Preliminary proposals for revenue sharing listed

A list of 12 preliminary recommendations for distributing NCAA revenue has been developed by a special advisory committee for June 14 hearings, at which time the NCAA membership can ask questions about the recommendations.

The hearings are scheduled for 2 to 5 p.m. at the Stouffiers Concourse Hotel in Arlington, Virginia; the O'Hare Marriott in Chicago, and the Airport Hilton Hotel in San Francisco.

The special committee has developed a Division I revenue-sharing formula based equally upon a conference's performance in the Division I Men's Basketball Championship over the past six years and upon the breadth of an institution's athletics program and the number of grants-in-aid it awards, plus participation in NCAA championships over the past three years.

This revenue-sharing formula would replace payments to participants in the Division I Men's Basketball Championships based solely on progression through the bracket.

The proposals include a number of provisions for the student-athlete, such as catastrophic-injury insurance (all three divisions), enhancement of the postgraduate scholarship program, degree-incentive grants and an emergency fund for Division I that would be administered by conferences.

The preliminary recommendations also call for full funding of Divisions II and III championships and a $3 million financial enhancement over a period of time for Division II institutions, with revenue distributed by the same formula proposal for Division I.

"The preliminary report is based upon suggestions from the membership, and we received a very productive initial response to our call for suggestions," said Judith M. Sweet, director of athletics at the University of California, San Diego, and chair of the Special Advisory Committee to Review Recommendations Regarding Distribution of Revenues.

"We hope the membership will review these preliminary recommendations and continue to participate in the process of helping us to go forward ultimately with the best plan possible," Sweet said.

Following the June 14 hearings, the special committee will meet June 18 to complete its recommendations and submit them to the Budget Subcommittee, which meets July 10-11. Following its review of the proposals, the Budget Subcommittee will submit the recommendations to the Executive Committee in August.

Two to four members of the special committee will attend each hearing in June to answer members' questions. Some committee members also will attend the annual convention of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Ath-

Year-round drug-testing plan aimed at stopping steroid use

It's best to think of the new NCAA year-round drug-testing program as a narrowly focused effort that is zeroing in on a specific problem—the use of anabolic steroids in football.

So says the program's chief administrator, Frank D. Uryasz, NCAA director of sports sciences. And backed by that philosophy, the Association will oversee approximately 9,000 tests involving Divisions I-A and I-AA football players from August 1 through spring 1991.

"We're going to be ready to go August 1," said Uryasz, who is preparing to hire two administrators to help run the program that was approved with the adoption of Proposal No. 53 at the 1990 Convention.

The new program, which replaces the voluntary off-season drug-testing program that has been in operation since January 1989, will cost $1.6 million during its first year—half of the $3.2 million the Association will spend for drug-testing efforts in 1990-91. The remainder will be spent on the NCAA's four-year-old postseason testing program for championships and bowl games, in which another 4,000 tests will be conducted.

"In our minds, it's two programs," Uryasz said.

"The first one is the postseason testing program. . . . We will continue to operate that as we have since 1986. In those tests, we test for the entire list of banned drugs.

"The second program," he continued, "is the year-round testing program for schools that sponsor football in Divisions I-A and I-AA. Those athletes can be tested anytime from August to the end of their institutions' spring terms."

And just as that program will focus on a specific sport, it also will test for a select group of drugs: anabolic steroids, diuretics, and urine manipulators such as probenecid.

"The Executive Committee is taking a good approach; it is keeping the program narrowly focused where we have the greatest problem, which is currently football," Uryasz said.

Data collected by the NCAA clearly point to the problem. For instance, last season, seven of 12 positive tests in the postseason program that resulted in ineligibility involved players on bowl-bound Division I-A football teams who used anabolic steroids.

That number is very low, considering that nearly 1,500 specimens were collected from Division I-A football players, but other data indicate the problem is bigger than testing reveals.

In studies conducted for the NCAA by Michigan State University's college of human medicine, nine percent of football players responding to a 1985 survey admitted using steroids, and 10 percent admitted usage when the survey was repeated in 1989.

"Because we sponsor championships, we have an obligation to athletes to ensure that the competition is clean, fair and equitable," Uryasz said. "We have learned we can do that by testing at championships, except in the case of steroids, which are training drugs and are not taken during the postseason."

There are differences between the year-round program and the existing postseason testing program, but the sanctions that can be assessed for positive tests are the same

"The only way to deter steroid use is to test at the time they are taken. Our data show we've just changed the pattern of use, not deterred use."

Beginning with preseason training in August, football players at every school in Divisions I-A and I-AA will be subject to at least one test that could be conducted at any time during the academic year.

"The Executive Committee has mandated that every program be tested once, but it's possible some schools will not be tested until the spring," Uryasz said.

"The Executive Committee set no maximum on the number of times a school could be tested."

It is expected that approximately 25 percent of the 195 programs subject to testing (106 in Division I-A and 89 in Division I-AA) will be retested at least once during the first year.

"The Executive Committee has decided that all Division I football programs are subject to testing even those that don't compete in championships or bowl games," Uryasz added.

On each team, 36 players will be selected for testing.

"We know there'll be athletes chosen on the basis of position or playing time, plus there's a random component. But we don't know exactly how they'll be selected."

In June, the Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports, which oversees the NCAA drug-testing program, will make specific recommendations about selection to the NCAA Administrative Committee, which will consider the recommendations on behalf of the Executive Committee.

"We know we'll test 36, that the NCAA will select them, and that the NCAA will inform the school 48 hours in advance of arriving on campus for specimen collection," Uryasz said.

This summer, the NCAA drug-testing staff will obtain academic calendars, playing and travel schedules, and other such information from the schools. "We'll endeavor to schedule around these things," Uryasz said.

The new program will not require the recruitment of new drug-testing crews. The nearly 50 crews currently available for testing assignments in the postseason testing program will be enough to conduct the year-round program.

At present, Uryasz does not know how many laboratories will be used to analyze test samples. Current contracts with three laboratories that conduct NCAA drug testing expire this summer, he explained.

But he expects to be able to keep the time between testing and the reporting of results brief.

"We're going to aim for about a seven-day turnaround on the tests."

In many respects, there are differences between the year-round program and the existing postseason testing program, but the sanctions that can be assessed against student-athletes testing positive for drug use are the same in both programs. Toughened sanctions adopted at the 1990 Convention will apply regardless of the program.

At the 1990 Convention, the NCAA membership approved the adoption of NCAA Bylaw 14.1.1.2.1, which specifies that a student-athlete who is found to have used any substance on the Association's banned-

Edward S. Steitz dies

Edward S. Steitz, secretary-rules editor of the NCAA Men's Basketball Rules Committee and director of athletics emeritus at Springfield College, died suddenly May 21.

Steitz, 69, had been secretary-rules editor since January 15, 1967. He served as assistant editor to John W. Bunn beginning in 1962. In recent years, Steitz' name has been associated with the three-point field goal, but other major changes such as the alternating-possession process, the 45-second shot clock, and the elimination and reinstatement of the dunk took place during his tenure.

"Ed Steitz has been a great asset to collegiate athletics, especially college basketball, and will be sorely missed," said NCAA Executive Director Richard D. Schultz.

A 1946 graduate of Cornell University and captain of the baseball team, Steitz joined the Springfield faculty in 1948. He became head basketball coach and director of athletics in 1956. His teams compiled a 160-86 record in 10 seasons. During the summer of 1956, he took his team on a U.S. State Department tour around the world. His squad conducted 110 clinics and went undefeated in 25 games, playing before 250,000 spectators. He retired as Springfield's athletics director in 1989 but remained on the faculty as a professor of physical education. He received both his master's and doctoral degrees from Springfield.

Steitz is a former member of the NCAA Executive Committee and was a charter member of the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of

House panel reports favorably on right-to-know legislation

By a vote of 17-16, the U.S. House Committee on Education and Labor May 22 defeated an amendment to the Student-Athlete Right-to-Know Act (H.R. 1454) that would have limited required reporting by Divisions I and II institutions of athletics-related revenues and expenses.

Following action on the amendment, the committee voted without objection to report favorably the Student-Athlete Right-to-Know Act to the full House. A companion bill already has passed the Senate, and differences between the two bills will require reconciliation should the House pass its bill.

By its action, the committee tacitly approved the "per-sport" reporting requirements contained in the act, as reported favorably by the Subcommittee on Postsecondary Education May 15 (see May 16 issue of The NCAA News).

The limiting amendment, offered by Rep. William D. Ford, D-Michigan, would have eliminated the per-sport reporting requirement and substituted a requirement that revenue-and-expense data be broken out into three categories: football, basketball and all other sports combined.

The NCAA supported the Ford amendment, after having lost in an effort in the subcommittee to eliminate the reporting requirement totally.

Although committee chair Augustus F. Hawkins, D-California, and most Democrats supported the Ford amendment, the subcommittee chair, Pat Williams, D-Montana, and a handful of Democrats joined with Republicans to defeat the amendment and in effect support the per-sport provision originally offered by Rep. Paul Henry, D-Michigan.

Reporting will include not only intercollegiate athletics, but all athletics department revenues and expenses.

Also defeated was an amendment by Ford to require reporting not only by Divisions I and II institutions, but also by all colleges and universities receiving Federal financial aid.

letics June 10-13 on Marco Island, Florida, to take questions on the suggested distribution plan.

Members of the special committee, in addition to Sweet, are Marino H. Casem, Southern University, Baton Rouge; Eugene F. Corrigan, Atlantic Coast Conference; James E. Delany, Big Ten Conference; Thomas J. Frericks, University of Dayton; David R. Gavitt, Big East Conference; Judith R. Holland, University of California, Los Angeles; Jerry M. Hughes, Central Missouri State University; Roy F. Kramer, Southeastern Conference; Martin A. Massengale, University of Nebraska, Lincoln; B. J. Skelton, Clemson University; Alvin J. Van Wie, College of Wooster, and Albert M. Witte, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville.

Sweet said, "We came to the realization very early that $1 billion over seven years (CBS Sports' payment to the NCAA over the period of their television contract) does not allow us to do everything we would like to do. For that reason, if a particular suggestion from the membership is not included in the preliminary recommendations, it is not an indication that it wasn't worthwhile."

The special committee also discussed the establishment of education enrichment programs and enhancement of conferences' compliance efforts and programs but made no specific recommendations.

Listed below are the preliminary concepts developed by the special committee:

- That catastrophic-injury insurance be provided for all student-athletes in all three divisions;
- That all Divisions II and III championships be fully funded, including increases in official traveling parties and per diem;
- That official traveling parties and per diem be increased for Division I championships;
- That traveling parties for Division I championships that distribute receipts and/or those that generate net revenues after payment of transportation and per diem be increased;
- That the official traveling party for the Division I Men's Basketball Championship be increased to 75 (including a band) and the per diem be increased as well;
- That a portion of the revenue be placed in a membership trust as a "hedge against the future;"
- That an emergency fund be established for Division I student-athletes to be administered by the conferences;
- That some form of graduation incentive and/or career-transition grants be provided for participants in all or selected Division I sports;
- That an inflationary increase be provided for the conference-grant program;
- That postgraduate degree-completion scholarships be increased;
- That the remaining revenue be distributed to members of Division

I as follows: 50 percent on broad-based criteria (number of sports sponsored, number of participants in NCAA championships over the past three years and number of grants-in-aid), and 50 percent based on conferences' performance in the tournament over the past six years. The broad-based criteria would be predicated on levels of sports sponsorship and grants-in-aid over and above those recommended by the Special Committee to Review the NCAA Membership Structure.

Under such a formula, the increase in revenue distributed to institutions through the conferences would range from 58 to 250 percent, with an average increase of 130 percent per conference in the amount distributed in the first year of the new television contract (1990-91). Thereafter, the distribution would increase approximately six to seven percent annually.

Conferences would be urged to allocate a portion of the distribution specifically for member institutions' academic-enhancement programs (either for enhancement or for establishment of such programs). Further, it was agreed that conferences should be permitted to use a portion of their conference grants to enhance academics.

• That a financial enhancement of Division II be phased in over a period of time, with a limit of $3 million; that this revenue be distributed among Division II institutions in accordance with the formula developed for Division I.

Legislative Assistance

1990 Column No. 21

1990 NCAA Convention Proposal No. 105—official ACT and SAT test scores

Member institutions should note that with the adoption of 1990 Convention Proposal No. 105, an institution may pay a fee required by the appropriate testing agency to obtain a prospect's official ACT or SAT score. During its April 13, 1990, conference, the NCAA Interpretations Committee reviewed 1990 Convention Proposal No. 105 and determined that a member institution would be permitted to provide to a prospective student-athlete or the prospect's family a check from the institution made payable to the testing agency in order to cover the cost of receiving a test score from the testing agency. The committee emphasized that the check could not be made payable to the prospect or the prospect's family, nor could a member institution provide cash to the prospect or the prospect's family for the payment of these services.

NCAA Bylaws 13.1.4.2-(f) and 13.1.5.2—contacts with the parents of a prospect during the prospect's competition

Member institutions should note that in accordance with Bylaw 13.1.5.2, a member institution is precluded from contacting a prospective student-athlete prior to any athletics competition in which the prospect is a participant during the day or days of the competition. During its March 16, 1989, conference, the Interpretations Committee determined that subsequent to August 1, 1989, such restrictions also would be applicable to the parents of a prospective student-athlete.

In accordance with Bylaw 13.1.4.2-(f), the above-mentioned restrictions regarding contacts during the day of competition normally would remain in effect for the prospect subsequent to the prospect's signing of a National Letter of Intent; however, during its April 13, 1990, conference, the Interpretations Committee agreed that the current interpretations of Bylaws 13.1.4.2-(f) and 13.1.5.2 would not preclude a coach from contacting the parents of a prospective student-athlete during a prospect's competition subsequent to the prospect's signing of a National Letter of Intent with that institution.

1990 NCAA Convention Proposal No. 109—women's basketball evaluations

During its May 14, 1990, conference, the Interpretations Committee reviewed the provisions of 1990 Convention Proposal No. 109 and Bylaw 13.1.3.2.2 and determined that the once-a-week restriction on visits to the prospect's educational institution during the evaluation period would not preclude an authorized institutional staff member from observing all sessions of a multiday tournament (during the academic year or during the summer) that is conducted at a prospect's educational institution during a particular week. In accordance with Bylaw 13.1.3.2.2, observation during the academic year of any multiday tournament, including the National Junior College Athletic Association or AAU women's national basketball championship, would count as a single observation opportunity if the competition occurs on consecutive days within the tournament (normally at the same site) or involves a tier of a tournament (e.g., regionals). There is no limit to the number of contests (or tournaments) that authorized institutional staff members in the sport of women's basketball may observe outside of the academic year.

Ice hockey proposal aimed at unwarranted aggressiveness

The days when a college ice hockey player could get away with a cheap shot behind the back of a referee might be over.

At its May 13-16 meeting in Kansas City, the NCAA Men's Ice Hockey Rules Committee voted to recommend that linesmen be able to report to a referee any obvious or aggressive infraction that occurs behind a play and is not observed by the referee.

"It became apparent to the committee that with the two-line pass in college hockey, it is very difficult for a referee in a one-referee system to keep track of infractions that happen behind the play," said Sidney J. Watson, chair of the committee and director of athletics at Bowdoin College. "It is incumbent on this committee to see that these things never happen."

"The two-line pass enables a player to bring the puck out of a zone a lot faster. The referee has to hustle to follow the puck out of the zone if he wants to follow the play at the other end. Hopefully, this will decrease the number of aggressive penalties that take place behind the referee."

Watson emphasized that the rule change will allow linesmen to "report" penalties that happen behind the play, not call the penalties.

"It is still the referee's decision as to whether to assess a penalty for such an infraction," Watson said.

In another development, the committee approved a request by the Hockey East Association to experiment with two 25-minute periods for conference games and a postseason tournament played during the 1990-91 season.

"It could be a dramatic change in the game," Watson said. "If down the road certain schools, whether at the college or scholastic level, find that the game is too long, they might want to change to the two-period format. It also could save schools a lot of ice-time money."

"The committee thought it certainly was worth gathering data from Hockey East to see how it affects a number of very important issues. This subject has been discussed for the last eight to 10 years."

After the season, the conference will submit to the committee a detailed report on its experiment, including but not limited to level of intensity, overall effects on the student-athlete, effects on officiating, effects on attendance and general fan interest, effects on television coverage, and media interest in general.

Other rules changes and administrative items approved for 1990-91:

- The committee expressed concern about sportsmanship and the abuse of officials and will recommend to conference commissioners that Rule 6-1 (Abuse of Officials and Other Misconduct) be emphasized.

- Rule 2-4-d was revised so that if there is any undue delay (approximately eight seconds) by either team in changing lines (one or more players), the referee shall order the offending team or teams to take their positions immediately and shall not permit a line change.

- Rule 2-5-a was altered so that players leaving the ice do not have to be in bodily contact with the boards before a substitution can be made. The wording was revised to read "players leaving the ice always be at the players' bench and out of the play before any change is made."

This rule also pertains to substitutions for goaltenders.

- The committee voted to recommend that the mandatory protective mouthguards (Rule 3-4-c) be colored for easy identification.

- A game misconduct penalty was added to the list of penalties in Rule 4-1.

- Rule 6-14-f was revised to read: "A major disqualification penalty shall be imposed on a player or goalkeeper who is the first to intervene in an altercation that is in progress."

A note will accompany this rule change and state that this situation does not include an individual that tries to restrain a teammate.

- Rule 6-17-a was altered so that if the puck is caught and dropped immediately, play shall continue; if not, play shall be stopped. Also, if the hand is closed on the puck (on or off the ice) and the puck is thrown, a minor penalty shall be assessed.

- A note was added to Rule 6-28-b to read: "Any one of the five disqualified players may be assessed more than one disqualification penalty after the altercation."

- Rule 6-42-c was revised so that the pregame warm-up shall not exceed 15 minutes.

Maryland acts to offset deficit of $3.5 million

Grants-in-aid will be eliminated in eight of 23 varsity sports at the University of Maryland, College Park, as the school takes its first step toward cutting what is expected to be a $3.5 million budget deficit by mid-1991.

The school also will reduce grant funds by 70 percent in five other sports and by 15 percent in four sports and will make across-the-board cuts in the athletics department's operating budget, resulting in savings of $800,000 to $900,000 during the fiscal year that begins July 1, according to The Washington Post.

All sports at the school will be affected to some degree, Maryland athletics director Lewis Perkins an-

Perkins said. As a result, the full impact of what ultimately will be a 30 percent reduction in Maryland's annual $2.6 million grant-in-aid bill will not be felt for several years.

The cuts come approximately a month after the school put a freeze on grants-in-aid for all varsity sports. Maryland officials have blamed inflationary costs and recent sanctions imposed by the NCAA on the men's basketball program for the budget crisis.

The anticipated $3.5 million budget deficit includes a $2.7 million shortfall in revenues expected as a result of the NCAA sanctions. The men's basketball team is banned from postseason play for two years and from live television next season.

Perkins cited several factors that were considered in deciding how cuts would be applied to sports.

"We really looked hard at what sports are coming up and what sports are declining in the NCAA," he said.

He said "cost-effectiveness" was a major factor; for example, travel expenses will be reduced greatly in track, gymnastics and tennis. Other factors considered were the balance between men's and women's sports, the ability to be competitive based on facilities and recruiting, ACC competition, NCAA sponsorship, tradition, levels of interest, media exposure, and quality of available competition.

Perkins also referred to the recent recommendation of the NCAA Special Committee on Cost Reduction to reduce by 10 percent the maximum number of grants-in-aid that an institution can award to student-athletes in all sports.

"We're probably two or three years ahead of the rest of the country," he said.

Pairings set for baseball play-off

First-round pairings are set for the 44th annual NCAA Division I Baseball Championship. The eight regional champions will advance to the College World Series, June 1-9 in Omaha.

Texas makes its record-setting 36th appearance in the tournament field.

Campbell, Texas-Arlington and Southern Mississippi are making their first appearances in the championship.

Atlantic Coast Conference and Pacific-10 (South) Conference schools received four bids each, while the Big West, Missouri Valley, Southeastern and Sun Belt Conferences received three bids each. Two bids each went to teams from the Big Ten, Metro, Trans America and West Coast Conferences.

Following is the complete field, with seedings and first-round pairings, records, and regional dates (game times will be determined later).

Atlantic, May 25-28 at Coral Gables, Florida: No. 1 Miami (Fla.) (49-11, at large) vs. No. 6 Stetson (33-29, Trans America); No. 2 North Caro. St. (46-18, at large) vs. No. 5 Citadel (40-12, Southern); No. 3 East Caro. (46-7, Colonial) vs. No. 4 South Fla. (41-22, Sun Belt).

Central, May 25-28 at Austin, Texas: No. 1 Texas (48-15, Southwest) vs. No. 6 Texas-Arlington (31-28, Southland); No. 2 Clemson (42-20, at large) vs. No. 5 Creighton (46-20, at large); No. 3 Cal St. Fullerton (32-21, Big West) vs. No. 4 Old Dominion (40-17, at large).

Midwest, May 25-28 at Wichita, Kansas: No. 1 Arkansas (47-13, at large) vs. No. 6 Fordham (35-12, ECAC); No. 2 Wichita St. (44-17, at large) vs. No. 5 Georgia Southern (46-16, at large); No. 3 South Alabama (41-18, at large) vs. UCLA (39-24, at large).

Northeast, May 24-27 at Waterbury, Connecticut: No. 1 North Caro. (49-12, Atlantic Coast) vs. No. 6 Rutgers (33-17, Atlantic Ten); No. 2 Georgia (44-17, at large) vs. No. 5 Connecticut (27-17-1, Big East); No. 3 Iowa (38-17, at large) vs. No. 4 Maine (41-18, at large).

South I, May 24-27 at Baton Rouge, Louisiana: No. 1 Louisiana St. (47-16, at large) vs. No. 6 Southwestern La. (47-16, American South); No. 2 Southern Cal (37-20, at large) vs. No. 5 Southern Miss. (41-23, at large); No. 3 Houston (41-21, at large) vs. No. 4 Georgia Tech (46-23, at large).

South II, May 24-27 at Starkville, Mississippi: No. 1 Florida St. (53-13, Metro) vs. No. 6 Lafayette (26-15, East Coast); No. 2

Mississippi St. (45-18, at large) vs. No. 5 Brigham Young (42-23-1, at large); No. 3 Illinois (41-19, Big Ten) vs. No. 4 Central Mich. (38-17, Mid-American).

West I, May 24-27 at Stanford, California: No. 1 Stanford (52-10, Pacific-10 South) vs. No. 6 Campbell (15-31, Big South); No. 2 Southern Ill. (47-12, Missouri Valley) vs. No. 5 Fresno St. (37-22, at large); No. 3 San Diego St. (46-20, Western Athletic) vs. Middle Tenn. St. (42-13, Ohio Valley).

Home-court definition tightened by committee

The NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee, showing concern about what it labeled a "misconception" that teams cannot be assigned to play in or near their home towns during preliminary rounds of the Division I Men's Basketball Championship, has reaffirmed its intention to allow institutions to play tournament games in their "areas of interest" but also has tightened its definition of a home court.

Under the new definition, a team would not be able to play any game on a court where it played three or more "home" games during the season, excluding conference postseason tournament games. Previously, a home court has been defined as one where a team played more than half of its regular-season home games.

Teams still will be assigned to areas of interest, according to the committee, so long as there is no home court involved and an assignment would not jeopardize tournament seedings or balance.

The ruling is subject to review by the committee during its July 1-5 meeting in Carlsbad, California.

In another action involving the Division I men's tournament, the committee affirmed that the Rawlings R10 narrow-channel ball will be the tournament's official ball. During the regular season, teams will have the option of using either that ball or a recently approved wide-channel ball.

After an overall review of its athletics program, Maryland cuts grants in some sports and opts for local and regional competition only for some programs nounced May 15. But men's and women's indoor and outdoor track, men's golf, women's gymnastics, and men's and women's tennis will be hit hardest; those sports no longer will offer grants-in-aid. The track, golf, gymnastics and tennis teams will compete only locally, except for Atlantic Coast Conference competition.

In addition, scholarships will be reduced by 70 percent in baseball, men's and women's swimming and diving, and men's and women's cross country. Those sports will compete regionally.

Four sports in which Maryland expects to compete for ACC titles—men's lacrosse, wrestling, and men's and women's soccer—will see 15 percent of their grant funds cut. Six other sports expected to be competitive nationally—football, men's and women's basketball, men's lacrosse, women's volleyball, and field hockey—received a two percent cut in grants.

All student-athletes who currently have scholarships will retain them,

Reduce demands on grant funds, faculty rep suggests

By Chris Parks

The faculty athletics representative at the University of Michigan advocates the elimination of athletics grants-in-aid for money-losing sports to ease a financial pinch on many college programs.

Law professor Douglas A. Kahn admits his suggestion, first raised at a meeting of a Michigan faculty governing body, has prompted lukewarm support. But he hopes it may provoke some debate and thinks it could be more attractive if conditions worsen.

Kahn describes the initial response as "stony silence," saying, "I don't see this happening overnight."

The school's athletics department, which had an envied record of paying its own way, anticipates a shortfall of $1.5 million next year.

Among the major problems: Michigan's relatively high tuition charges, especially for out-of-state students, drive up the cost of athletics grants, according to interim director of athletics Jack Weidenbach.

Douglas A. Kahn

Weidenbach says the department also faces relatively high labor and utility costs and receives no support from the state or the university.

Grants-in-aid cost the department more than $4 million annually. Sports other than men's football and basketball, the only money-makers, account for $2.5 million of that amount, according to department spokesman Bruce Madej.

Kahn, who says his proposal would have to be adopted at least on a conference-wide basis to avoid problems of unequal competition, questions the value of using grants to build winning teams in so-called nonrevenue sports.

He suggests considering an Ivy League-type solution, under which all grants would be awarded on the basis of financial need, while hinting that a liberalized definition of need might be applied to athletes.

"I've known some friends and others who come from very, very well-off families who feel very strongly in picking schools that they have to have athletics scholarships because of status that it gives them," he said.

Kahn says the current system "puts a tremendous amount of pressure on these schools to have winning football teams and basketball teams to produce the kind of revenue that will support these activities.

"If you could reduce the demands on those funds, you could take off at least some of that kind of pressure that's there," he said.

Kahn, who describes himself as a sports enthusiast, also argues that his plan could be a boon to minor sports.

"Part of what I see as the benefit is that more varsity sports could be offered. If we can cut the cost down per sport, there would be more opportunities for students to get involved."

He acknowledges that laws requiring equal treatment for women athletes could pose some serious problems for his plan, although he believes there are one or two women's sports "which have the potential to be revenue-makers."

"My own feeling would be to recognize that those skills (in football and basketball) are paying their own way," he said. "I don't want to cut out women's sports. I'd like to see more women's sports."

Kahn admits that if he could start from scratch, he would be tempted to eliminate all sports scholarships.

"I would prefer to see people coming to college who would have come to college anyway. Sports would be one of the factors in college that's important, but not central to their life," he said.

But "we're 70 years or so down the road.... Colleges have come to rely on (major-sports revenues) to support whole groups of activities.... I don't see realistically throwing away enormous amounts of that revenue."

Weidenbach says some fundamental changes may be required to address the money problems in college sports. Other options include limiting the number or amount of grants or restricting travel schedules.

Parks writes for United Press International.

Holtz proposes system of pro sports schools

University of Notre Dame head football coach Lou Holtz says professional sports should set up a national system of 10 academies for those whose main goal is to play in the pros.

"Let the pros run them," Holtz said. "They'd have a football team, a basketball team, a baseball team, a hockey team, whatever. If you want to be a professional athlete, you go to that academy."

The coach suggested at least a partial program of courses.

"You learn how to write a check, how to do TV interviews and how to pick an agent," he said. "You lift weights and you play football. And when the pros say, 'We don't think you have a chance to become a professional athlete,' you are dismissed from the academy. Now, you get on with your life."

Preparing people for pro sports, Holtz said, is not the role of universities.

"That's not what college athletics is all about," he said. "We're there to educate people."

Holtz made his remarks May 17 at a news conference at Children's Square U.S.A., the former Christian Home in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Illinois House approves bill to regulate athletics probes

The Illinois House has approved a measure allowing universities to pay student-athletes and to regulate athletics associations' investigations of college sports programs.

The measure, sent to the Senate on a 71-37 vote, wouldn't apply to the current investigation of the University of Illinois, Champaign, men's basketball program.

Under the bill, universities could decide to pay student-athletes a stipend of up to $250 a month if five other nearby states enacted similar laws.

It also requires athletics associations to conduct investigations of college sports teams in a manner similar to criminal investigations—allowing schools under scrutiny to confront their accusers and to prevent the use of illegally obtained evidence in those investigations, the Associated Press reported.

"The bill points out accurately that the NCAA is in a monopoly position," said the sponsor, Rep. John Cullerton, D-Chicago. "Schools aren't always treated fairly."

S. David Berst, NCAA assistant executive director for enforcement, said, "It is disappointing when this type of state legislation is seriously considered. Politicians cavalierly use the words 'due process' when no attempt has been made to be informed concerning the NCAA enforcement procedures. This type of law would make it extremely difficult, if not impossible, for the NCAA enforcement program to function."

"The NCAA provides far more than minimal due-process standards, and its enforcement procedures have been established for 38 years of scrutiny. In regard to fairness to the accused, while also balancing the interests of the remainder of the membership to catch the wrongdoers, we run the risk that a state law can create a situation where cheating can occur with impunity, thereby creating an uneven playing field."

"If the NCAA's already difficult task of gathering sufficient information to process infractions cases is sufficiently frustrated, the remainder of the membership may have to consider eliminating institutions from NCAA championship play that are unable to comply fully with NCAA rules, including the enforcement procedure."

Cullerton said he excluded the University of Illinois investigation from the proposed requirements so that the bill's intent wouldn't appear unethical.

Cullerton said schools under scrutiny could go to court and request that their investigations be conducted like criminal cases, using the state law as the basis for their request.

House Speaker Michael Madigan, D-Chicago, earlier this session gutted a similar bill sponsored by Rep. Timothy Johnson, R-Urbana, that would have affected that investigation.

"The speaker objected to that bill because it looked like a whitewash of the University of Illinois investigation," Cullerton said.

But Johnson accused Democrats of playing politics with his bill. Johnson said he voted "present" on Cullerton's bill because he has reservations about schools' paying athletes, a provision that wasn't in his bill.

"The issue of stipends is a completely different issue," he said. "I think what happens... is that you really could turn amateur athletics into a form of professional sports."

But Cullerton said the measure will help alleviate many of the problems that sports teams have in keeping and attracting athletes without violating NCAA rules.

He unsuccessfully tried to get a similar measure passed May 16, but some House members characterized as too harsh a provision imposing criminal penalties on anyone offering expensive gifts to induce athletes to attend a school. That provision was removed to secure passage, he said.

The measure requires Senate approval before it can go to the governor.

The Senate passed a resolution May 18 urging the NCAA to change the way it conducts its investigations on its own and asking Congress to impose Federal regulations on the Association if it refuses.

Ceglarski will receive Patrick award

Len Ceglarski, men's ice hockey coach at Boston College, the winningest coach in American college hockey history, will receive the 1990 Lester Patrick Award at the NHL awards luncheon June 4 in New York City.

The Lester Patrick Award is presented annually by the NHL and the New York Rangers "for outstanding service to hockey in the United States" in honor of the late Lester Patrick, long-time general manager and coach of the New York Rangers.

Ceglarski's longevity and winning consistency are unmatched in the hockey coaching ranks. Ceglarski-coached teams have had winning records in 29 of his 32 years and earned four trips to the NCAA championship finals. He has a career coaching record of 632-309-35 and is the only collegiate coach ever to win 250 or more games at two different institutions—254 in 14 years at Clarkson University and 378 in 18 years at Boston College.

He has had 16 seasons of 20 victories, and his teams have appeared in 12 NCAA tournaments and 18 Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference tournaments. Ceglarski has earned three Spencer Penrose Awards as national coach of the year (1965-66, 1972-73 and 1984-85).

A native of Walpole, Massachusetts, Ceglarski was a triple letter-winner in both hockey and baseball at Boston College. He earned all-America recognition as a junior in 1950 and captained the hockey team as a senior in 1951.

Ceglarski continued his hockey career as a member of the 1952 silver-medal United States Olympic team before joining the Marine Corps. After his tour of duty, he returned to the Boston area to coach at Norwood High School, then at Walpole High.

In 1958, Ceglarski began his coaching career at Clarkson where, in 14 seasons, he compiled a 254-97-11 record, including 11 consecutive trips to the ECAC tournament, one ECAC championship and four NCAA tournament berths.

After the 1971-72 season, Ceglarski returned to Boston College, replacing his own collegiate mentor, John "Snooks" Kelley. Ceglarski's record at Boston College is 378-212-24, and his 1989-90 team captured the Hockey East title fifth time in six years.

Questions and answers on year-round drug testing

Proposal No. 53, which was passed at the 1990 NCAA Convention, authorized the NCAA Executive Committee to establish a year-round drug-testing program beginning August 1, 1990. The following questions and answers were developed by the NCAA sports sciences division to assist member schools in educating student-athletes about the new testing programs and about changes in the eligibility sanctions for a positive drug test.

GENERAL QUESTIONS

Q: What guidelines has the Executive Committee set for the year-round testing program?

A: Prior to the passage of Proposal No. 53, the NCAA Executive Committee recommended at its December 1989 meeting that year-round testing be introduced during the 1990-91 academic year with a two-year pilot program in Division I football. In addition, samples collected during year-round testing would be analyzed for anabolic steroids, diuretics and urine manipulators (e.g., probenecid and related compounds) only.

Q: Will the NCAA continue to test at championships and postseason football bowl games?

A: Yes. The Executive Committee will continue to operate the postseason drug-testing program. All student-athletes competing at NCAA championships and postseason football bowl games will be subject to testing at those events. Samples collected as a part of the postseason program will be analyzed for substances from all NCAA banned-drug categories.

NCAA Drug Testing for 1990-91 and 1991-92

	I-A and I-AA Football	II and III Football	Other sports
Preseason Testing?	YES*	NO	NO
In-season Testing?	YES*	NO	NO
Postseason Testing?	YES	YES	YES

*Testing for anabolic steroids, diuretics and urine manipulators only.

Q: Will the voluntary off-season testing program be offered to NCAA member schools?

A: No. Proposal No. 53 from the 1990 Convention abolished the voluntary off-season program.

Q: How will the nonchampionships year-round drug-testing program operate?

A: Schools that sponsor Division I-A or I-AA football will be subject to year-round drug testing any time between August 1 and the end of that institution's spring term. The NCAA plans to test at all Division I football programs at least once during each testing year. In addition, 25 percent of those schools will be tested more than once. Testing will be coordinated with an institution's academic and travel schedules.

Q: Who will choose the student-athletes to be tested? How will they be notified?

A: The NCAA will choose 36 student-athletes per school to be tested and will notify the school 48 hours prior to the scheduled drug testing; the institution will be required to notify the student-athletes.

Q: How will the 36 student-athletes be selected for testing?

A: The specific method of selection of the 36 student-athletes has not been determined. However, student-athletes may be chosen on the basis of playing position, playing time, suspicion, an NCAA-approved random selection or any combination thereof.

Q: How many times can a school be tested?

A: Schools will be chosen randomly by the NCAA and there will be no limit to the number of times a school can be tested during any one year.

Q: To what degree will the school be involved with an NCAA on-campus drug test?

A: The institution will designate a site coordinator (representative of the institution) to assist the NCAA testing crew while on campus, will provide the NCAA with institutional calendars in order to schedule testings, will notify the student-athletes to be tested, will have a representative present during the testing to certify student-athlete identity, and will be responsible for the security of the collection station and for student-athlete compliance with the collection protocol.

Q: What time of day will testing be conducted?

A: The time of testing will be decided by the institution. Student-athletes will be scheduled for testing according to their academic schedules. In most cases, testing will begin early in the morning and will be completed well before noon.

Q: Will the testing protocol currently used for NCAA championships and bowl testing be followed for the year-round testing program? Will the current protocol for results notification and appeal be maintained?

A: There will be minor changes in the wording of the current testing protocol to allow for the needs of nonchampionships testing; however, any changes will be summarized in The NCAA News and will be included in the 1990-91 drug-testing brochure. NCAA testing crews will continue to handle specimen collection at all NCAA testing events. The protocol for results notification and appeals will not be changed.

Q: Where will specimens be analyzed? When will the results be reported to the institution?

A: Specimens will be analyzed at an NCAA-certified laboratory. In most cases, results will be reported no later than seven days after the day specimens were collected, although the NCAA reserves the right to take up to 30 days to report results.

SANCTIONS AND ELIGIBILITY

Q: Are there new sanctions for a positive drug test?

A: Yes. Proposal No. 52, adopted at the 1990 Convention, modified the sanctions for a positive drug test, effective August 1, 1990.

Q: Effective August 1, 1990, what are the sanctions for a positive NCAA drug-test?

A: The first time a student-athlete tests positive for any banned substance during an NCAA drug test, he or she will be ruled ineligible for all competition (regular-season and postseason) in all sports for no less than one calendar year.

If the student-athlete is later restored to eligibility and tests positive again for any banned substance other than a street drug (i.e., marijuana or heroin), he or she will lose all remaining regular-season and postseason eligibility in all sports. If this positive test is for a street drug (i.e., marijuana or heroin), the student-athlete will lose one season of competition in all sports and will remain ineligible for regular-season and postseason competition at least through the next calendar year.

Q: When does the period of ineligibility begin?

A: The period of ineligibility begins at 12:01 a.m. the day the specimen was provided or was to be provided.

Q: Do the new individual sanctions differ according to whether the student-athlete is tested ### positive at an NCAA championship or as a part of the year-round testing program?

A: No. The sanctions do not differ. For example, a football student-athlete who tests positive from an NCAA on-campus drug test is subject to the same sanctions as the student-athlete who tests positive at an NCAA championship or postseason football bowl game.

Q: Are there team sanctions for a student-athlete's positive drug test?

A: No, unless a student-athlete tests positive prior to an NCAA team championship or a postseason football bowl game and the institution fails to rule him ineligible and knowingly allows him to compete while ineligible. Team standings from NCAA individual/team championships may be adjusted as a result of a student-athlete's positive drug test.

Q: If a student-athlete is ruled ineligible as a result of a positive NCAA drug test, may he or she continue to practice?

A: Yes, unless the conference's or institution's rules would preclude this.

Q: Many schools and conferences have drug-testing programs. Are they required to adopt these sanctions for institution- or conference-administered drug tests?

A: No. Although schools and conferences may adopt these sanctions for their testing programs, NCAA legislation requires that a student-athlete be declared ineligible only on the basis of an NCAA-administered drug test. Institutional or conference drug tests (as distinguished from an NCAA-administered drug test) would not affect the student-athlete's eligibility under NCAA rules.

RESTORATION OF ELIGIBILITY

Q: What is the process for eligibility restoration?

A: Institutional requests for restoration of a student-athlete's eligibility should be submitted to the NCAA director of eligibility.

Q: Will student-athletes be tested during their period of ineligibility?

A: Yes. All student-athletes who are ruled ineligible as a result of a positive drug test and who will be eligible for eligibility restoration will be subject to NCAA testing at any time during their period of ineligibility. In addition, all student-athletes who are ruled ineligible will be subject to a mandatory exit drug test during the last month of their minimum period of ineligibility (e.g., the 12th month of a one-year suspension). The results of any drug tests conducted during the period of ineligibility would be provided to the NCAA Eligibility Committee. The school will be responsible for the cost of the exit retest.

OTHER QUESTIONS

Q: When will additional information about the drug-testing programs be available?

A: The annual brochure about NCAA drug programs will be mailed to all NCAA member schools and conferences this summer. This brochure will contain information about the year-round and postseason testing programs.

An educational videotape about the drug-testing programs will be available this summer, as will be a revised banned-drugs reference list resulting from a joint effort among the NCAA, the United States Olympic Committee and Glaxo Incorporated, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina.

Q: Whom do I contact if I have additional questions about the NCAA drug-testing programs?

A: Questions or comments about the NCAA drug-testing programs should be directed to the sports sciences division at the NCAA national office.

drugs list shall be declared ineligible for postseason and regular-season competition for at least one year from the time of the positive test. The Convention also established sanctions for a repeat positive test once eligibility has been restored (see details in question-and-answer column above).

In addition, the Executive Committee has made student-athletes who are declared ineligible for a positive test subject to retesting at any time during their term of ineligibility—not just at the end of that term as specified by newly amended Bylaw 18.4.1.5.

"The thinking there is that it gives the Eligibility Committee a little more information about the student-athlete's rehabilitation—certainly more than is available from just an exit test," Uryasz said.

For awhile, the year-round program will focus on Division I football, but its scope could change.

"The Executive Committee has decided that we'll test Division I football for two years, then we'll discuss expansion into other sports and other divisions," Uryasz said. "It hasn't discussed a system for expanding after the second year.

"Expansion would be determined by the data," he continued, referring to information that will be obtained from testing and from studies such as the one conducted by Michigan State.

There are warning signs that expanded testing may be warranted. For instance, football players on teams participating in Divisions II and III championships have tested positive for the use of anabolic steroids.

"Divisions II and III football programs need to know that their steroid use is as high as in Division I," Uryasz said.

The Michigan State survey revealed that steroid use declined overall in four men's sports other than football and that steroid use remains low overall among women athletes. But steroid use showed increases from 1985 to 1989 in three of five women's sports surveyed.

Year-round

It's helpful as the NCAA's drug-testing efforts expand for Uryasz to know that the Michigan State survey reveals growing support for testing efforts among student-athletes.

In last year's survey, nearly two-thirds of respondents indicated that all student-athletes should be tested for drugs by their school or by the NCAA, and a majority agreed that NCAA and institutional drug-testing programs had deterred college athletes from using drugs (see October 16, 1989, issue of The NCAA News).

With that kind of support, the time has come to attack steroids head-on, Uryasz believes. But don't expect the year-round program to grow out of proportion to the problem.

"We are narrowly focused; that's important to know."

Drug-testing program protocol changes listed

Several changes recently were authorized by the NCAA Executive Committee in the Association's drug-testing program protocol. Many of the changes were made as a result of the approval of the new year-round drug-testing program by the NCAA membership.

As required by NCAA Executive Regulation 31.2.3.4, the modifications are summarized below. Copies of the modified protocol also can be obtained from the sports sciences staff at the NCAA national office.

The changes, section by section:

- Throughout the protocol, references to the Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports—the NCAA committee that recommends drug-testing policies and procedures to the Executive Committee—have been added.

- The section titled "Medical Code" has been amended to specify that nonchampionships/nonbowl testing (the year-round testing program) will be limited to anabolic steroids, diuretics and urine manipulators.

- The section titled "Organization" now specifically assigns responsibility for the selection of crew chiefs and the determination of testing sites to the NCAA staff. It also specifically assigns the responsibility for recommending a coordinator for a testing site to institutions hosting a championship or institutions involved in nonchampionships testing.

- The section on "Causes for Loss of Eligibility" has been revised to state that the student-athlete's failure to arrive at a testing site "at the designated time" or to provide a urine sample "according to protocol" is grounds for loss of eligibility. Also, a student-athlete is subject to sanctions should he or she "leave the collection station prior to providing a specimen according to protocol."

- The section on "Student-Athlete Selection" has been amended to include the method for selecting championships and institutions for drug-testing.

It also specifies that student-athletes participating in football at Division I institutions are subject to year-round testing beginning August 1, 1990, and that all student-athletes are subject to testing at NCAA championships or in conjunction with postseason bowls.

In addition, it specifies that in the year-round program, student-athletes "may be selected on the basis of position, playing time, suspicion, an NCAA-approved random selection or any combination thereof."

Another revision declares the intent to automatically test any student-athlete present at a testing site who previously has tested positive for a banned drug and makes that student-athlete's institution responsible for informing the drug-testing crew chief that such a student-athlete is present.

The section also has been amended to state that participants in NCAA wrestling championships will be tested after their final competition at the championships.

- A new section titled "Championship, Institution and Student-Athlete Notification" combines previously existing portions of the protocol dealing with notification that were included under the "Specimen Collection Procedure" with new language specifying that advance notice of testing shall be provided as follows: five to seven days prior to NCAA championships and two days prior to nonchampionships on-campus testing.

Also, a provision of the notification protocol that permits a student-athlete to defer testing until his or her final event of the day has been amended to require that the coach or trainer who signed the request on the notification form to defer testing must escort the student-athlete to the collection station following the final event and certify that student-athlete's identity.

In addition, language has been added to the section assigning institutions involved in nonchampionships on-campus testing the responsibility for notifying student-athletes of the time and place for testing and for administration of the Student-Athlete Notification Form; also, a provision has been added requiring a representative of the institution to be present in the collection station at all times to certify the identity of student-athletes and to oversee security of the station and student-athlete compliance with the collection protocol.

- The section "Specimen Collection Procedure" now addresses only the collection of specimens once a student-athlete has been notified of and has reported for testing. The collection protocol is essentially unchanged.

- The section titled "Chain of Custody" is unchanged.

- The section titled "Notification of Results" has been retitled "Notification of Results and Appeal Process;" the appeal procedures already were included in the section. The section was amended to state that a crew chief may serve as a consultant to the competitive safeguards committee in appeals involving specimen collection matters.

- A new section has been added titled "Restoration of Eligibility." It specifies that an institution's request for restoration of a student-athlete's eligibility should be submitted to the NCAA's eligibility director; that student-athletes will undergo an "exit test" near the end of the period of ineligibility to be considered for eligibility restoration; that ineligible student-athletes are subject to testing at any time during their period of ineligibility; that institutional requests for exit tests should be submitted to the NCAA director of sports sciences, and that the exit test shall be conducted at the institution's expense.

NACDA to honor six administrators

Big Eight Conference Commissioner Carl C. James and five other current and former athletics administrators will be inducted into the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics Hall of Fame June 12.

The induction will be a part of NACDA's annual meeting June 10-13 on Marco Island, Florida. Ceremonies will include the presentation of the James J. Corbett Award to George S. King, director of athletics at Purdue University. Bob Griese, former Purdue varsity football player, will be the featured speaker.

Also to be honored are Joe Abbey, former AD at Parkland College

(Illinois); John O. Coppedge, former AD at the U.S. Naval Academy; Leo Miles, interim athletics director at the University of the District of Columbia and former AD at Howard University; Mary Jean Mulvaney, former chair for the department of physical education and athletics at the University of Chicago and former NCAA Council member, and Richard G. Shrider, former AD at Miami University (Ohio). Shrider is a former NCAA Council member.

James has served on a number of committees of the NCAA and the College Football Association. He also served as a director of athletics at the University of Maryland, College Park, and Duke University, where he won letters in football and track as an undergraduate.

NCAA seminar scheduled June 14-16

The 12th NCAA Professional Development Seminar will be held June 14-16 at the Hyatt Regency in Cincinnati.

The three-day seminar will start with a luncheon June 14 followed by sessions on marketing of women's athletics programs, internship programs, promotions for Division II and III programs, legal concerns in promotions, radio and television production and syndication, and print and electronic production. Two half-day sessions will be devoted to a miniseminar on selling techniques for the individual and the institution.

Registration fees for NCAA members range from $175 to $225; the fee is $295 for nonmembers and include group and breakout sessions, sales miniseminar, a workbook with speakers' outlines, one luncheon with a guest speaker and one with roundtable sessions, breakfast buffets, and evening reception, and door prizes.

For information, contact Alfred B. White, director of promotions, NCAA national office, 913/339-1906, or Jana Curd or Paula Mur-nahan, Host Communications, 606/253-3230.

MAC names James award winners

Ball State University baseball player Denny Rieman and Bowling Green State University volleyball player Linda Popovich will receive the 1990 Bob James Memorial Awards presented by the Mid-American Athletic Conference.

The awards are presented annually to one man and one woman student-athlete from the graduating class who plans to attend graduate school and has compiled a 3.500 or better grade-point average (4.000 scale). Nominees must have demonstrated good character, leadership and citizenship. The awards were presented for the first time in 1989.

The recipients will receive $1,000 scholarships toward their postgraduate study. The two winners were chosen by a selection committee from among 11 finalists nominated by the MAC schools.

The awards are named in honor of the late Bob James, who served

League wants to experiment with no-foul-out rule

The Trans America Athletic Conference has been asked by its basketball coaches advisory committee to petition the NCAA to experiment with a no-foul-out rule for the 1990-91 basketball season.

The experimental rule would award opponents three chances to make two free throws after a player's sixth and subsequent fouls but allow the player who fouled to continue play.

The action came during the TAAC annual spring meeting that ended May 20 at the University of Texas, San Antonio.

The conference announced that its 1991 basketball tournament will be held March 5-7 at Stetson University. The three-day, eight-team tournament will be at the Edmunds Center.

In other decisions made at the conference's annual spring meeting, David B. Wagner of Georgia Southern University was named league president for 1990-91. He is Georgia Southern's director of athletics.

Bobby Thompson, athletics director at Texas-San Antonio, was named vice-president and Mercer University athletics director Bobby Pope was named secretary.

as the commissioner of the Mid-American Conference from 1964-71. After leaving the MAC, he was the commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference until his death in 1987.

Rieman, a second baseman, has a 3.940 grade-point average in pre-medicine with an emphasis in athletics training and a minor in

Gator Bowl moves to New Year's Day

The Mazda Gator Bowl will be the first bowl played on New Year's Day in 1991 since its starting time is 11:30 a.m. Eastern time.

The bowl originally was played on New Year's, but the 1950 game was played January 2.

Last year's bowl was played De-psychology.

Popovich, a setter on Bowling Green's volleyball team, has a 3.960 grade-point average in political science. Earlier this month, she was selected to receive a $7,500 Walter Byers Scholarship given by the NCAA. Popovich is a two-time, first-team GTE Academic All-America.

December 30.

"We believe the new date and time will afford our bowl the best possible local and national exposure," said John Bell, the bowl's executive director.

The game will be carried on ESPN.

Alaska Shootout set November 23-26

The 1990 Great Alaska Shootout will be held November 23-26 and will include two NCAA tournament teams from last season—UCLA and Virginia.

The Shootout, hosted by the University of Alaska, Anchorage, will be played at Sullivan Arena.

In addition to UCLA, Virginia and Alaska-Anchorage, other participating teams are UC Irvine, Nevada-Reno, Siena, South Carolina and Texas Tech.

Fame board of trustees. He was inducted into the hall in 1983. At the time of his death, he was the U.S. representative to the World

Edward S. Steitz

International Basketball Federation (FIBA), serving as assistant treasurer.

He was the cofounder of the Amateur Basketball Association of the United States of America (now called USA Basketball), the governing body for all amateur basketball in this country, and served as its president for 10 years. During his tenure, the U.S. men's and women's teams won gold medals at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles.

In addition to the Men's Basketball Rules Committee and the Executive Committee, Steitz served on more than a dozen NCAA committees and subcommittees during his career. Among them were the National Youth Sports Program Committee (January 1970 to September 1974), the Division II Men's Basketball Committee (January 1963 to January 1967), the Men's Volleyball Committee (served on and chaired the committee from January 1970 to September 1971), and the Committee on Women's Intercollegiate Athletics (January 1977 to January 1980).

LSU track coach more subtle than his 'do-or-die' namesake

Patrick Henry, track coach at Louisiana State, which won last year's Division I men's and women's outdoor track and field team titles, is nothing like his "do-or-die" namesake.

You won't find him exhorting his teams — "Give me a championship or give me death."

Instead, Henry is rather low-keyed. He looks at the championships as a way for his individual athletes to perform well. If a team title or two come with that again in 1990, great.

"What we talk about all year is that the national-championship meet is different from any other meet we compete in all year," Henry said. "For anybody to say he or she can repeat would be a difficult thing to do. We want everybody to have a good day on the same day. That's what it will take."

"We tell the athletes they have the opportunity to have their best performances there. What happens after that regarding team scores, nobody can predict."

But one has to like Henry's chances. On the men's side, John Nichols returns to defend the Tigers' only individual title from last year. And Henry says the Tigers have good overall depth, similar to last year when they took the title after being predicted to finish 10th. "This year, we're predicted first, so nobody knows what they're talking about," Henry said.

The women's team scored a convincing victory over UCLA last year, but Dawn Sowell, who finished first in three events, is gone. "We have a good group back," Henry said. "But there is no question that Texas is the favorite. If anybody tells you differently, he's lying."

Men's championships

The men's competition is wide open. Any one of six or seven teams has a strong chance to take home the trophy.

Besides Nichols, Louisiana State's top performers are Mark Elliott in the 5,000-meter run and Terry Thornton in the 10,000-meter run. Llewellyn Starks finished third in 1989 in the long jump, and Slip Watkins finished fourth and fifth in last year's 100- and 200-meter dashes.

"We have a good group qualified," Henry said. "We don't count on one Arkansas' Reuben Reina (No. 38, shown here winning at 3,000 meters during the 1990 Division I indoor championships) is one of specific person."

Arkansas, the 1990 indoor champion, will return Edrick Floreal, the two-time defending triple jump champion. He also qualified in the long jump, in which he finished seventh last year. Floreal is joined by Reuben Reina as a double-qualifier. Reina will run the 1,500- and 5,000-meter runs outdoors after winning the 3,000-meter run at the indoor meet, where he defeated Division I cross country champion John Nuttall of Iowa State.

The Razorbacks have qualified 10 athletes for 12 events, so the track and field world may once again be high on the Hogs.

Even without shot-putter Mike Stulce, an indoor champion who is ineligible for the outdoor meet, Texas A&M looks like a contender for the title. The 1,600-meter relay team has turned in the best time in the country to date.

Andre Cason is strong at 100 and 200 meters. Howard Davis and Richard Bucknor in the 400 meters and 110-meter high hurdles, respectively, should contribute points. Greg West also is expected to score.

Oregon has an "off-and-on" history. Coach Bill Belinger says he "hopes" to finish in the top 10 but needs some provisional qualifiers to make the field to do so. But judging by the number of athletes who have qualified, the Ducks look strong.

Pedro da Silva took second in the decathlon last year. Danny Lopez is the highest-rated 3,000-meter steeplechaser, and Rick Mestler, who finished eighth last year, is rated 11th. Scott McGee finished sixth in the hammer last year and is top-rated this year. Another athlete who scored last year, Latin Berry in the long jump, is a provisional qualifier.

"Anything is possible," Dellinger said. "We have the potential (to win the meet)."

"I think we can score around 40 points at the meet," was the hopeful expectation of Florida coach John Webb. "We have to have a good meet to do that. You just never know if that will be enough."

Webb will be relying on Mark Everett (800-meter run), Tyrone Kemp (400-meter dash), Tom Pukstys (javelin) and Dion Bentley (long jump) for his points. He also has a strong group of freshmen, "but they have to get their feet wet," Webb said. "This is a tough meet in which to score. If they score points, that will be a bonus."

Baylor's Michael Johnson has turned in an 18.7 leg on Baylor's 800-meter relay, which makes him the man to beat in the 200-meter dash. Johnson also is one of six runners who can run 400 meters in under 47 seconds, so the Bears are clear-cut favorites to win the 1,600-meter relay.

Three Bears will be in the pole vault field, led by Billy Payne, who has the best qualifying height to date at 18-9½.

UCLA won the title two years ago with an injury-free team. Last season, injuries hit the Bruins, and they have occurred again on coach Bob Larsen's team. Steve Lewis, the two-time Olympic gold medalist in 1988, will compete in the two events he won — the 400-meter dash and a leg of the 1,600-meter relay.

The Bruins' other points will come in the throws, with Brian Blutreich in the shot and discus and John Knight in the hammer throw. Blutreich finished third in the shot and fourth in the discus last year. He has been slowed by a shoulder injury, but expects to compete at the nationals. Knight finished eighth in the hammer but was slightly injured last season. He is one of the few healthy Bruins headed into this year's competition, and he appears to be one of the top contenders.

10 Razorbacks who have qualified in a total of 12 events

Women's championships

Despite the departure of Sowell, Louisiana State will be strong. Esther Jones has qualified in the 100- and 200-meter dashes as well as one leg of the 400-meter relay team. Tananjalyne Stanley returns to defend her 100-meter hurdles title, and Cinnamon Sheffield, who finished second in that event, is back.

"Those three are the nucleus of our group," Henry said.

Bob Kersee's squad at UCLA finished 39 points behind Louisiana State in 1989. This season, 39 points might separate the first five teams. Kersee sees the meet coming down to the 1,600-meter relay, the meet's final event.

"I expect the winner of that race to win the whole thing," said Kersee. "All the contenders have decent relay teams. And I don't think that anybody is going to pull away from the field before that race. I know that nobody will put us away before the 4-by-400."

For Kersee's Bruins to still be alive when that event comes around, his juniors will have to have strong meets. Tracie Millett, who finished third in the discus a year ago; Janeene Vickers, the defending champion in the 400-meter hurdles; Tanya Sedwick, and Carol Smith form a quartet from which Kersee expects to get most of his points.

"As the juniors go, so goes the team," he said. "If they have a good meet, then we just have to rally around them and fill in points. Then, I can finish up happy on the plane home."

Texas coach Terry Crawford doesn't think her Longhorns are the team to beat. She believes that yoke should go onto Bob Kersee's shoulders. "They can spread their points around better than we can," Crawford said. "We are more of a short-course team."

But Texas should contend for the title anyway, assuming that Carlette Guidry is over her hamstring injury. She has been training only for a week, and Crawford said it has not been decided if she will compete at the national meet. Without Guidry, Crawford says the Longhorns are a second-tier team. "We'll fall into that group between fifth and eighth," she said. "With Carlette, we've got a shot at the top three."

Arizona State coach Tom Jones has tremendous strength up front with Maicel Malone in the 200- and 400-meter dashes, Lynda Tolbert in the 100-meter hurdles and a strong 1,600-meter relay. But Jones is concerned about a lack of depth.

"We could score 40 points, but we don't have the depth to also run the 4-by-100-meter relay," he said. "UCLA is my pick, followed by Texas and Louisiana State. We hope to slip into the top five."

Defending 400-meter hurdles champion Janeene Vickers returns for UCLA

Championships Profile

Event: Division I men's and women's outdoor track and field.

Field: Qualifying standards for the championships have been established by the NCAA Executive Committee to yield fields in each event that approximate the 1:16 participation ratio approved for individual-team championships.

Automatic qualification: None.

Defending champions: Louisiana State won both the men's and women's titles. It was the second title for the men, but the first in 56 years. For the women, it was the third straight title.

Schedule: Duke University will host the event May 30-June 2 in Durham, North Carolina.

The NCAA News coverage: Results from the championships will appear in the June 6 issue of The NCAA News.

Contenders: Men's — Louisiana State, Arkansas, Oregon, Texas A&M, Florida, Baylor and UCLA. Women's — Louisiana State, UCLA, Texas and Arizona State.

Championships notes: Louisiana State became the first school to win both the men's and women's championships in the same year in 1989... Edrick Floreal of Arkansas has a chance to become the 41st male athlete to win the same event three times. He won the triple jump in 1988 with a jump of 17.19 meters and in 1989 at 17.29 meters... Suzy Favor of Wisconsin could become the first woman to win the same event four straight years when she competes in the 1,500-meter run.

Harvard solves Terp defense for lacrosse crown

Jen Walser gave Harvard its only lead of the game at the 20:29 mark of the second half, boosting the Crimson to an 8-7 victory over Maryland May 20 at Princeton and its first National Collegiate Women's Lacrosse Championship title.

Harvard reached the semifinals for the third straight year and made its second consecutive appearance in the title game. Maryland finished second for the third time overall. The Terps last appeared in the championship game in 1986, defeating Penn State, 11-10.

"I know how Maryland feels, having lost last year's title game, but we couldn't have asked for a better championship game," Harvard coach Carole Kleinfelder said. "Maryland is the toughest team to score against of all the teams we played this year."

Kleinfelder must have been experiencing déjà vu as she saw her team fall behind early, just as it had last year. A year ago, Harvard rallied but fell short. This year's team had just enough to eek out the win.

Maryland scored four unanswered goals, including two by Erin Brown, in the first 12 minutes of the game. Julia French put Harvard on the board at the 16:36 mark.

"I knew this team would never quit when we were down 4-0," French said.

Harvard closed the gap to 5-3 at the half, but Maryland opened the second half by widening its margin to three goals. French and Karen Everling answered for Harvard, then Michele Uhlfelder scored what proved to be Maryland's final goal at 13:46. Charlotte Joslin and Liz Berkery each scored for the Crimson before Walser popped in the game winner.

"I don't know what we were waiting for, but we finally clicked after our first goal," Joslin said.

"It was good defense that kept us in the game," Maryland coach Sue Tyler said. "Overall, it was a good game that kept the fans in the stands."

Championship Results

Maryland beat in-state rival Loyola (Maryland), 10-5, to reach the title game, and Harvard topped another former champion, Temple, 13-7.

The most outstanding players were Mary Ann Oelgoetz of Maryland and Julia French of Harvard on attack, midfielders Mary Kondner of Maryland and Charlotte Joslin of Harvard, and Maggie Vaughan of Harvard and Jenny Ulehla of Maryland on defense.

Stanford women sweep Division I tennis championships

Stanford left little doubt that it is the cream of the crop in women's tennis by becoming the first team to sweep the singles, doubles and team titles in the Division I Women's Tennis Championships.

The top-seeded Cardinal began the sweep by defeating host Florida May 13 in the team finals for the second time in three years to claim its fifth straight team title and its seventh crown in the nine-year history of the tournament.

Four days later, sophomore Debbie Graham cruised to Stanford's sixth singles title, and the tandem of Meredith McGrath and Teri Whitlinger defeated Graham and Sandra Birch in an all-Cardinal doubles final.

The singles crown was Stanford's fifth in the last six years; Birch was the defending champion. The doubles title was the team's third and its first since 1985.

The 5-1 victory over Florida in the team finals gave the Cardinal a perfect 29-0 record this season and extended its collegiate record for consecutive dual-match wins to 65. It also left coach Frank Brennan wondering what else is left for his team to accomplish.

"I don't know what's next for us," he said. "How many basketball championships did UCLA win?"

The answer is 10.

In cruising to its last two titles, Stanford has won seven of eight matches without having to go to doubles play. This season, Brennan's team clinched 26 of its 29 wins during singles.

Graham, who claimed the singles title with a 6-3, 6-3, triumph over Nicole Arendt of Florida, did not lose a set in 10 singles matches in the team and individual competitions. She won her last 35 matches to finish the season 42-4 in duals and tournaments. She has not lost a McGrath and Whitlinger finished the year 26-0. Their 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 win was the second straight setback for Birch and Graham in the doubles finals.

Cal Poly San Luis Obispo outduels tennis rival

Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and UC Davis rekindled their intense rivalry in the team finals of the Division II Men's Tennis Championships, and Cal Poly SLO prevailed for the third time in four meetings to claim its second title.

Southern Illinois-Edwardsville hosted the tournament May 14-20 at the Dwight D. Davis Tennis Center in St. Louis, Missouri.

The Mustangs' victory was the fourth straight match between the two schools decided by a score of 5-4, including a showdown in last year's semifinals. Cal Poly SLO won that match but was defeated in the finals by Hampton, 5-1.

Top-ranked UC Davis relied on its stellar singles line-up to grab a 4-2 lead going into doubles play. The Aggies claimed three-set victories in the fourth-through-sixth-singles slots, and senior Benjie Aguirre recorded a 6-3, 6-4 win over Cal Poly SLO's Neal Berryman at No. 1.

But the Mustangs fought back in doubles play, taking straight-set wins at Nos. 1 and 2. At third doubles, Eric Sasao and Brendan Walsh dropped the first set before sweeping the second and third to defeat Rob Perkins and Steve Summer.

The result was a complete turnaround from an April 23 match between the two teams, which UC Davis won by sweeping the doubles matches after trailing, 4-2.

Luciano D'Andrea of Tennessee-Martin was the star of the individual championships as he became the first player in seven years to win both the singles and doubles titles. Ken Flach of Southern Illinois-Edwardsville accomplished the feat in 1982 and 1983.

In the singles competition, the unseeded D'Andrea had relatively little trouble with fourth-seeded Benjie Aguirre in the semifinals, handing the UC Davis star a 6-2, 6-4 defeat. He claimed the championship by defeating another seeded UC Davis player, Tom Burwell, in three sets, 6-1, 1-6, 6-2.

D'Andrea teamed with Vesa Ponkka, the top-seeded singles player, to capture the doubles title with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Brett Field and Bill LeBlanc of Rollins. Three of the pair's five championships victories went to the third set, including a 7-6, 3-6, 6-3 semifinal victory over Tim Fresenius and Max Allman of Cal Poly SLO.

The titles were the first in any sport for Tennessee-Martin.

Florida Southern takes fifth golf crown by margin of 26 strokes

Florida Southern took a comfortable lead after the first round of the 28th annual Division II Men's Golf Championships, then cruised home with a 26-stroke victory. The Moccasins took individual places three through six in capturing their fifth national title.

Florida Atlantic hosted the May 15-18 championships, which were held at the Loxahatchee Club in Jupiter, Florida.

Bob Burns of Cal State Northridge held off the charge of Diego Ventura of Columbus and John Sielsky of Florida Southern—who shot 70 and 69, respectively, on the final day—to claim medalist honors. It marked the third individual championship for a Cal State Northridge golfer, which tied the Matadors with Florida Southern and Columbus for the most titles won.

Columbus, the defending champion, finished second with a 294 final round. But Florida Southern matched its opening-round 287 on the last day and won its third title in the past six years.

Defending medalist Brian Dixon of Columbus finished well back in the pack with a 310. Mark Hutchison of Cal State Stanislaus, who was runner-up medalist in Division III last year, finished with a 309 and a 34th-place tie.

Florida Southern's 1,170 was the fifth highest winning score in tournament history and the best since 1977 when Troy State won with a 1,168. The 26-stroke margin of victory was the largest since the Moccasins defeated U.S. International by 35 strokes in 1981.

Roadrunners earn third straight II softball title

Make it three in a row for Cal State Bakersfield.

The Roadrunners, making their third appearance in the Division II Women's Softball Championship, have taken their third consecutive national title. Head coach Kathy Welter's squad came through the loser's bracket to defeat Cal State Northridge, 6-2, in the final game of the May 18-20 series in Midland, Michigan.

Cal State Bakersfield scored four unearned runs in the top half of the first inning in the championship game. Catcher Leean Couch and first baseman Dara Ferris singled, and the Roadrunners capitalized on two Northridge errors to lead, 2-0. Then, Tonya Warren and Anna Martin added RBI singles.

Cal State Northridge got on the board in the bottom of the first when Lisa Erickson scored on a wild pitch. But the Matadors, who out-hit the Roadrunners, 6-4, managed only one more run off pitchers Cynthia Brown and Cathy Lewis. Cal State Bakersfield added a run in the second inning and one in the sixth to round out the scoring.

Earlier in the tournament, Cal State Northridge used a three-run seventh inning to beat the Roadrunners, 3-2. Bakersfield came back with a 4-0 victory over Bloomsburg and a 1-0 defeat of Cal State Northridge to force a seventh game.

"After we lost, there was nothing else we could do except come out and play hard again," Welter said. "It's a credit to the team. They played well. We were here to win and had to give it a shot. We wanted to keep playing as long as possible."

Ferris and Couch, who each hit .467 for Cal State Bakersfield in the tournament, were named to the all-tournament team. Joining them were teammates Michelle Gerry,

Warriors defeat defending champs for III softball crown

Eastern Connecticut State won its fourth NCAA Division III softball title May 21 with a 1-0 victory over defending champion Trenton State at host Buena Vista College in Storm Lake, Iowa.

Donna Czulewicz's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the fifth inning scored Dawn Walmsley for the game's only run. Walmsley reached first on a one-out single and moved to third on a base hit by Kris Mach. Czulewicz brought Walmsley home with a fly ball to deep right field.

Trenton State's only scoring threat came in the fourth inning when two Lions reached base on singles. Eastern Connecticut State pitcher Christia Mohan went the distance for the win. She allowed five hits and struck out one. Jen LoPresti took the loss for Trenton State.

Eastern Connecticut State got to the championship game with victories over Luther (3-2), Calvin (8-1) and Trenton State (4-1). The Warriors' only loss in the tournament was a 5-0 decision against Central (Iowa).

Warrior head coach Jeff Anderson said his team took the tournament one game at a time.

"We did not look ahead," Anderson said. "We have a thing where we look batter by batter, hitter by hitter, and winning each inning."

In addition to this year's crown, Eastern Connecticut claimed championships in 1982, 1985 and 1986.

Named to the all-tournament team were Suzanne Warner, Diana Pepin and Mohan, Eastern Connecticut State; Kelly Mac Donald, Christi Van Warden and Jamie Mahnke, Central (Iowa); Sue Zintz and Melanie Welton, Luther; Patty Kinghorn and LoPresti, Trenton State; Sarah Ondersma and Laurie Hiemstra, Calvin.

Hobart's Jeff Tambroni (No. 18) did not heed the suggestion of Washington (Maryland) defender Mike Johnson that he keep his distance. Tambroni was involved in eight of Hobart's first nine goals in the 1990 Division III championship game.

Ursinus women defend 1989 crown

Ursinus won a second consecutive Division III Women's Lacrosse Championship with a 7-6 victory over St. Lawrence May 20 at Princeton, which hosted the National Collegiate and Division III championships.

The title was the third overall for Ursinus, which has played in five of the six championship games. It was the first under coach Kim Lambdin, who played on a national-championship team at Temple. St. Lawrence, which reached the semifinals a year ago, made its first appearance in the title contest.

"Our players worked hard all season," Lambdin said. "They deserve to be national champions. We played as a team, and that's the key."

"No one expected us to do this but ourselves," said the Bears' Toni Wenger, who scored a goal in the title game.

Wenger's goal came at about the six-minute mark with the score tied, 1-1. The Bears scored three more goals during the next 12 minutes for their biggest lead of the game.

St. Lawrence's two top scorers, Andrea Ribaudo and Alison Rogers, both went out with injuries during the first 10 minutes of the game. Both returned later in the first half.

"Seeing our two top scorers go down with injuries that early in the game was really intimidating to our team," St. Lawrence midfielder Lisa Sher said. "We weren't expecting it to be that physical."

St. Lawrence closed the scoring in the first half with two goals and Margaret Chandler tallied the first goal of the second half for the Saints to cut the margin to 5-4. The Bears built the lead back up to three goals before the Saints scored the final two goals of the game.

"It was too little too late," Sher said. "We didn't start playing our game early enough."

St. Lawrence defeated Roanoke, 14-7, in the semifinals. Ursinus needed an overtime goal by Lisa Dilenno to defeat rival Trenton State, 6-5. Ursinus and Trenton State have played for the Division III championship four times in six years.

Named outstanding players in the championship were Zoitsa Tsouros of Ursinus and Deanna Beuerle of Trenton State on attack, midfielders Ribaudo and Sher of St. Lawrence and Courtney Dittmann of Roanoke, and goaltender Kim Piersall of Ursinus on defense.

Hobart men win III lacrosse again

Hobart's men's lacrosse team began the 1990s the way it ended the 1980s—by winning another Division III championship.

The Statesmen posted an 18-6 victory over Washington (Maryland) May 19 for its 11th straight title, but the first under coach B. J. O'Hara, who took the reins of the program when Dave Urlick moved to Georgetown. Hobart remained the only team to win the Division III crown.

Washington (Maryland) has been runner-up five times.

"This is about athletes, not coaches with magic formulas," said O'Hara, who previously was a player and an assistant coach at Hobart. "Contrary to what people think, (the streak) hasn't been a curse. It's really a positive thing in a number of ways, and it was a great opportunity to be involved with a group of guys like this."

Sophomore attackman Jeff Tambroni was involved in eight of the Statesmen's first nine goals, including all four second-period scores, and ended the day with five goals and three assists. Senior midfielder Mike DeMaria had four goals.

Kurt Drury put Hobart on the board first at the 1:41 mark, with an assist by Tambroni. Dave Slomkowski, the Shoremen goalie, had given Hobart all it could handle in the teams' regular-season meeting and was keeping the Statesmen in check in the early going.

"Slomkowski is real quick, has real good hands and he's been hot," Hobart midfielder Matt Kerwick said. "He doesn't get down on himself."

"I thought about our early chances and Slomkowski coming up big," O'Hara said. "Was he going to put on another clinic?"

Hobart had a 4-2 edge after the first period, and Tambroni scored the first goal of the second period with an assist from Bill Miller. Ben Lamanna and Geoff Hall scored for Washington (Maryland) to cut the margin to one at the 6:41 mark. Tambroni sandwiched unassisted goals around an assist on a goal by DeMaria to give the Statesmen an 8-4 lead at the half.

Hobart then ran off four straight goals, including two by DeMaria, in the third period.

"We ran into a buzzsaw," Washington coach Terry Corcoran, a Hobart alumnus, said. "They played a flawless game, offensively and defensively."

King Customer

"At companies that listen hard and respond fast, bottom lines thrive," was the hard hitting headline in a recent issue of Business Week.

Among the most cogent quotes in the article was that of Roger A. Enrico, president of PepsiCo Worldwide Beverages: "If you are totally customer-focused, and you deliver the services your customers want, everything else will follow."

Well said and on the head.

From the very inception of AstroTurf Industries, our corporate policy has been customer-driven. From product development to installation services, our commitment has been to customer needs and requirements.

- No other company can match our record of research and development.
- No other company can match our hard earned years of experience.
- No other company can match our engineering and installation expertise.
- No other company can match our record of complete design-build installations—on time and on budget.

- No other company can match our manufacturing capabilities and financial stability.

Our commitment extends to the future through ongoing programs of product development. We believe that new products and systems must be tested thoroughly before taken to the market and that our existing installations and users are sources of information and insights that will help us to continue to improve what we do and how we do it.

And now, more than ever, with the total manufacturing capabilities and diversified product lines available from the "affiliated companies under the Balsam Corporation banner, AstroTurf Industries can meet the total athletic surface requirements of any facility, indoor or outdoor, large or small. Install a field or handle the entire contracting project.

King Customer. We listen to you and respond.

Gusties upset top-ranked Tritons

Second-seeded Gustavus Adolphus upset top-ranked and defending champion UC San Diego, 5-4, to win its first team title at the Division III Women's Tennis Championships.

Trenton State hosted the tournament May 13-19.

The Gusties' three-set, tie-breaker victory by Heidi Rostberg and Molly McCormick at No. 3 doubles clinched the title and avenged an 8-1 regular-season loss to the Tritons. The champions finished the season 19-3.

UC San Diego, which has won the title every other year since claiming its first crown in 1985, finished the season 16-6.

Gustavus Adolphus lost the first three singles contests but won at the fourth, fifth and sixth spots to enter doubles play tied, 3-3. At first doubles, the Gusties' Amy McCrea and Mary Sutherland defeated Christine Behrens and Susan Carney in three sets, but UC San Diego earned a three-set win of its own at No. 2 to knot the score and set the stage for the drama at third doubles.

Rostberg and McCormick, freshmen from Hutchinson, Minnesota, who have been playing together since seventh grade, were just two points away from losing the third set when they fought back to send the match to a tie-breaker. They won the tie-breaker 7-2.

Gustavus Adolphus advanced to the finals by defeating Pomona-Pitzer, 5-4. The Gusties earlier defeated Skidmore, 7-2, after receiving a first-round bye.

In the singles competition, top-seeded Christine Behrens of UC San Diego defeated fourth-seeded Tracy Peel of Washington (Maryland), 6-4, 6-2, to earn the Tritons' first singles title. Behrens, the 1989 doubles co-champion, advanced to the finals by defeating 1989 finalist Karyn Cooper of Wellesley, 6-2, 6-4. She finished her junior season 20-4.

Susan Carney (left) and Christine Behrens of UC San Diego react to losing the No. 1 doubles match in the team final. Behrens, however, rebounded to claim the individual singles title

Fourth-seeded Shelley Keller and Caryn Cranston of Pomona-Pitzer won the doubles crown with a three-set victory over unseeded Leslie Gale and Marcia Hunt of Carleton. They breezed to a 6-1 victory in the final set after splitting the first two by 6-4 scores.

Return match has different outcome in III men's tennis

For the second straight year, Swarthmore and UC Santa Cruz squared off in the Division III Men's Tennis Championships, but this time the result was different—Swarthmore beat the defending champions, 5-1, to claim its first team title since 1985 and its fourth overall.

Swarthmore, which hosted the championships May 13-20, became the second team in three years to win the title on its home courts. Washington and Lee hosted the tournament during its drive to the 1988 title.

This year also is the third year in a row that the title has been claimed by the previous year's runner-up.

Coach Michael Mullan's squad avenged its hard-fought, 5-4 loss to UC Santa Cruz in 1989 by disposing of the top-seeded Banana Slugs in singles play. The Little Quakers' only setback was at No. 1 singles, where Andy Mouer lost to UC Santa Cruz's Steve Gottlieb, 6-2, 6-3. Tom Cantline was the only Swarthmore player to require three sets for a victory, beating Greg Jarasitis in the No. 3 slot, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5.

Swarthmore advanced to the finals by claiming 5-2 victories over Rochester in the quarterfinals and Kalamazoo in the semifinals. UC Santa Cruz progressed by defeating DePauw, 7-2, and Claremont-Mudd-Scripps, 6-3.

Kalamazoo took third place by defeating Claremont-Mudd-Scripps, 6-3.

In the singles championship, second-seeded Larry Gewer of Washington (Maryland) defeated third-seeded teammate Scott Read, 6-4, 6-3. It marked the first time in the 15-year history of the tournament that teammates squared off in the singles final.

Gewer's victory for his 208-year-old school was the first NCAA championship ever for Washington (Maryland).

Read advanced to the finals by beating defending champion John Morris of Washington and Lee in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1. Morris shared the spotlight later, however, as he and partner Bill Meadows upset Rochester's third-seeded tandem of Scott Milner and Bobby Hession to claim the doubles title.

It was the third individual title for Morris, who shared last year's doubles crown with teammate Robert Matthews. He became the first player to win consecutive doubles titles with different partners since Shaun Miller of Gustavus Adolphus did it in 1981 and 1982.

ADs, Disney announce scholar-athlete awards

The 10 winners of the first National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA)/Disney Scholar-Athlete Awards have been announced.

The winners, chosen from among 150 nominees who posted a minimum 3.000 grade-point average (4.000 scale) and were named to all-America or all-conference teams in their sports, each will receive a $5,000 grant to be used for postgraduate studies. The Walt Disney Company is providing the $50,000 in funding for the grants.

Award recipients will be honored at a luncheon June 11 during NACDA's silver anniversary convention on Marco Island, Florida.

The recipients, who boast a cumulative GPA of 3.750, are:

• Kathryn Cottingham, a lacrosse player at Drew University, where she majors in biology and mathematics. Cottingham, who has compiled a 4.170 GPA at Drew, also lettered in field hockey at the school.

• David Gubbrud, a football player at Augustana College (South Dakota), where he has a 3.960 GPA as a biology major.

• Vicki Huber, a Villanova University psychology major with a 3.290 GPA who won seven NCAA track titles and a cross country championship during her career. Huber, who won the 1988-89 Honda-Broderick Cup as the nation's outstanding collegiate woman athlete, plans to attend medical school.

• John Jackson, a football player at the University of Southern California, where he is now enrolled in the graduate school of business. Jackson, who posted a 3.300 GPA as an undergraduate in business finance, also has received NCAA and National Football Foundation postgraduate scholarships.

• Alec Kessler, a basketball player at the University of Georgia, where he has earned a 3.910 GPA as a microbiology major. The two-time GTE academic all-America of the year plans to attend medical school.

• Brent Lang, a swimmer at the University of Michigan who won four NCAA individual titles and also was a gold medalist at the 1988 Summer Olympics. Lang, who majors in industrial and operations engineering, has a 3.820 GPA.

• Christopher Roper, a football player at Furman University and the recipient of NCAA and National Football Foundation postgraduate scholarships. The physics major has earned a 3.730 GPA and plans to pursue a doctorate in nuclear physics.

• Virginia Stahr, a volleyball player at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln. The two-time GTE academic all-America volleyball athlete of the year has a 3.900 GPA as an elementary education major at Nebraska.

• Michael Thorson, a football player at the U.S. Military Academy. Thorson, who was selected as deputy brigade commander of the academy's corps of cadets, has a 3.995 GPA as an economics major and has received NCAA and National Football Foundation postgraduate scholarships.

• Jake Young, a football player at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, where he has a 3.390 GPA as a finance major. The two-time first-team all-Big Eight Conference player received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship.

"These 10 winners, and really all the nominees, represent what the term 'student-athlete' is supposed to stand for," said Milo R. Lude, chair of the NACDA Honors and Awards Committee and athletics director at the University of Washington.

"It's a pleasure for NACDA to join a top organization like the Walt Disney Company in honoring the top scholar-athletes in the country."

SportSouth set for August start

A Southeastern regional sports network based in Turner Broadcast System Inc.'s media center in Atlanta is to begin programming August 29 in six states, organizers have announced.

The SportSouth network, which will carry Southern collegiate sports as a joint project of TBS, TCI Sports Inc. and Scripps Howard Productions Inc., will be affiliated with Prime Network, a national sports programming service. The new network will be available in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina.

The world, in this case, is a graphic example of the latest, most sophisticated standard of fax technology available, called Group IV fax.

To achieve its unprecedented clarity, a Group IV fax must be transmitted at 56 kbps, a speed beyond the normal range of every long distance network but one: The 100% fiber optic, 100% digital network of US Sprint.*

The US Sprint fiber optic network, with its unique single-switch architecture, is inherently efficient and high speed. It allows its users unequalled flexibility to transmit data in any form, anywhere in the U.S.

So advanced technologies such as Group IV fax and videoconferencing become affordable and reliable. Data can be transmitted 99.99% error free, even in weather that brings down other systems. And of course, long distance calls never sound long distance. Your US Sprint Account Manager can tell you further why no other network can better prepare your company for a world that's changing daily. Whether you require the world from your long distance network. Or just a clearer fax.

NFL names drug adviser

Dr. Lawrence Brown Jr., an internist who specializes in drug and alcohol abuse, was named May 17 by the NFL as its drug adviser.

Commissioner Paul Tagliabue said, "With the addition of Dr. Brown, the NFL will continue its testing and related efforts to eliminate drug abuse in the league. His education, training and practical experience will enable Dr. Brown to be a force against the use of street drugs."

Brown, 40, is an instructor in clinical medicine at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, where since 1983, he also has been an adjunct professor and lecturer in the school of public health.

Brown also is a staff member of the division of endocrinology at Harlem Hospital Medical Center and a member of the Working Group on Alcohol and Drug Policy of the American Public Health Association and the Substance Abuse Advisory Committee of the Carnegie Corporation.

Last month, Tagliabue named Dr. John Lombardo to be the NFL drug adviser for anabolic steroids and other performance-enhancing drugs.

"There is nothing more important than the health of the players and fairness of competition among our teams and the standards followed by NFL players as role models for our young people," Tagliabue said.

WAC signs TV contract

The Western Athletic Conference and ESPN have agreed to a multi-year contract for live telecasts of WAC basketball games beginning next season, officials said May 11.

The contract calls for the telecast of 24 to 30 regular-season games in 1990-91 in addition to the championship game of the league's post-season tournament, Commissioner Joseph L. Kearney said.

"Perhaps more than any other national television entity, ESPN has become synonymous with NCAA basketball over the years, and we are both pleased and proud to be a major part of its overall package," Kearney said.

Program dropped

The University of New Hampshire will drop men's swimming and diving in the next academic year because of state-mandated budget cuts, university athletics officials have announced.

Elimination of the men's program also will bring the university into compliance with Federal laws that require equal athletics opportunities for men and women, although women's swimming and diving will be continued.

Mike O'Neil, assistant vice-president for athletics, said dropping the swimming and diving program and other cuts in the athletics department would save the university $149,960 next year.

The University System of New Hampshire's budget was cut 7.5 percent, or $4.4 million, by the legislature. About $3 million of the cuts will come from the University of New Hampshire.

O'Neil said the cuts will have a "severe impact" on the athletics department budget. That budget requires revenues of $85,000 from ticket sales, sponsorships and sign sales. If revenues fall short of projections, further cuts will be made.

Old Dominion leaves Sun Belt for Colonial league

Old Dominion University will leave the Sun Belt Conference and become a member of the Colonial Athletic Association, effective with the 1991-92 academic year.

Thomas E. Yeager, conference commissioner, said, "We are extremely excited about Old Dominion's return to the conference. Its membership will not only help strengthen existing rivalries within the CAA but also help increase interest in the conference both on a local and a national level. Old Dominion's broad-based programs have achieved considerable success in recent years, making them a solid addition to our league."

Old Dominion was voted into the conference by the eight-member league's athletics directors. The school accepted the CAA's invitation May 18.

"Membership in the Colonial Athletic Association will assure rivalries with regional institutions, contain costs, cut down on travel and loss of study time for our athletes, and offer a wider range of activities for our extensive program in nonrevenue sports," said Old Dominion President William B. Spong Jr.

Old Dominion has been a member of the Sun Belt for the past eight years. In the Colonial league, Old Dominion will join American University; East Carolina University; George Mason University; James Madison University; the University of Richmond; the College of William and Mary, and the University of North Carolina, Wilmington.

Director of Athletics James Jarrett said, "We believe our move to the Colonial Athletic Association has many positive aspects for our athletics department. First, its geographic proximity enhances rivalries and reduces missed class time by our student-athletes; secondly, it provides our fans with the opportunity to attend conference championship events on an annual basis;

Old Dominion gives the CAA eight members again after the departure of the U.S. Naval Academy to join the Patriot League third, it provides excellent corporate marketing opportunities, and fourth, it provides us the opportunity to improve our attendance and game atmosphere at home events by attracting the many alumni from our conference schools that live throughout the Hampton Roads area.

"Our movement in no way is a reflection on the Sun Belt Conference. We cherish the rivalries and relationships we have been able to sustain over the years with the member schools, and we have the greatest respect for outgoing Commissioner Vic Bubas and incoming Commissioner Jim Lessig," Jarrett said.

The CAA offers conference championships in men's and women's cross country, women's volleyball, and men's soccer in the fall; men's and women's basketball and swimming in the winter, and men's golf, men's and women's tennis, baseball, and men's and women's outdoor track in the spring.

The U.S. Naval Academy left the CAA earlier this year to join the Patriot League.

Alabama fines sports agent $5,000

Texas sports agent Lance Luchnick pleaded guilty May 21 to a reduced charge of violating Alabama's sports-agent registration law and was fined $5,000.

Mobile County Circuit Judge Braxton Kittrell suspended a six-month jail sentence for the San Antonio lawyer.

Luchnick pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of attempting to violate the registration law.

In a plea-bargain agreement, Luchnick avoided a felony charge for his representation of Tampa Bay linebacker Keith McCants during NFL negotiations after the Mobile native gave up his senior season at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, so he could turn pro.

Luchnick's attorney, Mark Kolitz of Dallas, said that under the plea agreement, the $5,000 fine would be distributed to five charities in the Mobile area, the Associated Press reported.

Assistant Attorney General Don Valeska said a Mobile County grand jury indicted Luchnick on a felony charge April 17. He was in Texas at the time and the state notified his attorney, according to Valeska, who said an agreement was worked out for Luchnick to surrender May 21.

The prosecutor said they chose that course of action rather than going through a lengthy extradition process with Texas. He said it took more than a month to arrange a court date where all parties could participate.

In Alabama, failure of a sports agent to register with the state is punishable by a $5,000 fine and up to 10 years in prison. The law was passed by the state legislature in hopes of protecting student-athletes from unscrupulous agents.

Luchnick said prior to the NFL draft that he had not registered with the Alabama Athlete Agents Regulatory Commission. Pearl Maxwell, a spokeswoman for the commission, said Luchnick sent in an application but it was rejected.

"He was told he could have a hearing," she said. She said she did not know why the application was rejected.

When the Mobile County grand jury reviewed the McCants case April 17, neither the 21-year-old player nor Luchnick testified. The 45-minute session did include appearances by McCants' mother and a family friend.

Hall of Fame Bowl payout is $950,000

The Hall of Fame Bowl Association has paid a record $950,000 to Auburn University and Ohio State University for their participation in the 1990 game. The bowl also will contribute $95,000 to the National Football Foundation.

"This bowl has come a long way in just four years," said Bob Sutton, association chair. "We've been able to increase our payouts to the schools every year... It helps us to attract quality teams, and we're quickly building a reputation of producing great match-ups."

Team payouts for the bowl have almost doubled since 1986 when each team received $500,000. In 1987-88, the teams received $800,000 each and in 1988-89, it increased to $850,000.

The success also has helped to increase contributions to the bowl's primary beneficiary, the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, which funds a scholar-athlete program.

The program provides grants to deserving high school football players to help them continue their educations. In just four years, the bowl has provided over $275,000 to the NFF.

The Hall of Fame Bowl is played in Tampa Stadium on New Year's Day and telecast nationally by NBC.

League changes tournament format

The American South Conference Executive Committee has voted unanimously to change the format of the men's basketball tournament.

Over the past three years, the tournament was held at a predetermined site, which was awarded to the highest bidder. In January 1990, the executive committee established a seven-year rotation for hosting the tournament, with a financial guarantee of $100,000.

The action eliminated the rotation and financial guarantee. Beginning in 1991, the tournament will be played at the site of the regular-season round-robin champion (or No. 1 seed in the event of a tie), with all seven teams participating in the three-day event. The tournament is scheduled for Friday-Sunday, March 1-3. The regular-season winner will receive a first-round bye in the event, and the tournament champion will earn the automatic bid to the 1991 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship.

Presidents of American South members decided May 20 that the league's regular-season basketball champion will host the 1991 conference tournament.

They also agreed to sign a three-year contract with Creative Sports Marketing to carry one regular-season game and the conference championship on ESPN from 1991 through 1993, he said.

All conference teams will play in the weekend tournament, Commissioner Craig Thompson said after a meeting in New Orleans.

He said presidents of the schools voted on proposals from athletics directors in the conference, which is made up of the University of New Orleans; Louisiana Tech University; Arkansas State University; the University of Southwestern Louisiana; the University of Texas, Pan American, and Lamar University.

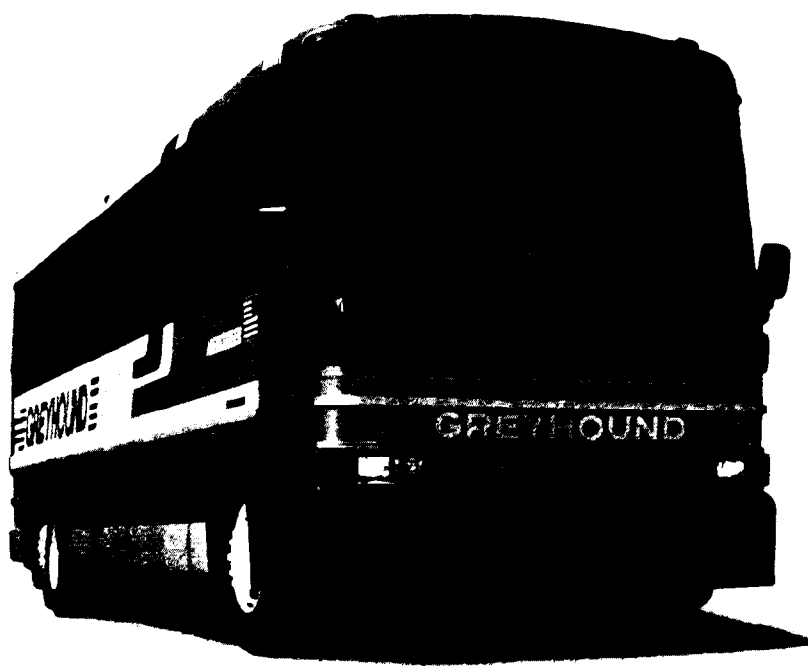

Thompson said the presidents also want to be sure that conference teams' opposition is strong enough to keep the conference's automatic bid to the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championships, he said.

Questions/Answers

Readers are invited to submit questions to this column. Please direct any inquiries to The NCAA News at the NCAA national office.

Q What are NCAA administrative bylaws?

A The administrative bylaws of the Association (i.e., administrative regulations, executive regulations, and enforcement policies and procedures) provide rules and regulations for the implementation of policy adopted by the membership as set forth in the constitution and operating bylaws. They are distinct from the operating bylaws in that, to provide greater flexibility and efficiency in the conduct of the affairs of the Association, they may be adopted or amended by the Council or Executive Committee as specified in NCAA legislation.

Athletics' role is topic

Richard D. Schultz, executive director of the NCAA; Donna A. Lopiano, women's athletics director of the University of Texas, Austin, and Richard Lapchick, coeditor of "The Rules of the Game" and director of the Center for the Study of Sports in Society, will compose a panel at the American Association of University Administrators' National Assembly XIX in Seattle, Washington, June 17-20.

This year's assembly theme is "Leadership 2001: Forging Alliances, Building Community."

The panel will be moderated by Roscoe Brown, president of Bronx Community College.

At 10:30 a.m. June 19, the panel will address "Athletics in the Academy: A Part of or Apart From?" and will take questions.

This panel will offer higher education administrators and the media an opportunity for questions about changing relationships between athletics and academics.

"The higher-education community, like the general public, feels that the tail has been wagging the dog, that it's time for fundamental reform in the relationship between dow of opportunity created out of crisis. It will be a measure of all of us working together whether we can bring good reform out of this situation."

academics and athletics," said Art Shriberg, vice-president for student development at Xavier University (Ohio). "Capturing these three figures in a one-panel format offers administrators an extraordinary opportunity to listen, question and reevaluate directions," Shriberg said. He chairs the Task Force on Intercollegiate Athletics for the American College Personnel Association.

"College athletics is an honorable part of academia," Schultz told AAUA's newsletter, Communique. "Athletics helps teach us to set goals and strive to reach them, to plan strategy, to learn teamwork and perseverance. There are abuses, but college administrators are working hard to stop those abuses."

"Thank goodness for Dick Schultz," said Lapchick in an interview with Communique. "He's the best news yet in the chain of leadership directing us to the goals we want to achieve, which include solidifying the place of athletics in the overall mission of the institution."

Said Lopiano, "ADs need help from their presidents in the form of leadership, not micromanagement. The president could explain what he or she wants, the direction to go in, then let the AD decide the best way to achieve the goals, rather than be told specifically what steps to take to get there."

Lopiano's message to administrators is, "We're looking at a win-

East Stroudsburg restructures department

East Stroudsburg University of Pennsylvania has eliminated three sports programs and suspended two others in a restructuring of the athletics department that also will result in the creation of a new program.

The university will eliminate its programs in men's and women's gymnastics and men's golf and will suspend its men's and women's swimming and diving programs for at least one year, with an option to reinstate swimming if a faculty position is established for a director of aquatics.

However, East Stroudsburg will start a program in women's soccer during the 1992-93 school year.

Before making the decision to restructure, the school's president, James E. Gilbert, reviewed recommendations from athletics director Richard L. DeSchriver, a recently formed Student Athletics Advisory Council, student groups, faculty committees, university administrators and trustees.

Gilbert noted that restructuring has been discussed formally and informally at East Stroudsburg for several years, and said an external evaluation committee in 1987 recommended a reduction in sports at the school.

The school's action will permit East Stroudsburg to redirect $11,000 in operating expenses and $20,000 in coaches' salaries toward the enhancement of coaching opportunities for women and minorities and underfunded areas within the athletics program, Gilbert said.

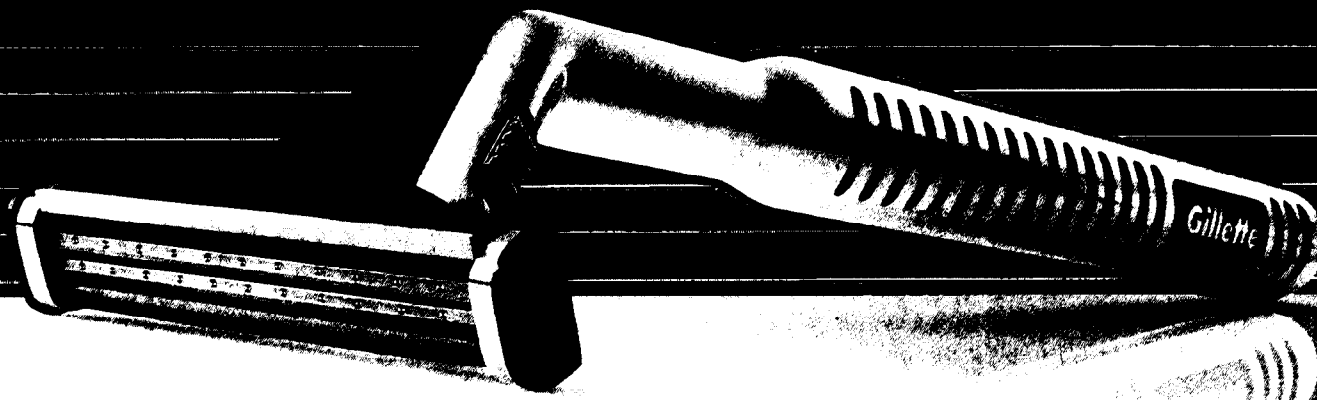

The contracts of the part-time, nonfaculty coaches of the women's gymnastics and men's and women's swimming and diving teams, Jeanne Clapp and Jay Kramer, will not be renewed this spring, and men's golf coach Arne Olson, a faculty member, is retiring. Men's gymnastics coach Bruno Klaus and assistant swimming and diving coach Squier Ball will be reassigned to full-time faculty positions.

Fifty underclassmen on the teams being eliminated or suspended will be offered assistance, if desired, in transferring to another institution, Gilbert said. Five affected student-athletes who currently have athletics grants-in-aid will be offered continuing financial aid, he added.

When the women's soccer team begins play in 1991, East Stroudsburg will offer 18 varsity sports—nine for men and nine for women. However, the restructuring effort also will result in the elimination of junior varsity football, leaving field hockey as the only junior varsity sport at the school.

The revolution starts with the platinum hardened Sensor twin blades. They're individually and independently mounted on highly responsive springs. So they continuously sense and automatically adjust to the individual curves and unique needs of your face.

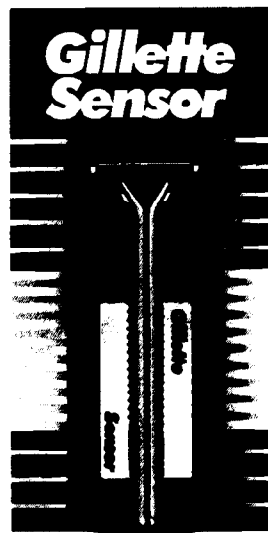

But innovation doesn't stop there. The ultra narrow metal skin guard is also mounted on springs. It moves in total harmony with the blades to set up your beard for optimum shaving performance.

Keeping this technology in constant contact with your face required another breakthrough. A dramatic redesign of the entire pivoting process creates a wider, more responsive, unprecedentedly smooth pivoting action. Innovation is everywhere.

You can feel it in the textured ridges and balance of the Sensor razor. You appreciate it in the easy loading system and the convenient shaving organizer.

Even rinsing is innovative. The new blades are 50% narrower than any others—water flows freely around and through them, helping to make rinsing and cleaning totally effortless.

But the true revolution of Sensor comes not with any one feature, but with the way the Sensor technologies work together. They combine to give your individual face a personalized shave—the closest, smoothest, safest shave you've ever had. Or, more precisely, the best shave a man can get.

Virginia will ask schools to develop antiracism plan

Amid reports of increasing racial and ethnic unrest on college campuses nationwide, Virginia Gov. L. Douglas Wilder's administration is taking steps to quell such actions in the state by asking schools to devise a "civility" plan.

State Secretary of Education James Dyke said May 19 that the administration is asking for the plan through the State Council of Higher Education following reports of increasing racist and anti-Semitic activity on American campuses.

"I am disturbed when I hear that the white, black and Asian students feel they must organize themselves into 'separate worlds' rather than become part of the overall college community," Dyke said.

Dyke referred to the report last month by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, which said that on most campuses there are deep social divisions that often divide campuses racially and ethnically. The report also found sexism continues to restrict women.

The year-long study called on colleges and universities to consider

"not more regulations, but the enduring values of a true learning community."

The report's findings have been supported recently by organizations such as the National Institute Against Prejudice and Violence, which said race relations on campuses today are worse than at any time since the 1950s.

Dyke said his concern extends to campus security, in light of reports of increasing alcohol and drug abuse and sexual harassment.

"All these things may be far worse in other states than they are in Virginia," he said, "but we cannot wait until our statistics reach crisis levels before we take preventive action."

Academic hall of fame adds four

Joe Theismann, Jamaal Wilkes, Howard Twilley and Steve Taylor were inducted May 15 into the GTE Academic All-America Hall of Fame at ceremonies held in West Hollywood, California.

Also honored was Lester Jordan, the former long-time sports information director at Southern Methodist University, who initiated and developed the academic all-America program in 1952.

In 1988, GTE and the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) established the hall of fame to honor former academic all-Americans who have attained high achievements in their chosen professions and have made substantial contributions to their communities.

"We at GTE are extremely proud to sponsor the hall of fame and to be associated with a group of role models as fine as our inductees," said James I. "Rocky" Johnson, chair and chief executive officer of GTE.

NBC Sports commentator Dick Enberg said, "Our inductees truly can be proud of their achievement, since they were selected from the thousands who have been GTE academic all-Americans throughout the years." Enberg is also GTE academic all-America teams spokesman and was master of ceremonies.

Introducing the inductees were former University of Notre Dame football coach Ara Parseghian (Theismann), former University of California, Los Angeles, basketball coach John Wooden (Wilkes), and one-time University of Tulsa football coach Glenn Dobbs (Twilley). Hal

Bodley, baseball writer for USA Today and baseball analyst for Cable News Network, introduced Taylor, a fellow University of Delaware alumnus.

Jordan, who is 86, was SMU's sports information director, as well as head of the college's journalism department, tennis coach and business manager of the athletics department. He was the first president of CoSIDA.

GTE has been the exclusive sponsor of CoSIDA's academic all-America program since 1985. Currently, four men's teams (football, basketball, baseball and at large) and four women's teams (volleyball, basketball, softball and at large) are selected each year at the university (Divisions I-A and I-AA) and college (Divisions II and III) levels.

Swimming cut; interest lag, poor facilities cited

Citing an insufficient number of returning swimmers and an overall lagging interest in the sport, Shepherd College officials announced May 14 the suspension of swimming as a varsity sport.

"After carefully analyzing the situation, we recognized that certain areas in our swim program had to be addressed," said Mike Jacobs, Shepherd College athletics director.

"In looking at the program, we realized that there was a distinct possibility that we would only have two women and four men make up the nucleus of next year's team. There also was a lack of interest among next year's incoming freshmen. (Head coach) Rick Gibson also indicated that he did not wish to coach in the existing facility and recommended that the college suspend the swim program until such time that a new pool is built and there is renewed enthusiasm for the sport to retain its varsity status," said Jacobs.

The existing four-lane pool in Sara Cree Gymnasium has housed the swim teams since 1954.

"The situation gradually evolved to the point where there was a lack of interest among the swimmers, who didn't want to swim without a new facility," said Gibson, who completed his 14th year as head coach.

Conference won't use acronym to identify itself

Association of Mid-Continent Universities Commissioner Jerry A. Ippoliti has announced that the league's council of delegates has voted to stop using the acronym "AMCU."

The eight-year-old conference has used AMCU since its inception in 1982 but will now be referred to simply as the Mid-Continent Conference. The league's official name will remain the Association of Mid-Continent Universities.

"We feel the change and emphasis of the conference name as 'Mid-Continent' will simplify matters and establish a more distinct identity for the recognition of the conference," Ippoliti said.

Robert Morris men's basketball program placed on probation

I. Introduction.

This case originated with the college's discovery of possible violations in the men's basketball program. After initial contact with the NCAA enforcement staff, the college continued its inquiry and submitted a written report to the NCAA December 19, 1989. Although the majority of the reported violations occurred in the late 1970s and early 1980s, which is outside the NCAA's statute of limitations, one violation that led to a second occurred during the fall of 1986.

The enforcement staff originally considered that violation to be secondary in nature, but the NCAA Committee on Infractions member responsible for reviewing possible secondary violations determined that the full committee should review the case.

During its February 1990 meeting, the committee determined that the institution should appear before the committee in order to: (a) review individual and institutional responsibilities for the most recent violation; (b) discuss whether the college failed to establish appropriate institutional control as demonstrated by the college's findings of violation, and (c) determine whether the case should be classified as major.

The institution submitted its written response March 30, 1990, and appeared before the committee April 20, 1990. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Committee on Infractions deliberated in private, determined findings and penalties, and prepared this report.

This case primarily involves the arrangement of financial aid for one student-athlete in the sport of basketball in a manner not permitted by NCAA legislation. As a result of that violation, the college committed several additional violations. In this regard, during the 1985-86 academic year, the college recruited the prospect, who eventually was identified as a 2,000 partial qualifier. The young man desired to pay his own expenses at the college in order to retain four years of eligibility. With the assistance of the then director of athletics, the young man applied for a bank loan. When the bank required a cosigner, the then director of athletics arranged for a representative of the college's athletics interests who also is a member of the college's board of trustees to cosign without the young man being informed of this action.

This arrangement made the young man a recipient of improper athletically related financial aid and deprived him of a fourth year of eligibility at the college. The trustee also was unaware that his action was contrary to NCAA rules, having been assured by the then director of athletics that cosigning was permissible under NCAA legislation. Subsequently, during the summer of 1989, the trustee made three payments on the loan to protect his credit rating, thereby providing an additional extra benefit.

As a result, the young man's financial aid also should have counted as one of the institution's grants-in-aid for men's basketball. Further, the then director of athletics, having already permitted the men's head basketball coach to award aid to another student-athlete, thereby exceeded the grant limit of 15 for men's basketball for the 1986-87 academic year.

Additionally, the young man, although not allowed to practice or play with the team during the 1986-87 academic year, was permitted to receive meal money that was distributed to team members by the team manager after home games.

Due to some of the violations cited in this case, the young man participated in the 1989 and 1990 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championships while ineligible. In the fall of 1989, the institution self-reported the violations concerning the loan and the payments by the representative and appealed to the NCAA Eligibility Committee to restore the young man's eligibility. The college, the young man and the Eligibility Committee attempted to consider all outstanding eligibility issues in order for the young man to participate in NCAA championship play in 1990. However, the meal money issue was not identified as a matter that also would affect the young man's eligibility. If that issue had been treated, the matter would have been resolved and the use of an ineligible player in the 1990 tournament would have been prevented.

The committee determined that the college failed to provide adequate institutional control when it concentrated all athletics responsibilities in the hands of the then director of athletics, while providing no effective institutional checks and balances and while ignoring signs that suggested that this person had more responsibilities than he could handle.

The committee determined that the institution gained a substantial recruiting and competitive advantage and that, therefore, this case involved major violations of NCAA legislation, which are set forth in Part II of this report. Because these violations occurred after September 1, 1985, the committee's findings normally would subject the college to a minimum prescribed penalty for major violations, which would include at least: a two-year probationary period, elimination of expense-paid recruiting visits for at least one year, elimination of off-campus recruiting for at least one year, possible termination of the employment of all staff members who condoned the violations, the loss of postseason competition and television appearance opportunities for at least one year, and institutional recertification of compliance. Under the terms of the NCAA legislation that establishes minimum penalties for a major infractions case, however, the Committee on Infractions may impose lesser penalties if it determines that the case is "unique."

The Committee on Infractions determined that this case was unique and that the institution should receive penalties that differ from the full set of minimum penalties because: (a) the college detected and self-reported the violations; (b) the violations were limited in scope, and (c) the college, although somewhat belatedly, earnestly attempted in cooperation with the NCAA Eligibility Committee to resolve all issues concerning eligibility prior to the 1989-90 season.

Accordingly, the committee imposed the following penalties: a two-year period of probation, elimination of postseason competition in the sport of men's basketball after the 1990-91 season, elimination of opportunities to appear on live television during the 1990-91 season, a reduction of two grants-in-aid in men's basketball and the return of funds received from 1989 and 1990 NCAA tournament play. However, the committee will recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that the return of funds from the 1989 tournament be limited to those funds received by the institution after distribution within the conference and that no return of funds be required for the 1990 tournament.

II. Violations of NCAA legislation, as determined by committee.

A. [NCAA Bylaws 13.2.2, 16.12.2 and 16.12.3.6] In June, July and August 1989, a representative of the college's athletics interests who also is a member of the college's board of trustees paid $355 each month on a loan for a student-athlete in the sport of men's basketball. In this regard, in 1986, the then director of athletics arranged for the representative to cosign a promissory note of $6,200 for the young man in order for the student-athlete to obtain a loan to pay certain educational costs at the institution during the period he was classified as a partial qualifier; further, the loan was to be paid with Pell Grant funds and summer earnings that the young man was to receive during his residency in the college; further, Pell Grant funds, summer employment and the representative's payments were applied to the loan, leaving approximately $3,245 to be paid; further, the representative, in order to protect his credit rating, made several payments on the loan, and finally, the young man was unaware of the representative being a cosigner.

B. [NCAA Bylaws 15.02.3.1(c) and 15.5.2] As a result of the involvement of the then director of athletics and the representative of the college's athletics interests in Part II-A, the college exceeded the permissible number of grants-in-aid in the sport of men's basketball (i.e., 16 rather than 15) for the 1986-87 academic year.

C. [NCAA Bylaw 31.2.2.5] As a result of the finding set forth in Part II-A, the institution permitted an ineligible player to compete in the 1989 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship at a time when the institution should have known that the young man was ineligible.

D. [NCAA Bylaws 14.3.1 and 16.12.2] On several occasions during the 1986-87 academic year, while a student-athlete was a 2,000 partial qualifier under NCAA legislation and was paying his own costs for room, board, books and tuition in order to retain a fourth year of eligibility, the young man received meal money following the college's home basketball games that was distributed to members of the men's basketball team under arrangements permitted by NCAA legislation for the other team members, and, as a result of this violation, the institution permitted an ineligible player to participate in the 1990 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship.

E. [NCAA Bylaw 2.1] The institution demonstrated a lack of institutional control by concentrating all athletics responsibilities with the then director of athletics, including administration, compliance, rules interpretations and eligibility certification, while providing no effective institutional checks and balances that could detect violations on his part; further, the institution ignored signs that would have suggested that this person had greater responsibilities than he could handle.

III. Committee on Infractions penalties.

The Committee on Infractions has determined that as a result of these findings, the institution gained a substantial recruiting and competitive advantage and that, therefore, this case involved major violations of NCAA legislation, which are set forth in Part II of this report. Because this case involves major violations of NCAA legislation that occurred after September 1, 1985, NCAA Bylaw 19.4.2.2, as adopted by the NCAA membership, requires, "subject to exceptions authorized by the Committee on Infractions in unique cases on the basis of specifically stated reasons," minimum penalties that shall include: (a) a two-year probationary period (including a periodic, in-person monitoring system and written institutional reports); (b) the elimination of all expense-paid recruiting visits to the institution in the involved sport for one recruiting year; (c) a requirement that all coaching staff members in the sport be prohibited from engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities for one recruiting year; (d) a requirement that all institutional staff members determined by the Committee on Infractions knowingly to have engaged in or condoned a major violation be subject either to termination of employment, suspension without pay for at least one year or reassignment of duties within the institution to a position that does not include contact with prospective or enrolled student-athletes or representatives of the institution's athletics interests for at least one year; (e) one year of sanctions precluding postseason competition in the sport; (f) one year of sanctions precluding television appearances in the sport; and (g) institutional recertification that the current athletics policies and practices conform to all requirements of NCAA regulations.

The Committee on Infractions determined that this case was unique and that the institution should receive penalties that differ from the full set of minimum penalties otherwise required by NCAA legislation. The committee has determined that certain mitigating factors support the finding that this case is unique. These mitigating factors include the following:

a. The violations were detected and self-reported by the institution.

b. While the violations were serious and resulted in a substantial recruiting and competitive advantage, they were limited in scope.

c. The institution, although belatedly detecting the violations, earnestly attempted to work with the NCAA Eligibility Committee to regain the young man's eligibility by repayment of the improper loan funds.

Accordingly, the penalties imposed are as follows:

A. The college shall be publicly reprimanded and censured, and placed on probation for a period of two years from the date these penalties are imposed, which shall be the date the 15-day appeal period expires or the date the institution notifies the executive director that it will not appeal, whichever is earlier, or the date established by NCAA Council subcommittee action in the event of an appeal, it being understood that should any portion of any of the penalties in this case be set aside for any reason other than by appropriate action of the Association, the penalties shall be reconsidered by the Committee on Infractions. Further, Robert Morris College shall be subject to the provisions of NCAA Bylaw 19.4.2.3 concerning repeat violators for a five-year period beginning on the effective date of the penalties in this case.

B. During the period of probation, the institution shall report in writing to the NCAA enforcement staff and to the Committee on Infractions prior to July 1, 1991, and July 1, 1992, the actions it has taken to: (1) ensure that its intercollegiate athletics program in general and its men's basketball program in particular conform to appropriate institutional control principles, and (2) provide a system of checks and balances within the college and the athletics department to ensure compliance with NCAA legislation through use of its internal audit program, the institutional athletics board and a more direct involvement in compliance and rules interpretations by the faculty athletics representative.

C. The institution's men's basketball team shall end its 1990-91 season with the playing of its last regularly scheduled, in-season contest and shall not be eligible to participate in any postseason competition following that season. In addition, the men's basketball team may not participate in a foreign tour in the summer of 1990; further, the men's basketball team may not play any of its regular-season contests outside the continental United States during the 1990-91 academic year. Moreover, the men's basketball team shall not participate during the 1990-91 academic year in any preseason contests [reference: NCAA Bylaws 17.3.3.1 and 17.3.5.4].

D. The institution's men's basketball team shall be prohibited from appearing on any live telecast (as defined by Bylaw 19.4.2.5.2) during the 1990-91 academic year.

E. The institution shall be prohibited from providing any expense-paid visits to the institution for prospective student-athletes in the sport of men's basketball during the period August 1, 1990, to July 31, 1991. [Note: This penalty is immediately and completely suspended based upon the mitigating factors set forth above.]

F. The institution shall be prohibited from all off-campus recruiting activities in the sport of men's basketball for the period August 1, 1990, to July 31, 1991. [Note: This penalty is immediately and completely suspended based upon the mitigating factors set forth above.]

G. During the 1991-92 academic year, the institution shall award no more than two initial athletically related financial aid awards to student-athletes in the sport of men's basketball in addition to those specifically identified on the squad list of May 2, 1990, which includes two new recruits for the 1990-91 academic year to be identified to the committee at the time these penalties become effective.

H. The college would have been required to show cause why it should not have been subject to additional penalties if the former director of athletics involved in these violations had remained at the college.

I. The committee has found that a student-athlete represented the college in the 1989 and 1990 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championships while ineligible. Therefore, under the terms of Bylaw 31.2.2.4, the records of the individual's and the team's performances in these championships shall be deleted, and the team's place finishes in the final standings shall be vacated. Additionally, under the terms of Bylaws 19.4.2.1(k) and 31.2.2.5, the Committee on Infractions and the NCAA Executive Committee shall consider whether the institution should be required to return up to 90 percent of the net receipts earned by the college in that event.

Due to the mitigating factors set forth in other portions of this report, the Committee on Infractions will recommend to the Executive Committee that the institution be required to return the college's share of receipts after distributions to the Northeast Conference office and other institutions in that conference for 1989 (this net share totals $88,145); further, that the institution be permitted to retain the funds it received from the 1990 tournament because of the college's earnest efforts in November 1989 to resolve all outstanding eligibility matters.

J. The institution shall be required to conduct a recertification of all its current athletics policies and practices to ensure their conformity with all requirements of NCAA legislation.

[Note: Should Robert Morris College appeal either the findings of violations or proposed penalties in this case to the NCAA Council subcommittee of Division I members, the Committee on Infractions will submit an expanded infractions report to the members of the Council who will consider the appeal. This expanded report will include additional information in accordance with Bylaw 32.8.5. A copy of the committee's report would be provided to the institution prior to the institution's appearance before the Council subcommittee and, as required by Bylaw 32.8.6, would be released to the public.]

Also, the Committee on Infractions wishes to advise the institution that when the penalties in this case become effective, the institution should take every precaution to ensure that their terms are observed; further, the committee intends to monitor the penalties during their effective periods, and any action contrary to the terms of any of the penalties shall be considered grounds for extending the institution's probationary period, as well as to consider imposing more severe sanctions in this case, and finally, should any actions by NCAA Conventions directly or indirectly modify any provision of these penalties or the effect of the penalties, the committee reserves the right to review and reconsider the penalties.]

ON INFRACTIONS

Adelphi will join NYCAC

Robert E. Hartwell, director of athletics at Adelphi University, has announced that the school's men's basketball program will join the New York Collegiate Athletic Conference, effective immediately. For the past seven years, Adelphi competed in the Mideast Collegiate Conference.

The men's basketball team joins the university's women's tennis, women's basketball and baseball teams as members of the NYCAC.

"By joining the NYCAC, we hope to reestablish local rivalries, generate greater fan support and interest and decrease the amount of time our student-athletes will be away from school," Hartwell said.

"In addition, we feel the members of the NYCAC have very similar athletics philosophies, and there is great strength in playing in a multi-

Coach provides track endowment

Eastern Illinois University men's track coach Neil Moore and his wife, Shirley, have announced they are providing an endowment for the men's track program.

The endowment will assist primarily with scholarship aid for student-athletes competing in men's track.

Moore is in his 16th year as head track coach and eighth as head cross country coach. He has been a member of Eastern's faculty since 1970. His track squads have won a combined seven indoor and outdoor conference championships; he's produced 53 all-Americans and has a 93-37 won-lost record.

Moore has been chosen Association of Mid-Continent Universities coach of the year six times.

Mrs. Moore, a professor in the department of psychology, also joined the faculty in 1970. She is dean of academic development.

Water polo cut; scheduling cited

The University of North Carolina, Wilmington, has discontinued men's water polo because of scheduling difficulties.

"Getting a schedule is almost impossible," said William J. Brooks, director of athletics. "We had difficulty in getting home games, and we needed to concentrate on our conference (Colonial Athletic Association) sports."

The CAA does not sponsor water polo.

faceted athletics conference. In a sense, it is a return home to a conference where most of our other programs compete.

"We have enjoyed tremendously our relationship with the Mideast Collegiate Conference schools," Hartwell continued. "We thank them for the competition over the years and wish them the very best."

"I'm very excited about the move to the NYCAC," said head men's basketball coach Jim O'Connor. "It's a very strong conference, and we hope to earn NCAA and ECAC bids as other members have in the past. We believe we can make the conference even stronger and more competitive."

"We welcome Adelphi University's decision to join the conference," said Richard Wettan, commissioner of the NYCAC. "The formation of a Division II multisport conference was an important step forward for college athletics programs in the New York metropolitan area. The conference has gained strength and acceptance quickly. The great renewal of rivalries among our institutions could only be enhanced by the addition of Adelphi."

Adelphi joins Queens College; Long Island University-C. W. Post Campus; New York Institute of Technology; Mercy College; Concordia College (New York), and Southampton Campus of Long Island University as conference members in men's basketball.
