick or healthy or so healthy it's sickening. He can be good at his job. He can be bad to the bone.

He's that guy lurking on the perimeter of your favorite team with the power to tell your favorite player, "Don't sign. Sit out. They'll come crawling to you. You watch."

He is the sports agent.

No particular skill is needed to become an agent. Some have no business being in the business. There are more agents certified by the NFL Players Association than there are players in the league.

"A mass murderer can be an agent if he gets somebody to be his client," said Leigh Steinberg, an agent representing 70 football and baseball players.

Steinberg estimates that 40 percent of the top college seniors have contracts with agents before their eligibility is up, a violation of NCAA rules. They are offered, Steinberg said,

"money, cars and women."

Danny Noonan, Nebraska nose tackle, said he stiff-armed such offers: "One guy was saying stuff like, 'You sign now and we'll put the contract in a vault until January 2 (when seniors can officially sign with agents) and nobody will know it. When I said I wasn't interested, he just said, 'What will it take?'"

Noonan said he received inquiries from several hundred agents and got so many phone calls he changed his number.

"First of all, I'm looking for a guy who's honest," Noonan said.

It's not always easy to find one. Some lie, cheat and steal.

News flash: FBI investigates agent Norby Walters and associate for alleged threats against players and other agents.

Agents, particularly those involved with college football players, need policing. The NFLPA won't allow a veteran player to be represented by an agent it hasn't certified. They have no such domain over rookies, meaning it's virtually open season on college campuses.

In 1984, the NCAA started certifying agents. They would agree to follow NCAA rules in exchange for getting their name on a list of approved agents sent to Division I-A schools. But if an agent wants to make clandestine contact with a college athlete, lack of certification won't stop him.

The Association of Representatives of Professional Athletes is made up of about 130 agents "trying to clean up the field," said Steinberg, vice-president.

"They'll never be a system to stop a street-smart greedy athlete from trying to take advantage of making as much as he can," Steinberg said. "There's no way to openly regulate that. Coaches and athletics directors have an obligation to explain from when athletes are freshmen what the rules are and the do's and don'ts."

Someone always seems to be doing one of the don'ts. Walters is an extreme case. He is suing several college players, including Purdue defensive back Rod Woodson, Auburn running back Brent Fullwood and Pittsburgh defensive end Tony Woods, charging they failed to repay loans and breached representation contracts with his agency, World Sports Entertainment, Inc. The players allegedly made the agreements while still playing, an NCAA no-no.

"They were the immoral ones," Walters said of the players he's suing. "I haven't done anything illegal. They took my money." Several agents agree with Walters on one point: Players willfully accept money in violation of NCAA rules.

"I think the mistake agents make is they too narrowly define their role as simply stacking dollar after dollar in an athlete's bankbook," Steinberg said. "They should try to develop the whole human being."

Steinberg insists that his clients donate a percentage of their salary to some worthy cause. Thirty-two have set up scholarship funds at their high schools, 13 at their colleges. Quarterback Steve Young set up a $183,000 scholarship at Brigham Young University. Ken O'Brien makes a donation for every New York Jets victory to muscular dystrophy research, and the Jets match the gift. Tony Eason donates money to a home for mentally handicapped children after every Patriots victory.

"I feel quite strongly that athletes have a unique opportunity to make an impact in the world," Steinberg said. "Whether they like it or not, they're role models. Young kids imitate their behavior. They have an obligation to repay some of the fortune this society gave them."

Proposition 48

or "Safety with Hand-Powered Tools" or "History of Comic Books."

So what can be done to give Proposition 48 some respect?

To prepare athletes to pass it?

To make them realize it—or some form of academic standards—is here to stay and must be taken seriously?

Start by offering more carrots, more incentives, than free speakers and free warm-up suits.

Start by playing fewer games and offering more reading classes.

Is there a public-spirited, image-conscious corporation out there willing to underwrite a summer basketball or football camp that will require participants to attend classes in reading, writing, counseling and vocational guidance?

Wouldn't the major corporations be proud to be endorsed by an athlete it helped to learn his ABCs as well as his X's and O's?

Then, maybe we'll begin to make sense of sports and education. Maybe kids will be prepared to do something of substance with their lives—even if they aren't capable of beating the 12,000-to-one odds of becoming an NBA player.

Letters to the Editor

Let's get our priorities straight

To the Editor:

Something is clearly amiss. In the Indiana vs. LSU tournament game, coach Knight got a technical foul for leaving the coach's box.

Following the foul, he had a center-court confrontation with the officials and then stalked off to the head scorer's table and berated those seated at the table and picked up and slammed down a telephone.

No technical for those actions. However, the NCAA fined Indiana University $10,000 after awarding IU about $1 million for winning the NCAA tournament, a tournament it may never have had the chance to win had the game officials had the guts to call the technical Knight richly deserved. To top it all off, IU says it's proud of Knight.

Intimidation, abuse and big money are the order of the day. It seems to me that IU, Knight, the officials who called the game and the NCAA should all get their priorities in order.

Wrestling doesn't deserve cutbacks

To the Editor:

I'm writing in regard to the proposal of the NCAA Presidents Commission to cut the number of scholarships given by colleges in some sports. As I understand it, the goal is to reduce the emphasis on college sports. I find it strange that this commission feels that cutting scholarships in minor sports will accomplish this goal. Why discontinue scholarships that are given to athletes who are using them not only for their sport, but also to earn a degree?

For many years, I have been a fan of collegiate wrestling. I've been especially proud of our college teams because, in addition to providing the fans with great wrestling, 95 to 97 percent of the wrestlers earning letters in Iowa also earn a college degree. These athletes are not in college as a stepping-stone toward the pros, as are many football and basketball athletes. They're not being pursued by agents or pro teams encouraging them to make a career in sports.

It seems very unfair to me that football (which I also enjoy) be allowed an incredible 95 scholarships and basketball be allowed 13 (2½ times the number on a starting team) while wrestling is allowed only 11 now (that's only one more than the 10 on a starting team) and the proposal would cut the number to 10.

The National Federation of State High School Associations is in the process of changing high school wrestling weights so that more students will be able to participate in prep wrestling. Why then would the NCAA do just the opposite?

If you are, as you say, interested in emphasizing sports less, leave wrestling alone and take a look at football and basketball. Your actions will speak far louder than your words.

Big Ten said to be considering legal action

Legal action against sports agent Norby Walters could be taken by the Big Ten Conference for his cash payments to two University of Iowa football players before their athletics eligibility expired, according to a member of the Iowa committee investigating the situation.

Committee member David Vernon, a law professor, also told the Associated Press that the conference should make available to state legislatures samples of laws prohibiting agents from recruiting athletes before their eligibility expires.

NCAA rules prohibit an athlete from being represented by an agent until his or her eligibility is up.

"There are two things I think we want to try do," Vernon said. "One is to deter student-athletes from being enticed that way. And the other is to deter people like Norby Walters from using the University of Iowa as a hunting ground for clients."

University Vice-President Dorsey D. Ellis said the names of the two athletes could not be released because of Federal law prohibiting the release of records of current or former students.

Iowa President James O. Freedman organized the committee after published reports said Iowa players received cash from Walters in 1985 while they still were in Hawkeye uniform.

The committee report said two other Iowa players were approached by Walters but refused to deal with him.

The university does not expect any disciplinary action by the conference or the NCAA because the players no longer are students and the university initiated its own investigation.

"We found no evidence that any member of the athletics department, administrator or coach knew or had reason to know that improper payments were being made to the two players," the report said.

Osborne criticizes bill to legalize sports gambling

Coach Tom Osborne of the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, said he's opposed to a measure pending before the Nebraska Legislature that would legalize sports wagering, because it could intensify existing problems in intercollegiate and professional sports.

"I would like to urge you to oppose any legislation which would provide for legalized sports wagering in Nebraska," Osborne said in a letter to state senators.

Osborne said many difficulties in intercollegiate and professional sports today come from a "tremendous emphasis on winning."

"The problems that we have are intensified when sports wagering is involved," Osborne said. Many extreme cases, including rules violations in recruiting, attempted bribery of athletes and extreme negative behavior toward athletes, are due to wagering.

A fan whose team loses can be disgruntled, Osborne wrote. "A fan whose team loses after he has lost money he has bet on the game is often a very belligerent person."

Osborne also said that anytime gambling enters the scene, "organized crime is often not too far behind."

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha sponsored legislation that would legalize and tax sports wagering.

Brace yourself: Here comes yet another study

Recent studies concerning the use of the knee brace in athletics competition have been accompanied by the usual disagreements over its effectiveness.

Some swear by knee braces; some swear at them.

Concluding three years of research by the department of orthopedics and biostatistics at the University of Washington, Carol C. Teitz, M.D., reported that "players who wore braces had a significantly higher rate of (knee) injury than players who did not—9.4 percent to 6.4 percent."

Teitz' research project included 71 U.S. colleges. She said, "Overall, players who wore braces on the knees had significantly more injuries to the knee than players who did not."

U.S. ski team orthopedist George F. Hewson found "no significant reduction in the number or type of knee injuries—knee-injury prevention was not improved," after a four-year study of the University of Arizona football team.

Still, there are those who disagree with those findings.

Dan Henning, offensive coach of the Washington Redskins, who directed the National Football League's most comprehensive study of knee braces when he coached the Atlanta Falcons from 1983 to 1986, said, "The problem with the research is that it is necessarily always incomplete. That's because there is no statistical way to measure the number of knee injuries prevented by bracing."

He told Bob Oates of the Los Angeles Times, "We required every player to wear them in practice and also in games, even receivers and running backs. And our knee-injury rate went down. The only major knee injuries we had were due to not wearing braces."

Are serious knee injuries increasing?

"No," says Los Angeles Rams' physician Dr. Robert K. Kerlan. "The only thing that changes is the degree of media attention. Their attention

Alford said. "The rules clearly are explained to them. There needs to be a way to declare an athlete ineligible without making everybody on the team ineligible, as was the case at SMU."

In February, the Southern Methodist University program was handed a one-year suspension and had all home games for 1987 suspended. SMU officials then decided not to have football in 1988.

"The members (of the NCAA) make the rules and the schools are the members," he said. "We will have to abide by the rules, and if a school breaks a rule, they should be punished."

The two-year probation was reduced to one year because of the school's cooperation with the NCAA, but it will prohibit the Rebels from television deals and a postseason bowl this season.

Administrative Committee minutes

Conference No. 7 May 3, 1987

1. Acting for the Council, the Administrative Committee:

a. Approved term-expiration dates for members of the new Committee on Review and Planning, as follows: September 1, 1988: Alan J. Chapman and William J. Flynn. September 1, 1989: Tracy Caulkins and Asa N. Green. September 1, 1990: John R. Davis, James Frank and Kenneth J. Weller.

b. Appointed Jerry N. Cole, Jacksonville State University, to the Men's and Women's Rifle Committee replacing Bill Cords, no longer at the University of Texas, El Paso.

c. Appointed Stanley J. Morrison, University of California, Santa Barbara, to the Division I Women's Basketball Committee replacing John V. Kasser, no longer at a member institution.

d. Appointed the following to replace members of the Voting Committee who will not be able to attend the special Convention in June: Richard J. Hazelton, Trinity College (Connecticut), District 1; Joseph Barresi, College of Staten Island, District 2; Marnie W. Swift, University of Toledo, District 4, and Bradley L. Rothermel, University of Nevada, Las Vegas, District 8.

e. Agreed that Frank Mach, College of St. Thomas, will chair the Credentials Committee for the special Convention if the current chair is unable to attend.

f. Appointed the following two Council subcommittees to deal with compliance and enforcement issues:

(1) Special Council Subcommittee to Stimulate the Membership's Compliance and Enforcement Efforts: Victor A. Bubas, Della Durant, David L. Maggard, Karen L. Miller, G. E. Moran Jr., John M. Schael and Robert R. Snell (chair).

(2) Special Council Subcommittee to Review NCAA Compliance and Enforcement Programs: Raymond M. Burse, Mikki Flowers, Robert W. Hatch, C. W. Ingram, Don J. DiJulia, Clayne R. Jensen and Albert M. Witte (chair).

g. Remanded to the Legislation and Interpretations Committee, without prejudice, a request by a member conference that a member institution be granted a limited exception to the restrictions of Case No. 324 if the institution conducted during the 1986-87 academic year a mandatory, full year remedial studies program that was initiated prior to the Council's October 1986 interpretation in that regard, noting that inasmuch as the Division I Steering Committee and Council were not informed of a recommendation by the Academic Requirements Committee in regard to the conference's request, the Legislation and Interpretations Committee has the authority to act in this regard without affecting the Council's overall action in sustaining Case No. 324.

2. Acting for the Executive Committee, the Administrative Committee:

a. Approved a resolution eliminating the need to present to the Administrative Committee every resolution required by the banking entities with which the Association does business, instead authorizing the executive director and controller to execute such resolutions within the approved investment guidelines in effect at the time.

b. Referred to the Executive Committee a recommendation that a new telephone system be authorized for the national office.

3. Report of actions taken by the executive director per Constitution 5-1-(g). Acting for the Council:

a. Granted a request for a waiver per Constitution 3-9-(b)-(4)-(i) to permit student-athletes from various member institutions to participate in Pan American Games tryouts and competition.

b. Granted requests for waivers per Constitution 3-9-(b)-(4)-(iii) as follows:

(1) To permit a student-athlete from a member institution to participate in competition involving Ireland's national basketball team.

(2) To permit student-athletes from member institutions to participate in ABAUSA-sponsored national team trials.

(3) To permit a student-athlete from a member institution to participate in tryouts for Israel's national team.

(4) To permit student-athletes from a member institution to participate in basketball tryouts for various U.S. national teams.

(5) To permit student-athletes from member institutions to participate in ABAUSA-sponsored basketball tryouts and competition.

(6) To permit a student-athlete from a member institution to participate in basketball competition as a member of Britain's national team.

c. Granted a request for a waiver per Constitution 3-9-(b)-(4)-(v) to permit student-athletes from member institutions to participate in d. Granted a request for a waiver per Constitution 3-9-(c)-(2)-(iii) to permit student-athletes from a member institution to participate in the U.S. National Indoor Diving Championships.

USOC Olympic Festival trials.

e. Granted requests for waivers of the tryout rule to permit use of facilities per Bylaw 1-6-(c)-(1) as follows:

(1) Brigham Young University, developmental gymnastics clinic and competition.

(2) University of New Mexico, developmental softball clinic.

f. Granted requests for waivers of the tryout rule to permit use of facilities per Bylaw 1-6-(c)-(5) as follows:

(1) University of Bridgeport, high school basketball tournament.

(2) University of California, Santa Barbara, U.S. Volleyball Association tournament.

(3) Colorado State University, all-sports clinic.

(4) Georgetown University, summer basketball league and all-star game.

(5) University of Iowa, AAU girls' basketball practice activities.

(6) Louisiana State University, U.S. Gymnastics Federation competition.

(7) Northern Kentucky University, professional baseball tryout activities.

(8) Santa Clara University, high school all-star basketball game.

(9) Springfield College, U.S. Gymnastics Federation competition.

(10) University of Tulsa, summer basketball league.

g. Granted requests for waivers of the tryout rule to permit involvement of staff members per Bylaw 1-6-(c)-(6) as follows:

(1) Brigham Young University, U.S. Gymnastics Federation competition.

(2) University of Miami (Florida), AAU Southeast Regional Basketball Championship.

(3) Ohio State University, USA Wrestling competition.

(4) University of Texas, Austin, U.S. Pan American women's basketball tryouts, World Cup diving competition, and various ABAUSA national basketball tryouts and competition.

(5) Texas Christian University, U.S. Olympic Festival tennis competition.

(6) U.S. Military Academy, Empire State Games (New York), including use of facilities.

(7) University of Utah, various national gymnastics training programs and competition.

(8) Various member institutions, ABAUSA-sponsored tryouts and competition, including use of facilities.

(9) Wagner College, 1987 Empire State Games (New York).

h. Approved foreign tours per Bylaw 3-6-(b) as follows:

(1) Miami University (Ohio), men's basketball team to Belgium, May 10-25, 1987.

(2) Purdue University, men's basketball team to Tahiti, Australia and New Zealand, May 14 to June 2, 1987.

(3) St. John's University (Minnesota), men's basketball team to China, May 25 to June 14, 1987.

i. Granted a request for a waiver per Bylaw 5-3-(f) to permit a student-athlete from the University of Hawaii to transfer and be immediately eligible for competition. Appropriate medical documentation has been received which clearly indicates that the student-athlete's reason for transfer is health-related.

Legislation and Interpretations Committee minutes

Conference No. 7 April 23, 1987

Acting for the Council, the Legislation and Interpretations Committee:

1. Determined that the principle expressed in O.I. 313, which exempts from practice activities the assembling of one or more members (who have no eligibility remaining) of an institution's football or basketball squad for demonstration purposes in connection with a clinic or the production of a film, would be extended to similar activities involving team members who have exhausted their eligibility in other sports with out-of-season practice limitations (e.g., soccer, ice hockey); noted that the Council is sponsoring legislation at the 1987 special Convention to amend O.I. 313 in this regard.

2. Took the following actions regarding the application of Constitution 3-4-(b)-(1):

a. Affirmed that in order to provide financial assistance to a student-athlete attending a summer orientation program, a member institution must document that the summer orientation program is required and attendance is not a matter of election on the part of the participants; noted, however, that "required attendance" would permit flexibility in applying the standard that a prospective student-athlete's acceptance for the fall term is contingent upon enrollment in a summer orientation program, it being understood that any exceptions would be based on bona fide reasons; directed the staff to develop a legislative proposal for review by the committee that would amend Constitution 3-4-(b)-(1) to permit financial aid to be awarded to participants in a summer orientation program with an optional attendance requirement, provided the program is administered independently of the athletics department, and any financial aid for participants is made available on the same basis for athletes and nonathletes.

b. Confirmed an earlier Administrative Committee decision (May 1981) stipulating that the application of Constitution 3-4-(b)-(1) precludes an institution from awarding summer-term financial aid to a transfer student-athlete, even if the transfer student qualifies for a waiver of the residence requirement (for any reason), inasmuch as such an individual must have been enrolled in residence a minimum of one term during the regular academic year at the awarding institutions before qualifying for summer-term financial aid.

3. Concluded that Bylaws 4-1-(a) and (b) [five-year rules] provide the time framework within which other NCAA eligibility rules are operative; accordingly, a student-athlete would not qualify for an extension of eligibility for regular-season competition and NCAA championships per Bylaw 5-1-(g) if the individual's five-year period of eligibility has been exhausted; referred to the Divisions II and III subcommittees as a future agenda item consideration of a proposed amendment of Bylaw 4-1-(b) to permit an extension of eligibility for the completion of regular-season competition and participation in NCAA championships by student-athletes who otherwise would have exhausted their eligibility per Bylaw 4-1-(b) in midseason.

4. Agreed that the application of Constitution 4-2-(a) would not require a member institution to preclude a student-athlete who has exhausted eligibility in a particular sport from directly advertising, recommending or promoting the sale or use of a commercial product or service, with the understanding that the student-athlete is ineligible for any further intercollegiate competition; noted, however, that if such a student-athlete receives any compensation or remuneration for involvement in such activities, the institution must adjust the individual's financial aid accordingly if the student-athlete still is receiving athletic financial aid.

5. Agreed that the provisions of Bylaw 3-6-(b)-(5) would not prohibit a student-athlete who was ineligible during the previous academic year (e.g., a partial qualifier or transfer student serving a one-year residence requirement) from participating in an institutional foreign tour conducted after the completion of the initial year of residence (per O.I. 501) and during the summer prior to both the first day of classes for the next academic year and the first official practice session for the next season in that sport, subject to the understanding that such a student-athlete must be eligible to represent the institution in intercollegiate competition in that sport during the coming season and also must be charged with a season of competition in that sport for the preceding year.

6. Reviewed the possible application of Case No. 73 to expenses received from an outside amateur sports team or sponsoring organization (per O.I. 2) and determined that student-athletes representing the U.S. Golf Association who receive actual and necessary expenses from the USGA for their participation in the Walker Cup would be permitted (following that competition) to compete (at their own expense) in the British Amateur and then use an open-ended return airline ticket provided by the USGA (for the Walker Cup competition) following the British Amateur, inasmuch as Case No. 73 addresses only those entertainment expenses related to intercollegiate competition; noted that further action may be necessary to resolve this type of issue in similar situations involving future international competition.

7. (Division I) Reviewed the application of Bylaw 4-1-(a) to a situation in which a foreign student-athlete enrolled as a full-time student at a collegiate institution (listed in the U.S. Department of Education catalog as a college) and, after one year of enrollment, returned home to complete the requirements for a high school degree; determined that the student-athlete's five-year period of eligibility began with his initial enrollment in the collegiate institution and agreed that the committee had no authority to waive the criteria that must be met for the student-athlete to qualify for an extension of the five-year eligibility period, noting that the student-athlete chose not to attend the collegiate institution for reasons that were within his control.

8. (Division I) Reached the following conclusions regarding the application of O.I. 501:

a. Determined that Case No. 350, which prohibits a partial qualifier or nonqualifier from participating during the first year of collegiate enrollment in athletics competition on an institutional club team or outside sports team, does not incorporate the residence requirement of O.I. 501 and would not apply to the summer following the conclusion of the initial academic year; agreed that the application of Case No. 350 would permit partial qualifiers or nonqualifiers to participate during the initial academic year in limited tryouts for an outside team, with the understanding that the partial qualifiers or nonqualifiers are prohibited from representing such a team in outside competition during the initial academic year.

b. Determined that a nonqualifier is prohibited from practicing, competing and receiving athletically related financial aid (and a partial qualifier from practicing and competing) during the second year of residence unless and until the student-athlete has satisfied the provisions of O.I. 501 by fulfilling an academic year of residence (i.e., by enrolling in a minimum full-time program of studies during each term of attendance for a regular academic year and completing a minimum full-time program during each term of attendance, or by accumulating a number of hours that is at least equivalent to the sum total of the minimum load of each of the required terms during the academic year).

c. Agreed that a nonqualifier who fails to enroll in a minimum full-time program of studies during each term of attendance and has not accumulated 24 semester or 36 quarter hours of credit upon completion of the regular academic year is precluded from receiving summer-term financial aid under the provisions of Bylaw 5-1-(j)-(2).

9. (Division I) Determined that the provisions of 1987 Convention Proposal No. 47, amending Bylaw 1-2-(b), would not preclude an athletics representative from viewing a prospective student-athlete's athletics contest on his or her own initiative, with the understanding that the athletics representative may contact the prospective student-athlete; agreed that an athletics representative is prohibited from contacting the prospective student-athlete's coach, principal or counselor in an attempt to evaluate the prospect, as well as from visiting the prospect's educational institution to pick up film or transcripts pertaining to an evaluation of the prospect's academic eligibility or athletic ability.

10. (Division I) Confirmed that the term "recruited" as used in Bylaw 6 and O.I. 601 applies only to the prospective student-athlete's recruitment by the certifying member institution; affirmed that the conditions of O.I. 100, defining "recruited," would not encompass a situation in which a prospective student-athlete initiates a telephone conversation with a coaching staff member to inquire about the possibility of "walking on" to try out for that member institution's athletics team, with the understanding that the institution's coaching staff member is limited to providing the prospective student-athlete with information regarding practice and meeting schedules (e.g., time, place or date) and may not utilize the conversation to solicit the prospect's enrollment.

11. (Division I) Reviewed the application of 1987 Convention Proposal No. 63, which amends Bylaw 5-1-(j)-(2) to state that a nonqualifier or partial qualifier shall be entitled to three seasons of eligibility per Bylaw 5-1-(d), to a situation in which a prospective student-athlete's high school graduation date occurred prior to the adoption of this legislation; determined that the prospective student-athlete still would be subject to the provisions of Proposal No. 63, inasmuch as this regulation relates to remaining eligibility and not to standards governing the prospective student-athlete's initial eligibility at the time of high school graduation.

12. (Division I) Agreed that a foreign student-athlete who graduated from high school in November 1985 and whose high school academic year began in January and ended in November 1985 is not considered to be a member of the 1986 graduating class and, therefore, is not subject to the test-score and other initial eligibility requirements of Bylaw 5-1-(j).

13. (Division I) Confirmed that 1987 Convention Proposal No. 67, amending Bylaw 5-1-(j), prohibits a prospective student-athlete who is a midterm high school graduate from utilizing

SAT or ACT test scores achieved subsequent to the July 1 date preceding initial college enrollment; concurred with the Council recommendation that the Academic Requirements Committee be authorized through legislation to establish criteria for exceptions to the application of Bylaw 5-1-(j) that would permit an adjustment of the deadline for achieving test scores under such circumstances.

14. (Division I) Reviewed an earlier decision (reference: Item No. 15 of the minutes of the committee's March 19, 1987, conference) that a partial qualifier who attends a four-year institution less than one academic year and then transfers to a Division I member institution is permitted to receive aid (but not practice or compete) while serving the one-year residence requirement as a transfer student, and agreed that this interpretation may be extended to a partial qualifier who attends a junior college less than one academic year and then transfers to a Division I member institution.

15. (Division I) Considered information regarding the Council's remedial-course interpretation (Case No. 324), which stipulates that for those student-athletes first enrolling in a certifying member institution beginning with the 1986-87 academic year, remedial courses that are utilized to meet the satisfactory-progress rule must be completed during the first year of enrollment and limited to a total of no more than 12 semester or 18 quarter hours; noted that the Council, during its April 1987 meeting, reportedly was unaware of the Academic Requirements Committee's recommendation that Case No. 324 be revised to address the possible retroactive application of this interpretation; concluded that the Administrative Committee (acting for the Council) should be asked to authorize an interpretation (based on the recommendation of the Academic Requirements Committee) that a member institution be granted a limited exception to the restrictions of Case No. 324 if the institution conducted during its 1986-87 academic year a mandatory, full-year remedial-studies program that was initiated prior to the Council's October 1986 interpretation.

Couple pledges $5 million to Illinois athletics projects

A Peoria business leader and his wife have pledged $5 million for new athletics facilities at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

The gift commitment of Gary K., a former student-athlete, and Carlotta J. Bielfeldt, both Illinois graduates, was announced May 8 by Illinois President Stanley O. Ikenberry.

The commitment establishes the Bielfeldt Challenge to encourage an additional $10 million in gifts on a two-for-one matching basis. The challenge must be met with new gifts made from now through 1988 to the Campaign for Excellence in Athletics at Illinois.

The $5 million is designated for a new administration building for intercollegiate athletics. It will house athletic association offices for coaching staffs, business affairs, sports information, academic services for student-athletes, a computer center, centralized ticketing operations, and public areas for displays and recognition of Fighting Illini athletes, coaches and private gift contributors.

The additional $10 million to be raised to meet the Bielfeldt Challenge will provide funding for a new track and field stadium currently under construction on the Champaign campus, an indoor tennis center and an outdoor tennis stadium. All the facilities will be situated on a 49-acre site east of the Assembly Hall.

The capital campaign was launched in January 1986 and is being conducted by the athletic association under the auspices of the University of Illinois Foundation, the fund-raising arm of the university.

Private gifts have underwritten a new baseball field and stadium being built on the same site and a football coaching and training headquarters that opened last fall adjacent to Memorial Stadium.

Chancellor Thomas E. Everhart said of the Bielfeldt Challenge: "This extraordinarily generous gift will help make the new athletics complex at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign one of the most modern and comprehensive in the nation."

"I believe it is important for our campus to strive for excellence in all its programs, and the facilities that support them, and the Bielfeldts' gift contributes greatly to that goal." Athletics director Neale Stoner said that more than $6 million in gifts and pledges had been recorded in the campaign prior to the Bielfeldt commitment.

Now at the midway point in the three-year campaign, the fund drive is aimed at realizing a comprehensive $35 million capital development program for new and improved facilities for intercollegiate athletics on the Urbana-Champaign campus.

"The challenge initiated by Carlotta and Gary Bielfeldt is unprecedented in the history of the U of I athletics program," Stoner said.

2. Possibly the most significant avenue of distribution for a portion of the tournament's net receipts will be the creation of an endowment fund that will provide scholarships to Division I student-athletes who have exhausted their eligibility and wish to return to college to complete their undergraduate degrees. Men's and women's basketball players would be given preference as recipients of this assistance, which will be awarded based on academic and financial considerations.

"So much has been said about all the money that comes in from the tournament and how none of it seems to benefit student-athletes directly," Schultz noted. "We are very excited about the endowment fund for scholarships. We believe it could grow to $12 million or more during this three-year period, and that will serve to provide a tremendous amount of scholarship money."

3. Each Division I institution that does not participate in the Division I Men's Basketball Championship would receive $10,000 from the tournament's net receipts. This nonparticipation fee would be available to those institutions with men's basketball programs that were members of Division I, automatic-qualifying conferences or that were Division I independents as of January 1, 1987—excluding any institution on NCAA probation when the awards are made.

4. The premiums for catastrophic insurance coverage for Division I student-athletes participating in men's and women's basketball would be paid from the gross receipts of the men's basketball championship.

5. The existing grant of $95,000 to the national certification and officiating program for men's basketball will be increased by a maximum of $55,000 for 1988.

6. In connection with the 1988 Division I Men's and Women's Basketball Championships, a $50,000 grant will be provided for the sponsorship of YES clinics at the eight men's and women's regional sessions, the men's Final Four and the women's championship session.

"The YES clinic at the 1987 Final Four simply was a tremendous success," Schultz said. "Certainly, we are interested in walking before we learn to run, but we are hopeful that, with the financial support we can provide, YES can grow into a national program."

7. Each Division I men's automatic-qualifying conference will receive a grant of $50,000. Each Division I women's automatic-qualifying conference will receive a grant of $10,000. Each conference must use the grants in connection with its compliance/enforcement program, enhancement of its men's and women's basketball officiating, and drug education. All conferences receiving the grants will be required to use three-official crews for all men's and women's regular-season league games.

"We believe the grants to the conferences are very important," Schultz noted. "The committee is trying to help the game of basketball and provide resources for that purpose. Using this money to enhance officiating, compliance efforts and drug-education programs certainly is a step in that direction."

8. Any surplus funds that remain after the above distribution is completed will be added to the scholarship fund. Preliminary estimates indicate that as much as $700,000 could be added to the fund in 1988 alone.

Representatives of member institutions are encouraged to contact members of the Division I Men's Basketball Committee to comment on these plans. Committee members include Schultz; Eugene F. Corrigan, University of Notre Dame; James E. Delany, Ohio Valley Conference; Cedric W. Dempsey, University of Arizona; C. Arnold Ferrin Jr., University of Utah; Roy A. Kramer, Vanderbilt University; Fred A. Schaus, West Virginia University; Richard G. Shrider, Miami University (Ohio); and Frank Windeger, Texas Christian University.

John L. Toner

Toner named to receive Corbett award

John L. Toner, retiring this year as director of athletics at the University of Connecticut, has been selected to receive the 1987 James J. Corbett Memorial Award, sponsored by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

The award is presented annually in the name of Corbett, NACDA's first president, and honors one who most typifies Corbett's devotion and efforts on behalf of intercollegiate athletics. Toner will receive the award at NACDA's annual convention in San Diego June 9.

He is a former president of the NCAA (1983-1984) and former secretary-treasurer of the NCAA (1981-1982). He was NACDA's president (1980-81) and served the association as a member of the executive committee for four years (1973 to 1978).

Currently, he is chair of the Special NCAA Postseason Drug-Testing Committee.

As a past president of NACDA, he has continued his service to the association as an active member of the finance-management committee. Perhaps the greatest contribution Toner has made to NACDA was his effort in founding the collegiate Kickoff Classic football game, sponsored by NACDA annually since 1983.

In his 21-year association with the University of Connecticut, one of his top accomplishments was being a key architect of the Big East Conference. Toner was responsible for Connecticut's inclusion as a charter member in 1979.

"I consider the Corbett award to be the most prestigious honor an athletics administrator can receive," Toner said. "I'm humbled to be this year's recipient when I look at others who have won the award before me," he said.

Toner has been a member of the Connecticut athletics staff since 1966, when he was named the head football coach, serving in that capacity for five years. During the final two years of his collegiate head-coaching tenure, he filled a dual role as head coach and director of athletics.

A Dighton, Massachusetts, native, Toner graduated in 1950 from Boston University, which in 1986 honored him with a distinguished-alumnus award. In 1947-48, he was BU's starting quarterback after returning from a 42-month Army tour. Toner earned a master's degree from his alma mater in 1953.

Following his retirement as athletics director in June, Toner will continue at Connecticut as a professor and direct the completion of the school's new sports center.

Legislative Assistance

1987 Column No. 20

Financial aid for summer school

Under the provisions of NCAA Constitution 3-4-(b)-(1), financial aid may not be provided to a student-athlete while attending a summer school or summer term unless the student-athlete has been in residence a minimum of one term during the regular academic year at the awarding institution or the student is attending a summer orientation program for which participation is required of both athletes and nonathletes and financial aid is administered on the same basis for all participants in the program.

Financial aid awarded to an eligible student-athlete under Constitution 3-4-(b)-(1) for summer-school attendance is considered a separate award and would not be countable toward the maximum financial aid awards limitations set forth in NCAA Bylaw 6-5. The amount of aid an individual student can receive is limited by Bylaw 6-1-(a) to tuition and fees, room and board, and required course-related books for the summer term. Further, the NCAA Legislation and Interpretations Committee recently noted that a student-athlete enrolled in less than a minimum full-time program of studies during a summer term would be permitted to receive athletically related financial aid, provided the student qualifies for such aid under institutional policies and has been in residence a minimum of one term during the regular academic year.

Bylaw 6-1-(b)-(1) permits a student-athlete to receive legitimate summer employment earnings without total-dollar restrictions, even if the student-athlete is attending summer school as a recipient of institutional financial assistance.

In addition, financial aid for summer-school expenses may be used only to attend the awarding institution's summer school. As noted in NCAA Case No. 129 (page 337, 1987-88 NCAA Manual), it would not be permissible for the parent institution in which the student-athlete is enrolled to pay the student-athlete's summer-session expenses incurred in attending the institution's branch campus.

Summer orientation programs

Member institutions are reminded that the following interpretations have been approved by the NCAA Council and the Association's Legislation and Interpretations Committee and currently are in effect in reference to summer orientation programs.

1. In order to provide financial assistance to a student-athlete attending a summer orientation program, a member institution must document that the summer orientation program is required and attendance is mandatory for athletes and nonathletes alike; however, "required attendance" would permit flexibility in applying the standard that a prospective student-athlete's acceptance for the fall term is contingent upon enrollment in the summer orientation program. Exceptions to this standard must be based on bona fide reasons that are documented by the institution.

2. An entering student-athlete may qualify for financial aid in conjunction with participation in a member institution's summer orientation program only if participation is required of both athletes and nonathletes and financial aid is administered on the same basis for all participants in the program. The standard for selecting the participants must be applied on an objective basis to both athletes and nonathletes.

3. Assuming the appropriate standard for selection of participants is met, financial assistance to attend an institution's summer orientation program may be provided to a Bylaw 5-1-(j) nonqualifier involved in such a program.

4. It is not permissible to provide a student-athlete a cash stipend to compensate for summer employment earnings lost as a result of participation in a mandatory orientation program.

If there are questions regarding these issues or other aspects of the application of NCAA legislation to summer orientation programs, member institutions are encouraged to contact the legislative services department.

Recruiting publicity

As noted in 1986 Legislative Assistance Column No. 36, the Council has revised its previous interpretation (see 1986 Column No. 17) regarding the application of the provisions of Bylaw 1-4-(a) to the type of public statement or announcement that may be made by a member institution about the

Committee Notices

Member institutions are invited to submit nominations for interim vacancies on NCAA committees. Nominations to fill the following vacancy must be received by Fannie B. Vaughan, executive assistant, in the national office no later than June 1, 1987.

Nominating Committee: Replacement for John P. Mahlstede, Iowa State University. Mahlstede has declined to serve because he will retire June 30, 1987. Appointee must be a Division I representative from Region 3 (Districts 4 and 5).

Brace yourself

increases when prominent players are hurt."

The studies of Teitz and Hewson strongly suggest that the knee brace may be of questionable value.

This has surprised most football coaches, including hundreds of high school coaches who in recent years have made the wearing of knee braces mandatory.

Most coaches continue to trust the evidence of their own eyes in preference to the results of outside surveys, however scholarly.

So, the battle lines have been drawn. It's the empirical evidence of many coaches vs. the scientific evidence of scholars.

And the battle has just begun, according to Oates' article in the L.A. Times. It could be years before the whole truth is known.

By far the most widely used knee brace in football is the Anderson Knee Stabler, which was invented 10 years ago by George Anderson, who has been the Los Angeles Raiders' trainer for 27 years.

"The Stabler has been tested by more than 1,500,000 football players," said Anderson, even though it was devised for only one player, former quarterback Kenny Stabler.

Henning says, "Any brace on the market that has a good fastener and doesn't slip is a good one. There's no point in recommending a specific brace."

According to one research group, college football players face a 23 percent chance of knee injury each season—and a 64 percent chance in a four-year career.

The concern with knee braces becomes, therefore, evident.

In recent years, 10 to 12 kinds have been invented. None is perfect, but most seem helpful, and thousands are being worn each season by college and high school football players.

roll-call votes.

Division III

9:30 a.m. to noon, one proposal: Limitations on playing seasons in Division III. Roll-call vote.

General

1:30 to 4 p.m., 14 proposals: Resolution to authorize national meetings and in-depth studies as part of the Presidents Commission's national forum. Require institutional policies regarding competition during exam periods and missed class time. Include all sports in the provisions of O.I. 313. Establish 16 new NCAA championships by requiring baseball, golf, softball and tennis championships both in the fall and in the spring. Permit women's basketball players to practice at any time during the academic year but limit the time (by hours per day and days per week) devoted to such practice. Resolution calling for future legislation to limit the amount of time a student-athlete can participate in practice and competition in all sports.

Resolution directing a study of the concept of financial aid being limited to tuition and fees, plus need, in any or all sports. Resolution directing a study of the concept of tying permissible grants in a sport to the graduation rate of student-athletes in that sport. Resolution calling for legislation to limit the recruiting period in every sport to not more than four months per year. Resolution calling for membership support of the concept of limiting the annual number of paid visits that the institution may provide in all sports. Resolution calling for a study of ways to restrict the recruiting opportunities attendant to high school all-star games, institutional camps and clinics, and private camps and clinics.

Requirement regarding where meals can be given to a prospect on the paid visit. Resolution calling for a study of the effects of varsity participation on the academic performance of freshman student-athletes in Divisions I and II. Permit student-athletes five, rather than four, years of eligibility. Nine of the 14 proposals in the general business session will be determined by roll-call votes.

All of the legislation for the special Convention, as well as the updated Convention meeting schedule and information regarding appointment of delegates, will be mailed to the membership May 15 in the Official Notice and Program of the special Convention.

Championships Previews

Top-ranked Longhorns poised for baseball title bid

For another spring, Texas' Disch-Falk Field has been the hub of college baseball.

And the top-ranked Texas Longhorns hope to have as much success at Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium as on their home turf in Austin.

The College World Series, wrapping up NCAA play in Omaha for the 38th straight season, begins May 29. Texas heads the list of teams striving for the top of the Division I heap.

Cliff Gustafson's Longhorns, champions in 1975 and 1983 who are rarely out of contention, recently won their 60th Southwest Conference regular-season title in 72 years and are prepared to turn their talents to the tournament season.

As in past years, the Longhorns have excelled with a blend of hitting and pitching—occasionally from the same player. Dependable designated hitter Kevin Garner took to the mound to clinch the conference crown with a two-hit performance against top-10 rival Arkansas.

Outfielder Brian Cisarik (.414), third baseman Scott Coolbaugh (.354, 71 RBI) and shortstop Coby Kerlin spark the Texas offense.

Junior Curt Krippner is the pitching ace, assuming the role previously filled by Roger Clemens and Greg Swindell. Krippner won every conference start on his way to an 11-0 record, striking out 111 batters. Mark Petrovsek provides another strong arm, boasting 22 wins over the last two seasons.

Pepperdine (44-8-3), the best in the West for much of the year, could be one of the Longhorns' toughest challengers. The Waves, who lost to eventual champion Arizona in the regional final, will have one of the most experienced teams in the tournament.

Cliff Gustafson

rienced teams in the tournament.

Coach Dave Gorrie has a first-rate outfield in Steve Kirkpatrick, Rick Hirtensteiner and Steve Erickson.

Despite the early season loss of pitching star Tony Lewis, struck in the face by a line drive, the Wave staff has rallied to uphold the tradition of Cy Young winner Mike Scott, the school's most noted baseball alumnus. Lefthander Doug Simons has been Pepperdine's starting ace and Steve Scanlon the key reliever.

Oklahoma State has become synonymous with offense in college baseball, and the Cowboys (45-7) have done nothing in 1987 to shake that tag. Gary Ward's squad has over 100 home runs and a team batting average well above .350.

Ring up the highest individual average has been senior outfielder Anthony Blackmon, who has emerged from the shadow of more-publicized teammates to bat .427 and rank among the national leaders in runs scored.

Designated hitter Jim Ifland and first baseman Jimmy Barragan each have topped the 70-RBI mark, but they pale in comparison to sophomore teammate Robin Ventura. The Cowboy third baseman, an all-tournament selection at Omaha last season, has batted .419, driven in 83 runs and entered tournament play with a 41-game hitting streak, approaching the NCAA record.

Arkansas (43-10) has rebuilt after the loss of several key players (including top draft pick Jeff King), earning Southwest Conference coach-of-the-year honors for Norm DeBrynn. The Razorback skipper recently posted his 600th victory at the school.

All-America catcher Andy Skeels (.387) and veteran pitchers Tim Peters and Ray Harris are complemented by junior college additions and promising freshmen.

Cal State Fullerton (39-14) has recovered from a slow start to display the same brand of pitching excellence that took Augie Garrido's squad to its second NCAA title in 1984.

Mike Harkey, considered the top professional pitching prospect in college baseball, struggled early but is back in form. Senior teammate Larry Casian has put together a solid season, as has the overlooked Longo Garcia.

Mark Baca has been a terror on the basepaths for the Titans, averaging over a steal per game.

Stanford's Jack McDowell, like Harkey one of the nation's top pitchers, also has struggled. But the Cardinal (37-14) has gotten strong relief from sophomore Steve Chitren (5-1, nine saves). Outfielder Ruben Amaro and promising third baseman Ed Sprague spark the Stanford hitting.

Florida State (42-13) has been best known this season for junior Richie Lewis, who has struck out 127 batters in 90 innings to go 12-1. But Mike Martin's Seminoles also are among the nation's leaders in stolen bases, swiping three per game. Catcher Ed Fulton is the man most responsible for driving in those runs.

To the north of Tallahassee, Georgia and Georgia Tech are evenly matched state rivals.

Georgia (36-13) features solid pitching and a talented target. Cris Carpenter is one of the division's best relief pitchers, although junior teammate Derek Lillquist (8-1, 2.35) is among those least needing his help. Sophomore catcher Roger Miller provides offensive as well as defensive support for the Bulldogs, who could unseat Louisiana State in the Southeastern Conference.

The month of March was not kind to Georgia Tech (40-11) as pitching ace Todd Shiver suffered a broken jaw and four other players, including two regulars, were declared academically ineligible. But heavy hitting has seen the Yellow Jackets through at the rate of two home runs per game. Outfielder Riccardo Ingram, already an all-conference football player, has hit at a .434 clip and driven in 70 runs.

Close behind Georgia Tech in the Atlantic Coast Conference race all spring, Clemson (42-9-1) has a rising pitching star in Brian Barnes, who boasts a 9-2 record and a string of strikeouts. First baseman Chuck Baldwin is the Tiger hitting standout.

Texas A&M (41-18-1) claims the Southwest Conference's leading hitter in Scott Livingstone. The junior third baseman hit .433 in the regular season, adding 18 homers and 71 RBI. Coach Mark Johnson's freshman class will also be heard from in years to come.

Seton Hall (36-7) has been the top squad in the East this season and, much of the credit can be given to one phenomenal performer. After a serious arm injury last year, junior first baseman Martee Robinson has recovered to hit .540, the best average in Division I. Robinson is also a first-rate defensive player and base thief.

Michigan (41-7) has continued its domination of the Big Ten with remarkable pitching. The Wolverines have a team ERA of 2.86, sparked by one-handed sophomore Jim Abbott (5-1, 1.71) and junior Mike Ignasiak (4-3, 1.88).

UCLA (34-20) has encountered hard times since starting the year as a favorite, with all-America pitcher Alex Sanchez among those suffering disappointing seasons. But second baseman Torey Lovullo (.372, 18 home runs) has helped spark a powerful Bruin offense.

Record broken

A collegiate baseball record shared by Texas and NAIA member David Lipscomb was broken recently when Point Park, another NAIA member, set a new mark of 37 consecutive victories.

The Pioneers broke the previous record of 34 consecutive victories by defeating Waynesburg April 25. Texas set the previous mark in 1977, and David Lipscomb tied the record in 1984.

Point Park's streak finally was broken in the second game of a doubleheader against Slippery Rock. It was the team's first defeat since a loss in last year's NAIA tournament to eventual champion Grand Canyon.

"Not bad for a team that practices in the parking lot at Three Rivers Stadium," said Point Park sports information director Ron Wahl.

Wisconsin-Oshkosh plans to power its way into title picture

For Wisconsin-Oshkosh, one year is long enough to go without a national baseball championship.

The Titans, Division III champions in 1985, will approach this year's tournament as one of the favorites, and the team appears to have enough firepower to reclaim the title.

The championships, to be hosted for the 12th straight year by Marietta College, will be held May 28-31.

Wisconsin-Oshkosh (27-3) has established its position of power with torrid hitting. The Titans have compiled a team average of .430, with every starter over .400. Team members have produced 80 home runs in 32 games.

Leading the way is junior Terry Jorgensen. The most valuable player in the 1985 championships, the Titans' star outfielder improved his average to .462 last year and currently is hitting at a .494 clip.

"This is a fine ball club," said Wisconsin-Oshkosh coach Russ Tiedemann. "We have four or five players from the national championship team, and our younger players have come along. We've been getting good, consistent pitching, and if that holds, I'm very optimistic about our chances."

Host Marietta (30-11-2) may provide the Titans' stiffest competition.

The defending champion Pioneers lost to graduation all-America pitcher Jim Katschke and third baseman Mike Brandts, the tournament's most valuable player. But Don Schaly's squad has enough talent on hand to make another run at the title.

The Marietta pitching staff, key to the title last spring, is led by junior Steve Oberhelman, while seniors Roger Thompson and John Sudges and sophomore Bill Holmes provide the offensive firepower.

William Paterson (28-5-1) has earned coach Jeff Albies his 300th career victory and joins Montclair State at the top of the Mid-Atlantic region.

The Pioneers boast a heavy-hitting outfield led by all-America Bruce Dostal and fellow senior Tony Listro. This will be William Paterson's seventh straight appearance in the Division III regional field.

North Carolina Wesleyan (39-5), another team very familiar with the tournament, has emerged to challenge state rival Methodist for top honors in the South.

The Battling Bishops have an experienced squad paced by Paul Prisco, one of the best catchers in Division III. Among the fellow seniors pitching to Prisco's mitt are Frankie Moore and Gary Appleton.

Ithaca (21-9), runner-up in 1986, is led by sophomore outfielder Steve Graham, who has continued to hit at the torrid pace he set as a freshman.

The Bombers have five Canadian players on their roster and are particularly grateful to Brockville, Ontario, for strikeout artist Chris Gill and all-tournament first baseman Tim Wilson.

Methodist (37-10), fourth in the championship last year, returns a tournament-tested squad offering a blend of hitting, pitching and stolen bases.

All-America center fielder Dan Hartline is the Monarchs' leading offensive star, providing hitting power and speed. Mike Brewington and Roy Haddock flank Hartline in the outfield and are also fleet on the basepaths, as is junior second baseman Jansen Evans. Senior first baseman Stan Mozingo supports Hartline in the home run department.

Third last spring, Montclair State (24-11-1) hopes to repeat its 1986 regional success and get past William Paterson to return to Marietta. Two all-tournament players, shortstop Jim Fasano and outfielder John Deutsch, are back to lead the Indians' title bid.

Montclair State also has one of the division's leading young pitching stars in sophomore Anthony Foti, who earned all-America honors in his first collegiate season.

Brandeis (26-5) has its best team since finishing second in Division III in 1977. The Judges are a senior-dominated team with strengths in catching and the middle infield.

Second baseman Bob Boutin and catcher David Gray are among Brandeis' key veterans.

Ferrum (33-6), a top-10 team throughout the season, will be conspicuous by its absence from Marietta. The Panthers compiled impressive numbers in both team batting average and earned-run average, but as first-year Division III members they are ineligible for the tournament.

Division III champion in 1982 and out of the tournament only once, Eastern Connecticut State (26-9) will count on capable pitching to spark a return to the championship series.

The Warrior staff, one of the nation's best last season, lost none of its aces and is led by senior Brian Cassidy and junior southpaw Ismael Roman.

Wooster, led by all-America infielder Rick Sforzo, has come on strong late in the season and may be a dark horse to watch.

Wisconsin-Whitewater, with only one tournament appearance in its history, has emerged in 1987 to rival its counterpart on the Oshkosh campus. The Warhawks have experienced good fortune this spring under first-year coach Jim Miller, including a triple play against Whittier.

More typically, Wisconsin-Whitewater relies on strong pitching. Fireballing Jim Birsbach and Ecuadorian freshman Gus Giler are among Miller's top guns.

La Verne and UC San Diego head the list of teams vying to travel to the championship series from the West.

Columbus sets sights on third crown

After 12 experiments, coach Earl Bagley discovered the solution that he hopes will carry Columbus to the team title at the May 19-22 NCAA Division II Men's Golf Championships.

Bagley tinkered with his lineup a dozen times before settling on who he thinks will man his top five spots for the 25th annual championships.

Senior Richard Hatcher, who tied for 16th at last year's championships, is the only golfer to play in every tournament for Columbus this season and figures to play a key role in the Cougars' bid to dethrone one defending team champion Florida Southern.

Bagley, who led Columbus to the runner-up spot in last year's team title race, probably will round out his lineup with Clark Spratlin (74.1), Scott Hay (76.2), Wayne Cook (76.0) and Charlie Whittington (76.8). Columbus, the only Division II team at the recent Southeastern Invitational, tied for eighth among 18 Division I-A teams with that fivesome.

Columbus, team champion in 1978 and 1980, also will enjoy the home-course advantage on the 6,880-yard Bull Creek Golf Course.

"I hope playing Bull Creek will work to our advantage," Bagley said.

Division II men's golf

"It's ranked among the top 75 public courses in the nation and is a tight, demanding course."

"I would like to think that we'll be among the top five teams. We've done a lot of experimentation with our lineup and we're to the point where we've been playing well. I was very proud of our finish at the Southeastern. But everyone knows anything can happen in a tournament."

What has happened in four of the last six championships has been to Florida Southern's liking. Coach Charley Matlock's Moccasins won the 1981, 1982, 1985 and 1986 team titles and placed second in 1984. Florida Southern has another talented lineup led by veterans Scott Hawkins and Mike Mantucci. Matlock's lineup also features left-hander Ralph Howe, a probable contender for the individual title.

Troy State, winner of the 1984 team title over Florida Southern, has a young but promising lineup that could be the surprise of the championships. The Trojans, recent winners of the school's eighth consecutive Gulf South Conference title, will pin their hopes on a fourth championships team title on sophomores Robby Cotten, Mike Morton and conference champion Mike Wright.

Tampa also figures to be in contention for the team title behind the play of Jeff Leonard, who tied for 16th at last year's championships.

Abilene Christian track Wildcats have a good thing going

For the past two years, Abilene Christian's men and women have won the team titles in Division II outdoor track and field. That could be the case again this year, as the men are heavy favorites to win their sixth title in a row while the women are slight favorites to capture their third. The championships will be May 20-23 at Southeast Missouri State.

Division II men

The big question around Division II is not whether Abilene Christian will win for the sixth consecutive year, but by how much.

But to hear Wildcat coach Don Hood talk about his team's chances, one might think it is in for quite a battle. Two sprinters who transferred to Abilene Christian from junior college were ruled ineligible because of insufficient grade-point averages. Another sprinter, Ian Morris, left the squad earlier in the season, thus effectively wiping out its strongest 400-meter relay team.

"In recent years," said Hood, "there has been a lot of great individual competition but not a lot of competition for us team-wise. Nobody really has pushed us. This year, it's going to be a lot more interesting. Before the season, I thought I might have one of the best teams ever, but now we hope we can just hang on by our teeth and win the title for a sixth time."

Returning junior sprinter Greg Meghoo will run the 100 meters (10.39) and 200 meters (20.64), with senior Freddie Williams, a three-time

Don Hood

Freddie Williams

NCAA Division II champion, holding down the 800 meters (1:46.7) and 1,500-meter run. Freshman Ben Clay has been Hood's "biggest surprise," as he captured the Lone State Conference 200-meter (20.70) and 400-meter dashes (46.39).

Southeast Missouri State coach Joey Haines returns with a squad as strong as or stronger than last year's runner-up team.

After sitting out a year, senior Tim Williams, the 1983 Division II champion in the 200 meters, is back in action. This season he has clocked a 10.42 100-meter time and a 20.89 in the 200 meters. Sophomore Brian Raddle (3:46.28) and senior Argentine Olympian Pedro Caceres (3:47.08) lead a strong 1,500 contingent.

Cal State Los Angeles, which narrowly finished third last year, once again is led by defending triple jump champion Stan Oporski. Look for Darryl Gilliams (14.32) to score some points in the 110-meter high hurdles, senior Steve Jones (7-1½) in the high jump, senior Oscar Garza (168-11) in the discus and Greg Retzer (183-0) in the hammer. The 400-meter relay squad (40.85) also is strong.

Angelo State coach David Noble has a bevy of talent, led by sophomore Aaron Kenney in the 100 meters (10.43) and 200 meters (20.9). Also expected to compete for honors are senior Rod Welch (14.06), sophomore Randy Simmons (14.03) and Steve Pope (14.18) in the 110-meter high hurdles, and Simmons in the 400-meter hurdles (51.81). Sophomore Kyle Freeman, with a heave of 60-4 this season, hopes to improve upon his third-place finish in the shot put last season.

Mount St. Mary's has four student-athletes with excellent chances for individual championships. Junior Dave Lishebo, runner-up in last year's 400-meter dash, returns with a personal best of 45.57. In the 1,500-meter run, sophomore collegiate record-holder Kip Cheruiyot (3:33.07) looks to battle for the top spot with freshman teammate Peter Rono (3:39.80). Sophomore Charles Cheruiyot, Kip's twin brother and defending champion in the 5,000-meter run (13:51.30), is the favorite to defend his crown. Also, look for Carlos O'Connell and Knut Gundersen to make their mark in the decathlon.

Division II women

Unlike the men, the Division II women feature no clear-cut favorite. Most of the coaches agree, however, that Abilene Christian and Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo are the front-runners, with St. Augustine's and Hampton possessing enough firepower to make things interesting.

The Abilene Christian sprinters are led by junior Camille Coates, one of the fastest sprinters in Division II history. The Jamaican native has recorded the fastest Division II time ever in the 100 meters (11.25) and has notched the third-fastest 200-meter time ever with a 23.06 clocking.

At Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, coach Lance Harter is very excited about the make-up and balance of a squad that includes 11 returning all-Americans. But the mere mention of Abilene Christian suggests he knows just what his squad is up against.

"It seems like the last few championships, we've exchanged blows day after day after day," said Harter. "Abilene Christian has a whale of a good track team. I don't know if we can go head-to-head with them and come out on top. We're the type of team that will have to depend on other teams to help us out a little bit, and then maybe we can pull it out."

Senior sprinter Gladees Prieur has qualified in the 800-meter run (2:11.02), 1,500-meter run (4:26.45) and 3,000 meters (9:24.94). Also adding support will be Pauline Stahly, who has turned in times of 9:34.40 in the 3,000 meters and 16:35.2 in the 5,000 meters, and a 34:05 clocking in the 10,000 meters.

St. Augustine's is led by jumper Regina Hawkins in the long jump (19-8) and triple jump (39-8¼). Anne Hall also could double up in the long jump (19-5½) and triple jump (40-4).

Look for both Valerie Martin (55.13) and Veronica Williams (55.90) possibly to score in the 400 meters, and keep an eye on the 400-meter relay team (45.50).

As for Hampton, coach LaVerne Sweat's squad is loaded in both the sprints and relays.

Senior Eldece Clark looks to be a solid contender for the 100-meter title (11.40) and to score in the 200 meters (23.64). Sophomore Vivienne Spence will challenge for the 200-meter championship (23.23), as well as honors in both the 100-meter (11.48) and 400-meter dashes (54.71). Junior Trina Creekmore, 1986 outdoor runner-up in the 400 meters, has turned in a 54.65 this season and looks to be among the favorites.

Getting to the point: Division III scoring should be close

At the 1986 Division III Men's and Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships, nine points separated the top four teams in the men's competition. The top three squads in the women's division were separated by only four points.

Look for both championships to be at least as close this year during the May 20-23 meet at North Central in Naperville, Illinois.

Division III men

Frostburg State coach Bob Lewis, whose team won its first Division III outdoor title last year, knows very well that this year's championships are going to be very competitive.

"Last year went down to the last lap of the last event," said Lewis. "That's what you call having your heart in your throat for four straight days. But that's the reason why we're here—it's fun."

Junior Steven Terry, the defending champion in the 100 meters (10.64), leads an experienced group of sprinters in that event and the 200 meters. Senior Joe Barber (10.53) finished third in 1986, while senior Leonard Wright (10.84) crossed the tape fifth.

Maynard Hurd will defend his crown in the 110-meter hurdles (14.18), while the defending champion 400-meter relay team of Hurd, Barber, Terry and Wright (40.39) also looks to repeat.

Wisconsin-LaCrosse, runners-up in the last two Division III outdoor championships, again will rely heavily on strength and depth in its field events. Leading this impressive unit is junior Terry Strouf, defending champion in the shot put. Strouf has qualified in the shot (57-7¼), discus (159-7) and hammer (178-4).

In contrast to Wisconsin-LaCrosse, Lincoln (Pennsylvania) once again will depend on strength in the sprints, hurdles and relays. Five sprinters have qualified for the 400 meters, including sophomore Mark Long (47.43), sophomore Dekalo Whitfield (47.89), junior Andre Randolph (48.02), junior Andre Hall (48.1) and freshman Juan Edny (48.20).

In the 110-meter hurdles, senior David Hightower has clocked a 14.04, sophomore Terry McDonald a 14.45 and freshman Victor Colter a 14.5. In the 400-meter hurdles, Willard Fairweather, a freshman, has qualified with a 52.6.

"We've been struggling with injuries the last couple of weeks," said Lincoln coach Cyrus Jones. "Of our 16 qualifiers, nine are bothered by little nagging injuries. If we can get a few of them healthy, we can give Frostburg State and Wisconsin-LaCrosse a good run. But unlike other schools, we don't have a football team, so we are not a big squad like Wisconsin-LaCrosse. We have to try to control the track. If we can, we've got a shot at the championship."

Division III women

The last two Division III women's team titles were decided by one and 2½ points, and there is no reason to think that this year's championship will be any different.

At Massachusetts-Boston, coach Sherman Hart has his squad ready to defend its 1986 outdoor championship. The Beacons' roster is solidified by seven returning all-Americans, led by juniors Genesis Eddins and Murtunda Durant. Eddins will double up in the 400 meters (54.0) and the 800 meters (2:06.64), where she will try to defend her 1986 title. Durant has qualified in both the 200 meters (25.12) and 400 meters (55.0), where she will try to better her second-place finish of a year ago.

Hart also is counting on points from junior Darrelle Boyd in the 800 (2:11.8) and 1,500 (4:34.4), junior Sonji Larts in the 200 (24.9) and 400 (55.2), and senior Delores Booth in the 100 meters (12.1). Sophomore Jackie James also has made the mark in the 100-meter hurdles with a 14.65 clocking.

Wisconsin-LaCrosse must rely on field-event production if the Indians are to capture their third Division III outdoor championship.

Senior Brenda Eilers, who finished fourth in the high jump at last year's meet, has qualified again this season with a jump of 5-6¼. Also qualifying at 5-6¼ is senior Kathi Elwell, a fifth-place finisher at last year's championships. Sophomore Emily Tupa has made the mark in the long jump (18-0½), while senior Deb Schmidt will compete in both the triple jump (37-3, seventh at last year's championships) and heptathlon (4,273 points).

Coach Bob Smith also has two distance runners who will make the trip to Naperville—senior Sharon Stubler in the 3,000 meters (10:07.50) and sophomore Cindy Gallenz, with a 37:24.4 effort in the 10,000 meters.

The team to keep an eye on, say the coaches, is Christopher Newport. The Lady Captains quietly have made their move into the upper echelon of Division III track programs after a fourth-place finish at this year's indoor championships.

Freshman Lisa Dillard has a blazing 11.9 time in the 100 meters, while sophomore Michelle Dickens, the defending indoor long jump champion, has been clocked at 12.1 in the event. Both also will run in the 200 meters, with times of 24.5 and 25.0, respectively. Freshman Sheila Trice has qualified for both the 100-meter hurdles (14.6) and the 400-meter hurdles (1:03.7).

The Lady Captains are top-heavy in the long jump, with four outstanding jumpers. Leading the pack is Lisa Dillard, who already has a personal best of 19-5. Defending indoor champion Michelle Dickens has notched an 18-8 leap, while freshman Sandy Shelton has gone 19-2 and Sheila Trice 18-3.

Senior Claudia Stanley, the defending champion in the shot put, has recorded a 47-2 this season.

Windy or not, Warriors rarely blow it

Neither water hazards nor sand traps nor windy conditions—particularly windy conditions—can keep Cal State Stanislaus from posting low rounds.

The Warriors have fared well against the elements and figure to keep their appointed rounds low enough to win a 10th team title at the May 19-22 NCAA Division III Men's Golf Championships. Coach Jim Hanney has led Cal State Stanislaus to all of its team championships and likes his chances for another title at the 13th annual tournament.

Hanney's team has posted a team stroke average of 308 over 25 competitive rounds this season and has defeated 25 Division I teams, nine Division II teams and all six Division III opponents it has faced in tournament play this season.

Hanney's probable championships lineup includes four golfers—Pat Lay, Glenn Andrade, Troy Williams and Tom Clark—with a national team title already in their bags and the potential to add individual honors. The fifth spot in Hanney's lineup probably belongs to Jay McCormick.

Division III men's golf

"We've had good weather, but it's been pretty windy," Hanney said. "Most of the tournaments we've played in have been under very windy conditions, and our team stroke average reflects it."

"But down the stretch, we've really come on strong. At one point of the season, Pat Lay won four out of five tournaments. It will take a very good team to beat us."

UC San Diego has a very good team but might not have enough depth to upset the Warriors. The Tritons, runners-up at last year's championships, were one of the six Division III teams that the Warriors bested earlier this season.

UC San Diego has two contenders for the individual title in Pat Weishan and Joost Steenkamer. Weishan, who carded a 73.7-stroke average this season, tied for second last year, one stroke off the pace with a four-round total of 297. Steenkamer tied for 10th and brings a 76.3-stroke average into the championships.

Host Ohio Wesleyan, a fourth-place championship finisher last year, has a solid lineup led by Jim Irvin, who tied for eighth last year, Dan Wyant (78.9) and Todd Benware (79.0) that could contend for the team title.

Track facilities will be ready for Division I championships

This year's Division I Men's and Women's Track and Field Championships will go on as scheduled at Louisiana State University, where a refurbishing project that began three years ago is nearly completed.

The Division I Men's and Women's Track and Field Committee is satisfied that the work will be finished in time for the championships, set for June 3-6 at Baton Rouge. As The NCAA News went to press, work was completed on the new synthetic track and field surface at Louisiana State and most of the markings also were in place.

Weather and other delays pushed back completion of the project, which originally was slated to be finished last fall. The delays gave rise to concerns among NCAA officials about whether the championships would have to be moved to another site, but the officials now say the meet will go on as planned.

Participants, coaches and spectators can expect to be greeted by "a very attractive plant" at Baton Rouge, said John Drew, assistant athletics director for facilities at Louisiana State.

The track, which is aligned differently from when the championships were staged at the school in 1981, "was built on the idea of being able to handle multiple events," Drew said.

For example, sprint and hurdle events will be conducted in the track's infield, and there will be multiple jumping and pole vault pits available to competitors. Drew described the synthetic interior portion of the facility as probably the largest of its kind.

Other features include a new press box and a sound system that permits access to public-address facilities from numerous locations on the field. The sound system will allow officials to immediately announce news of record-setting performances directly from the site of an event.

"There is no doubt that we'll be ready" for the championships, Drew said.

Chair to be named for former coach

Eleanor Frost Snell, a coach who spent four decades turning out top field hockey and lacrosse programs at Ursinus College, was honored April 25, when Ursinus College launched an effort to raise $500,000 to endow the Eleanor Frost Snell Chair of Health and Physical Education.

Snell taught in the health and physical education department and coached field hockey, softball and basketball at Ursinus from 1931 until her retirement in 1971.

Ursinus will bestow its highest academic award on Snell, an endowed professional chair in her name, as part of its $20 million Patterns for the Future campaign.

Official NCAA football selected

Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, St. Louis, will provide the official football for the NCAA Division I-AA, II and III Football Championships.

The three-year contract approved by the NCAA Executive Committee becomes effective in 1987 and also designates Rawlings as the exclusive licensee for a complete line of NCAA-stamped footballs, including full-grain leather, split-grain leather, vinyl and rubber balls.

Rawlings will provide footballs for the NCAA championships and for distribution to a variety of nationwide youth-oriented programs.

"We are very pleased to enter into this agreement with Rawlings," said Thomas J. Frericks, NCAA secretary-treasurer, who, together with Merryly Dean Baker, director of women's athletics, University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, and Robert H. Frailey, director of athletics, American University, make up the Marketing Subcommittee of the Executive Committee. "It will provide a tremendous boost for these three championships and is an excellent complement to Rawlings' official NCAA basketball championship ball program," Frericks said.

Rawlings was recommended as the official manufacturer by the NCAA Official Football Championship Ball Committee, chaired by Frericks, vice-president and director of athletics, University of Dayton. Also on that committee are Homer C. Rice, director of athletics at Georgia Institute of Technology; David M. Nelson, dean, college of physical education, athletics and recreation, University of Delaware, and John D. Marshall Jr., director of athletics at Fayetteville State University.

"We believe that with our basketball and football agreements, Rawlings now provides the consumer with a unique combination of NCAA inflatable products and better service to retailers," said Dean Baker, marketing manager for Rawlings.

New scoring system adopted for NCAA swim competition

The NCAA Men's and Women's Swimming and Diving Committee has adopted several new scoring systems, including an alternate system for use in dual meets with mutual consent of the participating coaches.

The committee, which met May 4-7 in Kansas City, also adopted a scoring system for use in double-dual meets and a 9.5 system for diving in championship meets.

Other rules changes include the adoption of a new breast-stroke rule that is in line with international guidelines.

In other action, Division I members voted to recommend to the Executive Committee use of the optional-entries format in women's championships; the format currently is used in men's championships. The change will allow a student-athlete who has qualified in an individual swimming event to participate in up to two additional swimming events with the proviso that she compete in at least one event in which she qualified.

Division II also voted to recommend use of the optional-entries format for both men's and women's championships. In addition, Divisions II and III have recommended expansion of their respective diving brackets to allow a diver who qualifies on one board to be eligible for competition on both (one- and three-meter) boards.

The swimming committee also voted to recommend that platform diving be added to both the men's and women's Division I championships in 1988.

Recommended sites for the 1988 championships are as follows: Division I—Indiana University Natatorium; Division II—State University of New York, Buffalo (provided an acceptable budget is received); Division III—Emory University.

Long-distance love affair?

Occidental College's women's tennis team now boasts two sets of globe-trotting parents who follow the athletics exploits of their daughters.

Robert and Gerry Roe, who reside in California (The NCAA News, May 21, 1986), followed six children coast to coast in their athletic endeavors, the youngest of whom, Kiki, again is in the field for the Division III Women's Tennis Championships. Last year, the Roes flew from Holland, following a business trip to Kalamazoo, Michigan, to watch Kiki compete.

This year, they will be courtside in Kalamazoo to watch Kiki and teammate Harriet Wilcox, one of Occidental's doubles teams, as will Harriet's parents, Robert S. and Conception Wilcox, who will fly from Sufat, Kuwait, to keep a promise to attend the national championships if Harriet qualified.

Brooklyn College placed on NCAA probation

I. Introduction.

Brooklyn College, long a member of Division III, made a decision to put its sports, except football, into Division I in 1981, with emphasis on men's and women's basketball and men's soccer.

However, the institution has not recognized fully the increased administrative responsibilities the college has in meeting its obligations to observe Division I rules and regulations, particularly those pertaining to eligibility and financial assistance.

As a result, the institution has not taken the steps necessary to ensure that its sports programs are administered in accordance with appropriate Division I rules. These shortcomings include the failure: (a) to put individuals in positions of responsibility (such as faculty athletics representative and director of athletics) who have a sound knowledge of the application of NCAA rules; (b) to have persons in positions of administrative responsibility who are sufficiently removed from the competitive atmosphere, and (c) to put in place an adequate system of rules education and a system of checks and balances to monitor compliance with NCAA rules.

II. Violations of NCAA regulations as determined by NCAA Committee on Infractions.

A. Violations of NCAA regulations involving institutional control or financial aid.

1. For several years, there have been repeated failures to exercise adequate institutional control over the administration of financial aid, the certification of eligibility of individual student-athletes and the finances used to defray certain costs of the men's basketball program. Moreover, there has been no one in authority at Brooklyn College who was aware of the basic NCAA Division I rules and regulations and, consequently, some coaches individually determined the eligibility of student-athletes for their teams. [NCAA Constitution 3-2]

2. During the 1985-86 and 1986-87 academic years, numerous student-athletes in the sport of men's basketball received an amount of institutionally administered financial aid that was determined without regard for pertinent NCAA legislation. [NCAA Constitution 3-1(g)-(1) and 3-1(g)-(5), and Bylaw 6-1]

3. During the period September 1985 to January 1986, the men's head basketball coach established and maintained a bank account that was not authorized by or under the control of Brooklyn College. Further, the head coach used this account to pay various expenses incurred in operating the men's basketball program, some of which were in violation of NCAA legislation. Specifically, the account was funded by the sale of souvenir key chains, bumper stickers, etc., and was used to pay the cost of video equipment, a portion of an assistant coach's salary, a reimbursement to a student-athlete for property stolen from college facilities and the cost of repairs on an apartment for a student-athlete. [NCAA Constitution 3-2]

4. In September 1985, the men's head basketball coach provided three student-athletes used furniture and other household items (bed, lamp, pots and pans, etc.) for the young men's apartment in Brooklyn at no cost to them; further, the head coach paid the cost ($357) to install a door in this apartment and, finally, several items subsequently were left in the apartment and are being utilized by the current occupants who also are student-athletes in the sport of men's basketball at the college. [NCAA Constitution 3-1(g)-(5)]

5. In the fall of 1985, a men's volunteer basketball coach arranged for two student-athletes to receive at least one meal each at a restaurant in Brooklyn at no cost to the young men; further, the men's head basketball coach later reimbursed the volunteer coach for the cost for these meals. [NCAA Constitution 3-1(g)-(5)]

6. In July 1985, the men's head basketball coach requested that a representative of the college's athletics interests (who also was scheduled to begin employment as an assistant men's basketball coach in the fall of 1985), assist a student-athlete in enrolling at another institution for summer school classes. As a result of this request, the representative provided automobile transportation to the student-athlete from Brooklyn College to the other institution in order for the young man to register and provided a $20 loan to pay a portion of the tuition cost, which the young man later repaid. [NCAA Constitution 3-1(g)-(5)]

B. Other violations of NCAA legislation.

1. During the 1985-86 academic year, the college allowed an excessive number of men's basketball coaching staff members to recruit and scout prospective student-athletes off of the college's campus. [NCAA Bylaws 7-1(b) and 7-1(c)]

2. During the 1985-86 academic year, the men's head basketball coach and an assistant basketball coach entertained several junior college and high school coaches for meals at restaurants in the New York City area. [NCAA Bylaw 1-9-(m)]

3. At a time when the men's head basketball coach should have known that certain practices of the college's intercollegiate basketball program were not in compliance with NCAA legislation, he incorrectly attested on statements filed with the chief executive officer on June 5, 1985, and August 14, 1986, and furnished information that caused the college's chief executive officer to erroneously certify, without intent to do so, the college's compliance with NCAA legislation on September 12, 1985, and September 28, 1986. [NCAA Bylaw 5-6-(d)-(5)]

III. Committee on Infractions Penalties.

A. Brooklyn College shall be placed on probation from the date of this report until December 1, 1988, or one year from the date the committee is satisfied that the institution is in full compliance with NCAA Division I regulations as described in paragraphs B-1 and B-2 below, whichever is later.

B. Brooklyn College shall be barred from NCAA Division I postseason competition in all sports until the date the committee determines that:

1. The institution has demonstrated its full compliance with NCAA Division I regulations. In this regard, the college shall submit a written report to the committee that sets forth initiatives of the college that will ensure such compliance; further, the college shall be subject to an in person review of institutional procedures by an NCAA enforcement staff member.

2. A system of administrative control and organization has been established at the college with administrative personnel who have sufficient knowledge of NCAA rules to ensure continued compliance with Division I requirements (especially regarding the granting of financial aid to student-athletes, and certification and enforcement of eligibility rules); further, that safeguards are in place to assure the committee that judgments regarding certification of eligibility and interpretations of NCAA rules occur independently from the coaches of the sports involved.

[NOTE: Should Brooklyn College appeal either the findings of violations or any of the proposed penalties to the NCAA Council, the Committee on Infractions will submit an expanded infractions report to the members of the Council who will consider the appeal. This report will include additional information in accordance with Section 6 of the Official Procedure Governing the NCAA Enforcement Program, and a copy will be provided to the institution prior to the appeal hearing.

Also, the Committee on Infractions wishes to advise the college that when the penalties and corrective actions, as determined by the committee or Council subcommittee, become effective, the college shall take every precaution to ensure that their terms are observed. Further, the committee intends to monitor the penalties during their effective periods, and any action contrary to the terms of any of the penalties shall be considered grounds for extending the college's probationary period, as well as to consider more severe sanctions in the case.]

Bob James dies after brief illness

Robert C. James, commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference since 1971 and a former member of the NCAA Executive Committee, died May 11 after a short illness. He was 66.

James was an Executive Committee member from 1976 through 1981. He also chaired four NCAA committees:

Robert C. James

Recruiting, 1977-84; Extra Events, 1973-76 (member 1971-76); Legislative (later Governmental Affairs), 1966-70 and 1974 (member 1965-74), and Men's Committee on Committees, 1971 (member 1966 and 1969-71). He also was a member of the International Relations Committee from 1979 to 1981.

A U.S. Army captain in World War II, James returned to the University of Maryland, College Park, to complete his degree in 1947. He lettered in football, basketball and track at Maryland, where he remained after graduation to serve as assistant dean of men until 1958 and as associate dean for student life until 1960.

He became civilian director of athletics at the U.S. Air Force Academy in 1960 and then served as commissioner of the Mid-American Athletic Conference from 1966 until he became commissioner of the ACC in 1971.

NOTIFICATION AS REQUIRED BY NCAA ENFORCEMENT PROCEDURES

[NOTE: The following is notification of applicable NCAA legislation as required by Section 7-(h) of the Official Procedure Governing the NCAA Enforcement Program and is not a penalty proposed by the NCAA Committee on Infractions upon the college or its student-athletes.]

1. The findings set forth in Parts II-A-2 and II-A-4 of this report affect the eligibility of the involved student-athletes under the cited NCAA regulations. Please note, however, that should the college appeal any cited finding to the NCAA Council, the eligibility of the student-athlete(s) in question would not be affected until action on the appeal by the Council.

Under the conditions and obligations of membership, NCAA Constitution 4-2(a)—O.I. 11 and Section 9 of the Official Procedure Governing the NCAA Enforcement Program, once the findings become applicable (because the institution accepts the cited findings or because the NCAA Council finds the violations as the result of an appeal, whichever is earlier), the college is obligated to apply immediately (or immediately upon identifying the student-athletes) the applicable rules to the eligibility of the involved student-athletes. In the alternative, and in accordance with Section 9 of the enforcement procedures, the college would be cited to show cause to the Committee on Infractions why the college should not be disciplined additionally for failure to apply the applicable NCAA legislation.

2. In determining the identities of student-athletes with eligibility remaining who have received excessive financial aid in the college's Division I sports (refer to Parts II-A-2 and II-A-4 of this report), please note that commonly accepted educational expenses (room, board, books and tuition) shall be established based upon the values set forth in Exhibit C of the college's response to the official inquiry in this case. The college shall review its Division I squad lists in men's soccer and basketball, and women's basketball and report in writing to the NCAA enforcement staff the amount of permissible aid and the amount of actual aid received, including the cost of apartments for the 1985-86 and 1986-87 academic years, by each student-athlete with eligibility remaining.

3. In regard to establishing a new value for commonly accepted educational expenses applicable to the 1987-88 academic year and thereafter, the figure should be computed by the college after a review of the provisions of NCAA Bylaw 6 [especially Bylaw 6-1-(a)] and Constitution 3-4 [especially Constitution 3-4-(b)-(2) and Case Nos. 131 and 132] as set forth in the 1987-88 NCAA Manual. In addition, the college shall consult with NCAA staff members to ensure that the college's computation is consistent with NCAA requirements.

NCAA COMMITTEE ON INFRACTIONS

SIU-Edwardsville women capture second Division II title

Southern Illinois-Edwardsville won 5-4 matches in both the semifinals and the championship round to notch its second consecutive team title in the Division II Women's Tennis Championships.

Abilene Christian was second, Cal Poly-Pomona third and UC Davis fourth at the championships, held May 3-9 at Cal State Northridge.

All-Americas Christina Bokelund and Portia George also captured the doubles title for Southern Illinois-Edwardsville.

After an opening-round victory over Florida Atlantic, Bob Meyers' Cougars had to win two doubles matches to edge Cal Poly-Pomona in the semifinals. Nicki DeMuro and Jennifer Reuter won a third-set tiebreaker to thwart the Broncos.

Demuro and Reuter won in the third set in the finals as well to give Southern Illinois-Edwardsville the victory.

"We thought we could repeat; but we knew that once you get to the national championships, anything can happen," said Meyers. "It was a particularly tough match against Cal Poly-Pomona, which historically has played well against us."

Cal Poly-Pomona, led by singles champion Xenia Anastasiadou, defeated UC Davis, 6-3, in the third-place match.

It was an all-sophomore final in singles competition as Anastasiadou defeated George, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1. George had knocked off top-seeded Edna Olivarez of Cal State Los Angeles in the semifinals.

Anastasiadou won her crown the hard way, with three of her matches going to the third set. She defeated her doubles partner, Chris Ryan, in the other semifinal.

George and Bokelund added to Abilene Christian's frustrations in the doubles final. Donna Sykes and Carol Tabor, who had been credited with a victory when George and Bokelund retired after the Cougars clinched the championship in team play, lost to the sophomore tandem in individual competition, 7-5, 6-2.

Summary of Executive Committee actions

Following is a listing of all actions taken by the NCAA Executive Committee at its May 4-5 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri.

Financial

The Executive Committee appointed the following to the National Collegiate Realty Corporation: Thomas J. Frericks, University of Dayton, president (ex officio); Walter Byers, NCAA, secretary (ex officio); Louis J. Spry, NCAA, treasurer (ex officio); Connie J. Claussen, University of Nebraska, Omaha, vice-president; and Royce N. Flippin, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, vice-president.

In addition, a subcommittee (comprising the officers of the realty corporation and Harvey W. Schiller, Southeastern Conference, with Mr. Frericks serving as chair) was appointed to review necessary information and recommend a final plan to provide additional office space for the national office staff.

After reviewing a report from the Special Council Subcommittee on Deregulation and Rules Simplification, the Executive Committee authorized all expenditures of funds to date on the project to revise the NCAA Manual, plus an additional $37,500 for the remainder of fiscal year 1986-87. It also directed that a funding estimate for fiscal year 1987-88 be submitted to the Special Budget Subcommittee for consideration at its July meeting.

The Executive Committee also reviewed a report from the Division I Men's Basketball Committee regarding the distribution of receipts generated by a three-year network television contract (see story, page 1). The group voted to continue the 60/40 (participating teams/NCAA) distribution of receipts and to use the $5.8 million incremental rights fee for the 1987 championship to establish a scholarship endowment fund. A limit of five percent annually on the increase in shares of net receipts to participating institutions was approved, and the remainder of the plan developed by the basketball committee was approved in principle and referred to the Special Budget Subcommittee for review at its July meeting.

Based on a report by the Staff Evaluation Subcommittee, the Executive Committee also approved the following:

1. Effective September 1, management of the Association's pension trust plan will be shifted from the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company to the United Missouri Bank of Kansas City, N.A.

2. That the principal sum of employees' term life insurance benefit be three times salary (rounded to even thousands) or $50,000, whichever is greater, and that since the value of insurance above $50,000 is taxable, each employee have the option of refusing coverage above the minimum.

3. That forfeitures from employees leaving the plan remain in the account rather than be credited to the following year's premium and that they be used to pay the plan manager's administrative charges, with any remainder placed in escrow.

4. That the number of investment options be determined and be reviewed twice yearly by the Special Budget Subcommittee.

5. That employees be fully vested in the Association's pension trust plan after five plan years, since a new Federal law would require a more liberal vesting schedule effective in 1988.

The Executive Committee also authorized funding for a feasibility study of the establishment of a National Collegiate Sports Foundation.

Also approved were expenditures of $250,000 for a new national office telephone system, to be installed by October 15, and $12,000 for upgrading of the current system in the interim.

Executive director-elect

After approving the public release of the names of the four finalists submitted by the search committee for the position of executive director-elect (see the May 6, 1987, issue of The NCAA News), the Executive Committee approved the procedure, timetable, interview schedule and candidate-evaluation form for the selection of an executive director-elect.

It also was agreed that interviews would be conducted by representatives of the Presidents Commission, NCAA Council, Executive Committee and appropriate NCAA staff members May 28-29 and that the Executive Committee would meet June 4 to select the executive director-elect.

Drug testing

The Executive Committee approved a revision of the drug-testing protocol and procedural guidelines (in paragraph 7.3) that authorizes the Association to release the results of a student-athlete's final positive test to the involved institution's conference office, upon the request of that institution.

The group reaffirmed that aggregate test results would be forwarded to the NCAA executive director for reporting to the Executive Committee, and that the data otherwise would not be released without the approval of the latter.

After reviewing a recommendation that a student-athlete's first positive test for the use of banned substances in therapeutic doses not result in ineligibility but that a second positive test in the same general category would render the student-athlete ineligible, the Executive Committee referred it to the Special NCAA Postseason Drug-Testing Committee and the Legislation and Interpretations Committee for further consideration and clarification of several questions.

The Executive Committee voted to authorize a national meeting of member institutions' team physicians, which will be conducted prior to the start of the 1987-88 academic year to provide further information regarding the Association's drug-testing program.

The group agreed that legal advice should be sought concerning the inclusion of coaches in the NCAA drug-testing program. It also agreed that member institutions would not be required to indicate student-athletes' playing time on the NCAA certification-of-eligibility form, inasmuch as this information was available from other sources and might not be determined by the time the form was due in the national office.

The Executive Committee approved the concept of including officials assigned to NCAA-certified postseason football contests and Association championships in drug testing. It also voted to request NCAA Council review of a draft of legislation to this effect in August, and that governing sports committees recommend which officials should be tested and the banned-substance categories that should be included in the tests.

The Executive Committee voted that, effective September 1, 1987, ineligibility sanctions will be applied to a student-athlete who tested positive for levels of Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) of 25 ng/ml or higher, and that Executive Regulation 1-7 (page 195, 1987-88 NCAA Manual) be revised accordingly. (Note: The effect of this action is to preclude a positive test for passive inhalation of marijuana.)

The Executive Committee appointed the following subcommittee to review team sanctions relative to ineligibility resulting from positive drug tests and to consult with the drug-testing committee as appropriate and necessary: Edward E. Bozick, University of Pittsburgh, chair; Albert M. Witte, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, and Schiller.

Basketball officiating

The Executive Committee approved the following recommendations:

1. That the men's and women's officiating programs be continued through 1987-88, at which time recommendations regarding the direction of the programs will be reviewed. The proposed budget for the eight men's clinics also was approved, as was a requirement that each conference member's head men's basketball coach attend one of the clinics.

2. That compliance with NCAA men's basketball rule 3-2 be a condition of automatic qualification to the Division I men's championship and that failure to comply with this rule would subject a conference to (a) having no official(s) assigned to the tournament, (b) a financial penalty or (c) loss of automatic qualification.

3. That eight women's clinics and a meeting of conference supervisors of officials be held during 1987-88. The proposed budget will be reviewed by the Special Budget Subcommittee at its July meeting.

The Executive Committee also referred to the Council a recommendation that Bylaw 6-1-(b)-(1) be amended to exclude reimbursement for officiating in an institution's off-season intramural competition from the maximum amount of permissible financial aid, with the suggestion that consideration be given to including all sports in the amendment.

Championships

Division I Women's Basketball: The Executive Committee voted that incoming members of the Division I Women's Basketball Committee would not be reimbursed for transportation or provided a per diem to attend the committee's annual summer meeting.

Men's Fencing: Princeton University was approved as host for the 1988 championships, March 24-26.

Division I Field Hockey: Several recommendations were approved, including:

1. That the 1987 championship be conducted at an on-campus site.

2. That the national office staff study the concept that a day of rest be scheduled between first- and second-round games and between the semifinals and final.

3. That the Big Ten Conference receive automatic qualification into the 1987 tournament.

4. That reimbursement be provided for a maximum of two officials' air transportation to the Midwest and South regional tournaments and to the championship finals if necessary.

5. That the squad size be increased from 17 to 18 players.

6. A joint recommendation (with the Division III committee) that the alternate official's fee be increased from $35 to $45 for first-round, second-round and regional games and from $40 to $50 for the division championship games also was approved.

Division III Field Hockey: The Pennsylvania State and Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conferences were awarded automatic qualification for the 1987 championship.

Division I-AA Football: Automatic qualification for the 1987 championship was granted to the Big Sky, Gateway Collegiate Athletic, Ohio Valley, Southern, Southland and Yankee Conferences.

The Executive Committee approved a request that, due to its failure to adhere to procedures regarding submission of financial reports for serving as host during the 1986 championship, Arkansas State University not be allowed to host any round of the next championship it participates in. This penalty will expire after the 1989 championships if the institution does not participate in the tournament by then.

Also approved was a request to increase the official traveling party from 60 to 65. Referral to the staff for further study was a proposal that institutions on charter flights to NCAA championships be guaranteed the lowest air fare for a full plane for the first 10 tickets above the official traveling party.

Referred to the Research and Academic Requirements Committees was an NCAA Council request that the Executive Committee review the schedule and format of the championship relative to final-exam periods.

Division I Men's Soccer: Automatic qualification to the 1987 championship was awarded to the Atlantic Coast, Big East and ECAC Metro Conferences and to the Colonial and Pacific Coast Athletic Associations.

The Executive Committee approved requests that the 1987 championship be conducted at an on-campus site December 5-6 and that semifinal pairings be rotated over a three-year period. Denied was a request from the sports committee that the bracket be expanded from 23 to 24 teams.

The Executive Committee voted to have the national office staff study the topic of reimbursing all governing sports committee members for transportation and per diem to attend their respective championships and report to the committee at its August meeting.

A joint recommendation (made with the Division II and Division III committees) was approved to increase officials' fees as follows: First, second and third rounds—referee to $70 (from $65), linesman to $45 (from $42.50) and alternate to $25 (from $20). Semifinals and final—referee to $90 (from $80), linesman to $60 (from $50) and alternate to $30 (from $20).

Division II Men's Soccer: In addition to approving an on-campus site for the 1987 championship, with semifinal and final games to be played on consecutive days and completed by December 6, the Executive Committee voted to award automatic qualification for 1987 to the California Collegiate Athletic Association and the New England Collegiate, Northern California Athletic, Pennsylvania State Athletic and Sunshine State Conferences.

Division III Men's Soccer: Denied were requests that a day of rest, if necessary, be scheduled between the semifinals and final, and that the semifinal teams be reseeded. Approved was automatic qualification for 1987 for the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association and the Dixie Intercollegiate, Independent College, Massachusetts State College, New Jersey State, North Coast, Southern California Intercollegiate and State University of New York Athletic Conferences.

Women's Soccer: A joint recommendation to increase officials' fee for all three division championships was approved as follows: First, second and third rounds—referee to $70 (from $60); linesman to $45 (from $42.50) and alternate to $25 (from $20). Semifinals and final—referee to $90 (from $80), linesman to $60 (from $50) and alternate to $30 (from $20).

Division III Women's Soccer: A request from the sports committee that a day of rest be scheduled between first- and second-round games was denied.

Division I Women's Softball: The University of California, Berkeley, was approved as host for the 1988 and 1989 championships, which will be conducted May 25-29 and May 24-28, respectively, at the Twin Creeks Sports Complex, Sunnyvale, California.

Men's Volleyball: The Executive Committee approved Indiana University-Purdue University, Fort Wayne, as host for the 1988 championship, which will be held May 6-7 at the Allen County Memorial Coliseum, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Division I Women's Volleyball: The University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, was approved as host for the 1988 championship, December 15 and 17, and automatic qualification for the 1987 championship was granted to the following conferences: Midwest region—Atlantic 10, Big Eight, Big Ten, Gateway Collegiate Athletic and Mid-American Athletic Conferences; South region—Atlantic Coast, Metropolitan Collegiate Athletic, Southeastern, Southland and Southwestern Athletic Conferences; West region—High Country Athletic, West Coast Athletic and Pacific-10 Conferences, and Northwest region—Pacific Coast Athletic Association and Mountain West Athletic Conference.

The Executive Committee also approved the following recommendations:

1. That first-round host institutions be required to guarantee a minimum of $2,000 in net receipts in addition to the previously approved guarantee of 75 percent of net receipts listed on the proposed budget.

2. That the number of lines judges be reduced from four to two and that their fees be increased to $20 (from $15) for first rounds and regionals and to $25 (from $20) for the championship.

3. That children ages 12 and under be admitted to the championship for $2.

4. That all regular-season matches use a best-three-games (played to 15 points)-of-five format in order for a team to be considered for selection purposes, effective with the 1988 season.

5. That a $2,000 grant be provided to administer the computer program used to assist in evaluating conference automatic-qualification applications for the 1988 championship.

6. That incoming committee members not be reimbursed for travel or provided a per diem to attend the committee's annual meeting.

The Executive Committee referred to the Special Budget Subcommittee a request that all drug-testing costs be charged to the Association's general operating budget, rather than 50 percent being charged to the championship.

Men's Water Polo: The Executive Committee voted to eliminate the Midwest region and incorporate the five institutions in that region into the East and West regions. Also approved was the following berth allocation for the championship: East region two, West region two and four at large.

Division II Football: After reviewing a request that the certification-of-eligibility/availability form be eliminated for this championship, the Executive Committee directed the national office staff to study the issue further as it applied to all NCAA championships, seek the assistance of the American Institutes for Research as necessary and report to the committee at its August meeting.

Division II Women's Basketball: The Division II Championships Committee and Executive Committee reaffirmed the latter group's May 1986 decision that, after 1987, the men's and women's championships be held at separate sites.

Division II Women's Volleyball: Automatic qualification for the 1987 championship was awarded to the Continental Divide and North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conferences. A recommendation to expand the tournament bracket from 16 to 20 teams was tabled until the Executive Committee's August meeting.

The group approved the use of an on-campus site for the championship, but it referred back to the sports committee for additional information a request that (beginning in 1988) priority in the selection process be given to those teams that use the best-three-games-of-five format in the regular season.

The Executive Committee approved the movement of Eastern Montana College; Eastern New Mexico University; the University of Alaska, Anchorage, and the University of Alaska, Fairbanks, to the South Central region. Also approved were the following increases in officials' fees: Regionals—first referee to $75 (from $65), second referee to $50 (from $45) and lines judges to $20 (from $15). Semifinals and final—first referee to $100 (from $90), second referee to $65 (from $60) and lines judges to $25 (from $20). The committee directed the volleyball committee to consider reducing the number of lines judges from four to two.

Division III Men's and Women's Cross Country: Washington University (Missouri) was approved as host institution for the 1988 championships, November 18. The Executive Committee tabled until August a request that the women's field size be increased from 116 to 136 and that the qualifying formulas be modified accordingly.

Division III Football: The Executive Committee voted to maintain the 16-team field for the championship, but it denied a request that first-round transportation expenses be paid from the division block-grant funds. The group also voted to modify the site-selection criteria for preliminary games to indicate that if all factors in Executive Regulation 1-14-(b)-(3) are considered equal, consideration would be given to awarding the site to the institution that had served as host fewer times during that particular championship.

The Executive Committee tabled until August consideration of a request to increase the official traveling party from 48 to 57, and it denied a request to support the elimination of Executive Regulation 1-3-(i). Referred to the Special NCAA Postseason Drug-Testing Committee was a recommendation that all teams participating in the 1987 championship be tested if team ineligibility sanctions resulting from positive drug tests apply to 1987 fall championships.

Appeals: The Executive Committee voted that appeals regarding championships matters be heard and resolved by the appropriate division championships committee, and that the appropriate committee be the final authority in such matters.

Executive regulations

Based on a report from the Special Committee on Deregulation and Rules Simplification, the Executive Committee voted:

- That Executive Regulation 1-1 be moved from the executive regulations to the bylaws, inasmuch as it may be amended only by action of the membership and is not subject to change by the Executive Committee.

- That selected executive regulations of an administrative nature recommended by the special committee be eliminated from the Manual and incorporated into the championships handbooks.

- That upon expiration of Executive Regulation 1-3-(d) at the conclusion of the 1989-90 academic year, reference be made in the bylaws to the fact that the Divisions II and III championships place finishers specified in the regulation may not advance to the Division I championships in their respective sports. The staff was directed to draft legislation to this effect for review by the Council and Executive Committee in August.

In other action, Executive Regulation 1-2-(o)-(3) was amended to indicate that misconduct hearings may be held at the conclusion of the day's competition, during a break in the continuity of the championship when no competition is being conducted (e.g., between rounds of a basketball tournament) or at the conclusion of the championship. It also was amended to indicate that, based on obviously flagrant acts of misconduct, the games committee may withdraw immediately a student-athlete or institutional representative from the competition and conduct the hearing later.

Executive Regulation 1-2-(p)-(3) was amended to permit sports committees, after receiving Executive Committee approval, to establish financial or other penalties different from those contained in other sections of the regulation.

The group voted to support a Council recommendation that only one ineligible student-athlete [where eligibility is for Division I championships based on Executive Regulation 1-3-(d)] could be replaced on a Division II or III relay team that qualifies for advancement to the Division I championship in that sport.

The Executive Committee also voted to affirm a staff interpretation of Executive Regulation 1-6-(b)-(8) concerning automatic qualification to championships for members of the University Athletic Association.

Convention

The Executive Committee took the following actions regarding Convention planning:

- That the no-smoking policy for the business sessions not be extended to the honors luncheon.

- That the Award of Valor continue to be presented, but that further consideration be given to the desirability of the award and its continuation be reevaluated at a later date.

- That the distribution of material in the business sessions intended to persuade Convention delegates to a certain course of action be prohibited.

In regard to proposed legislation, the Executive Committee voted to withhold its support of a proposal at the June special Convention that would establish fall championships in baseball, softball, tennis and golf and allow member institutions to select either fall or spring as their official championships seasons in those sports.

The Executive Committee also voted to support proposed legislation at the 1988 Convention to move the Men's Gymnastics Committee from Bylaw 5 to Bylaw 6, and the group voted to support resubmission of 1987 Convention Proposal No. 42, which would provide that members of all three divisions be counted toward the sponsorship necessary to continue or establish a National Collegiate Championship, regardless of whether a division championship is conducted in the same sport.

Football stress can be equal to that of combat, doctor says

Playing football can produce a stress disorder similar to one that plagues war veterans, the team psychiatrist for the New England Patriots says in an article published May 8.

Since assuming the post about five years ago, Armand M. Nicholi Jr., M.D., has dealt with a variety of emotional problems that strike young men playing a violent game, he wrote in the New England Journal of Medicine.

"I have observed a syndrome that I think may be considered a form of posttraumatic stress disorder," Nicholi wrote. "The intense, violent contact on the football field simulates hand-to-hand combat on the battlefield."

Signs of the disorder, such as angry outbursts, irritability, dreams of violence and a sense of a shortened future, have been observed in football players, he wrote.

"During my time with the Patriots, several players have consulted me to express alarm over dreams about death, plane crashes and bloody massacres," he wrote.

Shortly after becoming the NFL team's psychiatrist, Nicholi wrote,

Eligibility standards are upgraded

Stiffer academic policies for student-athletes will be in effect at Brockport State University College this fall.

Brockport athletes must maintain at least a 2.000 cumulative grade-point average to be eligible for competition. Students who do not have an overall GPA of 2.000 but who have attained that mark during the previous semester also will be eligible. Previously, Brockport athletes could compete if they were registered for classes.

"We consider this a major step in improving our athletics program," said Ginny L. Studer, dean of Brockport's school of arts and performance. "Student-athletes must understand that academics come before athletics."

"This policy puts SUNY Brockport on the cutting edge as far as Division III NCAA intercollegiate athletics is concerned," said William F. Stier Jr., director of intercollegiate athletics. "We are officially stating that academics come first at Brockport; the educational experience can be broadened by athletics participation."

Students who fail to achieve a 2.000 cumulative average will have a chance to raise their GPA by taking summer classes at Brockport. In addition, students who are dismissed and later reinstated will not be eligible to return to athletics participation until they obtain a 2.000 semester average.

Other policies that were voluntary in the past have been made mandatory. Any student-athlete on academic probation will be required to attend three monitored study halls each week, and coaches may require others to attend as well. Student-athletes who enter Brockport under the "special talent" admissions program also will be required to attend three study halls during their first semester.

The new academic policies were recommended by the faculty senate and approved by President John E. Van de Wetering.

Testing abandoned

A policy subjecting Miami University (Ohio) athletes to random testing for illegal drug use has been rescinded because of constitutionality questions, university President Paul G. Pearson has announced.

Pearson noted that the issue of an individual's right to privacy had been raised since the policy was adopted in November.

He suspended the policy in February, pending further review of legal questions involving the policy.

Ron Meyer became head coach on a new staff that felt "ambivalent about my presence." During the 2½ seasons Meyer was coach, there was friction between him and his players over rules he imposed and a feeling by some players that he was not a good coach, the psychiatrist said.

"The tense and anxious atmosphere produced what the players described as 'knots' in their stomachs," Nicholi wrote. "They also described waking in the middle of the night in a cold sweat, dreaming of the coach and pounding the pillow."

"My job involved trying to resolve the conflicts sufficiently to allow the players and coaches to come together as a team and to begin to win football games."

The article did not identify any players who discussed their dreams with him and did not mention Meyer by name.

Meyer's firing and Raymond Berry's arrival as head coach midway through the 1984 season eliminated much of the tension, but Nicholi had more work to do to improve the Patriots' chances of success.

That success culminated in their first Super Bowl appearance at the end of the 1985 season.

But after the first six games of that season, New England was 3-3 and facing an important home game against the New York Jets. Nicholi wrote that there was "intense conflict" and "a total breakdown in communications" between two key offensive linemen.

"Many of the players were focused more on themselves than on the team," he wrote.

Two days before the game with the Jets, Nicholi met with the offensive linemen and suggested that a player can be motivated by encouragement from his peers. He said he encountered resistance to the idea.

"I closed that meeting by saying that if we didn't turn the team around now, perhaps none of us would be there next year," he said.

Nicholi said he spoke the next day with the entire team about the importance of togetherness, as well as skill, in producing a successful club.

"I reminded the team of the excellent relationship that existed between the linebackers, how well the linebackers played together and how they took time to get to know one another," Nicholi wrote. "Several of the players had never made that effort."

He said he stressed the importance of teammates getting to know each other and meeting their needs but added that he didn't know if his message got across.

Less than an hour after the meeting, former all-pro guard John Hannah, now retired, approached him in the dining room "and told me the team had just adopted a new fight song," the psychiatrist wrote.

"Swaying back and forth while holding a large tray of food, he sang the words of 'Getting To Know You.' I knew then that the players had heard me, but I wondered whether they took me seriously."

His answer came the next day.

New England beat the Jets, 20-13. They won seven of their next nine regular-season games and three consecutive road play-off games to reach the Super Bowl.

"I am certain that everyone connected with the team feels that this effort made the difference," Nicholi wrote.

Affiliation sought

Missouri Southern State College officials said the school will seek NCAA Division II membership and join the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

The school's board of regents approved the moves. Missouri Southern would join the NCAA in 1989 if its application is approved.

Missouri Southern belongs to the NAIA and the Central States Intercollegiate Conference.

New governance plan boosts SMU president's authority

Southern Methodist University's board of trustees has approved a plan to overhaul the school's governing structure in an attempt to prevent a repeat of the scandal that has cancelled the Mustang football program for the next two years.

As part of the plan, which calls for a 40-member board of trustees instead of the current one of 75, 16 trustees resigned during the meeting May 8.

Chair Edwin Cox, one of those who resigned, called it a "momentous day in Southern Methodist University's history. The SMU trustees took a quantum leap forward," he told the Associated Press.

The trustees' new plan calls for board members to be more diverse and gives more authority to the university president. William Stallcup has served as SMU's interim president since the November 21 resignation of L. Donald Shields, and a new president still is being sought. Citing health reasons, Shields stepped down during the NCAA investigation into payments made to Mustang football players.

The new SMU organization will be phased in over a year and includes electing a trusteeship committee to oversee further changes. The transition is expected to be finished by July 1988, when a completely new board will be elected by the South Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Leighton Farrell, chair of the 10-member trusteeship committee that will oversee the changes, said four other trustees will serve on the panel along with the school president and representatives of the Methodist bishops, faculty, students and alumni.

Bishops and the student, faculty and alumni groups each will elect their representatives to the committee, Farrell said.

Farrell was chair of the committee that studied and recommended changes in the SMU governing structure.

When the transition is complete, another trusteeship committee will be formed to nominate trustees, ensure diversity of members on the panel, and oversee both the board and individual trustees, Farrell said.

"I'm enthusiastic about its future,"

Farrell said. "The best is yet to come."

SMU's president would make all administrative appointments and would be given a clear statement of the board's performance expectations.

Farrell said the trustees would not interfere in the day-to-day operations of the school. Those responsibilities would be left to its president.

The action is the latest in several steps the board has taken since February, when the NCAA suspended SMU's 1987 football season and limited it to seven road games the following year. School officials subsequently eliminated the 1988 schedule as well.

In March, the board abolished its smaller, elite board of governors, which had controlled the daily operations of the university and included some of Dallas' most influential businessmen.

That was done after Gov. Bill Clements, former chair of the board of governors, revealed March 3 that he and other members knew of improper payments to players and allowed them to continue. Clements resigned his post on the board when he was inaugurated as governor in January.

commitment of a prospective student-athlete to attend the institution. The Council confirmed that such an announcement may be released only after the prospect's signed acceptance of the institution's written offer of admission as a student; further, the announcement must be limited to communications in those media forms normally utilized by the institution. The Council agreed, however, that the contents of a properly issued press release would be determined at the discretion of the involved member institution and could include comments by the institution's coaching staff members about the abilities of the prospect. It was noted that the subparagraphs of Bylaw 1-4-(a) would continue to prohibit press conferences, receptions, dinners or similar meetings held for the purpose of making such an announcement.

The Legislation and Interpretations Committee recently determined that the application of Bylaw 1-4-(a) and its subparagraphs would not preclude a member institution from making an announcement on the institution's campus for the sole purpose of presenting at one time to the media the names of all prospective student-athletes who have accepted offers of athletically related aid in a particular sport from that member institution, with the understanding that no prospective student-athletes or their friends or relatives may be in attendance on such an occasion.

New York panel seeks ways to give athletes an academic boost

Countless high school and college athletes are ignoring their schooling and will end up as jobless jocks, a task force of New York state legislators has warned.

"Too many kids have their heads in the clouds," said state Sen. Anthony Masiello, D-Buffalo. "All they can think of is making it to the big leagues.

"But the odds of relying on athletics as a career are slim at best," added Masiello, a former Canisius College basketball star who has organized the legislature's joint task force on academics and athletes.

The task force, made up of former college athletes who serve as legislators, has scheduled public hearings in May in Buffalo and Albany to examine educational policies affecting the state's student-athletes, the Associated Press reported.

The creation of the task force comes amid increasing attention on student-athletes, their grades and involvement with drugs.

In New York, student involvement in high school athletics is at a record high, Masiello said. In 1985, there were 439,555 student-athletes, compared to 281,995 in 1977, according to state figures.

"The problem of athletes who fail to prepare themselves for life after their playing days is getting worse," said Assemblyman James Tedisco, R-Schenectady, a former basketball star at Union College in Schenectady.

"The media glare on athletes is brighter than ever. It blinds them," he said.

Tedisco said that as a former varsity basketball coach at Bishop Gibbons High School in Schenectady and Bethlehem Central High School, he sometimes found it impossible to tell his players that they didn't have the makings of professional athletes.

Part of the problem, Tedisco said, was pressure from parents and fans.

"It's win, win, win or nothing," he said. "Parents had their children convinced they had to make the pros."

Only 2.5 percent of all major-college football players make it to the National Football League and only 1.1 percent of all major-college basketball players make it to the National Basketball Association, Masiello said.

"Among those reaching the top level of competition in both sports, the average career length is four years," he said.

"That's hardly enough to subsidize a family's lifetime needs," said Masiello, who had tryouts with the Indiana Pacers of the old American Basketball Association and the Buffalo Braves of the NBA after leaving Canisius.

"Sports has a valuable role to play," said Assemblyman John Dearie, D-Bronx, who played basketball at the University of Notre Dame. "But we can't allow the promises of fame and fortune to turn students away from the basic skills that will enable them to earn a living."

"Few things are sadder... than the guys who have gone nowhere since their playing days," Dearie said.

In addition to curriculum requirements in schools and colleges, the task force will study the following issues:

- Tutorial programs for athletes.
- A speakers' bureau of former athletes to promote attention to education.
- A statewide academic-athletics achievement program.

Plan aimed at increasing black students and faculty

College presidents will take steps to get more Blacks onto campuses and make life better for them while they're there, according to a report in USA Today.

A program to be announced by the American Council on Education aims to attract more black students and faculty and to prevent racial harassment, which has been reported on several campuses recently.

The council, representing most college presidents, wants to "create a welcome and supportive climate" for minorities, says chair Frank H. T. Rhodes, Cornell University president.

A council survey shows black enrollment dropped 3.3 percent and black faculty 4.3 percent from 1981 to 1985.

The new program will:

10 selected for NACDA Hall of Fame

The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics will enshrine 10 retired athletics administrators in its hall of fame, it has been announced by NACDA President Homer C. Rice.

"We are proud of this opportunity to annually honor those people who have contributed so much to college athletics," stated Rice, who is director of athletics at Georgia Institute of Technology. "The nominees who eventually are selected for enshrinement are truly outstanding individuals who have usually given a lifetime to the cause of college sports."

The inductees will be honored during NACDA's 22nd annual convention at San Diego's Town and Country Hotel. Ceremonies will be held Monday, June 8, during the annual hall of fame awards luncheon. The featured speaker at the luncheon will be Greg Gumbel, sportscaster with the Madison Square Garden Network.

The new members of NACDA's Hall of Fame are Herb Appenzeller, Guilford College; William Archie, Norfolk State University; Marion Blackinton, Western Illinois University; Sam Butterfield, Hutchinson Community College; Willis Casey, North Carolina State University; Bob Fischer, University of California, Los Angeles; Chena Gilstrap, University of Texas, Arlington; Tony Hinkle, Butler University; Bob Karnes, Drake University, and Americo Mortorelli, University of Wisconsin, Superior.

The NACDA convention, which will attract approximately 650 college athletics administrators, will focus this year on legislative concerns related to the NCAA special Convention June 29-30.

Other topics include the effect on college sports of new tax legislation, steroid usage, substance abuse, and limitations on playing and practice seasons.

Wrestling dropped

Northwest Missouri State University has announced that it no longer will offer intercollegiate wrestling.

Faced with projected budget shortages, the university is in the process of reviewing programs across the campus, said John Mees, vice-president for administration and student services.
