Executive Committee to act on championships requests

Final action on a number of championships recommendations will take up a large part of the NCAA Executive Committee's May 7-8 meeting in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Championships, however, will share the Executive Committee's attention with reports from a number of NCAA general and special committees.

Among them will be reports from the Special Committee to Review the NCAA Membership Structure and the Special NCAA Advisory Committee to Review Recommendations Regarding Distribution of Revenue.

Other general business will include:

• A report from the NCAA Basketball Officiating Committee, which will include recommendations regarding the men's and women's officiating programs (see related story on page 3)

• A report by the Committee on number of teams from any confer-Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports on plans for the Association's year-round drugtesting program.

· A review of the NCAA corporate-sponsorship program.

Championships

Although general business and reports like these usually are parts of every Executive Committee meeting, the full committee and the division championships committees routinely spend quite a bit of time dealing with recommendations from governing sports committees. In that respect, this meeting will be no different.

Following is a sample of some of the sports committee recommendations set for final action by the Executive Committee:

Division I women's volleyball-Expansion of the championship field from 32 to 40 teams is being recommended, as is a cap on the ence that could be selected to participate in the Division I tourna-

Division I men's soccer—It is being recommended that the dates of the championship be revised to provide an off day between the semifinals and finals. A predetermined site (for 1990, the University of South Florida) also is being recommended for the semifinals and finals.

Women's soccer—The NCAA Women's Soccer Committee is recommending that the bracket for the Division III championship be expanded from four to six teams, effective with the 1990 champion-

Women's volleyball—It is being recommended that the field for the Division II Women's Volleyball Championship be increased from 20 to 24 teams, effective with the See Executive Committee, page 2

Best all-around

Ohio State University's Mike Racanelli won the all-around title in the National Collegiate Men's Gymnastics Championships to cap an outstanding career. Gymnastics coaches also named Racanelli the top gymnast of the year (story on page 24). Complete championships results are on page 6.

Double winner

Joy Selig of Oregon State University won the balance beam and floor exercise events in the National Collegiate Women's Gymnastics Championships.

> The committee also voted to survey student-athletes at all NCAA member institutions regarding their opinions of the Association's current affairs and their interest in being kept informed of ongoing activities through regular publication of a newsletter.

> "The survey will deal with three areas," said Richard J. Evrard, director of legislative services and staff liaison (with Merrily Dean Baker, assistant executive director for administration) to the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee.

> "The committee believes a periodic newsletter could be an effective way to make student-athletes aware of issues within the NCAA, and it will use the survey to gauge studentathlete interest in the publication.

'The committee also would solicit advice and information on effective coordination of efforts to keep student-athletes abreast of NCAA affairs," Evrard added. "The survey also would include general questions relating to current issues like time demands, NCAA membership structure and other concerns."

Evrard said the survey probably would not be distributed to studentathletes before next fall.

Don't cut games

Evrard said the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee also reviewed information gathered for the NCAA by the American Institutes for Research regarding time demands on student-athletes and indicated that decreasing the number of contests played in a given season would not be athletes' solution of choice.

"They recognize the need to reduce time demands," Evrard said, See Student-Athlete, page 2

Guidelines set on foreign initial-eligibility waiver requests

The NCAA Council Subcommittee on Initial-Eligibility Waivers has developed guidelines regarding waiver requests from recruited foreign student-athletes and recruited student-athletes found to have learning disabilities.

The full Council voted during its January 5-7 meeting in Dallas to support the approach taken by the subcommittee, which deals with requests for waivers by members of these two student-athlete groups who took entrance examinations (i.e., SATs or ACTs) after July 1 of the year of their initial enrollment.

The guidelines are consistent with their disability) will be permitted to those applied by the subcommittee to recruited domestic student-athletes during the 1989-90 academic Under the new guidelines, which are effective beginning with the 1990-91 academic year, recruited foreign or recruited learning-disabled student-athletes who request initial-eligibility waivers (due to a lack of timely SAT or ACT scores or, in the case of learning-disabled student-athletes, lack of an opportunity to take the test under circumstances designed to compensate for enroll at an institution but not compete during their first year in resi-

However, if the subcommittee approves their waiver applications, they still may have four years of athletics eligibility remaining—if they subsequently earn appropriate scores on SATs or ACTs.

Under NCAA initial-eligibility legislation, nonqualifiers and partial qualifiers must sit out their first year in residence, and Division I student-athletes lose one year of eligibility.

"The new policy is intended to achieve two objectives," said Stanley Wilcox, NCAA legislative assistant. "One is to provide an opportunity for foreign and learning-disabled student-athletes to enroll and prove their academic ability without the added demands of intercollegiate competition. The other is to promote responsibility on the part of the institution to assure that the studentathletes it recruits are aware of and fulfill NCAA initial-eligibility legislation prior to enrollment."

Wilcox said that in many cases, the subcommittee has considered waiver requests made on behalf of foreign and learning-disabled student-athletes who claim they didn't know they had to achieve a qualifying test score by July 1 of their initial-enrollment year or, in the case of learning-disabled individuals, who did not learn of special test sessions designed to compensate for learning disabilities.

"These guidelines hold the institutions more responsible for making prospects aware of initial-eligibility requirements," Wilcox said, emphasizing that the policies will apply only to requests involving recruited student-athletes. "The message is that recruiters have to be responsible for making prospects aware of initial-eligibility legislation in a timely

He added that the new guidelines still are flexible enough to provide some options.

'Most important, the subcommittee is not telling these studentathletes that they are going to lose eligibility," Wilcox noted. "If they achieve a test score after July 1, the subcommittee is providing the option for these individuals to go ahead with enrollment and spend their first year in residence working on academics.

"Of course, there also is the option of delaying enrollment for a year," he added. "Either way, these studentathletes still will have four years of athletics eligibility."

The Council Subcommittee on Initial-Eligibility Waivers originally was formed to provide opportunities to gain initial eligibility for prospective student-athletes who failed to meet some requirement of NCAA Bylaw 14.3 while exhibiting strong credentials in other areas (e.g., a prospect who did not achieve an SAT or ACT score on a national test date but presented a high gradepoint average and a strong background in core-curriculum subjects).

Additional information on policies regarding waiver requests is available from Wilcox at the Association's national office.

"but it was the sense of the committee that those demands be reduced in other ways. It was stated that student-athletes look forward more than anything to the games they play," he said, "and that cutting their number would not be as appropriate as, for example, cutting the length of preseason practice and even in-season practice."

The committee also went on record regarding distribution of revenues, catastrophic-insurance coverage and a conference approach to student-athlete involvement in NCAA affairs:

- committee suggested broad-based use of revenues realized by the Association's new television contracts. "It was the sense of the committee that there should be some reward for participation in the Division I championship but that most of the revenue be used to fund programs that will benefit all student-athletes," Evrard said.
- The committee suggested that the Association expand payment of premiums for catastrophic-injury insurance to Divisions II and III.
- It was suggested that conference structures could be used to set up a network of student-athlete groups that would provide input at least annually to the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee.

Knight presentation

The committee also heard a presentation from Maureen E. Devlin, a former member of the NCAA legislative services department who is assistant staff director of the Knight Commission that currently is investigating alternatives for reform in intercollegiate athletics.

'Maureen presented an overview of the commission's ongoing efforts," Evrard said, "and she also requested written input from members of the committee. Areas they were asked to comment on included reasons for reform in intercollegiate sports, student-athletes' perception of their coaches, and the positive and negative aspects of their participation in college athletics."

Baseball-Bracket expansion (from 24 to 32 teams) of the Division III championship is being recommended, as is a restructuring of the event to accommodate the larger field. If approved, the number of regions would be increased from six to eight and eight teams would advance to the finals.

Football - The Division III Football Committee is recommending that Bradenton, Florida, be approved as host site for the 1990 and 1991 championships, with the University of South Florida serving as host institution. The Bradenton Kiwanis Club would serve as the sponsoring agency.

Coverage of the Executive Committee's May 7-8 meeting will appear in the May 9 issue of The NCAA News, and a complete summary of all actions taken by the committee will appear in a later issue.

Committee Notices

Member institutions are invited to submit nominations to fill interim vacancies on NCAA committees. Nominations to fill the following vacancy must be received by Fannie B. Vaughan, executive assistant, in the NCAA office no later than May 16.

Women's Basketball Rules Committee: Replacement for Rose Peeples, Loras College, who is resigning from her institution and declined appointment. Appointee must be a Division III representative of women's basketball and must be from either District 4 or District 5. The effective date of the appointment will be September 1, 1990.

Petition deadline June 1 for change in classification

Petitions for changes in membership classification must be received in the national office by June 1 or be postmarked no later than May 25, according to Shirley Whitacre, NCAA membership coordinator.

Requests for changes in division membership or multidivision classification will be reviewed by NCAA staff as dictated by the provisions of Bylaws 20.4 and 20.5.

Institutions requesting a change must meet the applicable membership criteria of the division to which the transfer is planned as Bylaws 20.4,2.2 and 20.5.2.2.

Institutions also must have operated in conformity with all other bylaw requirements of the desired division for a two-year period prior to June 1. If all requirements are met, the member will be transferred to the new division effective September 1, 1990.

Also, institutions choosing to change division membership or multidivision classification must remain in the new division for three years.

Any institution planning a change in membership classification in a men's or women's sport may obtain a copy of the official petition form by contacting Whitacre at the national office.

NCAA Bylaw 14.4.3.1—good academic standing and satisfactory progress/prior approval for summer courses at other institutions

NCAA member institutions are reminded that in accordance with Bylaw 14.4.3.1, prior approval by appropriate academic officials at the certifying institution is required if courses taken during another institution's summer term are to be utilized in determining the student-athlete's academic status (i.e., good academic standing and satisfactory progress). The NCAA Academic Requirements Committee has the authority under the provisions of Bylaw 14.5.4 to grant exceptions for student-athletes who do not request or receive prior approval as required per Bylaw 14.4.3.1 for courses taken during another institution's summer term; however, such exceptions will be granted only if the student-athlete would have received approval for the course upon request and there is information available indicating that the certifying institution was implementing a program that normally would place it in compliance with the requirements of Bylaw

Further, in accordance with Bylaw 14.4.3.2, correspondence, extension and credit-by-examination courses taken from an institution other than the one in which the student is enrolled as a full-time student shall not be used in determining a student's academic standing or satisfactory progress. Waivers of this restriction may be granted by the Academic Requirements Committee in response to written requests from member institutions for the evaluation of specified programs of study involving the use of such courses. In a state that centralizes the offering of correspondence courses through one state institution, a student enrolled in another of the state's institutions may use a correspondence course from the institution authorized to offer such courses in determining the student's academic standing or satisfactory progress.

NCAA Bylaws 12.5.1.5 and 12.5.1.6—student-athletes promoting summer camps

As set forth in Bylaw 12.5.1.5, a member institution's summer camp may use the name or picture of any student-athlete employed as a counselor to publicize or promote the camp, including the use of the athlete's name or picture in a camp brochure or other advertising. Further, Bylaw 12.5.1.6 stipulates that a privately owned summer camp may use a student-athlete's name, picture and institutional affiliation in its summer-camp brochure to identify the student-athlete as a staff member. However, the studentathlete's name or picture may not be used in any other way to directly advertise or promote the camp. Additionally, in accordance with Bylaw 13.12.2.1.1.1, a student-athlete with remaining eligibility is not permitted to conduct his or her own camp or clinic.

Bylaw 13.3.3.1 includes a general prohibition against the purchase of advertising space by a member institution in publications designed to provide information concerning the athletics participation or evaluation of prospective student-athletes. Although this prohibition would extend generally to advertisements regarding member institutions' summer camps or clinics, advertisements of an institution's summer camp or clinic in such recruiting publications are permissible if placed in a periodical that includes a camp directory that meets the following requirements: (1) the size (not to exceed one-half page) and format of such advertisements must be identical, and (2) the camp directory must include multiple listings of summer camps on each page (i.e., at least two summer-camp advertisements of the same size must appear on each page). Accordingly, a full-page advertisement for a member institution's summer camp or clinic would not be considered an appropriate listing in a camp directory.

Finally, the NCAA Administrative Committee has affirmed that the provisions of Bylaw 13.3.1 would not preclude the distribution of summercamp brochures to prospective student-athletes and high school coaches, inasmuch as these brochures are not intended for purposes of serving as recruiting materials; however, the distribution of summer-camp posters to prospective student-athletes or high school coaches would be prohibited since such a poster does promote the recruiting interests of the institution and generally contains no additional information beyond that set forth in the summer-camp brochure.

Outside basketball competition/three-on-three competition

Member institutions should note that subsequent to the completion of the institution's basketball season, it generally would not be permissible for student-athletes to participate in any organized basketball competition, including any local, regional or national three-on-three organized basketball competition, without jeopardizing the student's eligibility for further intercollegiate competition in the sport of basketball. In accordance with Bylaw 14.8.5.2, student-athletes attending Divisions I and II member institutions may compete in such three-on-three competition only if the activity has been approved by the Council per Bylaw 30.11, occurs between June 15 and August 31, and a student-athlete participating in such competition has received written permission from the institution's director of athletics (or the director's official representative) for participation in the competition. A student-athlete's participation in an approved three-onthree competition would constitute the student-athlete's one permissible opportunity to participate in organized summer competition.

Division III member institutions should note that there are no restrictions on the participation of Division III student-athletes in such activities during the summer.

$7,500 Byers scholarships awarded

A men's basketball player and women's volleyball player are the Walter Byers Scholarship Committee's choices as this year's Bycrs Scholars.

Dean Smith, a basketball player at the University of Maine, and Linda Popovich, who played volleyball at Bowling Green State University, will receive the second annual scholarships, which are worth $7,500 each. Smith and Popovich were selected from among six finalists who were interviewed by the committee April 23 in Chicago.

The Byers scholarships were established in 1988 to recognize the contributions of the NCAA executive director emeritus by encouraging excellence in academic performance by student-athletes.

Award recipients are required to have a 3.500 grade-point average (based on a 4.000 scale), show evidence of superior character and leadership, and demonstrate that participation in athletics has been a positive influence on personal and intellectual development, among other qualifications.

The committee considered 59 applicants for the awards.

Following is a look at the 1990 Byers Scholars and their accomplishments:

Dean Smith

An electrical engineering major at Maine, Smith graduated with highest distinction in December with a 3,860 GPA.

The 6-3 forward, who started all 28 of the Black Bears' games this season, led the North Atlantic Conference in scoring with 19 points a game and was third in free-throw percentage (77.2 percent); he was

Linda Popovich

Popovich, the Mid-American Athletic Conference's most valuable player in volleyball last season, has a 3.960 GPA as a political science major at Bowling Green.

She finished her career at the school as the holder of conference records for career assists and digs and also holds five school records, including two season marks and the record for most assists in a match. After being selected as the MAC's freshman of the year in 1986, Popovich was a two-time second-team all-conference player before earning first-team and MVP honors last season. She also was a second-team all-Mideast region player in 1989, and was a participant in the U.S. Olympic Festival in 1987.

She was a two-time first-team GTE academic all-America, in 1988

Popovich, a recipient of several academic fellowships and scholarships at Bowling Green, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa, among other honor societies. Last summer, she served as the Tenth District Court of Michigan's first intern, and she has participated in a summer program in industrial and labor relations at the University of Toronto and a symposium on the presidency in Washington, D.C. More funding sought for II football play-off mittee will recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that beginning next season, transportation and per diem be provided for the championship from the Division II block grant and that all revenues from the football championship be distributed to participating institutions on the basis of one share for each game played.

It is the committee's intention to make Division II football more attractive to schools participating in other divisions, and it believes that all sports in the division would eventually be strengthened by the enhancement of Division II football.

The committee recommendation would allow the entire transportation and per diem to be paid directly from the block grant. Revenue generated by the championship would be divided into 30 shares and returned to participating schools.

Currently, institutions participating in the championship are guaranteed transportation and a $26 per diem. If revenue exceeds $100,000, the per diem is increased to $50.

The committee stated that the actual costs for conducting the 1989 championship with a travel party of 57 and a per diem of $26 was $384,000. The estimated increase in per diem would mean an additional $68,000, for a total championship expense of $452,000. Since the 1989 championship guaranteed $300,000, the block grant funding would be an estimated $152,000.

Contingent upon Executive Committee approval of the proposed enhancements, the football committee is recommending 10 automatic qualifiers from 10 conferences for the championship (Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association, Lone Star Conference, Gulf South Conference, Midwest Intercollegiate Football Conference, Missouri InNorth Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, Northern Califor-Athletic Conference, nia Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference, Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and Western Football Conference). Six berths would be filled at large.

The committee also is recommending that 25-second clocks be required for all championship rounds. The committee noted that most Division II facilities have 25-

An attempt will be made to change the no-contact rule in Division II spring football second clocks and that clocks can be rented for those stadiums without

Concerning a proposal from the football coaches to increase the travel party from 57 to 70, the committee indicated that it has made such a recommendation and a decision on the recommendation will be made by the NCAA Council.

The committee also said it would assist football coaches seeking sponsors for legislation for the 1991 NCAA Convention to change the no-contract rule for spring football workouts. A recent poll of Division II coaches by a coaches' committee showed that 91 of 97 favored the Division 1 spring-practice rule of 15 practices with 10 contact sessions.

The committee expressed its appreciation to its outgoing chair, Harry L. Forsyth, director of athletics at South Dakota State University.

The committee met April 18-20 in Overland Park, Kansas.

Proposal would allow aide to sub for head coach at officiating clinics

The NCAA Basketball Officiating Committee will recommend to the Executive Committee that attendance at the 1990 and 1991 regional officiating clinics be required for a member of the basketball coaching staff at all Division 1 institutions, rather than by the head coach.

The staff member who does attend the clinic will be charged with disseminating information to the entire coaching staff. The officiating committee will review the attendance requirement at the end of the two-year period to evaluate its effectiveness. The current penalties will remain in place for noncompliance with the attendance require-

The committee, which met April 17 in Kansas City, Missouri, also will recommend a statement defining "scratch" lists (designating that an official cannot work a game for a specific team) and recommend the prohibition of scratch lists as a condition of both automatic qualification and the receipt of conference grant funds. The prohibition of scratch lists already is a condition of automatic qualification for men. The statement would be referred to the Division I Women's Basketball Committee to be added to conditions for automatic qualification for 1992.

In addition to the required components of the conference-grant program, the committee recommend that conferences submit in writing details of their selection, training and evaluation of minority game officials. At the end of each season, the supervisor of officials must submit a complete list of all officials assignments. These items will be submitted to Henry O. Nichols, the national coordinator of men's basketball officiating, and Marcy Weston, secretary-rules editor of the NCAA Women's Basketball Rules Committee, for review.

In other actions, the committee will recommend that the use of split crews (officials from conferences of both teams participating in a game) be eliminated for interconference competition for men and that this prohibition be tied to automatic qualification.

Funding of transportation expenses for men's and women's supervisors of officials to attend preclinic meetings in Kansas City will be recommended to the Men's and Women's Division I Basketball Committees. Attendance at the meeting is mandatory for men's supervisors of officials and would become mandatory for women's supervisors if transportation expenses are paid by the Association.

The committee supported a recommendation by the national coordinator that a sportsmanship theme be adopted nationwide with accompanying activities, media involvement and support from the entire basketball community. The recommendation will be forwarded to the appropriate NCAA committees and other organizations.

NCAA should share new revenue equally among schools

The San Diego Union Excerpted from a column

The NCAA is ostensibly an organization designed to promote amateur athletics. It should not be in the business of handing out "pots of gold" to a select number of schools each season.

It is true that most Final Four participants do not get to keep the whole of their winnings. Every major conference has revenue-sharing policies. Big Ten schools that reach the NCAA tournament must give half of their shares back to the conference, which then divides that money evenly among the other conference members.

But that policy hardly promotes equality in the NCAA. In the last decade—the period in which the tournament has become a financial success—only nine of the 30 conferences have been represented in the Final Four.

With the revenue derived from the NCAA tournament, the members of these "power" conferences have been able to increase recruiting budgets, build new facilities and support nonrevenue sports in a significant way.

As a result, the natural gap between the "haves" and "have-nots" in college athletics has grown unnaturally wide.

As another result, the atmosphere in college basketball—an amateur endeavor, remember—has become increasingly pressurized. Directors of athletics are under pressure to hire coaches capable of leading their teams to the tournament. Coaches are under pressure to meet those expectations or lose their jobs. That pressure has driven some of them to bend the rules.

Some of this tension, this un-palatable to the networks.

wholesome urgency, surely trickles down to the players.

It is time to relieve at least part of the tension time to bridge at least part of the gap between the powerful and the weak

Take the bulk of the money from CBS and divide it evenly among the Division I schools eligible for the tournament, Schools on probation should not receive a dime. Schools that qualify for the field should be paid enough to cover all expenses.

The NCAA is designed to benefit all its members, not just those most

However, the NCAA and its members elect to use the money from CBS, their primary concern should be their students.

Grant the athletes a modest monthly stipend that will let them lead a normal undergraduate existence. Establish an insurance fund for football players that will pay them benefits in the case of catastrophic injury. Increase the amount of financial aid available to former college athletes who wish to return to school and complete their degrees.

Spend the money, NCAA. But please, spend it wisely.

Players should receive percentage of revenue

Homer C. Rice, director of athletics at Georgia Institute of Technology, believes a percentage of all revenue from NCAA championships and other collegiate events should be pooled and a national clearinghouse established to distribute the money to athletes based on need.

Rice told The Atlanta Constitution that he would present his plan to the annual convention of the College Football Association in June. He hopes the CFA will propose legislation incorporating his plan for the 1991 NCAA Convention in Nashville.

The proposal includes a percentage of revenue from the Kickoff and Pigskin classics, postseason bowl games, the NCAA and NIT men's basketball tournaments, and other NCAA championship events.

"By using a percentage of postseason revenue," Rice said, "you could create a fund to provide stipends for those athletes who need it, without putting a burden on individual schools.

Rice said that since a large number of Division I schools are expected to operate in the red this year, it may otherwise be impossible for schools to afford stipends for athletes.

Rule prevents evaluation of players

To the Editor:

As an athletics director and assistant football coach at a Division II college, I feel I am in a unique situation regarding the NCAA Division II no-contact rule for spring practice.

Also, as an NAIA-NCAA dual member in an NAIA conference, we have more to lose than most of our fellow Division II members. I went to Dallas to secure Division II status for our college. I came home with no-contact in spring practice for football.

I understand as an administrator the concern for academics for our athletes, and I am sure all coaches support this. I also know that if the NCAA mandates a rule, it places all those that the rule applies to in a similar "level-playing-field" position. My concern, however, is that what this rule did is put Division II football on a Division III level, with scholarships.

As we all know, the difference between the two levels is scholarships, which is supposed to translate into a higher-level play, coupled with a higher level of pressure for head coaches

With the number of scholarships available on the Division II level, those coaches cannot affort to make financial award mistakes. Also, the team at spring practice will be the team that will play in the fall, for the most part. These athletes must be evaluated as to the depth chart and with this comes the need for financial award. I fully believe this is the greatest reason why Division II must have contact.

There has been a discussion of a day off in the week for athletes. I think the 15-day practice 10 contact-sessions rule can give us that. It will also give contact practice the same precontact conditioning and runner's program that we all feel is important. Athletes coming out to the field after weights need that conditioning, run-through play and time to get the muscles conditioned to football.

With 10 sessions of contact, I can see the Monday-Tuesday-Thursday-Friday practice week, with the culminating Saturday spring game/ scrimmage.

With this, we can serve all purposes: (1) the safety of the athlete, (2) the academic needs of the athlete, (3) the need to evaluate and financially readjust scholarships, and (4) the true position of Division II football.

State legislation relating to college athletics

This report summarizes legislation currently pending in state legislatures that could affect, or is otherwise of interest to, the intercollegiate athletics programs and student-athletes at NCAA member institutions. Below is a list of 102 bills from 31 states. The report includes 56 bills that have been introduced and 46 pending bills on which action has been taken since the last report (see the February 14, 1990, issue of The NCAA News).

Newly introduced bills are marked with an asterisk. Pending bills discussed in the previous report on which no action has been taken do not appear in this report.

This report is based on data provided by the Information for Public Affairs on-line state legislation system as of April 18, 1990. Bills listed were selected for inclusion in this report from a larger pool of bills concerning sports, and they do not necessarily represent all bills that would be of interest to individual member institutions. Bills pending in the District of Columbia Council and the legislatures in the U.S. territories are not available on-line and are not included.

The NCAA has not verified the accuracy or completeness of the information and is providing this summary as a service to members. For further information regarding a particular bill, members should contact the state legislature concerned.

As an overview, the table below summarizes the number of bills included in the report by subject:

Anabolic steroids	0
Ticket scalping	9
NCAA rules	8
Gambling	7
Trainers	7
Coaches	6
Drug testing	6
Athlete agents	4
Liability	4
Scholarships	4
Appropriations	3
Student-athlete compensation.	3
Wrestling	3
Miscellaneous	8

Eleven bills were signed into law since the last report. Of those, four regulate the distribution of anabolic steroids and two concern athletics trainers. The others address dueprocess requirements for collegiate athletics associations, ticket scalping, liability, coaches' pensions and athletics board licenses.

Huskers need season-best score to hold off Minnesota

Nebraska's Cornhuskers posted their highest team score of the season to edge host Minnesota by onetenth of a point, 287,400-287,300. for the team title at the April 19-21 National Collegiate Men's Gymnastics Championships.

The triumph gave Nebraska its seventh team title, all since 1979. The Cornhuskers' last title came in 1988. They also have finished second four of the last five years.

"The key to victory was leadership," Nebraska coach Francis Allen said. "When I say leadership, I'm talking about the guys who consistently know how to do gymnastics. Another key was to get our first guys off to a good start. Then you let your home run hitters come in and bat."

The margin of victory was the smallest ever in this event, and the Cornhuskers fell just shy of their championships-record score of 288.150, posted in 1988. Minnesota's score established a new school record and was the highest score for a runner-up under the current scoring system, which was established in 1981.

"We had a great performance toward the end, but we were rough on the floor and the rings," Minnesota coach Fred Roethlisberger said. "You have to feel very proud and happy when it's that close. This isn't the first time I've lost a meet by a tenth of a point. Some of the tenthof-a-point losses are the greatest experiences I have felt."

UCLA finished third with 283.850. The Bruins'effort was hampered by a knee injury to Chainey Umphrey. The injury occurred during his dismount from the rings. He was unable to compete in the floor exercise and vault but did perform on the parallel bars and horizontal said. "We put ourselves in a hole with our performance on the pommel horse. At the second event, we recovered well but Chainey's getting hurt threw us off. Nebraska and Minnesota just got too far ahead of us, but the competition was great for gymnastics."

"I felt we got off to a rather poor start," UCLA coach Art Shurlock

Nebraska's Patrick Kirksey, the defending champion in the allaround competition, scored only 56.900 in the preliminaries, .84 below his season average of 57.740. He bounced back in the team final to post scores adding up to 57.800.

His off night in the preliminaries also put him in a hole for the individual all-around competition. Despite posting his second highest score ever in the compulsories, he finished third behind champion Mike Racanelli of Ohio State and John Roethlisberger of Minnesota.

"I didn't make any major mistakes and hit all my routines, and I'm very pleased with my performance," Kirksey said. "Coming in, I wanted to concentrate on team goals; and I'm glad we won (April 20) because if we hadn't, I would have put lots of pressure on myself."

Kirksev took individual honors on the parallel bars, and Racanelli was a double winner, taking the floor exercise in addition to the allaround. Mark Sohn of Penn State won a third title on the pommel horse.

After an off night in the preliminaries, Nebraska's Patrick Kirksey finished third in the all-around competition. He rebounded, however, with a victory on the parallel bars

Alabama's Dee Dee Foster won the women's all-around competition with a personal best of 39.300. She tied for second with UCLA's Carol Ulrich on the balance beam with a 9.825

Utah women win sixth NCAA gymnastics title

Utah won its sixth team title in the National Collegiate Women's Gymnastics Championships, posting a record score of 194,900 during the April 20-21 event at Oregon

Alabama finished second with a score of 194.575, and 1989 champion Georgia was third with 193.225. The top four teams all bettered the old championships record of 192.650 set last year by Georgia

Utah won five straight titles from 1982 to 1986 and finished second the past two years. Utah also has won the most individual titles in the event's history with nine.

The Utes combined for a total of 49.050 in the vault to begin the competition. Kristi Pinnick earned a 9.900 in that event.

Utah had the top total in the uneven bars with 49.050 and the floor exercise with 48.825. Shelly Schaerrer paced the Utes in those events with scores of 9.875 and 9.850, respectively. Utah's totals in the vault and uneven bars set school records.

Alabama's Dee Dee Foster won the all-around title, edging Schaerrer, 39.300-39.225. Kristen Kenover of Utah was third with 39.200. Foster and Schaerrer both posted personal bests in the allaround competition.

Nebraska's Michelle Bryant and Marie Roethlisberger of Minnesota earned the first individual titles for their schools, winning the vault and uneven bars, respectively. Roethlisberger is the daughter of Minnesota coach Fred Roethlisberger, whose team finished second in the National Collegiate Men's Gymnastics Championships. Her brother, John, was runner-up in the men's all-around competition.

Host Oregon State's Joy Selig was a double winner, taking titles in the balance beam and floor exercise. Selig tied for first place in the balance beam last year. TEAM RESULTS

Marsden knew team battle would be close

Utah coach Greg Marsden found himself looking over his shoulder April 20 during team competition at the National Collegiate Women's Gymnastics Championships.

With one event remaining, his top-seeded Utes were leading, but Alabama was coming on --- fast.

"I knew we were ahead. I didn't know how much," Marsden told the Associated Press.

In its final event, the vault, Alabama got a 9.900 from Shea McFall and a 9.875 from Dee Dee Foster.

Utah missed five routines and had to count one fall in its team total, but the Utes' superior depth made the difference.

"That's the surprise to me," Marsden said, "that we could count that fall and still get away with the national championship.

"These kids are working at a good level, and they're working at a good level from the first kid all the way to the end," he said. "I think that's what made the difference."

Foster, who is just 5 feet tall, won the individual all-around title with 39.300 points. She had scores of 9.875 in the vault, 9.800 in the uneven bars, 9.825 in the balance beam and 9.800 in the floor exercise. She set personal bests in the vault and balance beam and tied her best in the uneven bars.

Yet she had mixed feelings.

"Absolutely mixed," she said. "It goes without saying that I came in here tonight to help my team win the national championship, I'm pleased with the results. It's not what I wanted, but I'll take it."

Utan's Shelly Schaerrer linished second to Foster with 39.225 points and said she'd take the team title over the all-around crown any time.

"The team is much more important to me than the all-around," she said. "The all-around is just icing on the cake as far as I'm concerned."

She appeared headed for the allaround title until getting a 9.675 in the balance beam, a score that was roundly booed by the Utah contingent among the 8,473 who attended the competition at Gill Coliseum.

Schaerrer had personal bests in the vault (9.825) and uneven bars (9.875) and a 9.850 in the floor

The all-around totals were alltime bests for both Foster and Schaerrer.

Out West, volleyball is survival of the fittest

As usual out West, the story of men's volleyball is survival of the fittest.

The nation's four top-ranked teams collide this week in the six-team Western Intercollegiate Volleyball Association play-offs, not only to battle for a league title but earn the only two NCAA tournament berths available to West region teams.

No one is a shoo-in.

Three of the four teams—defending champion UCLA; Stanford; and, most recently, Southern California—have spent time as the American Volleyball Coaches Association's No. 1-ranked team this year; at least one of those teams will fail to win a berth in the four-team NCAA tournament.

On the other hand, the two West teams that do advance have to feel pretty good about their chances of winning the title; after all, no non-California squad ever has won the NCAA crown, and all six teams in the WIVA tournament field call that state home.

To earn the chance to defend its crown, UCLA will rely heavily on senior all-America Trevor Schirman, a member of last year's NCAA all-tournament team and Volleyball Monthly magazine's 1989 player of the year.

This year, Schirman leads the nation in blocking and, with teammate Mike Whitcomb, is part of what is probably the best blocking combination in collegiate volleyball. Whitcomb, who ranks ninth in blocking, also is among the nation's leaders in hitting percentage.

After losing to UCLA in last year's championship, Stanford was a popular pick by many at the beginning of this season to win what would be the school's first title. But the Cardinal slumped in midseason and came within an eyelash of failing to qualify for the WIVA tournament.

Entering postseason play, however, no team is hotter than coach Fred Sturm's squad. The Cardinal won its last five matches, including a five-set victory over Southern California April 13 in which Dan Hanan set a school career kill mark.

Southern Cal traveled to Stanford with the No. 1 ranking and a 20-2 record only to lose not just that match but an April 18 contest at home against Long Beach State. Still, the Trojans remain a favorite, largely due to the presence of Bryan Ivie, possibly the country's best allaround player. The junior, a two-time WIVA player of the week this season, leads the nation in kill average and ranks third in hitting percentage.

To earn a berth in NCAA competition, Southern Cal will have to beat sixth-ranked Cal State North-ridge in the first round of the WIVA tournament, which is on Northridge's home court. The winner of that match then will have to beat third-ranked Long Beach State just to advance to the leaguechampionship match.

Helped by its first-round bye in the WIVA tourney, Long Beach State also could earn an NCAA berth. The 49ers, who have been near the top of the AVCA poll all season, are sparked by the nation's leader in hitting percentage, Brett Winslow.

The two non-West teams slated to join the field are Ball State and Rutgers-Newark.

Ball State, a semifinalist last year, returns a number of key players—including first-team all-America Chris Cooper and second-team selection Chris Beerman from a team that gave Stanford a battle before losing. The Cardinals are getting a boost this season from freshman Stephan Stamato, who ranks among the nation's leading blockers.

Rutgers-Newark defeated Penn State in five sets at last weekend's Eastern Intercollegiate Volleyball Association tournament to set up its first NCAA appearance since 1980.

Championship Profile

Event: National Collegiate men's volleyball

Field: Four teams will be selected to compete for the 1990 championship. One team will be selected from each of the three regions, and the fourth will be chosen at large.

Automatic qualification: None.

Defending champion: UCLA defeated Stanford in four games last year for its 13th title in 20 years.

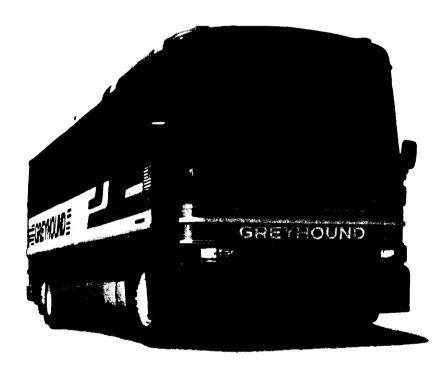

Schedule: The semifinals and final will be May 4-5 at George Mason.

The NCAA News coverage: Results will be published in the May 9 issue of the News

Contenders: UCLA, Stanford, Southern California, Long Beach State, Ball State, Rutgers-Newark.

Championship notes: In 20 years of play, only four teams—UCLA, San Diego State, Southern California and Pepperdine—have claimed titles...Of the champions, UCLA owns the best record (36-3 for a .923 winning percentage)...Ohio State and Penn State remain the only non-California teams to advance to the championship match...This year, rally scoring will be used in the fifth game of any match. Under the system, which is designed to speed up matches and increase excitement, a point is scored on every serve...Only six of the 20 championship matches have gone to the fifth game.

Longtime tennis power on sidelines

The beginning of the new decade marks the end of an era in Division II women's tennis.

After winning four straight team titles, Southern Illinois-Edwardsville has lost key personnel both on and off the court and has yet to win a match this season. The Cougars will not participate in the team competition at the May 6-12 championships, hosted by at UC Davis.

The decline of the Southern Illinois-Edwardsville program has left the Division II women's throne up for grabs, and the teams most likely to grab it are Cal Poly Pomona and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, two teams led by coaches who are relatively new to their programs.

Ann Lebedeff, who served nine years as head coach at Arizona, took the helm at Cal Poly Pomona in December 1988 and led the Broncos to a berth in the 1989 championships. Even though they lost to Abilene Christian in the first round, advancing to the championships was an emotional and physical triumph for the Broncos: Their star player and two-time singles champion, Xenia Anastasiadou, died early in the season of injuries suffered in a car accident.

"Losing a teammate like that gave the girls a healthy perspective on the sport," Lebedeff said. "They realize that it's only a game."

This outlook helps control the intensity that is a trademark of the 1990 Bronco squad, which had a record of 20-1 through April 19.

"This team is more competitive than last year's," Lebedeff said. "It's a bunch of girls who just hate to lose—not even one match. I think they'll maintain this intensity through the nationals."

The Broncos are led by all-America Onnaca Heron, a junior who is as intense on the court as she is in the classroom (3.990 grade point average in English and liberal studies). After advancing to the quarter-finals last year, she has a record of 18-5 at No. 1 singles in 1990 and is rated second in the latest Division II rankings.

Three junior college transfers add depth to the Cal Poly Pomona lineup: Julie Slattery, Donna Ewing and Cindy Hamnquist. Sophomore Diane Ewing, Donna's younger sister, has the most wins on the team (21) at No. 4 singles. Shelley Breeden, the team's only senior, is 19-4 at No. 5.

The streaking Broncos appear to be peaking at just the right time. They are undefeated since losing, 5-4, to Cal Poly San Luis Obispo in the fifth match of the season.

First-year coach Marla Reid's San Luis Obispo team has the depth to match Cal Poly Pomona's. Four Mustangs have been ranked among the division's top 30 singles players, and two of the squad's doubles tandems are ranked in the top 10.

The Mustangs, who posted a 14-4 record through April 19, are led by junior twins Debbie and Tracy Matano. Debbie, who is ranked fourth in the latest poll, plays No. 1 singles; Tracy, the team's No. 2 singles player, advanced to the championships quarterfinals last year. They are a formidable tandem at No. 2 doubles behind Vicki Kanter and Cindy Nielson.

A testament to the team's depth is that Kanter, a semifinalist as a junior in 1989, is playing No. 3 singles this season. Sophomores Alison Lean and Erin Green and freshman Nielson round out the San Luis Obispo lineup at singles slots Nos. 4, 5 and 6.

Although losses to the "Cal Polys" account for two of its five setbacks (through April 19), UC Davis is likely to be a contender in the team competition. Key returnees from last year's runner-up squad are juniors Alison Vidal and Reagan Solt. Vidal, a 1989 semifinalist in singles, has a 22-8 mark at No. 1 singles; Solt, who has been injured, has gone 15-6 at No. 2 singles. The two also form one of the division's top doubles teams, posting a 15-3 mark after advancing to the semifinals last year.

The leading contender from outside the Golden State is Abilene Christian. The Wildcats return doubles all-America Carla Martin (13-5 at No. 2 singles through April 19) and sophomore Michelle King (10-8 at No. 1 singles). They have a 13-1 record in doubles and have been ranked among the top three tandems in Division II. Junior Chris Chinchiolo adds depth to the lineup with a solid 15-3 mark at No. 4 singles.

Lost to graduation at Southern Illinois-Edwardsville were Christina Bokelund, a six-time all-America, and Portia George, who earned all-America honors eight times. The two squared off in last year's singles final, and Bokelund posted a three-set victory. It was the third straight year that George advanced to the finals.

The two also played very well on the same side of the net. They composed the school's No. 1 doubles team for four years, winning the championships in 1987 and 1988.

Perhaps the biggest loss was the departure of Bob Meyers, who coached the Cougar women for 10 years. He announced his resignation just before last year's championships, led his team to its fourth straight title, then left to devote more time to business. The school has yet to select a permanent replacement.

Championship Profile

Event: Division II women's tennis.

Field: Eight squads will compete for the team title, with 32 singles players and 16 doubles teams competing for individual championships.

Automatic qualification: None

Defending champion: Southern Illinois-Edwardsville won its fourth straight team title last season.

Schedule: The University of California, Davis, will host the championships May 6-12.

The NCAA News coverage: Results from the championships will appear in the May 16 issue of the News.

Contenders: Abilene Christian, Cal Poly Pomona, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, Cal State Northridge, UC Davis.

Championships notes: Southern Illinois-Edwardsville's 1989 title —its fourth in a row—gave the Cougars the all-time lead in team titles (four). They had been tied with Tennessee-Chattanooga, which won three straight crowns beginning in 1983... The only other school to claim the team title is Cal State Northridge, which won at the first championships in 1982... The 1982 team championship was a flighted championship, with the winner being determined by most matches won. Since 1983, the team competition has used a dual-match, single-elimination format... Last year's singles final pitted Southern Illinois-Edwardsville teammates Christina Bokelund and Portia George against each other. Bokelund won, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1. The pair teamed to win doubles titles in 1987 and 1988. Both have graduated... The championships will be held at the Gold River Racquet Club in Sacramento, California. It will be the first time that UC Davis has hosted the

The remarkable Gillette Sensor shaving system creates an entirely new standard in shaving performance. It's a shave personalized to every man.

The revolution starts

The revolution start with the platinum hardened Sensor twin blades. They're individually and endently mounted on highly respon-independently mounted on highly responsive springs. So they continuously sense and automatically adjust to the individual curves and unique needs of your face.

But innovation doesn't stop there. The ultra narrow metal skin guard is also mounted on springs. It moves in total harmony with the blades to set up your beard for optimum shaving performance.

Keeping this technology in constant contact with your face required another breakthrough. A dramatic redesign of the entire pivoting process creates a wider, more responsive, unprecedentedly smooth pivoting action. Innovation is everywhere.

You can feel it in the textured ridges and balance of the Sensor razor. You appreciate it in the easy loading system and the convenient shaving organizer.

Even rinsing is innovative. The new blades are 50% narrower than any others—water flows freely around and through them, helping to make rinsing and cleaning totally effortless.

But the true revolution of Sensor comes not with any one feature, but with the way the Sensor technologies work together. They combine to give your individual face a personalized shave—the closest, smoothest, safest shave you've ever had. Or, more precisely, the best shave a man can get.

Research confirms that business thrives on lots of sun and plenty of water.

The sound of water cascading from a fountain can help crystallize one's thinking.

A sunny room is infinitely more uplifting than a dim room.

Certain color schemes can warm you. Open, airy spaces can make you feel free.

Certainly, none of these thoughts is especially surprising. What is surprising, however, is that only one group of hotels seems to employ them to the fullest advantage of today's business traveller: Hvatt® Hotels.

Which may help to explain why everything, from our atriums to our guest rooms, has such a distinctive appeal. Why business

A good case for buying all your sports insurance from one source.

K&K's approach to sports insurance is a new concept in this specialized business. Now, for the first time, you or your broker can get all your insurance from a single source. And here's why that's a good idea.

Tailored coverage. A K&K representative along with your broker visits your facility. Inspects the buildings and grounds. Asks the right questions. With one company coordinating all your needs, you get exactly what you need. No more or less.

Coverage continuity. One company can obviously give you better continuity than several can.

One-stop shopping. It's easy and convenient, so you

One-stop claim service. No delays in filing reports to several companies. Just call our claims experts for expedient service.

Coverage you can't get anywhere else. When your source is K&K, we'll provide general liability, property and casualty, worker's comp, equipment, auto, business interruption, and something you can't get anywhere else. Participant liability. We'll actually insure professional athletes while performing at your facility.

Cost savings. When you buy all your insurance from one source, we can save you money.

A representative who's a specialist. Your K&K representative will be someone who has specialized for years in the business of sports. Someone who knows how to identify and manage risk. And keep your premium cost down.

Easier administration. Don't you think that one company would be easier to deal with than several? You're right.

Transamerica Insurance Company. We combine the credibility and financial strength of Transamerica Insurance Company with our own solid commitment to the sports industry. Pretty impressive.

There are more good reasons, too. For complete details, call us today at 219-427-3000.

Five sports cut

North Dakota State University will eliminate five intercollegiate sports next fall. The cuts include men's and women's tennis, men's and women's swimming, and men's

In a joint statement, Robert Entzion, director of men's athletics, and Lynn Dorn, women's athletics director, said, "The decision is based on the realities of the 'No Vote' last December that has affected higher education in North Dakota.

Costs continue to climb in trans portation, lodging and equipment, and it is projected that scholarship needs will increase by approximately $70,000 next year."

Goal-post proposal sent to committees member institutions.

The rules committee subsequently reported that altering a pair of goal posts costs approximately $400, and the Administrative Committee approved the proposal in an April 13 conference call.

After being asked to reconsider its approval of the proposal in its April 22 meeting, the Administrative Committee referred the issue to the Divisions I, II and III Championships Committees, which will meet May 6-7.

La Salle's Simmons ranked as Division I's best

By James M. Van Valkenburg NCAA Director of Statistics

La Salle's Lionel Simmons, a remarkable all-around player, is without question the most-honored player in men's college basketball this season. He swept all six major national player-of-the-year awards.

The 6-7 Simmons excelled statistically in every career category and enjoyed a great senior season, leading his team to a 30-2 record with 26.3 scoring and 11.1 rebounding averages.

His total of 3,217 career points ranks third in Division I history behind only Pete Maravich (3,667), whose last season at Louisiana State was 1970, and Freeman Williams (3,249), Portland State, whose last year was 1978.

Simmons at 1,429 also is the No. 4 rebounder in the current rebound era that began in 1973. In addition, his career figures for blocked shots, assists and steals are impressive for a big scorer. He is a jack of all trades.

He won the Wooden, Naismith, Eastman (National Association of Basketball Coaches), Rupp (Associated Press), United Press International and U.S. Basketball Writers Association awards.

Simmons is a good student as well—a factor that counts in the Wooden criteria. He had a 343point margin with 1,174 points in the Wooden voting, with Oregon State's Gary Payton second, followed by Syracuse's Derrick Coleman, Loyola Marymount's Hank Gathers (the voting deadline was March 26 — 22 days after his death), Nevada-Las Vegas' Larry Johnson and Louisiana State's Chris Jackson.

The La Salle senior seemed a bit overwhelmed: "I'm sitting here next to a guy whose team won the national championship (Johnson), the next No. I pick in the draft (Coleman) and a great shooter like Chris Jackson. And I still won. It has me puzzled. It has me boggled," he told Thomas Bonk of the Los Angeles

Clemson came from far behind to eliminate La Salle in the tournament. Paul Westhead's Loyola-Marymount team handed La Salle its only regular-season loss, 121-116, as Simmons had 34 points and 19 rebounds. "He epitomizes the allpurpose player who does everything," Westhead said. "He's not a specialist, he's just a basketball player."

Payton's 938 career assists ranks No. 2 in history and Coleman's 1,537 career rebounds is No. 1 in the current era (1973-1990). Johnson at 62.4, 11.4 and 20.5 is the only player in the nation this season to top 60 percent accuracy, 10 rebounds and 20 points. Sophomore Jackson, opting for the pro draft, ends with a 29point career scoring average—21st in Division I history.

Simmons, Payton, Coleman, Johnson and Jackson comprise the consensus all-America team, based on four teams - AP, UPI, USBWA and NABC-mentioned above. Simmons, Payton and Coleman are unanimous; the others missed by one team.

A sweep of the six major player awards was not the rule in the 1980s

1984 and Virginia's Ralph Sampson did it twice, in 1983 and 1982. Walter Berry of St. John's (New York) won five awards and Duke's Johnny Dawkins one in 1986; Sampson won four in 1981 and Brigham Young's Danny Ainge two; DePaul's

1,424 rebounds, was 28 points short of 2,000. Mississippi's Gerald Glass, with his first two seasons at Delta State (Division II), has 2,813 and Coleman, Simmons, Bonner and Hill are Nos. 1-4-5-6, respectively, on the current-era rebound list. Coleman surpassed the 1,511 by Virginia's Sampson. Payton, as mentioned, is second in history with 938 assists. And Coleman is not the only career record-setter. Purdue's 6-9 Stephen Scheffler shot 68.5 percent from the field over four seasons (408 for 596; the minimum is 400 made), besting the 67.8 by Oregon State's Steve Johnson (828 of 1,222), whose last season was 1981.

Finally, Kansas State's Steve Henson ends up a close third in all-time free-throw accuracy at 90 percent, missing only 40 times in 401 shots. Season champions

Loyola Marymount's Bo Kimble, with the second highest Division I scoring average in 12 years at 35.3, leads a senior domination of this season's individual statistics championships. Seniors won cight of nine titles.

Only Bradley's Hersey Hawkins, with 36.3 two seasons back, outscored Kimble going back to 1978, when Portland State's Williams reached 35.9. The death of Kimble's friend and fellow Philadelphia native, Hank Gathers, on March 4, was followed by the team's inspiring march to the NCAA West regional final, one game short of the Final Four, where eventual champion Nevada-Los Vegas won.

Kimble and Gathers, the No. 6 scorer at 29.0, helped Loyola set an all-time season scoring record in Division 1. The 6-5 Kimble had oustanding all-around figures, with 52.9 field-goal accuracy, 86.2 percent in free-throws and 7.7 rebound av-

New Mexico's Rob Robbins is the only junior to win a statistics title. His 93.5 free-throw percentage ranks sixth on the all-time list. Purdue's Scheffler, the career record-holder, is only second for the season, edged 69.82 percent to 69.76 by Southwest Missouri State's Lee Campbell.

Bonner is a big winner in the rebound race, averaging 13.8, while Drexel's Todd Lehmann is the assists champion at 9.3 per game.

Rhode Island's Kenny Green wins in blocked shots at 4.8, third highest on record, and Eastern Washington's Ronn McMahon is the steals champion at 4.5 per game, also third highest.

In three-point shooting, the accuracy winner is Princeton's Matt Lapin at 53.4 percent, and the production champion is Ohio's Dave Jamerson (also the nation's No. 3 scorer at 31.2, just behind U.S. International's Kevin Bradshaw) with 4.7 made per game, third highest on record.

Multi-category

As mentioned, only Nevada-Las Vegas' Johnson shot 60 percent from the field while averaging at least 10 rebounds and 20 points. Six topped 50 percent, 10 rebounds and 20 points-Gathers, 59.5, 10.8 and 29.0; Simmons, 51.3, 11.1 and 26.5; Colorado's Shaun Vandiver, 59.3, 11.2 and 22.3; South Carolina See La Salle's, page 15 and, despite Simmons' feat, likely will not prevail in the 1990s. In fact, three of the last five races finished in a three-three tie - Arizona's Sean Elliott and Duke's Danny Ferry in 1989, Kansas' Danny Manning and Bradley's Hersey Hawkins in 1988. and Georgetown's Patrick Ewing and Chris Mullin of St. John's (New York) in 1985. One could argue that Manning broke the tie by winning the Division I tournament's most outstanding player award in 1988. The winner this time is Anderson Hunt of Nevada-Las Vegas.

Basketball notes

The last six-award sweep was by Navy's David Robinson in 1987. Before that in the 1980s, North Carolina's Michael Jordan did it in Mark Aguirre four in 1980, with the others going to La Salle's Michael Brooks and Louisville's Darrell Griffith (the only player other than Manning to also win the tournament MOP award the same year). Top careers

Simmons and Coleman are among five 1990 seniors who compiled at least 2,000 points and 1,000 rebounds with their entire career in Division I. Simmons, as mentioned, has 3,217 and 1,429; Coleman 2,143 points to go with his 1,537 rebounds; Xavier's (Ohio) Tyrone Hill 2,003 and 1,380; Gathers 2,723 (12th alltime) and 1,128, and Texas Southern's Fred West 2,066 and 1,136.

Stanford's Azzi sweeps top honors in Division

By James M. Van Valkenburg NCAA Director of Statistics

Stanford senior Jennifer Azzi, an outstanding playmaker, ball-stealer, scorer and three-point shooter, is the most-honored player in women's basketball for 1990.

She swept all three individual honors — the Wade Trophy, the Naismith Trophy and most outstanding player of the Women's Final Four, where she led Stanford to the national championship, 88-81, over Auburn in the final. The title game drew a record crowd of 20,023 paid at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. Azzi's home town is Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

Azzi, 5-9, is the only repeater on both the five-player all-America first team chosen by the U.S. Baskethall Writers Association and the 10-player Kodak first team chosen by the Women's Basketball Coaches Association.

Two seniors who made both first teams are among just six in the nation who averaged above 60 percent field-goal accuracy, 10 rebounds per game and 20 points per game.

They are Louisiana Tech's 6-4 Venus Lacy, 60.3 in shooting, 12.7 rebounding and 24.2 scoring, and Stephen F. Austin State's 6-3 Portia Hill, 60.1, 10.8 and 23.2. The other senior to make both teams is 6-1 Dale Hodges, St. Joseph's (Pennsylvania), No. 3 scorer at 27.6 and a 12 rebounder.

Stanford's Jennifer Azzi was a consensus all-America and most outstanding player of Women's Final Four

The fifth player to make both teams and the only junior in the group is North Carolina State's 5-10 Andrea Stinson, a 21.7 scorer, 55.1 shooter and 6.6 rebounder. The other five first-teamers on the Kodak team are Virginia's Dawn Staley, Auburn's Carolyn Jones, lowa's Franthea Price. Tennessee's Daedra Charles and Vanderbilt's

Sandi Bittler of Princeton led Division I in three-point field goals per game at four Wendy Scholtens.

Other individual leaders

Seniors dominate the list of national statistics champions, headed by Old Dominion's 6-2 Kelly Lyons, a member of the select 60-10-20 club. She is the national accuracy champion at 69.4 percent (second highest in Division I history), and she averaged 10.2 rebounds and 24.6 points.

Of the other five, none is more remarkable than the scoring champion, 5-foot-4 Kim Perrot of Southwestern Louisiana at 30 per game. She is the sixth player to reach 30 in the nine seasons of NCAA statistics championships.

You could say Perrot stole the title, because she is second in steals with 143 in 28 games for a 5.1 average. She also is the shortest player on the list of 68 scorers averaging at least 19 points. The shortest ranked players, both 5-2, are Shanya Evans of Providence, second nationally in assists, and Tangela McCullum of Texas Southern, 22nd in three-point production. Three ranked players are 5-3 and four are 5-4, including Perrot.

The other seniors with championships are 5-11 Pam Hudson of Northwestern State (Louisiana) in rebounding at 15.1 (she also is the No. 2 scorer at 28.6), Lea Ann Parsley of Marshall in free-throw accuracy at 92.3 percent (third highest ever), Fresno State's 6-6 Simone Srubek in blocked shots at 4.5 per game, and Princeton's Sandi Bittler in three-point scoring at four made per game.

Florida A&M sophomore Shelly Boston is the steals champion at a record 5.5 per game. Two freshmen won titles - Pacific's Tine Freil in assists at 11.1 per game (highest ever by a freshman) and Fordham's Heather Donlon in three-point accuracy with a record 57.5 percent.

The other three players to average 60 percent accuracy, 10 rebounds and 20 points this season are rebound champion Hudson, 60.3 shooting, 15.1 rebounds and 28.6 points; Tonya Grant, 6-1, St. Peter's, 61.2, 10.1 and 25.6, and Tarcha Hollis, 6-4, Grambling, the only junior in the group, with 60.3, 13.4

Only three players shot at least 50 percent from the field, 80 percent at the free-throw line and scored 20 per game. They are Vanderbilt's 6-4 Scholtens, one of the Kodak firstteam players, 58.9, 89.4 and 25.1 (making her 14th, sixth and eighth, respectively, in the three categories); blocked shot champion Srubek, 50.8, 80.4 and 20.6, and Montana's Shannon Cate, 52.1, 84.2 and 20.3.

Three others were just under 20 in scoring. They are Penn State's Susan Robinson, 50.1, 88.5 and 19.8; Northern Illinois' Tammy Hinches, 57.0, 81.9 and 19.7; and her teammate, Lisa Foss, 52.6, 86.1 and 19.5.

Career leaders

On the career charts. Old Dominion's Lyons, the field-goal accuracy champion, reached fifth alltime at 64.6 percent, while Northwestern State's (Louisiana) Hudson is 16th on 60.8 for her two-season career.

State's Travis Williams, 51.1, 10.3 and 20.7; Xavier's (Ohio) Hill, 58.1, 12.6 and 20.2, and Old Dominion's Chris Gatling, 58.0, 10 and 20.5.

Five more players topped 50 percent from the field and 80 percent from the foul line while averaging at least 20 points—Kimble (figures above); Gonzaga's Jim McPhee, 53.8, 83.2 and 23.6; Dayton's Negele Knight, 50.3, 80.0 and 22.8; St. Francis' (Pennsylvania) Mike Iuzzolino, 55.2, 87.1 and 21.3, and Maryland-Baltimore County's Larry Simmons 50.5, 81.1 and 20.4.

Other career leaders

Eighteen Division I seniors reached at least 2,000 career points. Several already have been mentioned, but here is the complete list, in order:

Simmons 3,217, Glass 2,813, Gathers 2,723, Virginia Tech's Bimbo Coles 2,484, Kimble 2,350, Jamerson 2,336, Texas' Travis Mays 2,279, Tennessee Tech's Earl Wisc

2,196, Liberty's Bailey Alston (one season at Liberty in Division II; freshman year at Rutgers) 2,195, Air Force's Raymond Dudley 2,178, Payton 2,172, Coleman 2,143, Texas Southern's Charles Price 2,116, West 2,066, Pepperdine's Tom Lewis 2,050, Northern Iowa's Jason Reece 2,033, McPhee 2,015 and Hill 2,003.

In scoring average in this group, Simmons leads at 24.6, followed by Gathers 23.3, Glass 22.7, Kimble 22.6, Coles 21.6, Alston 20.32, Jamerson 20.31 and Dudley 20.

Among those with two-season careers, it is Jackson 29, Southwestern Louisiana's Sydney Grider 24.5, Cal State Fullerton's Cedric Ceballos 22.1 and Centenary's Larry Robinson 20.8. All were junior college transfers except Jackson, who is turning pro.

Field-goal-percentage champion Campbell at 66.5 reaches fourth on the all-time list now headed by Scheffler. Four others make the top 20—Centenary's Marro Hawkins at 63.3 is 13th, Evansville's Brian Hill at 63.1 is 15th, and Louisville's 7-0 Felton Spencer is 18th, 62.83 to 62.76 for Idaho's Riley Smith.

Cleveland State's Kenny Robertson tied the Division I record for career steals (341) first set by Michael Anderson of Drexel. His last season was 1988. Oregon State's Payton, already second in career assists and a 2,172-point scorer, is third on the all-time list at 321.

Rice's D'Wayne Tanner at 291 is ninth and Florida A&M's Terry Giles at 278 is 12th in career steals.

The season steals champion, Eastern Washington's McMahon, is second all-time in steals per game with 3.5, trailing only Mookie Blaylock of Oklahoma (3.8). Robertson at 2.87, Payton 2.68 and Tanner 2.67 rank Nos. 5-8-9, respectively.

Michigan State's Kirk Manns set a record for career three-point accuracy at 47.5 percent (min. 200 made; he hit 212 of 446). Tony Ross, who played a third season at San Diego State in 1989 but did not attend any school in 1990, would be third at 45.8 if he decides to end his college career. In that event, Kansas State's Henson, the 90-percent freethrow shooter, is fifth at 44.7, Pepperdine's Craig Davis seventh at 43.6 and Southwestern Louisiana's Grider, the 24.5 scorer, 10th at 43.0 percent. In career three-point production, Grider's 4.36 made per game for his two-year career is second, Loyola Marymount's Jeff Fryer is fourth at 3.24 and Ross sixth at 3.18.

Single-game highs

Ohio's Jamerson had the season's single-game scoring high with 60 vs. Charleston December 21, but Oregon State's Payton had the highest against a Division I foe with 58 vs. Southern California February 22. Scoring champion Kimble had games of 54, 53 and 51. Jamerson's

Stanford's

Lyons, with 2,224 points and 1,008 rebounds, is one of five to finish with more than 2,000 points and 1,000 rebounds. The others are Hawaii's Judy Mosley with 2,479 and 1,441; South Alabama's Adrian Vickers, 2,285 and 1,364; Northern Illinois' Carol Owens, 2,097 and 1,028, and all-America Hodges, 2,077 and 1,049.

Season scoring champion Perrot leads three others who reached 2,000 career points. She has 2,157, Temple's Kelly Lane (first two years at American) has 2,104 and Grant of St. Peter's (in the 60-10-20 club)

Eastern Michigan's Kelly Hebler ended up seventh in all-time freethrow accuracy at 84.7 percent, with

Kent's Amy Slowikowski 10th at

Single-game highs

Scoring champion Perrot had the season's highest single-game scoring total at 58 (equaling the second highest ever) February 5. vs. Southeastern Louisiana.

Other single-game highs were 28 rebounds by Coppin State's Yvette Larkins, a record-equaling 13 steals by Tennessee State's Ann Thomas, 18 assists by both Kansas' Lisa Braddy and Pacific's Tine Freil and 12 blocks by Fresno State's Simone Srubek, Texas' Ellen Bayer and San Diego's Chris Enger.

Team leaders

Louisiana Tech (undefeated until beaten by Auburn in the national semifinals) and Stanford share the won-lost crown at 32-1 for .970.

That is Stanford's only taste of a national statistics crown, while Tech wins three titles outright - in scoring margin at 32.9; field-goal percentage defense, allowing 33.4, and rebound margin at 18.3.

Stanford shows impressive balance, however, ranking nationally in eight of the 10 categories. Coach Tara VanDerveer's team is second in scoring offense (92.8) and scoring margin (26.6); seventh in three categories - field-goal accuracy, threepoint accuracy and three-point production; eighth in free-throw accuracy, and 12th in rebound margin. Her team misses the rankings only in scoring defense and field-goal percentage defense.

Louisiana Tech is fifth in scoring offense and second in scoring defense but unranked in the other four categories.

The other six team champions are Northern Illinois in scoring offense (94.5), Missouri-Kansas City in scoring defense (52.5), Stephen F. Austin State in field-goal accuracy (51.5 percent), Northern Illinois in free-throw accuracy (77.5), Fordham in three-point accuracy at 47.3 and Creighton in three-point production (7.7 made per game).

Lehigh most improved

Lehigh is the most improved team in Division I for 1990, boasting a 21-8 record (second best in the history of women's basketball at Lehigh) vs. 7-21 in 1989. That is an improvement of 13½ games (14 more wins and 13 fewer losses is 27, divided by two).

Jocelyn Beck, 36, a Slippery Rock

graduate, led the way in her first year as head coach at Lehigh after serving two years as an assistant. Before that, she was head coach at Kutztown for seven years, posting a 69-91 record.

Tied for second are 17-12 Louisville and 24-5 Northwestern, both up 12½ games. Next are 19-8 Southwest Missouri State at 12, 19-8 San Francisco at 11, 12-14 Tennessee State at 10½, 19-11 Alabama-Birmingham at 10, and 20-9 Butler at 9½-games improvement.

Record attendance

A higher capacity resulted in the Women's Final Four outdrawing the men in attendance for the first time, producing a record tournament attendance of 191,781 for a record average of 4,566 over 42 See Stanford's, page 19

14 three-pointers set a Division I record the same night against Charleston.

Other single-game highs were 28 rebounds by UC Santa Barbara's Eric McArthur, 19 assists by Drexel's Todd Lehmann, 12 blocks by Louisiana State's Shaquille O'Neal and nine steals by seven different players.

Team leaders

Three all-time season records are in the books, and Georgetown and Princeton are double champions in the final Division I team rankings.

Indiana's 1940 NCAA champions were called the "Point-a-minute Hoosiers" for averaging more than 40 points. So what do we call Loyola Marymount, with its 122.4 points per game—the "Three-points-a-minute Lions?"

Loyola smashes by nearly 10 points its previous all-time-high 112.5 average, set a year earlier, and is more than 21 points above second-place Oklahoma.

Georgetown permitted its foes a record-low 37 field-goal percentage (and second-place Arizona also broke the previous mark, permitting 39.20 to 39.22 by Temple in 1988). It was Georgetown's fourth title in seven years. The other Georgetown crown came in rebound margin at 10.8 per game, edging Xavier (Ohio).

Kentucky set the other record by firing in 10 three-pointers per game, breaking the 9.3 by Loyola Marymount a year ago.

Princeton's two titles are in scoring defense (its eighth since 1976) at 51.0 points allowed per game and in three-point accouracy at 45.2 percent

Kansas is the field-goal-accuracy winner at 53.3 percent, edging Louisville (the Jayhawks were the No. 4 shooting team of the 1980s).

Oklahoma is the champion in scoring margin at 21 with Kansas second, and Lafayette is the winner in free-throw accuracy at 78.4 with Vanderbilt second.

In possibly the most important category, won-lost percentage, La Salle is the winner at 30-2 for .938, with Jerry Tarkanian's NCAA champions next at 35-5. Tied for third are Arkansas and Kansas, both at 30-5. The other 30-game winner is Connecticut at 31-6.

Champions rank high

Nevada-Las Vegas averaged 95.2 points in six tournament games—second highest ever by an NCAA champion behind the 100-point average by UCLA's 1965 champions in four games. It was that team and the 1964 champions, combined with a proposed new arena (Pauley Pavilion) to replace a tiny gym, that induced Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (then Lew Alcindor) to leave New York City and enroll at UCLA, thus setting up John Wooden's 10-championship dynasty.

Tie for most improved

South Florida, coached by 48-year-old Bobby Paschal, and George Washington, coached by 35-year-old John Kuester, tied for the national most-improved title in 1990 at 11½ games.

South Florida ended 20-11 after winning the Sun Belt Conference tournament, then losing to Arizona in an NCAA tournament first-round game. It was 7-21 a year earlier, so 13 more wins and 10 fewer losses is 23; divide by two. Paschal turned the corner in his fourth season at South Florida after a highly successful career at Southwestern Louisiana.

Kuester's team rebounded to 14-17 after a devastating 1-27 season in 1989. He was a two-year starter under Dean Smith at North Carolina, teaming with Phil Ford, then assisted Rick Pitino at Boston U. before two seasons as head coach. (Despite the big comeback, Kuester lost his job after the season.)

Third in the most-improved race at 10½ games is 18-11 Eastern Washington, with 24-6 Holy Cross and 19-9 Tennessee Tech both at 10 games and 16-14 Baylor at 9½. Three teams are at nine games—30-5 Kansas, 11-17 Portland and 10-17 Maryland-Eastern Shore.

Divided coaching honors

The five coach-of-the-year awards went to four different coaches in 1990. Both Associated Press and United Press International chose Jim Calhoun of Connecticut. The U.S. Basketball Writers Association chose Roy Williams of Kansas, the National Association of Basketball Coached picked Jud Heathcote of Michigan State and the Naismith award went to Bobby Cremins of Georgia Tech.

Division II leaders

Virginia Union's Albert "A. J." English is the Division II national scoring champion and the first player in the division to reach 1,000 points since Kentucky State's Travis Grant scored 1,304 back in 1972.

English, a 6-4 senior from Wilmington, Deleware, scored 1,001 points and averaged 33.4 points per game. Admittedly, English had the benefit of the three-point shot—he scored 65 of them.

English's 33.4 average has been surpassed three times since 1972, and all three of those scorers might have reached 1,000 points with the three-point rule. Lincoln's (Missouri) Harold Robertson averaged 34.5 in 1978 and was 35 points short of 1,000; Alabama A&M's Danny Dixon averaged 33.7 in 1983 and was 90 short, and Clark Atlanta's Ernest Lee averaged 34.1 in 1985 and was only 10 short.

Even Grant, who averaged 39.5, must take a back seat to Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, a protege of 800-game winner Clarence "Big House" Gaines at Winston-Salem, who holds the record at 1,329, set in 1967. Monroe averaged 41.5, but even that is third highest. The legendary Clarence "Bevo" Francis of little Rio Grande has that record at 46.5 in 1954.

English is one of three seniors with individual crowns in 1990. The others are Steve Ray of Bridgeport with 11.7 assists per game (vs. the record 12.5 he set a year ago), and Gary Paul of Indianapolis, 3.9 three-pointers per game.

The two junior champions are Morris Brown's Leroy Gasque in rebounding by a wide margin at 15.6 per game and Alabama-Huntsville's Mike Morris in free-throw accuracy at 91.2 percent. The two sophomore champions are Ulysses Hackett of South Carolina-Spartanburg in field-goal accuracy at 70.7 percent and Fort Hays State's Mark Willey in three-point accuracy at 60.5 percent.

On the career charts, Mike Ziegler of Colorado Mines is the top scorer, 2,413 points to 2,396 for English. Then come East Stroudsburg's Jonathan Roberts at 2,218, Paul 2,130, Bentley's Billy Holden 2,103 and Ashland's LeBron Gladden 2,102. Gladden also leads all seniors in free-throw percentage at 84.2 (Wash-burn's Mike Dickerson hit 90 percent but was well below the minimum of 250 made). Longwood's Doug Poppe tops current senior field-goal shooters at 62.2 percent. Roberts is on top in rebounding at 1,247 for an 11.1 average.

Kentucky Wesleyan's Division II champions (for the sixth time) are the only double champions in the final team rankings. Wayne Chapman's team led in won-lost percentage on 31-2 for .939 and in scoring margin at 20.5—the highest figure since 1972. Kentucky Wesleyan was third in scoring at 97.3, a category won by Jacksonville State, 99.0 to 98.1 for Troy State.

At the other end, Humboldt State won the scoring-defense champion-ship, 59.1 to 59.5 for North Carolina Central. South Carolina-Spartanburg, second in won-lost at 29-3, is the champion in field-goal accuracy, 54.7 to 54.0 percent for Shaw (North Carolina). In field-goal percentage defense, the winner is Central Missouri State, allowing 39.6 to 40.1 by Cheyney.

South Carolina-Spartanburg just missed a rare sweep, losing the free-throw-accuracy crown to Rollins, 77.1 to 76.5 percent. Florida Atlantic nudged Metropolitan State for the title in rebound margin, 11.6 to 11.4 per game.

Shaw easily won in three-point accuracy at 51.7 percent, while Stone-hill is the winner in three-point production, making 9.6 per game.

Division III leaders

Rust's Grant Glover, the Division III scoring champion at 27.6 points per game, is one of only three seniors in the division to win individual statistics championships in 1990. The others are Michael Stubbs of Trinity (Connectiut) with 18.1 rebounds per game and Albert Kirchner, Mt. St. Vincent, 11.1 assists.

Juniors took the other crowns. New Jersey Tech's Bill Triplett is the field-goal-percentage winner at 71.3 percent, Wartburg's Todd Reinhardt wins in free-throw percentage at 92.9 percent, Lawrence's Matt Miota is the winner in three-point accuracy at 61.1 percent and Blackburn's Chris Hamilton is the three-point production champion on 4.1 per game.

On the career charts, Colby's

Matt Hancock is outstanding. His 2,678 career points ranks third on the all-time list, his 26.3 average fifth and his 792 free throws made smashes the former division record by 175. Oberlin's Chip Winiarski is next in this year's senior group at 2,303 (and 22.6), then Calvin's Bill Sall 2,143, North Adams State's Phil Bledsoe 2,130 and Jersey City State's Del Harrison 2,011. Season scoring champion Glover finishes 48 points short of 2,000.

Trenton State's Kevin Ryan reached fourth on the all-time field-goal accuracy list at 64.8 percent (Averett's Tony Seay hit 62.6 but missed by 17 the minimum of 400 made). Hancock's 85.3 leads all senior free-throw shooters, and his 792 made is almost 300 more than any player in the top 10.

Stubbs leads all seniors in career rebound average at 12.3, with Troy Smith of Rhode Island College at 11.1 and Tim Garrett of Emory at 10.8. In total rebounds, it is Smith 1,184, Stubbs 1,109 and Garrett 1,095.

In the team rankings, 26-1 Colby, led by the 6-2 Hancock, is on top with three titles and six top-10 finishes in the seven categories. Only a shocking 73-77 home-court loss to 10-14 Bates kept Dick Whitmore's team from a perfect season. Colby is the champion in won-lost percentage at .963, scoring margin at 22.8 and free-throw percentage at 80.2—a Division III record.

Other division records were set by Salisbury State, scoring 104.5 points per game, and by Augsburg on 10.6 three-pointers made per game.

Rochester, the Division III champion after a 43-42 victory over De-Pauw in a tough defensive battle, appropriately is the champion in field-goal-percentage defense at 38.2 percent allowed—third best ever. Mike Neer's 27-5 champions also rank eighth in scoring defense (62.6), where Randolph-Macon is the champion at 56.8 points allowed per game.

The other titles went to Wartburg in field-goal accuracy at 53.7 percent; Bethel (Minnesota) in rebound margin, 12.0 to 11.9 for Rhode Island College, and Western New England on its 50.9 percent three-point accuracy.

Stanford's

sessions. The two Women's Final Four sessions totaled 39,490 vs. 35,350 for the men's Final Four.

Division II leaders

Kim Brewington, Johnson C. Smith junior, set a Division II record in scoring average at 32.4 points per game. Even without the three-point shot (which gave her another 62 points), Brewington broke the record of 29.9 by Stacey Cunningham of Shippensburg in 1983 (before the three-point era). A second-place 29.7 by LeMoyne-Owen sophomore Stella Cannon ranks third highest ever

Non-seniors dominate the list of season individual champions. Besides Brewington, Norfolk State sophomore Stephanie Palmer is the rebound champion at 14.7 per game, Augustana (South Dakota) junior Bridget Lindquist is the field-goal accuracy winner at 64.8 percent (seventh highest ever), Northern Colorado sophomore Denise Nehme is the free-throw accuracy champion at 89.8 percent (third highest) and St. Joseph's (Indiana) junior Jennifer Radosevic wins in assists—a new category in the division this year—with 9.4 per game.

Only in three-pointers did the seniors break through with a pair of titles, as North Dakota's Durene Heisler set an accuracy record at 56.3 percent and Livingston's Michelle Butler is the winner in most scored per game at 3.3.

Delta State dominates the team picture. The Lady Statesmen are team champions in won-lost at 32-1 for .970 and in scoring margin at 26, are seventh in both offense at 85.6 points per game and defense at 59.6 allowed, and are second in rebounding, sixth in field-goal accuracy and ninth in free-throw accuracy.

With all those statistics, you would expect Delta State to win the Division 11 championship. That is exactly what happened, as coach Lloyd Clark's team made it two straight titles with an impressive 77-43 victory over Bentley; the 34-point margin was a record for a title game. In the semifinals, Clark's team got a stiff test (57-53) from the home team, Cal Poly Pomona, the only other team in win back-to-back championships (1985 and 1986).

On the career charts, Valdosta State senior Shannon Williams finished with a 25.1 scoring average—a division record for the NCAA era that started with the 1982 season. Kathi Paulsrud, Jamestown 1978-1981, averaged 26.4.

Williams, the 1989 scoring champion, is one of three seniors who reached 2,000 points and 1,000 rebounds, with 2,636 and 1,217. Hillsdale's Sandy Skaisgir had 2,160 and 1,146; Cal Poly Pomona's Nicki Bracken 2,246 and 1,053.

The other five 2,000-point scorers this year are Brenda Shaffer-Dahl of Washburn at 2,559, Jeannette Yeoman of St. Joseph's (Indiana) at 2,280, Kammy Brown of Virginia State with 2,242, Cathy Cox of Alaska-Fairbanks with 2,075 and Debbie Delie of Oakland at 2,038. Division III leaders

No individual season records were set in the division (unless you count assists, a new category this year) but four champions are high on the list. Scoring champion Ann Gilbert of Oberlin is at 31.1, third highest ever; field-goal accuracy winner ArleneEagan of Buffalo State is at 64.8 percent, second highest, and rebound champion Stacy Carr of Virginia Wesleyan is third on the list at 18.1 per game.

In free-throw accuracy, Lake Forest's Jill Morrison, the champion, is fourth at 87.8 percent, Hope's Lissa Neinhuis fifth at 87.6 and Elms' Jen Gray seventh at 87.1. Rust's Tonja Sanders is the assists champion at 11.7, while in three-point shooting the accuracy winner is Grinnell's Missy Sharer at 52.5 percent and the production champion is Thomas' Kristin Nielsen with 3.3 made per game.

Juniors dominate the list of champions, winning five of seven. Carr is the only senior and Sanders the only sophomore.

St. John Fisher dominates team statistics, with the top ranking in won-lost percentage at 31-2 for .939; in scoring margin at 25.5 (12th in offense in 77.3 and 10th in defense at 51.8); in field-goal accuracy at 50.2 percent, and in free-throw accuracy at 78.3 percent.

With a chart like that, St. John

Fisher would seem a certain Division II champion. But it did not happen, as 24-2 Hope under first-year coach Sue West came from 20 points behind (32-52) to take a 65-63 victory in the championship game. It was Hope's first NCAA team championship in any sport.

Hope senior Dina Disney made a three-pointer with 13 seconds left to tie the game, 63-63, then won it on two free throws with no time left on the clock. Disney made her last 37 free throws of the season and ended with 61-for-67 for 91 percent—cnough to win the crown if she had not missed the minimum requirement of 2.5 made per game (she averaged 2.35).

Three seniors reached 2,000 career points—Marietta's Cathy Clark at 2,311, St. John Fisher's Susan Heidt 2,019 and Cal State San Bernardino's Teri Paine 2,015. Clark's 81.6 percent is third highest ever in free-throw percentage, and Heidt's 80.1 is fifth. A junior, Baruch's Hilary Williams, is third in career rebound average at 16.6 per game.

Coaches name Buckeyes' Racanelli top gymnast

Ohio State University gymnast Mike Racanelli has been named winner of the 1990 IBM/George Nissen Award by the National Association of College Gymnastics Coaches. Called the sport's equivalent of football's Heisman Trophy, the award was presented to Racanelli April 18 in Minneapolis, site of the 1990 National Collegiate Men's Gymnastics Championships.

Regional coaching awards also were presented to Fred Roethlisberger, University of Minnesota, Twin Cities (Mideast); Terry Nesbitt, Kent State University (East); Francis Allen, University of Nebraska, Lincoln (Midwest), and Dick Wolfe, California State University, Fullerton (West).

Named national assistant coach of the year was Minnesota's Russ Fystrom. Cortland State University College's Eric Malmberg was honored as coach of the year for Divisions II and III.

Pennsylvania State University's Karl Schier received the honor coach award. Inducted into the gymnastics coaches hall of fame were Roethlisberger, Kurt Thomas, A. Bruce Frederick and Gerald George.

Pat Summitt, women's basketball coach at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, and her husband, R. B., are expecting their first child this fall.

"It's one thing to work with other people's kids," said Summitt, 37, "but to have your own...hopefully, it will be a new and wonderful challenge."

The baby is expected just before practice starts next October.

Former University of Pittsburgh football great Mike Ditka, now head coach of the NFL Chicago Bears, has established the Mike Ditka Endowed Scholarship Fund at his alma mater with the first of 10 annual contributions of $10,000. Scholarships from the fund will be awarded to incoming Pitt studentathletes from Ditka's home—the Beaver Valley area of southwestern Pennsylvania.

"I think life is all about paying your dues," Ditka said. "I am delighted to be able to give back something to the university and, at the same time, help someone in life—especially someone from my hometown—to get a college education and have a chance to succeed in life."

Trivia Time: Besides football, what other sports did Mike Ditka play as an undergraduate at Pitt? Answer later.

Ever heard of a three-base sacrifice fly that produced an RBI?

University of Wisconsin, Madison, baseball player Tom O'Neill has—he hit it, and owns the resulting RBI.

Seems that during the first game of an April 15 doubleheader between Wisconsin and the University of Illinois, Champaign, Badger Joel Schmitz led off the seventh inning with a single. O'Neill followed with a fly ball to deep center field.

Illinois outfielder Kevin O'Connor made a diving catch at the fence and his glove—ball still in it—got stuck in the fence. Schmitz scored from first, producing the three-base sacrifice and RBI for O'Neill.

Didn't really matter. Illinois won the game, 20-5.

OK, so maybe you never heard of a three-base sacrifice fly before. What about all-terrain volleyball?

Say what? All-terrain volleyball, the kind East Texas State University officials had in mind when they scheduled the First International All-Terrain Volleyball Tournament, held April 21-22 on the Commerce, Texas, campus.

A recreational—not intercollegiate—event, teams competed at various times on sand, grass, wood (indoors) and water.

Delfon Curlpepper, a junior sprinter on Oberlin College's men's track team, proposed to his girlfriend during a home meet against Hiram College and the College of Wooster

Curlpepper's teammates unrolled a banner in the infield that read, "Leisa, will you marry me?" To the delight of the crowd (not to mention Curlpepper), Leisa said yes.

Her fiance then won the 200meter dash, anchored the victorious 400-meter relay team, finished second in the 100-meter dash and anchored the second place 1,600-meter relay team. Lehigh University's athletics department held a drug-testing seminar April 23 for coaches and student-athletes. Participating was Dr. Paul Gikas, who has been active with the NCAA's postseason drugtesting program since its establishment. The seminar was scheduled to provide information on the year-round NCAA testing program adopted by the membership at the 1990 Convention.

Louisiana State University's athletics department has made a significant contribution toward the $120,000 needed to repair water damage (caused by frozen pipes) during the winter at LSU's Anglo-American Art Museum in Memorial Tower.

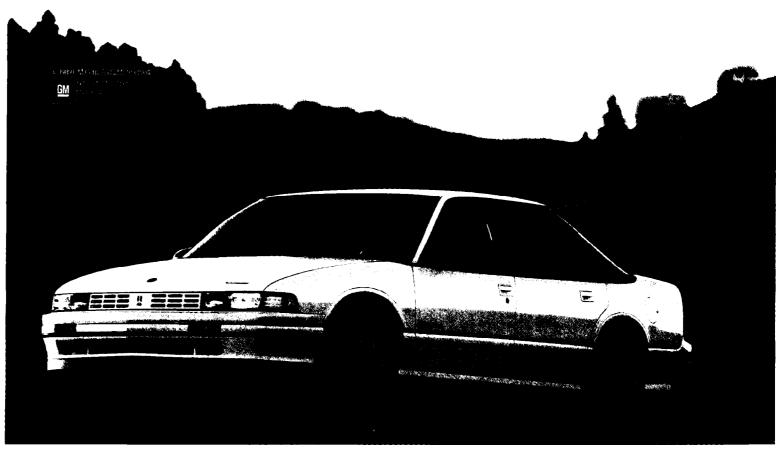

"Joe Dean and the athletics department have indeed been heroes in coming to our rescue," said Pat

Bacot, museum director. "We are all on the same team here at LSU," said Dean, athletics director, "and I am just glad we had this opportunity to help maintain such a vital collection (of art)."

Steve Scott, the American recordholder in the mile, will take part in the April 28 dedication ceremonics for the University of California, San Diego's, new track and field complex.

The facility features a nine-lane, 400-meter track sporting an all-weather surface; three long-jump/triple-jump runways; two pole-vault runways; multiple javelin and high-jump approaches, and a 5½-foot-wide jogging lane.

Trivia Answer: In addition to football, Mike Ditka also played baseball and basketball as an undergraduate at Pitt.
