Shillingford named to Council

Jenepher P. Shillingford, director of physical education and field hockey coach at Bryn Mawr College, has been appointed to the NCAA Council as a Division III member, effective immediately.

The NCAA Administrative Committee appointed Shillingford to replace Charles J. Gordon, Rhodes College, who resigned from the Council because of a conference representation conflict.

Shillingford joined the Bryn Mawr physical education staff in 1976 and coached tennis, basketball and lacrosse, in addition to field hockey, before becoming director in 1980.

From 1961 to 1980, she also was affiliated with Immaculata College, where she served as assistant director of physical education and was basketball coach and business manager for basketball. Shillingford also was a physical education instructor and coach at Ursinus College from 1954 to 1959 and lacrosse coach at the University of Pennsyl-

Tisinger appointed to Presidents Commission

Catherine A. Tisinger, president of North Adams State College, has been appointed to fill a Division III vacancy on the NCAA Presidents Commission.

Tisinger replaces James T. Amsler, a charter member of the Commission who retired this summer as president of Salem State College.

A graduate of the College of Wooster with a B.A. in history, Tisinger earned her master's degree and her Ph.D. at the University of Pennsylvania emphasizing South Asia regional studies. She also has done postdoctoral study at Harvard University in educational administration and Asian studies.

She assumed the presidency at North Adams State in 1984 after serving for four years as provost and vice-president for academic affairs at Central Missouri State University.

Tisinger began her career in higher education as a member of the social sciences faculty at Oneonta State University College and then spent five years as a member of the faculty in social sciences and Asian studies at Callison College of the University of the Pacific, where she also was acting provost for a year.

She moved to Metropolitan State University in St. Paul, Minnesota, in 1972, serving over the next five years as vice-president for administrative services, vice-president and

Membership in Association reaches all-time high (1,020)

Beginning September 1, membership in the Association will reach an all-time high of 1,020.

The new total represents a 1.6 percent increase over a year ago, the first time the number topped the 1,000 mark.

The total includes 803 active member institutions, 108 conference members, 53 affiliated organizations and 56 corresponding members.

New active members that have been elected since September 1, 1987, are Division II institutions Wofford College, Wayne State College (Nebraska), Washburn University, Missouri Southern State College, Kearney State College, Fort Hays Kansas State University, Pittsburg State University, Missouri Western State College, Central State University (Oklahoma) and Cameron University.

New Division III institutions include Gordon College, Oglethorpe University, College of Notre Dame (Maryland), Findlay College and College of St. Elizabeth.

Conference members that are new in the past year are the Atlantic Collegiate Football Conference (Division III), Suburban Intercollegiate Soccer League (Division II), Centennial Football Conference (Division III), Big Central Six Soccer Conference (Division I) and Western Water Polo Association (Division I).

There are two new affiliated organizations: South Florida College Baseball Umpires Association and the National Intercollegiate Soccer Officials Association.

The new corresponding members are College of Charleston; Young American Bowling Alliance; College Prospects of America; Collegiate Connections, Inc., and Dick Courtiss.

Among active members, Division II experienced the largest growth with an increase of 12 institutions, and the largest district growth was in 5 with seven new members. Membership in Division I increased by two, and Division III membership declined by six.

The 1.6 percent increase in total membership is the largest in four years.

A review of changes in institutional classification will appear in the September 12 issue of the The NCAA News.

NYSP gets funding boost; other bills could raise total

Congress has approved an increased appropriation for the National Youth Sports Program and has taken action on two other bills that could further boost funding.

Before the recess for the Republican National Convention, House and Senate conferees on the appropriations bill for Health and Human Services and related agencies agreed to an appropriation of $6,669,000 for NYSP for the 1989 fiscal year. That funding marks an increase of $350,000 over last year's appropriation.

The conferees compromised on the amounts earmarked for NYSP by Senate and House members, then applied an across-the-board cut of 1.2 percent to meet overall spending limits for the bill.

The increase in the NYSP appropriation was particularly significant in that the overall Community Services Block Grant, under which NYSP is funded, was reduced by 1.23 percent. Only one discretionary program under the block grant received a greater increase than NYSP.

The action marked a major victory for NYSP supporters, who two years ago had faced a possible 40 percent cut in funding.

"Credit has to go to state NYSP coordinators," said Ruth M. Berkey, former NCAA assistant executive director and NYSP program director. "They worked very hard in educating their representatives on the benefits of these projects."

Among Congressional leaders promoting NYSP on the appropriations subcommittees were Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Massachusetts, and Rep. C. W. "Bill" Young, R-Florida.

The House and Senate also passed a hunger bill containing a provision that added institutions sponsoring NYSP projects to the list of eligible recipients under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's summer food program for children. The President is expected to sign the measure, which likely will result in between $250,000 and $500,000 in increased funding for institutions sponsoring NYSP projects. Private institutions had been ineligible for USDA funds since 1981.

NYSP long has been a source of lunches for underprivileged youth during the summer months.

Supporters of the NYSP provision in the hunger bill included Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, and Sen. David H. Pryor, D-Arkansas.

In other action, an NYSP provision sponsored by Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-California, was incorporated into the House omnibus antidrug-abuse bill. That legislation, expected to pass in the House in mid-September, would provide $15 million during the next year to NYSP and its drug-abuse education programs. That total would grow to $17 million in 1990 and $20 million in 1991.

The House bill would enable NYSP to develop and operate enhanced drug-education and prevention programs for project participants and their families, particularly in areas where there is a high risk of drug abuse. The bill also provides for NYSP activities to be offered year-round, rather than only in the summer.

NYSP could receive some additional funding.

tional benefits under a Senate drug-abuse bill yet to be introduced.

NYSP, which marks its 20th anniversary this year, sponsors projects at 138 institutions in 40 states and the District of Columbia that provide nutrition, medical services, enrichment presentations and sports instruction to some 55,000 disadvantaged youth.

"By combining Federal, state, local and private resources, the NYSP was able to provide more than $3 in high-quality services to needy youngsters for each Federal dollar appropriated," said Berkey in testimony before the appropriations subcommittee. "The NYSP design philosophy recognizes that mind and body must be nurtured together."

Agents dealt with many players

According to information uncovered during an 18-month Federal grand jury investigation, sports agents Lloyd Bloom and Norby Walters allegedly dealt with more than 50 student-athletes who still were undergraduates from 1985 through 1987.

In announcing indictments against the pair August 24, U.S. Attorney Anton Valukas revealed that 43 former student-athletes who signed with the two agents have made pretrial agreements to avoid prosecution in the case. They will perform community service and reimburse a portion of their athletics

February 27 trial date scheduled for sports agents Bloom, Walters

February 27, 1989, has been set as the trial date for sports agents Lloyd Bloom, 29, and Norby Walters, 58, who pleaded innocent August 25 to charges of racketeering, mail fraud, wire fraud and extortion handed down a day earlier in an indictment that also named a third agent and former Ohio State University student-athlete Cris Carter.

Prosecutors and defense attorneys told the Associated Press that the trial, which likely will include testimony from as many as 43 other former student-athletes, could last six to eight weeks.

Bloom and Walters entered innocent pleas before U.S. District Judge George Marovich, who released the pair on their own recognizance.

"We will defend this case extremely vigorously, you can count on that," said Robert Gold, Walters' attorney. Bloom's attorney, M. L. Trope, said August 24, "Lloyd Bloom is a kid who... did not commit any crime. He'll vigorously fight to vindicate himself."

"In every movie I've ever seen, they say, 'Anything you say can and will be used against you,' so I'm not saying anything," Walters offered before arraignment on charges resulting from an 18-month investigation into his and Bloom's dealings with student-athletes.

If convicted, Bloom and Walters each would face a maximum 70 years in prison and $2 million in fines. U.S. Attorney Anton Valukas said the government would seek forfeiture of Bloom's and Walters' interests in their businesses as well as $275,000 in proceeds resulting from the alleged dealings.

Prosecutors claim that Walters and Bloom made payments to outstanding student-athletes in exchange for signed agreements (some postdated) allowing the pair to represent them in professional contract negotiations. The two agents also were charged with inducing student-athletes to defraud their schools by accepting cash and signing agreements in violation of NCAA rules—in some cases through threats of physical harm.

California-based agent Dave Lueddeke also was indicted August 24 as a result of the Federal investigation, as was Carter, now a member of the National Football League Philadelphia Eagles. Carter was charged with obstruction of justice and mail fraud. If convicted, he could face a maximum 10 years in prison and a $500,000 fine, while Lueddeke—charged with perjury and obstruction of justice—would face 15 years in jail and a $750,000 fine if found guilty.

"I am cooperating fully... and could only say that I regret my past mistakes," said Carter, in a statement released by the Eagles.

Charges against him stem from the alleged concealment from the Federal grand jury of a $5,000 payment delivered by Lueddeke. Lueddeke's charges resulted from the same payment.

Problem hasn't been solved, Pittsburgh's Gottfried says

At least one college football coach could have said "I told you so" August 24, following the indictments handed down against three sports agents and former Ohio State University student-athlete Cris Carter. But he didn't.

Instead, University of Pittsburgh coach Mike Gottfried said simply that it was about time.

"I look at (the indictments) as a beginning, not an end," Gottfried added. "(Corruption) has been going on for a long time. There are numerous other bad agents.... I feel sorry for those involved, but this is a chance for people to get a handle on it."

"There have been over 50 players involved in corruption," Gottfried told United Press International, "and it's time to look at what's happening. It's time for the NCAA, the NFL and all of the good agents to take a look at it, and that's what the (Federal) grand jury has done.

"This goes far beyond NCAA violations," Gottfried continued. "(Unscrupulous agents) get (student-athletes who are prospective clients) them with drugs, they set them up with prostitutes.... Now, I just hope people will realize it's a problem."

Legislative Assistance

1988 Column No. 30

Division I academic-reporting procedure

Compliance with the 1988 Division I academic-reporting legislation requires completion of NCAA Form 88-6. Following are interpretations that have been provided by the national office to assist Division I member institutions in completing the Academic Reporting Form.

1. Form 88-6 must be completed in its entirety by any institution classified as a member of Division I by October 1, 1988, even if the institution was classified in a different division prior to that time.

For Division I institutions that have classified a single men's sport (and/or a single women's sport) in Division II or Division III in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaw 10-3, the academic-reporting requirements do not apply to student-athletes participating only in a sport so classified.

Similarly, Division II or Division III institutions that conduct a single men's sport (and/or a single women's sport) in Division I need not submit a report for purposes of Bylaw 5-6(e).

2. Throughout Form 88-6, the term "entering freshmen" refers to individuals who enrolled initially and were classified by the certifying institution as first-time freshmen during the year in question. Individuals who entered the institution after the fall term during an academic year would be included if the institution considered those individuals first-time freshmen.

3. Throughout the form, information should be reported only for those students considered by the institution to be enrolled in a full-time program of studies. In addition, in questions pertaining solely to student-athletes, information should be reported for those student-athletes recruited per O.I. 100 (page 55, 1988-89 NCAA Manual).

4. The form's glossary defines "satisfactory progress" by listing criteria in three areas (i.e., degree progress, institutional progress and NCAA progress). A student-athlete must meet all three criteria to comply with satisfactory-progress requirements.

5. In Item No. 2, student-athletes are included in the total if they were recruited per O.I. 100 and were in attendance at the institution on the first day of classes.

Please note that recruited student-athletes who attended the institution should be included even if they did not participate in intercollegiate athletics. Recruited student-athletes would not be included if they attended practice but left the institution before the beginning of the term.

6. Item No. 5 requests both "core" and overall grade-point averages for entering recruited student-athletes in football and men's basketball for the 1987-88 academic year. Please note that if the reporting institution does not require an overall grade-point average for admissions purposes and the information is not included on a particular individual's official high school transcript, the line for "GPA Overall" should be left blank.

7. In the same item (i.e., No. 5), the "core" grade-point average should be reported on a 4.000 scale; however, if an individual fails to meet the core-curriculum requirement due to the number or distribution of core classes attempted, write "Inc" (for incomplete) on the "GPA Core" line.

8. Please note that the graduation rates in Item Nos. 8 and 9 include only those students who entered the institution as first-time freshmen and not as transfer students.

In addition, this year's form does not include the option to estimate the institutional graduation rate. Accordingly, reporting institutions should submit graduation rates based on reliable data.

9. The most significant change in Form 88-6 is the manner by which information will be reported for student-athletes in cross country and indoor and outdoor track. Information regarding student-athletes in these sports should be submitted under a single-sport heading entitled "Track/Cross Country."

Completed academic-reporting forms, signed by the institution's chief executive officer, must be received in the NCAA national office no later than October 1, 1988. Any form received after that date must have been postmarked no later than September 23. Failure to return a properly completed form by the deadline will render the institution ineligible to enter a team or individual competitors in an NCAA-sponsored meet or tournament during the 1988-89 academic year.

Questions concerning the annual Division I academic-reporting requirement should be directed to John H. Leavens, director of compliance services, at the national office.

This material was provided by the NCAA legislative services department as an aid to member institutions. If an institution has a question it would like to have answered in this column, the question should be directed to William B. Hunt, assistant executive director, at the NCAA national office.

SEC planning legislation to ban grants to partial qualifiers

Following up on its decision in June to tighten academic requirements for incoming freshman student-athletes, the Southeastern Conference plans to introduce legislation at the 1989 NCAA Convention that eventually would eliminate athletically related aid to Bylaw 5-1-(j) partial qualifiers.

The SEC's proposal is expected to be based on rules adopted by league presidents that will phase out grants-in-aid for partial qualifiers by 1993, said Brad Davis, Southeastern Conference information director.

Under those rules, conference schools will be able to award grants-in-aid to only three partial qualifiers for the 1989 and 1990 seasons, two partial qualifiers in 1991 and 1992, and none beginning in 1993. The numbers for basketball and track will be two in 1989 and 1990 and one in 1991 and 1992.

The conference's member institutions will be allowed only a total of two partial qualifiers in each of their other sports during the four-year period before grants are phased out.

"The main thrust is to at least get some discussion going on this," Davis said of the SEC's reasons for the proposal.

Bylaw 5-1-(j) currently permits Division I institutions to award grants-in-aid to partial qualifiers during the freshman year, even though they are ineligible to participate in competition or practice during that year. Partial qualifiers are high school graduates who achieve an overall accumulative grade-point average of 2.000 but fail to achieve a 2.000 GPA in the high school core curriculum and/or a 700 score on the SAT or a 15 on the ACT.

Davis said the SEC proposal currently is being drafted for eventual approval by league presidents.

The SEC is the second conference to make known its intention to propose legislation pertaining to partial qualifiers.

The Colonial Athletic Association recently announced that it would sponsor a proposal to eliminate grants-in-aid for partial qualifiers at the earliest acceptable date (see the August 17 issue of The NCAA News). CAA Commissioner Thomas E. Yeager said he hopes that proposal can be put into effect by August 1, 1989.

NCAA to appeal drug-test ruling

An appeal will be filed in California court of a recent decision that bars the NCAA from requiring Stanford University student-athletes to consent to drug-testing at championships.

"I cannot provide a timetable at this point, but an appeal will be filed in due course," said John J. Kitchin of Swanson, Midgely, Gang-were, Clarke and Kitchin, the Association's Kansas City, Missouri, legal counsel.

"We believe there still are legal questions that the trial court did not adequately answer," Kitchin added. "So, we will appeal to the California Court of Appeals...the state's intermediate appellate court."

When filed, the appeal will be the latest development in litigation that dates back to January 1987, when former Stanford student-athlete Simone LeVant filed a lawsuit challenging the Association's requirement that student-athletes submit to mandatory drug testing to be eligible for participation in NCAA championships competition.

Until the appeal is filed, the most recent development in the case occurred August 10, when Santa Clara County, California, Superior Court Judge Conrad Rushing issued a permanent injunction against NCAA testing of Stanford athletes, following a full trial.

"It appears that the evidence is wholly insufficient to support the NCAA program of testing for drugs in any sport," Rushing wrote, in a 28-page ruling.

The Association's drug-testing program soon will begin its third full year of operation, since Rushing's decision applies only to Stanford student-athletes.

A complete history of the litigation appeared in the August 17 issue of The NCAA News.

Interpretations

1988 Column No. 4

[NOTE: During its August meeting, the NCAA Council reviewed three current official interpretations (Case Nos. 21, 208 and 210) and determined that these cases should be deleted from the NCAA Manual for deregulation purposes. The cases to be deleted are listed in this column. In addition, the Council revised Case No. 100, and the revisions of that case are noted in bold-face type in this column.]

Improper financial aid (Delete Case No. 21)

Situation: A student-athlete reportedly receives improper financial assistance at the branch school of a member institution. The branch school's athletics program is independent of the main campus. (55)

Question: Is the student-athlete ineligible for intercollegiate athletics at the main campus?

Answer: For purposes of determining this student-athlete's eligibility, the branch school is considered a nonmember institution, and the Association's rules would be applied accordingly; i.e., the transferring student-athlete would be considered eligible unless allegations were submitted to the contrary and subsequently substantiated. [C 3-1-(a)-(3)]

Evaluation camp (Delete Case No. 208)

Situation: An individual or organization (such as a privately owned or operated summer sports camp specializing in a particular sport) conducts an organized program of competition or drills in which prospective student-athletes participate, and college coaches are given the opportunity to attend for the purpose of evaluating the athletics ability of the prospects. (111)

Question: Is it permissible for an NCAA member institution's athletics staff personnel to attend such a program or evaluation camp to observe prospective student-athletes work out?

Answer: No. Inasmuch as such a program or camp is conducted in part for the purpose of prospective student-athletes displaying their athletic abilities to coaches from collegiate institutions, attendance by a member institution's athletics department personnel would be a violation of the Association's tryout rule. [B 1-6]

Coach employed by local athletics club (Delete Case No. 210)

Situation: A member institution's coach in a sport is employed by an athletics club or organization located in the institution's home community at least in part to provide instruction or coaching in the same sport. (615)

Question: Is it permissible for prospective student-athletes living in the same community, or in the area withing a 30-mile radius of the institution's main campus, to receive instruction or coaching from the institution's coach without violating the NCAA tryout rule?

Answer: Yes. Such prospective student-athletes may receive such instruction or coaching from the coach as a part of his or her regular duties as an employee of the club or organization. Further, it is not permissible for a prospective student-athlete who is not a legal resident of the area involved to receive such instruction or coaching from the institutional staff member. [B 1-6]

Disabled student-athlete benefits (Revises Case No. 100)

Situation: As a result of injury or illness, a former student-athlete, an enrolled student-athlete or a prospective student-athlete on an official paid visit to the institution's campus incurs permanent disability. The disability precludes further athletics participation or significantly impairs the income earning ability of the former student-athlete. (5)

Question: Is it permissible for the institution or an outside agency, or both, to raise money through donations, benefits or like activities to assist the individual financially?

Answer: Yes, provided that all funds secured shall be controlled by the institution and the money shall be used exclusively to meet those special expenses incurred by the individual as a result of the disability. [C 3-1-(h)-(4) and B 1-1-(b)] director, told the Associated Press he was gratified by the indictments. "This sends a strong message to student-athletes that they can be held accountable if they are involved in a fraud."

At Carter's alma mater, associate athletics director Bill Myles said that "college athletics has gotten a black eye and been bloodied, but we will recover." AP reported.

Another agent, Leigh Steinberg, told USA Today writer John Bannon that agents also were sent a message by the indictments. "In the past, it was the colleges and the players who would pay the price and an agent would walk away scot-free," said Steinberg, in a story published August 25.

"(The indictment) sends a clear message that the early signing syndrome will not be tolerated."

Gene Upshaw, head of the NFL players association, told Bannon the charges against agents Lloyd Bloom, Dave Lueddeke and Norby Walters—and against Carter—were needed. "We owe it to the young men entering professional football and to legitimate agents to get tough on unethical agents."

Player discipline often taken out of coach's hands

By Jay Reeves

Alabama coach Bill Curry says the days are long gone when football coaches could quietly handle discipline problems like those that plagued the Crimson Tide leading up to the start of fall practice.

"What's happening is that it's the kind of thing that used to be swept under the rug," Curry said. But now, he said, "Folks are writing about it. It's the mentality of the press."

That's not to say the old days were all good or all bad. They were just different, said Curry.

"I would love to be able to deal with my team. I think I can deal with them. If people would let me have them, I believe that those guys would not want to do it again," he said in an interview.

For example, Paul "Bear" Bryant used to run the show when Alabama's football team was on the field.

Bill Curry

Those who were around say he also ran things off the field, squelching some discipline problems before they got out of hand.

Bryant dealt with other cases differently, however. In the best-known instance, he suspended Tide quarterback Joe Namath at the end of the 1963 season for violating team rules.

Curry is quick to say he wasn't at Alabama in the Bryant days and doesn't know what Crimson Tide players may or may not have done back then. But he has heard the suggestions that police might have been more likely to take a wayward player to coaches than to jail during the Bryant heyday.

"That's the way it used to be done everywhere," said Curry. "The coach was accorded that and he was supposed to deal with the guys, and he did deal with it. There are a lot of places where it's still done that way, but a lot of our customs are changing."

As it is, Curry said he tells his players to expect increased scrutiny from both the public and the press, which has given plenty of attention to off-the-field troubles at Alabama lately.

Tailback Bobby Humphrey suffered a broken jaw when he and a teammate were jumped outside a bar. One former player was shot within weeks of being dismissed from the team, and another was admitted to an alcohol-treatment program.

Two more players were arrested outside a Tuscaloosa nightclub and were charged with being minors in possession of alcohol. Curry disciplined them.

One long-time Alabama insider who insisted on anonymity said incidents like those of the past summer at Alabama are nothing new, although they never have been common. Bryant, who coached at Alabama from 1958 through 1982, just had a way of dealing with problems before they got too big.

"I think the kids on the Alabama team could get by with more 20 years ago than they do today, as far as the Tuscaloosa police go," he said. "I do think it's a different era."

Even Tuscaloosa County District Attorney Charles Freeman agreed that incidents involving football players seem to become public knowledge more often than they used to. "My impression is that there's not more of it now; we're just hearing about it more."

Curry, who replaced Bryant successor Ray Perkins, said football players should not be allowed to get away with more than the average student just because of their athletics prowess.

"But for a young person who's a teenager who makes some mistakes, I think it's an awful lot of pressure to have those mistakes on the front page of the local paper," he said.

College aid should go to deserving students

The Kansas City Star
Excerpted from an editorial

A college education isn't for everyone. For the last couple of generations, higher education has almost taken on the appearance of an entitlement. But what common sense and honest administrators couldn't accomplish, the cost of a four-year college education may.

Next fall, an education at a good, four-year private school will cost upward of $60,000. At the top of the heap, for the most expensive colleges, parents will pay more than $20,000 a year.

But consider that at just a cheap old public school, it will cost about $6,000 a year this fall. It won't be easy for moderate-income families. With the median household income in the United States now $24,900, a college education without outside help will be out of the question for many students.

Federal subsidies from guaranteed loans to grants have been cut or threatened. Many institutions are hard-pressed to keep up with operating expenses and can hardly be expected to rescue all students with scholarships.

In too many cases, college is a place for remediation or for learning a trade. It's where some just occupy space because a degree is the norm, regardless of their interest in or capacity for academics. Classes are sometimes simply an excuse to while away a few years until maturity sets in.

"The undergraduate college in America... will enrich and, at its best, transform," promised Ernest L. Boyer of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching in a study a few years ago. The hope, he said, is that the "undergraduate experience will lead to a more competent, more concerned, more complete human being."

What's needed now are better methods to ensure that the scholarships, grants and loans go to the ablest students.

Making college more selective—as long as it's not based solely on the family bank account—can be all to the good.

Drug tests not worth cost in loss of freedom

By Dave Kindred
The Atlanta Journal & Constitution
Excerpted from a column

At last, someone has used great good sense to say drug testing has no place in college athletics.

A Superior Court judge in California has ruled against the NCAA, saying the tests discriminate against athletes when there is no reason to believe they use drugs any more than other students (and in many cases less). The judge also found no danger so fearful as to justify suspending a citizen's right to be safe from unwarranted search.

Few things are more terrifying than the prospect of Uncle Sam holding a bottle in the bathroom and saying to every man and woman, "Prove to me you're innocent."

The drug war needs to be fought, yes.

It needs to be fought in college athletics.

But not at even the tiniest cost of constitutionally guaranteed freedom. College football flat ain't that important.

Incredibly, the president of the NCAA says freedom is not the issue. Wilford S. Bailey of Auburn University said the judge's decision was misbegotten. Participation in college athletics is not a right guaranteed by our constitution, Mr. Bailey said; it is a privilege granted when the athlete agrees to certain

'Coach' Broyles urges staff to tackle budget deficit

By Dan Langendorf
Dallas Times Herald

Now is the time for every good Razorback to come to the aid of his university. So says University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, athletics director Frank Broyles.

Broyles recently circulated a memo pleading with every coach, assistant coach, graduate assistant, secretary and janitor in the department to come up with ways to cut costs to avoid a possible $1.6 million budget deficit this year.

"Everyone in this department has an urgent task to seek changes that will reduce our operating costs," Broyles wrote.

"I welcome, plead for and—yes—demand innovation from each of you that will improve our operation and our capability of doing our job better for less money. It is my plan to measure each of you on how much innovation you have incorporated into your work."

The Broyles memo was given a lukewarm reception, athletics department personnel said. Broyles, however, doesn't care what they think. "They don't like it," he said. "But they don't have any choice."

The department last year suffered its first deficit during Broyles' tenure as athletics director, which began in 1974. With costs rising and income staying about the same, the department needed to transfer more than $700,000 out of a reserve fund to balance the budget.

This year's budget is expected to be slightly more than $7 million, Broyles said. Unless cuts are made, Broyles expects a deficit of $1.6 million. He has set a goal for department personnel to come up with $800,000 in savings.

If cuts have to be made, Broyles said, there will be less travel by coaches, better energy management, a moratorium on new equipment, a 15 percent cut in each sport and no more free lunches at the athletics dorm for coaches—moves Broyles expects to save $40,000 a year.

Arkansas, however, isn't the only Southwest Athletic Conference school experiencing budget problems. Not every school is facing a deficit, but athletics directors are finding it harder to maintain the current levels of men's and women's programs while keeping expenditures down and finding ways to increase revenues.

SWC fees to each school for bowls, tournaments and television participation are down. Ticket sales also are hurting.

And Broyles faults college football's poor image recently due to numerous NCAA scandals and problems with professional agents, the overexposure of the game on television, and the generally soft Southwest economy as additional reasons for the tough economic times.

Since men's and women's programs were integrated in 1982 as a result of Title IX, it's costing universities more to maintain their programs. Often football and basketball programs carry all other men's and women's sports.

"It's a battle for a lot of people," University of Houston athletics director Rudy Davalos said.

"We've got a major problem, as I see it," Broyles said. "It's been there for a while, and we've been overlooking it."

Ohio State coach John Cooper doesn't want a football-players-only dormitory.

Incoming freshman athletes will be integrated into student-body housing.

Under a plan by assistant coach Ron Hudson—in charge of team housing—freshmen will share suites with nonathletes in Morrill Tower, one of two high-rise dorms south of Ohio Stadium.

"I think because we recruit these guys as student-athletes, part of their education should come from the association with other students," Cooper said.

Four players and four nonathletes—"chosen by the housing department," Hudson said—will share the suites. There are 21 incoming players.

"I'm sure they are aware of the hours a football player has to keep and hours he needs to sleep," Hudson said, referring to those who will assign the nonathletes.

"There really wasn't a reason to do this other than to make sure the freshman athlete feels comfortable in the university," Hudson said. "It's to help the transition."

"It's also to keep the freshmen pretty close. They are the class of the future. We want to make sure they have an appreciation for one another. We've put them together so they can grow together."

Another reason was to upgrade living conditions. Morrill is perceived as a nicer dorm than Smith or Siebert Halls, where freshman and sophomore athletes have been housed the past few years.

Also, putting players together "will make it easier to monitor them and make sure they are doing the things they need to do to stay in school," Hudson said.

There was an option to make the suites all-football, Hudson said.

But that would have "kept them in their own small world. But a big part of education is what goes on outside the classroom, in the interrelationships," he said. "When you isolate them, that can get old."

Alabama, Miami (Florida), Kentucky and other schools have separate dorms for their players.

"We had one at Tulsa, and we had one at Kansas when I was an assistant there," Cooper said. "I've coached where you didn't have them, too."

"I think this setup is the best of both worlds. You live on campus, have interaction with the students, but you also can become close to your teammates in football."

"There are advantages and disadvantages. The all-football dorm gives you better supervision on things like curfew. You have to have a lot of self-discipline on a team when you don't have a dorm."

Kentucky has toughest I-A schedule this season

By James M. Van Valkenburg
NCAA Director of Statistics

It is a four-horse race for the nation's toughest Division I-A football schedule this season, with Kentucky in front by a nose over Louisiana State, Ohio State and Florida State.

The I-A opponents of the lads from the Bluegrass State won at a .644 pace last season (69-37-5, bowls included) against other I-A teams when not playing the Wildcats—with LSU's foes at .640 (74-41-3), Ohio State's at .636 and Florida State's at .629.

The Seminoles are 23 percentage points above Texas A&M, and the 10 teams after Florida State are just 21 points apart. The schedules of Miami (Florida), Michigan, Notre Dame, Alabama and Southern California complete the top 10.

A simple measurement

The NCAA computer program is a simple one that answers just one question—what did your 1988 I-A opponents do in 1987, bowls included, when not playing you?

Deleting games against the team in question is a vital element. Without it, a big-winner team has no chance to rank high—foes of a 10-1 team would start at 1-10. Conversely, foes of a 1-10 team would enjoy a 10-1 start.

The NCAA program does not go another step and factor in the teams faced by each of your opponents (as does the NCAA basketball program). Thus all 7-4 teams are equal in the football program, assuming each played only I-A foes (and we all know one 7-4 team can be superior to another 7-4 team—just ask either one).

All games vs. teams below I-A are deleted, because I-A teams annually win close to 75 percent of such games (90 percent by the seven conferences always above one million in attendance). But there is no penalty for playing a non-Division I foe, as there is in the basketball program.

Wildcats vs. Tigers

In any case, "toughest" always will be a matter of opinion and colored by regional bias and tradition, tinged by bowls, polls, intersectional history and television coverage. Taking a closer look at the top two, Kentucky and LSU both are in the Southeastern Conference, so they have four common opponents—Alabama, Auburn, Florida and Tennessee. These four were 32-14-3 vs. I-A foes last year.

However, Kentucky's other three SEC foes—Georgia, LSU and Vanderbilt—were 23-11-1 last year, while LSU's other three—Mississippi, Mississippi State and Kentucky—were only 10-21-0 vs. I-A opponents.

But LSU's nonconference lineup is much tougher—Texas A&M, Ohio State, Miami (Florida) and Tulane were 33-12-1 last year vs. I-A teams. Kentucky's three I-A nonconference foes—Indiana, Kent State and Central Michigan—were 19-13-1 vs. I-A teams and its fourth foe, Southern Illinois, is in I-AA, thus deleted.

Adding it all up, Kentucky's 10 I-A opponents were 74-38-5, but this includes a 5-1 record against Kentucky, so its schedule drops to 69-37-5. LSU's adds to 75-47-4, but this includes 1-6-1 vs. LSU, so its schedule goes up to 74-41-3.

The national list traditionally includes only those playing at least nine I-A opponents. Here are the 40 teams playing at least .520 opposition (number of bowl teams in parentheses):

Only exact tie in percentage.

It is quite possible LSU would move above Kentucky if the next step were taken (factoring in the teams faced by each of your opponents). Or, Ohio State or Florida State might move to the top. Ohio State faces Syracuse, Pittsburgh and LSU in nonconference, then eight Big Ten Conference foes (all but Northwestern). Florida State meets Miami (Florida), Clemson, Michigan State, Florida, South Carolina, Virginia Tech, Southern Mississippi, East Carolina, Tulane, and two I-AA teams that do not count in the program—Georgia Southern and Louisiana Tech.

Five teams are facing seven bowl opponents—Kentucky, LSU, Mississippi, Notre Dame and Ohio State. Five are facing four bowl winners—Arizona, Nebraska, Ohio State, Washington State and Wisconsin.

SEC leads

No matter what computer program is used, it will favor teams from conferences that had winning records against I-A teams outside the conference—that is just inevitable mathematically. The SEC led the country again last year with a .673 winning percentage vs. outside I-A teams. Next came the Southern independents at .602, Big Ten at .574, Big Eight at .567, Eastern independents .557, the Pacific-10 Conference .553 and Southwest Athletic Conference .500.

That is why these seven groups hold 37 of the 40 places in the above table. The other three places are held by the Atlantic Coast Conference. The SEC has three teams in the top 10, six in the top 20 and eight in the top 40. Southern independents have four teams in the top

"Georgia Southern has by far the toughest schedule in Division I-AA."

16. There are nine independents in all in the top 40, partly because they are not locked into conference schedules.

A definition needed

Some think the toughest-schedule should be based solely on nonconference games, because a team cannot help what the rest of its conference does. Much depends on how you define "toughest." Should it be simply a count of the tough teams faced, with no regard to the other games?

Nebraska, for instance, meets Texas A&M, UCLA and Arizona State, a combined 26-8-1 vs. I-A foes last year, in three of its nonconference games. Inside the Big Eight, it meets Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Colorado, a combined 27-7 vs. I-A teams in 1987. Those are six very tough opponents.

Football notes

But the Huskers also must face three Big Eight teams that were 2-25-1 vs. I-A teams (and only 2-2 vs. I-AA teams) last year. The NCAA program includes all opponents, however, and these three pull the Huskers down to 15th place.

Preseason will change

Preseason rankings are based solely on the previous year, but many changes are bound to happen. That is why some early-season "upsets" will not look like upsets at all later in the season. For the rest of this season, the NCAA toughest-schedule program will be based solely on 1988 results. That will change things, in a few cases quite drastically, based on history.

Only two teams in the 1987 preseason top 10 made the final top 10, but one was Notre Dame, the leader both times. The other was Florida.

I-AA leaders

Georgia Southern leads the Division I-AA list, which includes those playing at least eight I-AA or I-A opponents. Games against teams below I-A are deleted. Louisiana Tech and Tennessee-Chattanooga are the only I-AA teams with five play-off and/or bowl teams on the schedule. Virginia Tennessee and Alabama-Texas A&M September 17, and many more September 24. It may be the biggest September on record.

Is one loss fatal to a team's national-championship hopes?

Certainly not, judging from history. The Associated Press had the first poll back in 1936; then came United Press International (1950), the Football Writers' Association of America (Grantland Rice Award) in 1954 and the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame (MacArthur Bowl) in 1959.

In 52 seasons since 1936, these four organizations have crowned 66 national champions and exactly half—33—were undefeated and untied.

Going back 20 years to 1968, 11 national champions swept all four awards with a perfect record, a 12th—11-0-0 Oklahoma in 1974—shared the crown (it was on probation), and a 13th—Alabama in 1973—was UPI champion despite a Sugar Bowl loss to Notre Dame (both were perfect going in; the UPI poll came before the bowls, for the last time—all polls since then have come after the bowls).

Oklahoma won two national crowns (in 1975 and 1985) after losses to Kansas. In all, 12 teams since 1968 won or shared a national title despite a loss.

Only one since 1979

Many of the multiple-champion years came about because many polls were held before the bowls. Since 1975, there has been just one multiple-champion year. That was 1978, when Alabama won three awards and Southern Cal one.

Over the past nine years, every national champion swept the four awards, and six of these had perfect records—Alabama in 1979, Georgia in 1980, Clemson in 1981, Brigham Young in 1984, Penn State in 1986 and Miami (Florida) in 1988. The other three—Penn State in 1982, Miami in 1983 and Oklahoma in 1985—were once-beaten teams that took it all by beating perfect-record teams in a bowl (over Georgia, Nebraska and Penn State, in that order).

A pair of 200s

Two of history's 200-victory college coaches (there have been only 16) are living in retirement in a rural area not far from Tallahassee, Florida, reports Bill McGrotha, sports editor of the Tallahassee Democrat.

They are Jake Gaither, 203-36-4 for .844 at Florida A&M, 1945-69, and Darrell Mudra, 200-81-4 for .709 at seven colleges, the last being Northern Iowa, 1983-87. And they just might be joined someday by Florida State's Bobby Bowden, who had 174 career victories entering this season.

Quotes of the week

Michigan State quarterback Bobby McAllister after an early practice: "We're surrounded by toughness. Coach (George) Perles, no doubt he's humble, but he's a tough guy. Everything about our program is toughness and discipline. Even our secretaries are tough."

Bo Schembechler, Michigan coach and one of history's 200-game winners, after The Sporting News picked his team No. 1 in the country: "The Sporting News is the best baseball paper in the country."

Florida State coach Bobby Bowden on the perils of recruiting: "We ran into a storm (en route to visit a prospect), and I leaned over and asked the pilot how he was doing. He said he had bad news and good news. The bad news was that we were lost. The good news was that we were making good time."

Women post sixth attendance record

By Richard M. Campbell
Assistant Statistics Coordinator

Women's national college basketball attendance, bolstered by another record year in NCAA Division I, reached more than three million for the third consecutive year in 1988 and set a record for the sixth straight season.

The national total was 3,301,565, excluding doubleheaders with men's teams, for an increase of 180,406, or 5.78 percent, over 1987. The figures include all 1,190 senior colleges in the country with women's varsity teams—754 of them NCAA members (280 in Division I).

Women's national attendance now has increased by almost 38 percent over the seven seasons of official compilation by the NCAA Statistics Service. The 1988 total is more than 900,000 above the 1982 figure of nearly 2.4 million (all women's rankings over the seven years have been based on "net" attendance; that is, excluding doubleheaders with men). Just for comparison, over the same seven-year period, men's attendance has risen almost 1.4 million, or only 4.5 percent, to 32.5 million.

NCAA Division I totaled a record 1,856,548—up 200,345—and averaged 630 per game, up 58. NCAA Division II averaged 262 (up three) and NCAA Division III 165 (up eight). Division III set a record for total home attendance.

The Southwest Athletic Conference, topped by perennial women's power Texas, led the country's conferences in attendance at 1,838 per game—a national record. It eclipsed the 1,752, also by the Southwest Conference, in 1987. The Big Ten Conference had the highest per-game increase at 472.

For the first time in four years, doubleheaders with men in the Ohio Valley Conference and Southwestern Athletic Conference.

Texas took a third straight attendance title, setting national records in both net total at 122,613 and net per-game at 7,663. Tennessee, Iowa and Ohio State were Nos. 2, 3 and 4. Texas also set records for full-season (home, road, neutral)

"Women's national attendance now has increased by almost 38 percent over seven seasons, compared to 4.5 percent for men"

the Big Ten Conference edged past the Southeastern Conference for second place. The Pacific-10 Conference was fourth.

The SWC, Big Ten, Pac-10, Big West Conference (formerly Pacific Coast Athletic Association), Mountain West Athletic Conference, High Country Athletic Conference, Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference, North Star Conference, Seaboard Conference, Ivy Group and West Coast Athletic Conference all set records for both total and average in 1988.

Doubleheader policies vary widely, from no doubleheaders in the Big Ten to more than 62 percent total at 185,813 and per-game at 5,309. Montana and Washington were the only newcomers to the top 10.

Six teams showed increases of at least 1,000 per game, led by Iowa at 2,880. The others were Tennessee, Washington, Montana, Mississippi Valley State and Texas.

Attendance records

The largest paid crowd ever to see a women's game (23,912) was recorded December 9, 1987, at Tennessee's new 25,000-seat Thompson-Boling Arena. Total attendance was 24,563 for the game with Texas.

The 23,912 surpasses the former record of 15,615 paid on March 27 and 29, 1987, for the NCAA Division I semifinals and finals at Texas (Texas, Louisiana Tech, Tennessee and Long Beach State).

The 24,563 total attendance also surpasses the former mark of 22,157 (14,821 paid) at Iowa for a 1985 game with Ohio State. Four other 1988 crowds made the all-time top 10—15,500 at Iowa (third, vs. Ohio State), 13,320 at Ohio State (fifth, vs. Iowa), 12,288 at Texas (eighth, vs. Louisiana Tech) and 11,336 at Iowa (tenth, vs. Stephen F. Austin State)—giving 1988 five of the top 10 all-time women's crowds.

Below Division I

In Division II, North Dakota State finished first at 2,177 per game, replacing Missouri-Rolla, while West Texas State (1,002) and St. Augustine's (929) were second and third, respectively. Concordia-Moorhead (1,124) replaced Rust as the top team in Division III. Among non-NCAA teams, Southwestern Oklahoma led at 1,486.

The North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference increased its per-game average by more than 80 percent in 1988 (by 327 to 733) and jumped from seventh place to No. 1 among conferences below Division I. The Central States Intercollegiate Conference was second and the Lone Star Conference third. The North Central average of 733 was surpassed by only eight Division I conferences in 1988.

WAC basketball gains TV time

The Western Athletic Conference will have its most extensive regular-season basketball television coverage in 1988-89, according to Commissioner Joseph L. Kearney and Al Seethaler, vice-president and general manager of KUTV-TV in Salt Lake City.

Eleven regular-season WAC games will be televised regionally by KUTV, at least 10 games will be televised by ESPN and one by CBS. Additional games could be included later.

"Obviously, we are pleased with the extent of the coverage and with the outstanding job Al Seethaler and KUTV have done in the syndication of WAC basketball," Kearney said.

"There have been several contributing factors to the increased coverage of the WAC, including the national success the conference has enjoyed in recent years. But the increased exposure also is a reflection of the continued growth of the WAC and of the outstanding support member institutions have in their respective areas.

"The fact that the WAC set a total attendance record last year and has drawn more than one million fans to its arenas for 14 consecutive years is a real tribute to its member institutions," Kearney said.

Men's ice hockey officiating clinics to begin in September

The first of four NCAA regional men's ice hockey officiating clinics will be held in Minneapolis Saturday, September 10.

The regional clinics and an NCAA men's ice hockey rules videotape are part of a two-year pilot officiating program recommended by the Men's Ice Hockey Committee and approved by the NCAA Executive Committee last year. The grant for the program is $21,000 per year.

"Our ultimate goal is to improve the officiating in collegiate ice hockey and to develop consistency in officiating from region to region," said Charles A. Holden Jr., NCAA ice hockey officials coordinator.

"To do that, we need the cooperation of officials, coaches and players. The effort has got to be there from all three parties. The clinic provides an ideal forum for officials and coaches to get a consistent message from the NCAA Men's Ice Hockey Committee."

Holden will conduct the clinics with Bruce M. McLeod, athletics director at the University of Minnesota, Duluth, and chair of the NCAA Men's Ice Hockey Committee, and William J. Cleary Jr., head men's ice hockey coach at Harvard University and secretary-rules editor of the committee.

The presentations will include 1989 rules changes and interpretations; points of emphasis; video instruction and discussion, and a discussion of the mechanics, positioning and techniques of officiating.

Following the clinics, a press conference will be held for local media.

Only head coaches at NCAA member institutions sponsoring varsity men's ice hockey and collegiate ice hockey officials who want to be considered for assignment to the 1989 championships are allowed and required to attend a clinic.

Failure of coaches to attend a clinic may result in a conference having no officials assigned to officiate the NCAA championship, a maximum assessment of $500 for each offense per NCAA member institution or withdrawal of automatic-qualification privileges for the involved conference; or, for independent institutions and members of nonautomatic-qualifying conferences, the possibility of not being considered for at-large selection.

Other clinics include: Ann Arbor, Michigan (Sheraton University Inn), September 11; University of Massachusetts, Boston (McCormick Auditorium), September 18, and Liverpool, New York (LeMoyne Manner Restaurant), October 9.

Copies of the videotape can be purchased for $20. Order forms will be available at each clinic site.

Questions should be addressed to Charles A. Holden Jr., 15 West Emerson, Melrose, Massachusetts 02176; telephone 617/662-8000, or Daniel B. DiEdwardo, NCAA assistant director of championships, at the national office.

Questions/Answers

Readers are invited to submit questions to this column. Please direct any inquiries to The NCAA News at the NCAA national office.

Q Are NCAA postgraduate scholarship funds issued directly to the recipients?

A No. The award must be paid to the university or professional school of the recipient's choice, and the funds then may be distributed at the discretion of the institution as long as they are used to pay expenses of the student's postgraduate education.

NCAA certifies 17 postseason football games

Seventeen postseason football games have been certified for the 1988-89 season by the NCAA Postseason Football Subcommittee of the Association's Special Events Committee, which met August 16-17 in Kansas City.

The subcommittee deferred any action on recertification of the Bluebonnet Bowl until the NCAA Council's October meeting. Bluebonnet Bowl officials are optimistic that a title sponsor can be secured and that overdue payments due to participants will be satisfied in time to be recertified for the 1988-89 season.

The following games are certified for the 1988-89 bowl season (Eastern times listed):

All-American Bowl—Birmingham, Alabama, December 29, 1988, 8 p.m.; Eagle Aloha Bowl—Honolulu, Hawaii, December 25, 1988, 3:45 p.m.; California Bowl—Fresno, California, December 12, 1988, 4 p.m.; Cotton Bowl—Dallas, Texas, January 2, 1989, 1:30 p.m.; Sunkist Fiesta Bowl—Tempe, Arizona, January 2, 1989, 1:30 p.m.; Florida Citrus Bowl—Orlando, Florida, January 2, 1989, noon; Freedom Bowl—Anaheim, California, December 29, 1988, 6 p.m.; Mazda Gator Bowl—Jacksonville, Florida, January 1, 1989, 8 p.m.; Hall of Fame Bowl—Tampa, Florida, December 30, 1988, 2 p.m.; Sea World Holiday Bowl—San Diego, California, December 30, 1988, 8 p.m.; Independence Bowl—Shreveport, Louisiana, December 23, 1988, 8 p.m.; Liberty Bowl—Memphis, Tennessee, December 28, 1988, 8 p.m.; Orange Bowl—Miami, Florida, January 2, 1989, 8 p.m.; The New Peach Bowl—Atlanta, Georgia, December 31, 1988, 1 p.m.; Rose Bowl—Pasadena, California, January 2, 1989, 3:30 p.m.; USF&G Sugar Bowl—New Orleans, Louisiana, January 2, 1989, 3:30 p.m.; John Hancock Sun Bowl, El Paso, Texas, December 24, 1988, 1 p.m.

In reviewing 1987-88 bowl games, the committee noted that the 18 contests certified last season generated gross receipts exceeding $60.7 million, of which $48.8 million was distributed to the participating institutions. This is an increase of more than $2.3 million over 1986-87.

Two-thirds of those responding do not want a play-off system for determining the national champion, the Associated Press reported.

Nine in 10 of the respondents say they feel "a great deal" or "much" pressure to win.

"Everybody pushes the limit. All of us work the rules to our advantage. And in the pushing process, some go over the line."

Bruce Snyder, head football coach, University of California, Berkeley

Forty-one of the responding coaches said they thought some of their peers knowingly cheat. Their estimate of incidence ranged from one percent to 60 percent, with most of the estimates ranging from five percent to 30 percent.

"I think (recent NCAA measures) have helped a great deal in terms of major infractions, but they've had very little impact on minor violations," University of California, Berkeley, coach Bruce Snyder said. "Everybody pushes the limit. All of us work the rules to our advantage. And in the pushing process, some go over the line."

"It's up to the coaches to continue to police and clean up their own group. They are the ones who know what's going on," Dick MacPherson of Syracuse University said.

Many believe tenure for coaches would help ease the win-or-else attitude that they feel prevails throughout the college game. That, in turn, they felt, would reduce the urge to cheat.

"The win-at-all-costs attitude forces coaches to take shortcuts to succeed," said Florida State University's Bobby Bowden, who now feels the pressure of preseason No. 1 predictions. "And the shortcut is to buy players."

"No coach can live up to the expectations of a naive public. Therefore, hiring and firing decisions must be made by the university administration," wrote University of Wisconsin, Madison, coach Don Morton.

Sixty-eight percent of those responding said contract bonuses for graduating a certain percentage of players are wrong.

Lawmaker seeks dissolution of Illinois athletic association

A state agency is considering a proposal to dissolve the University of Illinois Athletic Association, in the wake of a probe that led to the resignation of athletics director Neale Stoner and two others.

State Rep. Tim Johnson says his proposal would require universities to maintain direct control over their intercollegiate sports programs. It will be discussed during September by the Legislative Audit Commission.

On August 28, UI officials announced the resignation of stadium maintenance manager Robert Wright, who was facing punishment for the personal use of association property and workers.

Wright was the third official to quit following an investigation of alleged improprieties within the association, a separate corporation that operates UI intercollegiate athletics programs.

Stoner and associate director Vance Redfern resigned in July after UI officials said employees did personal work at the administrators' homes and on their cars.

Don Wendel, vice-chancellor for administrative affairs, said Wright was told that he faced "rather severe disciplinary action" for his use of association property and employees for his own benefit.

"We're still looking into the value of services and equipment," said Wendel, adding that restitution might be sought from Wright.

"This was not a negotiated resignation in any way at all," Wendel told the Associated Press. "He was notified of our findings, which were substantial... and almost immediately thereafter, he submitted his resignation."

Wendel said the university would continue to turn over the results of its investigation to the Champaign County state's attorney.

"The investigation is virtually complete," he said. "I don't anticipate further disciplinary action at this time."

The university began its investi-

ESPN adds to football schedule

In addition to its schedule of 27 College Football Association (CFA) games, ESPN will televise live 14 other regular-season college football games during the 1988 season.

Included will be ESPN's first-ever live coverage of six Ivy Group games, beginning Saturday, September 17, when traditional rivals Brown and Yale meet. The remaining Ivy games generally will be chosen 12 days before the game.

ESPN's fourth season of Division I-AA Thursday night telecasts will include three games featuring three head coaches with compelling stories: Western Carolina's Bob Waters, who has maintained his job despite being afflicted with Lou Gehrig's disease; former Ohio State coach Earle Bruce, in his first season at Northern Iowa, and Grambling coach Eddie Robinson, the country's most victorious college coach. The first game will be September 15 at 8 p.m. Eastern time when East Tennessee State visits Western Carolina.

The second season of late-night Saturday games will kick off with the first three contests October 8 at 10:30 p.m., when San Diego State hosts Wyoming.

The other two games will be Brigham Young at Wyoming Thursday, September 1, at 10:30 p.m. and the inaugural "Emerald Isle Classic"—Boston College vs. Army from Dublin, Ireland—Saturday, November 19, at 8 a.m.

ESPN will televise at least 48 live college football games during the 1988 season, including the Mazda Gator Bowl, the only bowl game to be played this season on New Year's Day (which is on a Sunday).

gation earlier this year after maintenance employees reported that they were required to do personal work for some officials—things like cleaning Stoner's swimming pool, moving him to a new house, installing cabinets for him and repairing his automobiles.

Similar work was done for other top association officials, the maintenance employees said.

Chancellor Morton Weir said Stoner had about $904 worth of personal work done by employees and used about $8,000 in dry-cleaning services that had been donated to the association.

Stoner is to receive more than $300,000 over the next 14 years as part of a negotiated settlement of his case. Redfern is to receive a maximum of $35,910.

Weir said the association's actual cost for the Stoner agreement would be $157,226 in severance pay, additions to his retirement annuity and the cash value of a life insurance policy. The remainder is a retirement payment Stoner already has earned, he said.

Stoner agreed to repay $904, and Redfern agreed to $2,032 in restitution.

Some argued that Stoner, who had been athletics director for eight years, should have been fired and given nothing, Weir said.

But that probably would have led to a lengthy and expensive court battle, the chancellor said.

Two other association officials—finance director Dana Brenner and golf course superintendent Conrad Stynchula—were reprimanded and ordered to make restitution of $70 and $306, respectively.

Weir said the investigation revealed improprieties within the association, and "we can't put up with it any longer."

He pledged to bring the association under more direct control of the university.

Binders available for storing News

Readers of The NCAA News are reminded that binders, which provide permanent, convenient storage of back issues of the paper, are available from the publishing department.

Each of the rugged, vinyl-covered binders holds 23 issues of the News. They may be purchased for $7.50 each, or two for $14. Orders should be directed to the circulation department at the national office (913/831-8300).

Ohio, Michigan lawmakers seek tougher sports-agent laws

By Robert E. Miller

Ohio State University football coach John Cooper August 30 endorsed a proposal to crack down on sports agents who promise large sums of money to student-athletes signing professional contracts.

Cooper, beginning his first year at Ohio State, told a news conference he backs the proposal 100 percent and believes most college coaches agree that "this is something we have needed for a long time."

Rep. William Schuck, R-Columbus, said his proposal is nearly identical to a measure that was being announced in Detroit at the same hour by Rep. Michael Benane of the Michigan House of Representatives.

With Cooper smiling in agreement, Schuck said "we thought it would be kind of nice if the two Big Ten rivals get together on this." Schuck said that in the absence of Federal regulation of sports agents, the Ohio-Michigan legislation may become a model for other states.

Cooper said while there is a need to prohibit unscrupulous actions by agents, he thinks—and many coaches agree—that the rules should be changed to permit athletes to be paid by colleges and universities to help offset financial temptations.

"A lot of these kids are poor," Cooper said, adding that a payment of $50 a month might be proper.

Schuck's bill would expand an Ohio law enacted earlier this year that grew out of a controversy surrounding Cris Carter, an Ohio State all-America selection who lost his last year of eligibility at Ohio State in 1987 for signing with a professional sports agent.

Carter's action violated an NCAA rule. The rule was not addressed by the June 14 enactment of an Ohio law that requires the disclosure of student-athlete contracts, nor would it be by Schuck's soon-to-be introduced bill.

Sen. Eugene Watts, R-Columbus, who won passage of the existing law with help from Earle Bruce, Cooper's predecessor, said he had not seen Schuck's proposal and would not comment until he had time to study it.

Although Watts' bill was tougher when he introduced it, it emerged as what he called "essentially a disclosure bill," requiring student-athletes to advise their coaches and schools when they have signed such a contract.

Schuck's measure goes further by establishing protections for student-athletes that he said correspond to those given all consumers.

"For instance, under the legislation, only written contracts would be considered valid," he said. "Athletes would have two weeks to study a proposed contract and a three-day, cooling-off period to rescind a contract," he said.

His bill also requires that contracts specify services to be performed by an agent and the amount of the agent's compensation along with the agent's qualifications and background.

In addition, it outlaws bribes and sets a limit of five percent on the agent's ownership or control of investments carried out under the agent's direction, and establishes the right of athletes to audit agents' books and records and to sue for violations of an agreement.

Miller writes for the Associated Press.

Committee Notices

Member institutions are invited to submit nominations to fill interim vacancies on NCAA committees. Nominations to fill the following vacancies must be received by Fannie B. Vaughan, executive assistant, in the NCAA office no later than the dates indicated below.

Men's and Women's Tennis Committee: Representing men's tennis—replacement for Steve Beeland, formerly at the University of Florida (no longer at a member institution effective July 1, 1988). Appointee must be a Division I representative of men's tennis. Representing men's tennis—replacement for David Geatz, University of New Mexico, who has accepted a position at the University of Minnesota, effective September 1, 1988. Appointee must be a Division I representative of men's tennis. Nominations must be received by September 21.

Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports: Replacement for James C. Jones, Texas Tech University. Appointee must be a male director of athletics. Nominations must be received by September 28.

Convention schedule change noted

Conferences and affiliated members of the NCAA are being notified of an error in the preliminary meeting schedule that was mailed August 11 for the 1989 Convention.

Due to limited space availability at the San Francisco Hilton January 11, 1989, the delegates luncheon, which appears on the preliminary meeting schedule, will not be held at this year's Convention.

Convention Director Louis J. Spry, the Association's controller, has indicated that conferences and other groups requesting meeting space for Wednesday and/or Thursday, January 11-12, will be advised of the status of those requests in October.

Questions concerning Convention arrangements should be directed to Spry or Lydia L. Sanchez, assistant Convention director, at the national office.

League ties sought

John Carroll University has applied for readmission to the Ohio Athletic Conference, to which it belonged from 1932 to 1949.

Currently, the institution is a member of the Presidents' Athletic Conference.

The Rev. Michael J. Lavelle, John Carroll president, said, "We are committed to the Division III policy of nonscholarship athletics. Membership in the OAC will allow us to upgrade the quality of our intercollegiate-athletics competition for both men and women while holding true to this policy."

Athletics director Tony DeCarlo said, "The PAC has been good for us, but I am excited about the many benefits that returning to the OAC will have for us."

Schultz to speak

NCAA Executive Director Richard D. Schultz will be the guest speaker for the awards banquet during the state conference of the Kansas Special Olympics.

Schultz will speak from 8:30 to 9 p.m. September 16 at the Holidome in Manhattan.

State legislation relating to athletics

This report summarizes legislation currently pending in state legislatures that, if passed, could affect intercollegiate athletics programs and student-athletes at NCAA member institutions.

Set forth below is a list of 93 bills from 26 states that have been introduced or carried over into this session, organized alphabetically by state.

Only three bills of interest have been introduced since the last report (see May 25, 1988, issue of The NCAA News), and each is marked with an asterisk. The relatively low level of legislative activity may be attributable to only 19 of the 50 state legislatures being in session after May 9, and of those, 13 already are scheduled to have recessed.

This report is based on data provided by the Information for Public Affairs on-line state-legislation system as of August 8, 1988. The listed bills were selected for inclusion in this report from a larger pool of bills concerning sports, so they do not necessarily represent all bills that would be of interest to individual member institutions. Bills pending in the District of Columbia Council and the legislatures in the U.S. territories are not available on-line and are not included.

The NCAA has not verified the accuracy or completeness of the information and is providing this summary as a service to members. For further information regarding the bills, members should contact the state legislature concerned.

As an overview, the table below summarizes the number of bills included in this report by subject.

Athlete agents . . . . .	30
Ticket scalping . . . . .	16
Steroids . . . . .	12
Athletics grants . . . . .	8
Athletics trainers . . . . .	3
Violation of athletics
association rules . . . . .	3
Drug testing . . . . .	3
Women's athletics . . . . .	2
Sport gambling . . . . .	2
Compensation of student-athletes . . . . .	2
Required intrastate competition . . . . .	2
Miscellaneous . . . . .	10

Since the last report, nine bills in seven states have become law. These include five bills regulating athlete agents, two pertaining to ticket scalping and two prescribing penalties for selling or distributing anabolic steroids.

rules.

No one can argue that. An athlete does in fact have a choice. If he doesn't like the NCAA rules, he can choose not to participate. That's true. But the rights-or-privilege argument is mean-spirited and deceitful. Mr. Bailey knows young men and women would do anything to play their game. They would give up anything, even a freedom that in adolescence they don't fully appreciate.

So the NCAA uses the athletes' competitive desire as a lever to pry away from them their right to live as freely as any American citizen.

The athlete is powerless to fight back and so accepts oppression as the cost of playing his game. The NCAA's message to the athlete is: Give up your freedom, and we'll let you do work that enriches you, your powerful bosses. (Is it slavery? Or extortion? Both maybe?)

It makes sense to do drug tests on certain people. We don't want a cokehead with his trigger finger on nuclear missiles. But why test a college kid playing ball? He may fumble a kickoff. Big deal. The worst-case scenario is Len Bias—and Maryland had a testing program that never found Bias dirty.

A college athlete leads an unusual life, equal parts athlete and student. But before he is allowed to do those two full-time jobs (with no pay beyond a scholarship), he must submit to examinations, the purpose of which is not to guarantee the athlete any rights but to absolve the boss of liability.

The athlete must sign papers swearing he is honest, trustworthy and academically eligible. After that, he must urinate in a bottle so the school can test his bodily fluids to be sure he isn't lying. He must be at the training table for breakfast, get to class, be back at the training table at noon, get to practice by 2:30, go to training table for dinner, sit in study hall, get to bed by curfew, wake up and do it again the next day.

The athlete's life is defined by the coach's authoritarian nature. It is, as a player once said, "like being in a cage."

Colleges still practice hypocrisy, oppression and exploitations of athletes. They add bars to the cage every year.

Summary of NCAA Council actions

Following is a listing of all actions taken by the NCAA Council in its August 3-5, 1988, meeting in Monterey, California.

Committee reports

Academic Requirements: The Council.

Approved a recommendation that the practice of combining the best scores from multiple ACT or SAT examinations be continued.

Approved a recommendation that the effective date for requiring member institutions to obtain official test scores from the testing agencies be August 1989.

Approved the development of proposed legislation to permit countable financial aid to be awarded to prospective student-athletes to attend awarding institutions' summer sessions, provided the prospective student-athletes are admitted unconditionally on the same basis as nonathletes and are subject to the Association's transfer provisions.

Bylaw 5-1-(j) Exceptions: The Council approved the subcommittee's decision to require waiver applications to be received by October 1 of a student-athlete's second academic year of collegiate enrollment, except that a student-athlete who first enrolled at a member institution during the 1986-87 academic year would be permitted to apply until October 1, 1988. A nonrecruited student-athlete's application may be submitted up to six months after he or she first reports for practice or competition.

The Council accepted a report summarizing the subcommittee's actions. That report appeared in the August 17 issue of The NCAA News.

Deregulation and Rules Simplification: The Council.

Approved a recommendation that in the event the playing- and practice-seasons bylaw in the revised NCAA Manual is presented on a sport-by-sport basis, it should be published, if possible, as a separate volume from both the master Manual and the eventual division operating manuals.

Approved a recommendation that a series of articles on selected features of the revised Manual be published this fall in The NCAA News.

Approved a recommendation that the current recommended policies be excluded from the revised Manual.

Voted that examples of major and secondary violations that were read into the record of the June 1985 special Convention shall not be incorporated in the enforcement procedures in the revised Manual.

Approved draft resolutions by which the membership will be asked to adopt the revised NCAA Manual at the 1989 Convention. The Council will sponsor such resolutions.

Approved Council sponsorship of a "deregulation consent package" comprising five legislative proposals.

Approved Council sponsorship of an amendment to permit member institutions and charitable or educational organizations to utilize a student-athlete's name, picture or appearance to support certain charitable or educational activities.

Remanded to the special committee a proposal to add a student-athlete handbook and to eliminate the press guide, recruiting brochure, game program and summer-camp brochure from the list of permissible printed recruiting materials in Divisions I and II.

Approved Council sponsorship of an amendment to eliminate restrictions on the participation of prospective student-athletes in high school all-star competition.

Approved Council sponsorship of legislation to modify regulations regarding payment of transportation costs for student-athletes to travel to NCAA championships and special events during vacation periods.

Approved Council sponsorship of an amendment to replace the three options for calculating the permissible starting date for preseason football practice with a single provision that would determine the first practice date on the basis of a maximum of 29 "practice opportunities" prior to the first scheduled contest. The special committee had recommended the 21-day calendar provision instead.

Division I-AAA Football Classification: The Council tentatively endorsed the concept of establishing a Division I-AAA football classification, with the understanding that the following issues will receive further review and that the matter will be included in an encompassing study of issues involving the NCAA membership structure:

- The 40 percent scheduling requirement included in the proposal.
- The timetable for establishing a Division I-AAA football championship.
- The proposed 24-hour limit on a prospect's official visit, especially in view of proposed limitations on payment of expenses for such visits.

Differing treatment of student-athletes in terms of financial aid considerations, in view of the proposal that a maximum of 20 football student-athletes would be permitted to receive need-based aid with athletics ability considered, while the rest of the team members' aid could not include athletics considerations.

- The impact such a classification would have on other divisions and subdivisions, especially Divisions I-AA and II.

Provisions for additional coaches for subsvarsity teams.

- Whether a Division I institution could continue to opt for Division II or III football classification if a I-AAA classification is created.

Eligibility: The Council.

Agreed to sponsor legislation to increase the number of Division I representatives on the committee from four to five.

Agreed to sponsor legislation to amend Bylaws 5-1-(m)-(4) and 5-1-(n)-(1) to remove the necessity of Eligibility Committee action in approving waivers under those provisions.

Appointed Della Durant, Pennsylvania State University, to replace Edwin D. Muto as chair of the committee effective September 1, 1988.

Financial Aid and Amateurism: The Council reviewed the committee's alternative recommendations regarding systems of awarding financial aid to student-athletes at least in part on the basis of need, as presented at the June National Forum session. The Council agreed to take no action at this time, instead directing the staff to prepare a report, for consideration in October, comparing various systems for awarding financial aid, including strengths and weaknesses of each, as well as illustrations of the effects each system would have on individuals and institutions. The report also is to include clarifications of Federal guidelines regarding Pell Grants and other awards.

Incorporation of Interpretations and Legislation in the NCAA Manual: The Council accepted a preliminary report from the special subcommittee and agreed to provide individual Council members' comments directly to the chair of the subcommittee.

Minority Opportunities in Intercollegiate Athletics: The Council praised the special subcommittee for its work and directed it to continue until at least July 1989.

Postgraduate Scholarship: The Council: Approved revision of current policies to provide that postgraduate scholarship recipients may enroll for postgraduate study within five years from the date of the award.

Authorized the committee to grant exceptions to the five-year requirement in extraordinary circumstances.

Asked the committee to study further and to clarify its recommendation that a postgraduate scholarship could be used for part-time study, especially in view of the recent increase in the amount of the grant.

Approved a recommendation that other delay exceptions be discontinued.

Approved the application of the new policies to recipients in the 1987-88 academic year.

Approved continuation of the current scholarship allocations and selection procedures through 1988-89, with the understanding that the committee will continue to monitor such matters.

Professional Sports Liaison: The Council: Requested opinion of legal counsel regarding the implications of permitting a student-athlete with eligibility remaining in basketball to retain eligibility after entering his or her name in a professional league's draft; referred the matter to the NCAA Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism for further review.

Supported formation of a developmental funding subcommittee to provide a communication link between intercollegiate athletics interests and professional sports organizations, gather information identifying the needs and concerns of each, prioritize requests for support, and make recommendations as to the use of such funds.

Recruiting: Referred to the Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism a proposed amendment to Constitution 3-4-(b) that would permit an institution to award an additional year of financial aid to a student-athlete who previously had received five years of institutional financial assistance or who had exhausted the six-year financial period set forth in that legislation.

Declined to approve a recommendation that the recruiting calendars in Bylaws 1-2 and 1-3 be moved to the proposed administrative regulations in the revised NCAA Manual but agreed that such action might be considered in the future.

Special Events: The Council took these actions regarding recommendations by the committee's Postseason Football Subcommittee:

Approved fines assessed by the subcommittee to eight 1987-88 bowl games for violations of governing rules and regulations, per Bylaw 2-2-(q).

Approved certification of 17 bowl games for 1988-89, as recommended by the subcommittee, noting specifically that no action was taken in regard to recertification of the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Authorized the Administrative Committee to take any necessary actions regarding certification of the Bluebonnet Bowl for 1988 or certification of two proposed new bowls for 1989, the Cactus and Crab Bowls.

Agreed to sponsor an amendment to Bylaws 2-2-(k)-(1) and 2-2-(l)-(1) to prohibit the offer or acceptance of formal invitations for bowl-game participation during the periods set forth in the legislation, but asked the Special Events Committee to review the wording of the proposal prior to the October Council meeting.

Women's Athletics: Agreed to sponsor legislation to amend Constitution 5-2-(a)-(5) to permit a member conference's full-time salaried primary woman administrator to serve on the Executive Committee.

Agreed to sponsor an amendment to Bylaw 12-3-(r) to delete the requirement that one member of the women's committee be an undergraduate student-athlete.

Women's Committee on Committees: In response to an earlier recommendation by this committee, the Council reviewed a report concerning sports committee sizes, representation and duties. Noting that the Division I

Steering Committee opposed the concept of increasing sports committee sizes to assure representation of every championships region, that the Division II Steering Committee intends to survey the Division II members of sports committees in this regard and that the Division III Steering Committee had requested additional information (regarding the number of institutions participating in each championship), the Council agreed to take no action at this time.

Division III Steering: The steering committee:

Approved sponsorship of an amendment to Bylaw 6 to specify that a Division III student-athlete may receive financial aid related to transportation and other expenses incidental to attendance, provided the total value of all financial aid does not exceed the cost of attendance that normally is incurred by students enrolled in a comparable program at that institution.

Denied a request by Mount St. Mary College (New York) for approval of an award of circumstance.

Agreed to consider legislation in October that would permit a student-athlete who transfers from a two-year or a four-year institution to a Division III institution to be immediately eligible upon transfer.

Directed that a survey be sent to the Division III membership regarding the proposed elimination of Bylaw 1-2-(d).

Agreed that the provisions of Case No. 92 were meant to apply only to professional staff members in the financial aid office, not to clerical workers.

Referred to the Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism the application of NCAA legislation and, specifically, Case No. 409 to the provision of loans to Division III student-athletes.

Requested additional information regarding the intent of a proposed amendment to Bylaw 3-3-(l) to specify that a Division III member institution may exempt only one football contest in one of the situations set forth in Bylaws 3-2-(h) and 3-3-(g) during a four-year period and to specify that the institution shall not participate in an NCAA-sanctioned foreign tour in football during the same four-year period.

Confirmed that the preseason conditioning program in basketball set forth in Case No. 245 should be included in the 21-week playing-season limitation and asked that this information be reported in The NCAA News.

Requested legislation to stipulate that, in softball, each date of a tournament shall be counted as one contest, and that an institution not use this counting provision for more than two tournaments during an academic year.

Recommended that the Legislation and Interpretations Committee review the question of whether indoor and outdoor track should be treated as separate sports for purposes of the 21-week playing season; expressed the view that those sports should be treated separately in that regard.

Recommended that the Legislation and Interpretations Committee review the issue of participation by Division III student-athletes on club teams involving the member institution's coach during the institution's declared playing season.

Recommended that the issue of regional vs. national championships in Division III be a topic of discussion at the division's business session in January.

Considered establishing a November 21 starting date for winter sports but took no final action.

Division II Steering: The steering committee: Requested that one position on the Committee on Infractions be reserved for a representative of Division II or Division III.

Recommended that the Council ask the Executive Committee to study the feasibility of providing catastrophic injury insurance for all Division II student-athletes as is now done for student-athletes in Division I.

Agreed to invite the Division II subcommittee chair of the Presidents Commission to attend the October meeting of the steering committee.

Division I Steering: The steering committee: Agreed that comments from a former chair of the Committee on Infractions concerning certain aspects of the infractions appeals process would best be considered by the Council Subcommittee to Review Compliance and Enforcement Programs.

Appointed Judith R. Holland, University of California, Los Angeles, as chair of the Division I Women's Basketball Committee.

Presidents Commission National Forum

The Council reviewed a report on the Commission's June 19, 1988, meeting and discussed the June 20-21 National Forum session. It then considered a revised version of the document concerning NCAA procedures, reviewed in the Council's April meeting, and took these actions:

Directed the staff to prepare a document proposing two alternative legislative calendars for distribution via The NCAA News prior to the Council's October meeting, as recommended by the Division I Steering Committee. One alternative would reflect the extended legislative calendar proposed in the National Forum by President Wilford S. Bailey, with an annual legislative Convention; the other would permit introduction of new legislation only in alternating years and would propose possible activities in the "off" years. The document also will address the desirability of increasing the number of sponsors required for submission of amendments and/or amendments to amendments.

Agreed that the Administrative Committee will appoint a special committee to study NCAA membership structure issues, with the committee to represent the various divisions and subdivisions, as well as the Council.

Miscellaneous

The Council considered five alternative approaches to enhance student-athlete involvement in NCAA deliberations and endorsed the concept of establishing a standing student-athlete advisory committee, which would serve as a resource to the Association in obtaining student-athletes' views of appropriate issues. The staff was directed to prepare a more detailed proposal concerning the formation of and charge to such a committee for review in October.

The Council reviewed a compilation of existing Council operating policies and procedures that do not appear elsewhere in NCAA printed materials. It approved the development of a handbook of information for new Council members, including the approved operating policies and procedures.

The Council reviewed the quarterly governmental affairs report, which then was printed in the August 17, 1988, issue of The NCAA News.

Faculty athletics representatives serving on the Council met informally to discuss the Faculty Athletics Representatives Forum and the recent attempt to establish a formal organization of faculty representatives. The Council adopted the faculty representatives' recommendations that it express support for continued involvement of faculty representatives in the existing NCAA Convention forum; that a formal organization not be established at this time, recognizing the importance of the role of faculty representatives in establishing institutional positions, as well as the need for their contributions through the established NCAA structure, and that the need and desirability of a meeting of an ad hoc group of faculty athletics representatives to review academic proposals prior to NCAA Conventions be evaluated on an annual basis, especially taking into account the effects of possible changes in the legislative process.

Administrative Committee

The Council approved all actions in 1988 Administrative Committee Conference Nos. 7 through 11, as published in earlier issues of the News. It noted for the record the Division III Steering Committee's concern regarding continued movement of Division II institutions' football programs into the Division III football classification.

Membership

The Council and division steering committees took the following actions regarding membership applications and requests:

Approved a request by James Madison University for a transfer of district membership from District 3 to District 2.

Elected Collegiate Connections, Inc., Orlando, Florida, and Dick Courtiss, Duxbury, Massachusetts, to corresponding membership.

Denied a request by St. Francis College (New York) for a waiver of the minimum sports sponsorship criteria by Bylaw 11-1-(c).

Approved a request by Augusta College for a waiver of the minimum number of contests in women's basketball per Case No. 405.

Approved request for waivers of the minimum number of contests per Bylaw 11-4-(b)-(5) for Fayetteville State University and Mississippi University for Women.

Elected the College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station, New Jersey, and the College of Notre Dame, Baltimore, Maryland, to active membership in Division III, effective September 1, 1988.

Elected the Centennial Football Conference to conference membership in Division III.

Approved a two-year waiver (including 1987-88) of the four-sport criterion per Constitution 4-2-(h)-(2) for Spring Garden College.

Approved a three-year waiver (including 1987-88) of the minimum sports sponsorship requirements for women per Constitution 4-2-(h)-(2) for the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy.

Denied a request by Potsdam State University College for a waiver of the spring-sport sponsorship requirement for women per Constitution 4-2-(h)-(3).

Approved a one-year geographical waiver of the basketball scheduling requirement per Bylaw 11-3-(h) for California State University, Stanislaus, on the condition that the institution schedule at least 40 percent of its contests in basketball against Division III institutions in 1989-90 and reach full compliance with the criterion in 1990-91.

Convention, Legislation

The Council voted to sponsor (or affirmed earlier action to sponsor) the following legislation at the 1989 NCAA Convention, in addition to other proposals that it agreed to sponsor listed elsewhere in this summary:

Bylaw 1, to define a prospective student-athlete as an individual who has started classes for the ninth grade.

Bylaw 1-1-(b)-(4), to clarify that Division III institutions are permitted to provide to prospects information of a general nature that is available to all students.

Bylaw 1-2-(a)-(5), to revise the Division II football contact period by moving it one week later.

Bylaws 1-2-(a)-(6) and 1-3-(a), to revise the Division I contact and evaluation period in men's basketball to permit those activities on certain altered dates without expanding the total number of days during which such activities may occur.

Bylaws 1-2-(a)-(6) and 1-3-(b), to establish April 16 as the end of the spring contact period; reduce the evaluation calendar by seven days; begin the December evaluation period one week earlier; provide evaluation opportunities during official tryouts for the ABAUSA Olympic Festival, and adjust evaluation dates, without increasing the total number of evaluation opportunities, for states that play high school basketball in the fall.

Bylaw 1-2-(a)-(7), to move the Division II basketball spring contact period one week later.

Bylaws 1-2-(f) and 1-3 (to be sponsored by the Division I Steering Committee), to prohibit in person contact with and evaluation of prospective student-athletes by a Division I member institution's coaching staff member on or off campus in conjunction with any athletics event involving prospective student-athletes in the sports of football and basketball, unless such contact or evaluation occurs within the permissible contact or evaluation periods for those sports, it being understood that evaluation (but not contact) is permitted if such a prospective student-athlete is participating on the member institution's campus in a sport other than football or basketball.

Bylaw 1-2-(g), to apply the contact restriction outlined in that legislation to any athletics competition in which a prospective student-athlete is a participant, regardless of the site of the competition.

Bylaw 1-6-(d), to specify that developmental-clinic participants shall not receive recruiting presentations and must reside in the state in which the host institution is located or within 100 miles of the host institution.

Bylaw 1-7, to incorporate a series of modifications in that legislation, with the understanding that the proposal would not preclude free admission to a summer sports camp or summer clinic for children of institutional faculty and staff members.

Bylaw 1-9-(b), to increase from 15 to 18 the number of permissible paid visits that a Division I institution may provide to prospects in basketball.

Bylaw 1-9-(f)-(1), to confirm that a member institution is permitted to transport a prospective student-athlete to view off-campus practice and competition sites and institutional facilities located within a 30-mile radius of the institution's campus during a self-financed visit.

Bylaw 11-3-(c), to confirm that all expenditures and revenues for or in behalf of a Division III member institution's athletics program are subject to the institution's regular financial audit.

Bylaw 12-6-(q), to increase from six to 12 the size of that committee and to establish committee responsibilities consistent with those of other sports committees that are responsible for three championships; agreed to review the proposal again in October.

Constitution 3-1-(h)-(4), to permit member institutions to provide optional health insurance to student-athletes as a benefit incidental to intercollegiate athletics participation.

Constitution 3-1-(h)-(4), to include among those benefits considered incidental to athletics participation counseling expenses related to the treatment of eating disorders.

Constitution 3-9-(c)-(2), to confirm that student-athletes in sports other than basketball may compete during the season in officially recognized state and national multisport events sanctioned by the Council.

Constitution 4-6-(c), to authorize the Council to terminate or suspend the membership of affiliated or corresponding members.

Constitution 5-1-(a)-(6) and 5-2-(a)-(5), to permit a member conference's primary woman administrator (who does not serve as the conference's executive officer) to be eligible to serve on the Council and the Executive Committee.

O.1. 106, to confirm that the limitations on total visits set forth in Bylaw 1-9 apply separately to the period in which a prospective student-athlete is in high school and to the period following the prospect's completion of high school.

Bylaws 2-2 and 3-2 (to be sponsored by the Division III Steering Committee), to remove Division III members from all legislation related to postseason football bowl games and to specify that the last football contest for members of that division shall not be played outside the traditional segment or the second Saturday or Sunday in December, exclusive of the Division III Football Championship, international competition approved by the Council or the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football championships.

Bylaw 3-1-(k), to confirm that if the day prior to the beginning of a traditional segment as specified in Bylaw 3-1 is a Sunday, the member institution may designate the preceding Saturday for issuing equipment and taking squad pictures.

Bylaw 10-3-(b) (to be sponsored by the Division III Steering Committee), to specify that a Division II member institution that is classified in Division III in football shall not be eligible for the Division III Football Championship unless its football program was so classified prior to September 1, 1988.

Bylaw 12-3-(r), to delete the requirement that one member of the Committee on Women's Athletics be an undergraduate student-athlete.

Bylaw 12-6-(i), to reduce the Division II membership of the Field Hockey Committee from three to one and to create two at-large positions.

Executive Regulation 1-1-(a), to confirm

See Council, page 17

Administrative Committee minutes

1. Acting for the Council, the Administrative Committee:

a. Noted that members of the Council had expressed interest in conducting that group's August 1989 meeting in Jackson Hole, Wyoming, but suitable facilities are not available at that location on the dates involved; directed the staff to investigate Bar Harbor, Maine, and San Diego, California, in that order, as the site for that meeting.

b. Appointed Jenefer P. Shillingford, Bryn Mawr College, to the Council, replacing Charles J. Gordon, Rhodes College, resigned due to a conference-representation conflict.

c. Reappointed Louise Albrecht, Southern Connecticut State University, to the Women's Basketball Rules Committee.

d. Appointed Ishmell H. Edwards, Rust College, to the Division III Women's Basketball Committee, replacing Rose Price, North Central College, resigned.

e. Reappointed Lawrence R. Bock, Juniata College, to the Division III Women's Volleyball Committee.

f. Discussed appointment of the Special Committee to Review the NCAA Membership Structure, authorized by the Council in its August meeting, and agreed to appoint that committee in the Administrative Committee's September 8 telephone conference.

g. Agreed to meet with the officers of the NCAA Presidents Commission during the afternoon of September 28, immediately after the Commission's fall meeting in Kansas City, Missouri.

2. Acting for the Executive Committee,

Conference No. 13
August 26, 1988

the Administrative Committee:

Noted that in 1986, the former NCAA Long Range Planning Committee had recommended development of a publication for the enrolled student-athlete, comparable to the NCAA Guide for the College-Bound Student-Athlete, but the Executive Committee had concluded that NCAA material of that nature should be included in institutional and conference publications, rather than provided separately; decided to defer implementation of such an approach until the student-athlete advisory committee and/or regional meetings of student-athletes, discussed by the Council in August, have been established and secure student-athletes' reactions to such a publication through those means, after which a recommendation will be presented to the Executive Committee.

3. Report of actions taken by the executive director per Constitution 5-1-(g). Acting for the Council:

a. Granted a waiver per Constitution 3-1-(h)-(4)-(vii) for the University of Maryland, College Park, to offer an honorarium award (which originated from a cancer research foundation) to a student-athlete to help offset medical expenses incurred during his treatments for cancer.

b. Approved three summer basketball leagues (two for men and one for women) per Constitution 3-9-(b)-(1), as previously listed in The NCAA News.

c. Granted waivers per Constitution 3-9-(b)-(4)-(vi) to permit student-athletes from various member institutions to participate on an Amateur Sports Development foreign tour to Fiji.

d. Granted waivers of the tryout rule per

Bylaw 1-6-(d)-(1) as follows:

(1) Bowling Green State University, developmental basketball clinic.

(2) Member institutions, U.S. Field Hockey developmental clinics.

c. Granted a waiver of the tryout rule per Bylaw 1-6-(d)-(2) to Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, two open cross country events.

f. Granted waivers of the tryout rule per Bylaw 1-6-(d)-(5) as follows:

(1) Houston Baptist University, local gymnastics club activities.

(2) Louisiana State University, various high school athletics events.

(3) St. Cloud State University, various USA Wrestling and state wrestling association-sponsored activities.

(4) Northwestern University, Maccabi Youth Games activities.

g. Approved foreign tours per Bylaw 3-6-(b) as follows:

(1) State University of New York, Albany, men's basketball team to Holland and France, August 22 to September 1, 1988.

(2) University of California, San Diego, women's basketball team to Fiji, August 11-20, 1988.

(3) Holy Cross College, field hockey team to West Germany, Austria and Switzerland, August 17-27, 1988.

h. Granted a waiver per Bylaw 6-4-(e)-(2) to permit Auburn University to waive the requirements of Bylaw 6-4-(e)-(1) and exempt one scholarship in the sport of football that was offered in the 1987-88 academic year. Appropriate medical documentation has been submitted indicating that the student-athlete's injury clearly appeared to be incapacitating.

i. Approved changes of division membership and assignments of institutions to restricted membership effective September 1, 1988. These membership actions will be reported in a separate story in the September 12 issue of The NCAA News.

j. Appointed the following NCAA delegates to attend the annual meeting of the Amateur Basketball Association of the USA: Tom Apke, Appalachian State University (NCAA representative, ABAUSA Council); David R. Gavitt, Big East Conference (ABAUSA vice president for men); Thomas W. Jernstedt, NCAA; C. M. Newton, Vanderbilt University (ABAUSA treasurer); and Pat Head Summitt, University of Tennessee, Knoxville (ABAUSA vice-president for women).

Council

that an NCAA championship that is discontinued due to failure to meet minimum sponsorship requirements specified in Executive Regulations 1-1-(a)-(1) and (2) and that subsequently is proposed for reestablishment must then meet the higher sponsorship requirements in Executive Regulations 1-1-(a)-(1) and (2) and that subsequently is proposed for reestablishment must then meet the higher sponsorship requirements in Executive Regulations 1-1-(b)-(1) and (2).

The Council agreed not to sponsor or took other action on the following legislative proposals:

A proposal to eliminate recruiting brochures as permissible printed recruiting aids in Divisions I and II was referred to the Recruiting Committee for review and for consideration of eliminating game programs and permitting institutions to provide either a recruiting brochure or a press guide, but not both.

Two proposals to clarify permissible entertainment of prospective student-athletes during official campus visits were remanded to the Recruiting Committee for further review.

A proposed revision of the recommended policy relating to medical examinations was not supported inasmuch as recommended policies will be deleted from the revised Manual.

An amendment to Constitution 3-9-(g), to administer the student-athlete drug-testing consent form separately from the Student-

Athlete Statement and to include general information regarding postseason drug-testing awareness in the latter document, was returned to the Executive Committee for further review and advice of legal counsel.

An amendment to Bylaw 3-1-(b)-(1), to permit a member institution to change its declared playing season for a particular sport, provided written documentation of the change is filed in the office of the institution's director of athletics, was remanded to the Special Committee on Deregulation and Rules Simplification for further review.

Alternative proposals to Bylaw 5-1-(j), to specify when an individual must have achieved the required minimum ACT or SAT score, were placed on the agenda for the October Council meeting after the Divisions I and II Steering Committees did not agree on a desired alternative.

An amendment to Bylaw 6-1-(b)-(1), to exclude from the determination of maximum allowable financial aid income earned by a student-athlete for officiating off-season intramural basketball contests, was referred to the Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism.

An amendment to Bylaw 12-3, to establish the NCAA Basketball Officiating Committee. The Council tentatively supported the proposal but delayed action until a cost estimate is provided.

The Council also reviewed a summary of NCAA voting procedures and approved the procedures for inclusion in the Convention Program.

Interpretations

All new or revised interpretations approved by the Council have appeared or will appear in issues of The NCAA News, which constitutes official circularization to the membership per Constitution 6-2. In addition to those, the Council:

Agreed to delete Case Nos. 21, 196, 208 and 210.

Concurred with the Legislation and Interpretations Committee that a member institution changing membership classification must meet all applicable membership criteria of the division to which it intends to transfer and must operate in conformity for a period of two years with all other bylaw requirements of the division. The Council authorized the Administrative Committee to act in its behalf concerning additional issues relating to a specific current case, pending review by legal counsel.

Concurred with the Legislation and Interpretations Committee that a weekend, for purposes of Bylaw 3-2-(h), is defined as that period from Friday night to Monday morning.

Decided not to develop new legislation regarding off-season conditioning programs after reviewing a survey conducted through the legislative services department's conference-contact program.

'Men in Trenches' to be honored

The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame will honor "The Men in the Trenches" at a special awards dinner October 27 at the College Football Hall of Fame in Kings Island, Ohio.

Cable firm has 57-game schedule

College football returns to Home Team Sports this fall as the regional sports television network expands its schedule to 57 games.

The schedule includes 15 live and exclusive Big Ten Conference and Pacific-10 Conference contests featuring national contenders Michigan, Ohio State, Southern California and UCLA.

HTS' delayed coverage also spotlights many long-standing regional rivalries, including Maryland at backers who already have been elected to the foundation's College Football Hall of Fame will be honored guests that evening.

"This fall, we are honoring the unsung heroes of college football, the men 'up front' who block and tackle and help make possible the touchdown runs and scoring passes of the great halfbacks and fullbacks and quarterbacks," said Vincent dePaul Draddy, foundation chair. "We have a beautiful College Football Hall of Fame, and it provides an excellent setting to honor our greatest players and coaches."

Seventeen hall of famers have accepted invitations to attend the banquet. They are Tommy Nobis, University of Texas, Austin; Albert (Ox) Wistert, University of Michigan; Bill Willis, Gust Zarnas and Waren Amiling, Ohio State University; Dan Coleman, Michigan State University; Bob Gain, University of Kentucky; Carl Hinkle, Vanderbilt University; Dan Hill, Duke University; Clayton Tonnemaker, University of Minnesota, Twin Cities; Fred Sington, University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa; George Connor and Nurdy Hoffmann, University of Notre Dame; Gen. Harvey (Jabbo) Jablonsky, U.S. Military Academy; Thurman McGraw, Colorado State University; Bobby Davis, Georgia Institute of Technology; and Vince Banonis, University of Detroit.

Last fall, the foundation honored some of its great hall-of-fame backs at a dinner.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by contacting Sondra Gividen, assistant general manager of the College Football Hall of Fame, Kings Island, Ohio 45034; telephone 513/398-5410.

Public backs payments to Olympic athletes

A majority of Americans favor federal financing for Olympic training, something the government and the U.S. Olympic Committee long have resisted, a Media General-Associated Press poll shows.

Sixty-seven percent of the 1,223 adults polled supported federal money for U.S. Olympic athletes, while just 27 percent were opposed. The teams receive no money from the government.

With the Summer Games to begin in Seoul, South Korea, in September, the national survey also found sharply divided opinion on the participation of professional athletes in some sports. A plurality, four in 10, wanted no professionals, but nearly as many favored allowing professionals in all Olympic sports.

The poll consisted of telephone interviews June 22 to July 2 with a randomly selected sample of respondents across the nation and had a margin of sampling error of plus or minus three percentage points.

Most respondents viewed the Olympics as a contest among nations as well as among athletes. Six in 10 said it was of some importance or great importance to them that the U.S. team should win more medals than any other nation.

But rivalries between nations notwithstanding, and despite political boycotts of the Olympics in recent years, 76 percent said they believed the Games encourage international cooperation.

Among other findings:

• Six in 10 said they believed judged events, such as gymnastics, are scored fairly; 26 percent believed they are scored unfairly; the rest weren't sure. Of those who said judging is unfair, 90 percent said it was influenced by political considerations.

• By 85 percent to 11 percent, respondents favored continuing to hold the Games at a different city every four years, rather than at a fixed location.

• Ninety-two percent said they plan to watch some of the events on television.

The U.S. Olympic Committee raises most of its money by allowing businesses to display the Olympic logo on their products for a fee.

Forms due September 15

Member institutions are reminded that the Association's two certification-of-compliance forms (Nos. 88-1 and 88-2) must be completed and submitted to the national office by September 15. In addition, Division I institutions must file an academic reporting form (No. 88-6) by October 1.

"Last year, over 100 institutions missed these deadlines—most of them through inadvertent oversight," said NCAA Assistant Director of Compliance Services Terri D. Riffe. "Since failure to meet the deadlines renders institutions ineligible for fall championships, the result last year was a mad scramble by ineligible institutions to initiate restoration procedures."

Riffe added that the restoration process requires considerable administrative time for institutions and for the NCAA compliance staff. "We hope that publishing this reminder will reduce the number of institutions that fail to meet one or both of these deadlines."

Questions and requests for information on these forms and/or their filing process should be directed to members of the compliance staff at the NCAA office.

Citrus Bowl, ACC reach accord

The Florida Citrus Bowl and the Atlantic Coast Conference have agreed on a "flexible" four-year agreement to bring the ACC championship team to Orlando for the annual postseason football game.

The Citrus Bowl committed itself to the ACC for the 1988 and 1990 seasons. In 1989 and 1991, bowl officials have the option of inviting the conference champion but can pass up the ACC team for another club.

Under the contract provisions, the Citrus Bowl retains the right to pass up the ACC champion in the 1988 and 1990 seasons if the bowl has an opportunity to get the No. 1 team in the country.

The ACC champion would have the option, at any time, to pass up its Citrus Bowl appearance if it is ranked No. 2, 3 or 4 in the national coaches' poll and it has the opportunity to play in the Cotton, Sugar or Orange bowls, the Associated Press reported.

If the ACC champion is ranked No. 1, it would be committed to the Citrus Bowl if the bowl payoff is competitive with other New Year's Day bowl games.

Conference plans soccer tournament

The Eastern College Athletic Conference North Atlantic will add soccer to its championships sports in 1989, with league play beginning in 1988 in a six-team New England Division.

In 1989, another division—the Upstate New York Division—consisting of four teams will be added, and a conference champion will be determined in a four-team tournament, according to Commissioner

Stuart Haskell.

Beginning play this year will be Boston University; Hartford University; University of Maine, Orono; University of New Hampshire; Northeastern University; and University of Vermont.

In 1989, the Upstate division will consist of teams from Canisius College, Colgate University, Niagara University and Siena College.

June Forum available on videotape

Approximately 10 hours of video coverage of the NCAA Presidents Commission's third National Forum, held June 20-21 in Orlando, Florida, now is available from the Association's communications department. Copies of the two-tape set may be ordered for $25, including shipping and handling.

Included on the tapes is the Forum's keynote address, which was delivered by Congressman Tom McMillen; the general sessions on the NCAA membership structure, NCAA procedures and financial aid, and discussion sessions on these topics.

Among the speakers on the videos are NCAA Executive Director Richard D. Schultz, NCAA President Wilford S. Bailey, College Football Association Executive Director Charles M. Neinas and former Michigan State University President Cecil Mackey.

Orders for the videos, which are available in VHS format only, should be directed to James A. Marchiony, director of media services, at the Association's national office.

Drug-testing procedure discussed

Physicians and registered nurses who will serve as crew chiefs for NCAA drug testing during the coming year met August 8-9 in Keystone, Colorado.

The crew chiefs, who administer specimen-collection procedures at NCAA championship events and certified postseason bowl games, met with NCAA staff to discuss last year's testing program and to consider possible changes for the 1988-89 academic year.

Don H. Catlin, director of the Paul Ziffren Olympic Analytical Laboratory, and associate director Caroline Hatten led discussion that included current issues in blood-doping and doping control, the detection of banned substances in dilute urines, and research projects derived from drug testing.

It was the second such meeting for NCAA crew chiefs, who currently number 45.

A training session for drug-testing crew chiefs will be conducted November 18-19 at a fall championship site. Physicians and registered nurses interested in training as crew chiefs are urged to contact Frank D. Uryasz, NCAA director of sports sciences, at the national office.

School adds two sports, drops one

Morehead State University will reactivate men's and women's track and field programs this year and discontinue women's soccer, according to athletics director Steve Hamilton.

"Considering that 75 percent of the high schools in the state (Kentucky) have track and less than 25 percent have girls' soccer, we are confident this is the right move for our athletics program," Hamilton said.

Hamilton said the addition of the track programs would not require additional funding.

Cross country coach Dan Lindsey also will coach the men's and women's track teams.

Record $328 billion to be spent on education in U.S. school year

Education Secretary William Bennett says that Americans will spend a record $328 billion on education this school year, and "we must produce better results for our investment."

Bennett released the department's annual back-to-school statistical forecast, which said the $328 billion spending projection is for public and private education at all levels in the 1988-89 school year.

The amount represents a 6.2 percent increase over the 1987-88 school year, when overall spending was $308.8 billion.

College and university expenditures, estimated at $132 billion, will claim the largest increase—6.6 percent more than last year, according to United Press International. When adjusted for inflation, the amount is a 35 percent increase since 1980-81.

"The financial investment we are making in our children's education is immense," said Bennett. "It's clear that the American people place a high value on education. We must produce better results for our investment, for our young people and for the future of our nation."

Bennett earlier this year released a study that found American students perform below average academically and pointed to inadequate curriculums.

At the higher education level, each full-time student will cost taxpayers $14,565, up nearly $900 per student over a year ago. This is a 31 percent increase since 1980-81, when adjusted for inflation.

In other highlights, the report said:

• This fall, about 2.7 million people will be employed as elementary and secondary teachers in public and private schools and more than 700,000 will be instructional faculty in colleges and universities. Another 3.5 million will be employed in educational institutions in other professional, administrative and support positions.

• While total enrollment in the nation's schools and colleges is expected to reach 58.5 million this fall, up by almost 100,000, only a nominal increase is projected for higher education institutions.

• College enrollment is expected to remain relatively stable at 12.6 million students, an increase of less than one percent.

$1 million athletics gift is Maryland's biggest

A. V. Williams, prominent Baltimore businessman and football letter-winner at the University of Maryland, College Park, in 1915 and 1916, has donated $1 million to the University of Maryland Foundation for improvement of athletics facilities at College Park.

Williams' gift, the largest ever given to athletics at Maryland, is the first in a campaign to raise $6.9 million from private sources. The Maryland Legislature has appropriated $2.3 million for renovation of College Park athletics facilities. The funds are released on a one-to-three matching basis for private donations. Williams' gift will, therefore, be matched by $333,000 from the state.

"Mr. Williams' generosity comes at a time of need in Maryland athletics," said athletics director Lewis Perkins. "The support of our friends is critical to our reaching an overall fund-raising goal of almost $7 million. This is a lofty target, but Mr. Williams has given all of us direction to reach it."

Acting President William E. Kirwan said, "At the same time that we improve our high academic standards, we also want to continue our commitment to excellent athletics programs. Mr. Williams' gift will be a major factor in enabling us to upgrade our facilities according to plans currently under development."

A 1917 graduate of Maryland's college of engineering, Williams lettered in both football and lacrosse. His long-standing support of the university was recognized in 1987 with the naming of the A. V. Williams building, a new research facility on the College Park campus.

Williams is president of Williams Construction Company, Inc., which build much of the interstate highway system in Maryland and Virginia.

NCAA champion's research could boost U.S. shooting team

Graduate-level research conducted by former Tennessee Technological University shooter and NCAA rifle champion Ray Slonena may help U.S. shooters improve their scores at the Summer Olympics.

As part of his work toward completion of a master's degree in vibrations and fracture mechanics, Slonena looked at the amount of torque used on bolts that connect rifle barrels to wooden stocks.

"We were looking at the optimum torque to put on the bolts that interface the stock and the barrel," he said. "When we started this project, there was no specific method for investigating what the torque should be, other than trial and error."

"We found that the best torque setting varied from rifle to rifle and also depended on the grade of ammunition being used," Slonena added. "So, we recommended that the U.S. Olympic shooting team have a mobile system, similar to the one we used in this project, to determine the optimum torque for a particular rifle—they can find out on the spot."

Slonena's work led to an average increase in scoring of 10 points by top shooters after their firearms were fine-tuned to minimize vibrations caused by having stock-to-barrel connections that were too tight or too loose.

While earning an undergraduate degree in mechanical engineering from Tennessee Tech, Slonena helped the Golden Eagles to a pair of NCAA team titles in rifle (1981 and 1982). He captured the 1983 individual air rifle crown with a score of 389 (400 is perfect) and was named first-team all-America in air rifle and smallbore from 1982 through 1984.

Before returning to his alma mater to begin work on a graduate degree in September 1986, Slonena worked in the structural test department for McDonnell Douglas.

Denver entrepreneur John A. Carlin recently received a patent for a device that could help prevent serious football injuries. According to a New York Times report, the new unit measures the cumulative battering a player sustains during a game.

"Football injuries can happen in one play," Carlin offered. "But more often, the damage takes place through repeated injuries over a short period, where there isn't enough healing time (between each blow)."

Carlin's invention monitors accumulated shock with a vibration sensor that could be mounted on the back of a football helmet. Readings generated could help indicate whether a player is exhausted and vulnerable to serious injury.

The Times piece noted, however, that since no standardized level of "acceptable shock" has been developed, athletes still would have to determine how many blows to the body are too many.

Hayden Fry, head football coach at the University of Iowa, is raising money for a farm scholarship fund by selling lifesize posters of himself at $30 each. A nine-inch desk-top model is going for $6.

"These (posters) are going to be in the corner of every rec room in Iowa," said George Wine, the school's sports information director. "Yeah," quipped Fry, "and if we lose a game, they'll be throwing darts at them."

Michigan State University officials have announced a campaign to save "Sparty," the ceramic sculpture of a Spartan that has become a landmark on the East Lansing campus.

According to a Chicago Tribune report, a "Save Our Sparty" committee has announced plans to raise $75,000 for the project. New York-based sculptor/conservationist Robert Pringle has been hired to restore Sparty.

In addition, a cast of the sculpture will be made for use in replacing the original Sparty when he no longer can be repaired. Pringle's restoration is expected to add 25 to 30 years to the statue's life. Also part of the project will be lighting, landscaping and the addition of plaques at the site.

Two years ago, Youngstown State University initiated a fifth-year scholarship program to offer student-athletes who had exhausted intercollegiate eligibility an opportunity to finish requirements for a degree.

Since that time, 31 Youngstown State student-athletes have participated in the program. Twenty-four have earned degrees, and five are just about ready to graduate.

"Our fifth-year program is a great program in that it gives our student-athletes that extra incentive to obtain their degree," said Doreen Anderson, the school's athletics academic counselor. "What we are telling them is that we want them to obtain their degrees, not just be eligible to compete in their respective sports during their four seasons of eligibility.”

Trenton State College is emerging as one of Division III's true powers, athletically and academically.

According to figures released recently by Peter G. Manetas, Trenton State sports information director, Lion teams have claimed 14 NCAA Division III championships in five different sports since 1978-79. In addition, Trenton State teams finished as national runners-up 10 times, giving the athletics program 24 top-two finishes in national post-season competition in 10 years.

During the same time, Trenton State's student academic profile has continued to climb. In 1980, the average combined SAT score for incoming freshmen was 927, with an average secondary school class rank at the 74th percentile. The 1988-89 freshman class has a com-combined average SAT score of 1,102, with an average class rank at the 90th percentile.

Southern Conference football officials underwent complete physical examinations July 28, and seven of them were diagnosed as having "minor problems," according to league Commissioner Dave Hart. "Things went very well with the physical assessment of our football officials, which revealed some seven minor problems... problems that needed to come to the attention of each of these officials.

"The (athletics) trainers of our institutions and some of the team physicians did an excellent job in conducting the (physicals)," Hart added. "Also, Tom Hunnicutt, our new supervisor of football officials, did an outstanding job in putting it all together."
