Recruiting Committee favors sport-specific rules

The NCAA Recruiting Committee expressed clear support for the development of sport-specific legislation at its May 12-13 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri.

The Legislative Review Committee had asked the Recruiting Committee to identify specific areas in Bylaw 13 that could be amended to change the blanket approach the Association takes to many of the recruiting rules.

It has been suggested that different rules are needed for different kinds of sports; the more restrictive rules to govern sports such as football and men's basketball might not be appropriate for volleyball, for instance.

To gain more specific information on what changes might be effective, the Recruiting Committee wants to ask various coaches associations for ideas relative to their sports. The committee in turn could make recommendations to the NCAA Council based upon those ideas.

The Recruiting Committee already is formulating legislative recommendations based upon an NCAA-initiated meeting of Division I coaches. In that April 28 session, Division I coaches in football, men's and women's basketball, other team sports, and individual sports met to discuss possible legislation. Some suggestions made at that meeting will be forwarded to the Council for consideration at its August meeting.

NCAA Executive Director Richard D. Schultz has endorsed sport-specific rules, especially in areas such as recruiting, and mentioned the possibility of implementing them during his address to the 1992 NCAA Convention.

The committee also reviewed areas that could be part of a certification process for summer basketball camps. The 1992 Convention, in Proposal No. 141-1, asked the committee to devise a certification process in response to concerns about the legitimacy of some of the camps.

Areas that received attention include the location of the camp, restrictions on spectators, fees, the nature of the participants, employment of college coaches and the use of college players, and benefits for coaches and players.

The committee probably will recommend that summer camps be required to include a personal-growth component (for example, the players might attend a session about AIDS education or they might be required to attend a session explaining pertinent NCAA rules).

Developmental opportunities for game officials and trainers also are being explored.

Regarding summer basketball leagues, the committee expressed a desire for increased disclosure of information. As an example, some summer basketball leagues have a duration of only three days, which may call into question whether such an enterprise is actually a league.

The committee also considered a group of recommendations from the Two-Year College Relations Committee and the Communications Committee and began to develop guidelines for appeals in the coaches certification program.

First public release of graduation rates scheduled for June

The first public release of Division I member institutions' graduation rates resulting from recently adopted NCAA and Federal legislation is scheduled for late June, according to plans developed by an NCAA special committee.

The NCAA Special Advisory Committee to Review Implementation of 1990 Convention Proposal No. 24, meeting May 11-12 in Dallas, reviewed plans to distribute two documents to each Division I member institution and conference in conjunction with that release:

- A two-page report summarizing the specific institution's graduation-rate information.

- A book compiling graduation-rate data for each individual Division I member institution.

Within days of distributing that information to institutions, a news conference will be scheduled by Association officials to announce the availability of the documents to the public.

Release of the data is the culmination of a process that began with the adoption of 1990 Convention Proposal No. 24, which required Divisions I and II institutions to report graduation-rate data to the Association.

Data to be published by the Association are similar to data that must be reported to the Department of Education beginning on July 1, 1993, pursuant to the Federal Student Right to Know Act.

The reports

The two-page summary report that will be distributed to Division I institutions is for use in reporting graduation-rate data to prospective student-athletes and others designated by the NCAA and Federal legislation.

"That's the document that institutions are obligated to provide to prospects and to the prospects' parents, guidance offices, and high-school and junior college coaches under Bylaw 13.3.1.2," said Daniel T. Dutcher, NCAA director of legislative services and a staff liaison to the special committee.

Growth of Convention requires new approach

The NCAA Convention has grown dramatically in the last 20 years, and the increase in the number of delegates is posing problems that will require a change in the way the Association approaches the annual event, according to a report to the NCAA Executive Committee.

In 1972, 738 persons registered for the event. In 1982, the number was up 78 percent to 1,315, and by 1992, it increased another 74 percent to 2,282. At that rate, said Associate Executive Director Louis J. Spry, the number of delegates will exceed 3,000 by the turn of the century.

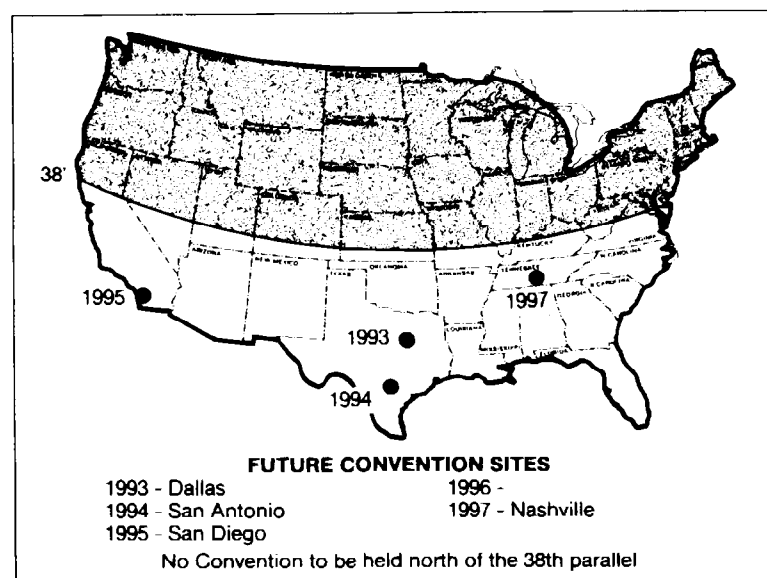

Of the hotels that meet the Association's current criteria to host a Convention, only the Opryland Hotel in Nashville, Tennessee, can conduct the event without using a nearby convention center or auxiliary hotels.

The Executive Committee awarded the 1997 Convention to Nashville at its May 3-5 meeting in Tucson, Arizona. It also chose San Antonio for the 1994 event and San Diego for 1995.

Delegates to the last three Conventions have been surveyed about their preferences for the annual meeting. A key question involved whether they preferred the traditional "classroom seating" arrangement employed in the business sessions. Those attending the 1992 event said they did prefer such seating (72.6 percent).

Spry said the practical effect of that preference is that many hotels that otherwise might be suitable cannot handle the largest meetings, particularly the general business session, in which all delegates are assembled in one room.

Because of that, the Executive Committee has granted convention management's request to develop "Convention complexes" that may involve conducting meetings at a convention center, a headquarters hotel (the facility with the most sleeping rooms and the largest ball-

Ice hockey officiating may change

Acting on the belief that the game has gone beyond the one-referee/two-linesmen officiating system, the NCAA Men's Ice Hockey Rules Committee voted to recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that only the two-referee/one-linesman officiating system be allowed for intercollegiate ice hockey beginning in 1993-94.

Under the proposal, the one-referee/two-linesmen and two-referee systems that currently are allowable would be eliminated.

At its May 12-15 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, the committee prefaced its vote by agreeing that the game has become "too fast and too difficult for one referee to officiate at one time." The committee believed that the coverage of the ice surface by two referees would greatly enhance the way the game is officiated.

"I think it is best for college hockey, but the committee will investigate and prepare a report in regard to the financial impact involved," said Sidney J. Watson,

Points of emphasis for 1992-93

In other action at its May 12-15 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, the NCAA Men's Ice Hockey Rules Committee directed its attention to the following existing rules and situations:

1. Interference (Rule 6-24): A minor penalty must be imposed on a player who interferes with or impedes the progress of an opponent who is not in possession of the puck.

NOTE: Officials must penalize any player who deliberately forces an opponent offside, impedes or seeks to impede the progress of an opponent by hooking with the stick (Rule 6-22-a) or holds the stick (automatic penalty) or any piece of equipment or clothing with the hand or arm (Rule 6-21).

2. Hitting From Behind (Rule 6-26): A major or disqualification penalty must be imposed on a player who hits an opponent from behind into the sideboards, end boards or goal cage.

3. Face-offs (Rule 6-12): All face-off procedures must be strictly enforced, including imposing minor penalties on players for encroachment with sticks and/or skates into the face-off circles or into the area between the face-off parallel lines extended.

4. Player conduct (Rule 6-1): A misconduct penalty must be imposed on any player who uses abusive language or shows disrespect to other players, officials or fans. A game misconduct penalty must be imposed on any player who persists with these actions.

5. Deliberately falling to the ice: Referees will use the wash-out signal to indicate that they have observed a player deliberately falling to the ice in an attempt to draw a penalty against an opponent.

chair of the committee and director of athletics at Bowdoin College.

In Division I, where the one-referee/two-linesmen has been the preferred choice of officiating systems, three of the four conferences are considering a change to the two-referee/one-linesman system for 1992-93. Currently, three of the four Division III hockey conferences use the two-referee/one-linesman system.

More even-strength action goal of rules committee

In an effort to provide more even-strength competition, the NCAA Men's Ice Hockey Rules Committee voted to allow immediate substitutions for an equal number of coincidental minor (Rule 4-2-e) and coincidental major (Rule 4-3-b) penalties of equal duration to each team so penalized.

When coincidental minor or coincidental major penalties are assessed against players of both teams, "the penalized players shall take their place on the penalty bench and such penalized players shall not leave the penalty bench until the first stoppage of play following the expiration of their respective penalties."

"The coincidental-penalty situation was a major concern to the coaches in Florida (at the American Hockey Coaches Association meeting), and I believe we have resolved the situation," said Sidney J. Watson, chair of the committee and director of athletics at Bowdoin College. "The coaches didn't like the two-man down situation. It is their feeling that the game is meant to be played as close to even-strength as possible."

The committee also cracked down on the face-off (Rule 6-12-a), so that no player will be allowed to have the stick or skates (on or off the ice) inside the face-off circle, to be beyond the parallel face-off lines extended or to come within 15 feet of the players facing off the puck. If a violation occurs, "the official shall order the individual(s) replaced for that face-off by any teammate then on the ice."

"The face-off has been a constant concern of the rules committee over the last three to four years, and I hope that we have started a process that will eliminate the activity inside the face-off circle," Watson said. "If this rule change is successful, it will be great for the game."

The committee voted to change the wording in the note to Rule 3-4-b to read: "It is recommended that players, including goalkeepers, wear only a HECC-approved hockey helmet."

Other rules changes and administrative items approved for 1992-93:

• Rule 1-3 was amended to read: "The goal posts shall be affixed in the ice or floor with a release-type fixture."

• Rule 1-4(b) was added so that it is required that the goal-crease area be painted light blue.

• Rule 2-5-h was revised to read: "If, in the last two minutes of regulation time or any time during overtime, there is deliberate illegal substitution (too many men on the ice), a penalty shot/optional minor shall be awarded against the offending team. No additional penalty shall be assessed."

• Rule 4-5-c was revised so the team of a disqualified player(s) shall be allowed to dress a substitute player or players (equal to the number of disqualified players) in the next scheduled game.

• Rule 6-6(b) was added so that a major or minor penalty, at the discretion of the referee, shall be imposed on a player who charges or otherwise fouls a goalkeeper while the goalkeeper is within the goal crease or privileged area.

• Rule 6-9(e) was altered to read: "If a minor penalty for deliberately displacing a goal, or for the goalkeeper deliberately removing the helmet/facemask during play, is assessed with less than two minutes remaining in regulation, or at any time during overtime, the penalty shot/optional minor shall be assessed against the offending team."

• The note to Rule 6-30(b) was revised so that a reference point is required for the imaginary lines. A red line 2 inches by 1 foot shall be placed at the top of the boards indicating the imaginary line connecting the top of the face-off circles.

• The committee altered Rule 6-43(a)-1 so that a two-minute intermission will precede an overtime period.

• Because teams no longer change ends of the rink after a 10-minute overtime period, the committee voted to alter the language of Rule 6-44 as follows: "Where advancement in a bracket or the determination of a tournament champion is necessary, any series in a format (e.g., total-goals series, single game, mini-game series) that results in a tie will be broken by 20-minute, sudden-death overtime periods. The ice shall be resurfaced upon completion of regulation play. The teams shall not change ends (except as indicated in Rule 6-41-b). Third-place games may follow the overtime procedures as described in rule 6-43."

Summer basketball and state games

Player limitations

NCAA Divisions I and II member institutions should note that in accordance with NCAA Bylaw 13.14(e)-(1), all Divisions I and II players must limit their summer basketball competition to one team in one NCAA sanctioned league. Each team may include on its roster not more than one player with intercollegiate basketball eligibility remaining from any two- or four-year college.

Per Bylaw 14.8.5.2(b), there are no restrictions on the participation of Division III student-athletes in outside basketball competition during the summer. Please note that if a student-athlete (two- or four-year college student) is transferring and has been officially accepted for enrollment in a second institution, and the previous institution certifies that the student has withdrawn and does not intend to return to that institution for the next term, the student-athlete would be countable on the summer-league roster as a representative of the second institution. Under such circumstances, written permission to participate in the Finally, basketball student-athletes from Divisions I, II and III institutions may participate in state or national multisport events sanctioned by the NCAA; however, not more than two student-athletes from the same Division I or II institution may participate on the same team. There are no restrictions on the number of student-athletes from a Division III institution who may compete on the same team in state or national multisport basketball competition.

Summer foreign tours

Member institutions should note that in accordance with Bylaw 30.7, a member institution may participate in a foreign tour in any sport (see Bylaw 17.23), provided the institution meets the conditions specified in the bylaw. The institution does not need to have the foreign tour sanctioned by the NCAA Council; rather, the institution must certify in writing that the conditions set forth in Bylaw 30.7 are met and must maintain the certification on file in the athletics department.

Further, only student-athletes who were eligible for intercollegiate competition during the previous academic year would be permitted to participate in an institution's sanctioned summer league must be obtained from the member institution to which the student-athlete is transferring.

summer foreign tour. During its August 22-23, 1990, meeting, the Interpretations Committee reviewed Bylaw 30.7.2(a) (eligibility of student-athlete to participate on institution's summer foreign tour) and determined that a nonqualifier, partial qualifier or transfer student serving a residence requirement would be precluded from participating on an institution's summer foreign tour during the summer following the student-athlete's first year of residence, inasmuch as the student-athlete would not have been eligible for intercollegiate competition during the previous academic year.

Foreign tours that are conducted by a conference or other outside organization may include student-athletes from more than one member institution and must be sanctioned by the Council per Bylaw 17.23.2. Please note that approval of such participation in the sport of basketball is required regardless of the number of student-athletes involved.

If an institution has a question it would like to have answered in this column, the question should be directed to Nancy L. Mitchell, assistant executive director for legislative services, at the NCAA national office.

Committee reviews several options in way financial aid is awarded

Several new options for awarding financial aid to student-athletes were considered at a special meeting of the NCAA Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism May 13-14 in Atlanta.

The primary purpose of the meeting was for the committee to begin an examination of issues related to the Presidents Commission's pending study of financial conditions and issues in intercollegiate athletics.

At its February 24-25 meeting, the financial aid committee created a list of approximately 15 new options for financial aid. At the May meeting, members expanded that list and then reduced it to a smaller group of alternative approaches.

Among those concepts are basing financial aid on need in all sports, permitting grants for tuition and fees but basing other aid on need, and somehow relating aid to graduation rates. Other potential options were discussed, although they were not as clearly defined.

Selected committee members were assigned concepts and were asked to develop models for each option to be considered at the group's next meeting, currently scheduled September 16-17.

In evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of each option, the committee developed a list of nine broad principles or objectives to use as a guide. Those principles include gender equity, cost reduction, competitive equity, standardization, simplification, effect on needy student-athletes, amateurism vs. professionalism considerations, integrity (especially as it involves ethical treatment for the student-athlete), and preservation of athletics opportunities for the student-athlete.

In a related matter, the Presidents

Commission agreed at its April 1-2 meeting to appoint a broad-based, multiconstituent special committee to study financial issues in college athletics.

Commission chair Gregory M. St. L. O'Brien, chancellor of the University of New Orleans, said the special committee will examine financial conditions and trends in both college athletics and higher education, financial aid for student-athletes (specifically including a system of need-based financial aid), and the influence of funding from noninstitutional sources such as booster groups and television.

The presidents' timetable calls for a financial aid package to be considered at the 1994 NCAA Convention. From June 1992 to June 1993, those committees involved in the process are to study the issues and develop appropriate legislation.

Big Ten approves gender-equity plan

Big Ten Conference faculty representatives recommended May 12 that females constitute at least 40 percent of intercollegiate athletics participants from that conference by August 1, 1997.

The Big Ten Council of Presidents will consider the recommendation at a June 7-8 meeting. If that body approves the proposal, it will become a condition of membership for the league's 11 members.

"This vote should be seen in the general context of the reform movement with intercollegiate athletics and in terms of what will undoubtedly be the restructuring of the traditional model of intercollegiate athletics," Commissioner James E. Delany said. "We believe that as a result of this action, opportunities for women athletes will be increased."

"This is a historic moment in the Big Ten," said Cyrena Pondrum, senior woman administrator at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. "The conference has rallied around a proposal that will assure in five years time that 60 percent of the participants in intercollegiate athletics are male and 40 percent of the participants are female. This represents an important development for the participation of women in intercollegiate athletics."

The faculty representatives also voted to suspend for a four-year period beginning August 1, 1993, the conference's rule that prohibits a junior college transfer who was a partial or nonqualifier out of high school from immediate participation in Big Ten athletics if he or she is otherwise eligible. This change was initiated because of the more stringent NCAA academic-progress rules passed at the 1992 NCAA Convention.

Drug-education workshop draws 90

About 90 representatives of NCAA member institutions recently attended a regional workshop in Washington, D.C., that promoted the development of innovative drug-education and student-assistance programs for student-athletes.

The workshop, "Program Planning for the 1990s: An Athletics Department Model for the Prevention of Alcohol and Other Drug-Use Problems Among Student-Athletes," was sponsored by the NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports.

Roger Svendsen and Tom Griffin of the Minnesota Institute of Public Health led the April 23-24 workshop.

Attending the workshop were directors of athletics, associate athletics directors, trainers, team physicians, sports-medicine directors, health-services personnel and coaches.

The workshop was the only one of its kind offered this year, but other sessions probably will be offered during the 1992-93 academic year.

Kris Gould (center), athletics trainer at Gallaudet University, uses sign language to communicate with other participants in a group discussion during a recent regional drug-education workshop in Washington, D.C.

Nine NCAA tourney teams in Preseason NIT

Indiana University, Bloomington, and the University of California, Los Angeles, which met for the West regional title in the NCAA tournament last month, are among the 16 teams selected to play in the 1992 preseason NIT in New York.

In addition to the Hoosiers and Bruins, seven other NCAA tournament teams—Seton Hall University, Murray State University, Florida State University, the University of Delaware, the University of Texas-

El Paso, Tulane University and Iowa State University are in the field. Rutgers was the only team invited that played in the postseason NIT last month. Also chosen were Wagner College, Siena College, George Mason University, St. Louis University, Auburn University and Indiana State University.

The pairings will be announced later, but the first-round games will be played at campus sites November 18 and 19. The second round will again be at campus sites November 20 and 21. The semifinals are set for Madison Square Garden November 25, and the championship game is scheduled for November 27.

The Preseason NIT, the Tipoff Classic (the University of Connecticut vs. Purdue University) and the Great Alaska Shootout will be the only Division I games played before December 1 because legislation limiting the length of the season takes effect this year.

Other highlights

In other actions at its May 13-14 meeting in Atlanta, the NCAA Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism:

- Reviewed a recommendation from the NCAA Committee on Review and Planning to begin the Presidents Commission's study of financial aid issues immediately. That committee reported that it foresees continuing major financial problems for colleges and universities and believes it likely that some form of need-based aid eventually will be the rule in all NCAA membership divisions.

- Reviewed two recommendations from the Knight Foundation Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics. The first was a recommendation that athletics grants be for five years rather than the one-year, renewable approach now in effect. After review, the committee voted to table the matter until its next meeting. The second was for athletics grants to cover the full cost of attendance for the very needy (tuition, room and board, books and fees currently are covered; the Knight plan probably would permit personal and miscellaneous expenses for those in need).

- Decided not to pursue at this time resubmission of a modified version of 1992 Convention Proposal No. 72 for the 1993 NCAA Convention in order to develop a compromise proposal acceptable to parties on both sides of the issue. The financial aid committee had asked the Council to resubmit the proposal without change at the next Convention, but the Council declined the request at its April meeting, instead asking the committee to develop a compromise version. The legislation pertains to Division I financial aid minimums that are required as a new membership requirement.

Concern growing for high-school administrators

Administrators at the National Inter-scholastic Athletic Administrators Association convention participated in a round-table discussion about the major issues involving high-school athletics. Much of what they discussed could have ramifications for college athletics.

How is the current financial crisis affecting your program?

Bob Buckanvage, Fallington, Pennsylvania: We are under more scrutiny in terms of what our programs are about. We're being held more accountable for what we're doing. Because of the squeeze on the tax dollar, athletics has been scrutinized.

"The pay-to-play trend that has begun to sweep some segments of our state as well as our country raises a lot of issues and a lot of concerns that I think get into the constitutionality of education. I think it is going to create major headaches for athletics administrators, for parents, for coaches and for school boards.

"I've seen significant budget cuts in neighboring school districts. In my own particular district, for the first time in 17 years that I've been directly involved in a very comprehensive and extensive budget process, athletics has really come under the gun. I'm uncomfortable with the message that is being sent by our boards of education...."

Michael Miello, Franklin Lakes, New Jersey: "Last year, for the first time in 14 or 15 years, our budget was defeated by the communities. If that happens again, we've been put on notice that it will have a direct effect on our athletics programs.

"I think this is almost, in today's economic times, something that we have to realistically prepare for. What really scares the people involved in athletics is where the cuts will take place. Will it be on the subvarsity level? Will it be particular programs that are cut? The biggest fear I have is who is going to make the call. I would like to think the athletics director and his staff would, but I've been around long enough to know that I don't think that's a reality...."

Judy Cameron, Las Vegas, Nevada: "We did get a hit a number of years ago, and the first thing the district cut was the athletics program.... It was a board-action item. The first thing that went was the junior high program. That was devastating to our total athletics program when it happened. I think that's the thing that most of you don't want to see happen in your areas...."

What are the major issues you expect to face as athletics administrators?

Tom Westbrook, Altus, Oklahoma: "I think a major problem in our area is lack of participation or loss of participation. In my district, this is not a major problem, but we play schools where 22 (football players) are on the sidelines. We'll go into basketball games, and they'll have eight or nine in the program. I don't know where all the kids are going, but we've got to do something to stop the exodus from athletics...."

Cameron: "One of the things that's happening that we're going to have to take a look at down the road is the increase in community-based programs in athletics. They've had a direct effect on our kids. You have kids who can go out and they travel all over the country, some of them all over the world, and we come back and give them a high-school program that stays, basically, in the community. I think that's something that we're going to have to take a look at. That's a definite problem for us down the road...."

Miello: "A problem that we see growing each and every year that touches all of these areas is forcing youngsters to become 12-month-a-year specialists in their sports. We're just starting to address this now on our league level. I think that may be why we're losing participants. We're not losing students, but we're losing the two- and three-sport athlete to one sport.

"I think pressure is coming from certain coaches or peer groups that are directing the kid that he must play in off-season programs. It is made obvious that if he doesn't, he's failing some of the other players. This is a travesty. It's taking away the opportunity for that youngster to have the total athletics involvement that he should have during high school."

Opinions

Make your fears become determination

Derek Smith, basketball player
University of Louisville

The Louisville Courier-Journal

Smith graduated from the University of Louisville May 17. He left Louisville 10 years ago to pursue a professional career, from which he retired last year. He finished his degree requirements this spring.

"When I was a freshman, every night when I said my prayers, I prayed I wouldn't flunk out. When I left home, everybody told me I couldn't do the work and that I'd be back home in a year and a half. I prayed I could prove them wrong....

"I was scared to death. I didn't have any examples to build on of people who had left Hogsansville (Georgia) and succeeded in college. Every example I knew was somebody who had gone away and come home quickly. I prayed an awful lot that year....

"(Getting the degree) is better than winning a national championship because it's an individual thing. I don't have to share the headlines with Wiley (Brown) or anybody else.

"There is no way that we can afford to damage our football program. The men can put on one event and draw 70,000 people, and the women will never have that here in my lifetime.

"No one wants to hurt our football program — least of all me after the support the men have given our women's program. I hope all football coaches know that we have their welfare in our hearts."

Max Urlick, director of athletics

"No one wants to drop programs, and everyone wants to provide the same opportunities for women that the men have. But you can see what we're up against. What it boils down to is, whose hide is (gender equity) going to come out of? How are we going to finance it?"

Percy Bates, faculty athletics representative
University of Michigan

Des Moines Register

"We are studying all aspects of (gender equity) very carefully. In principle, we certainly support the concept of gender equity.

"But we are trying to figure out how it can be implemented at Michigan. Do we add women's sports or eliminate men's sports and, no matter what we do, what will it cost? We are very concerned about how this can be done."

Comments made in dismissing a $1.35 million suit by Syracuse University basketball player Conrad McRae against the NCAA over a four-game suspension:

"Any (NCAA) duty is to the general class of athletes and not to any specific individual. The right to litigate by each non-(NCAA) member student-athlete would frustrate the procedures the NCAA members have adopted by subjecting the NCAA's enforcement actions to repeated judicial interventions and rendering them more costly and ultimately ineffectual."

Eugene F. Corrigan, commissioner
Atlantic Coast Conference

USA Today

"When football is excluded, we're already in compliance with gender equity today: We have roughly 50 percent female athletes. And our women's programs are very successful. Like our men's programs, they win national championships.

"However, from what I'm told, football is not going to be excluded in the matter of gender equity, even though the numbers who compete in it are so large and despite the fact there is no football for women....

"Our member institutions differ, but — roughly speaking ACC schools have 12 men's sports and 10 women's. One solution might be reversing that in the next few years — maybe we'll have 12 women's sports and 10 men's, to make up for the difference football makes.

"No one wants to drop men's sports to achieve gender equity, but we live in an environment of declining revenues. I think finances, like gender equity, is an issue we will grapple with in the years ahead."

Sports can bring all races together

The following is excerpted from a column by Dan Shaughnessy of The Boston Globe.

Tom Sanders, who is black, played 13 NBA seasons, starting in 1960. Today he works in the NBA office as director of community and player programs.

"In pro sports, people come together for a particular purpose and the purpose is a pretty common one," said Sanders. "The athletes attempt to maximize their skills to reach a goal and maximize their earning power.

"The obvious is there. Clearly, there are racial differences. People look different. But does it make a difference? No, it doesn't make a difference. Everybody's got an equal shot at getting the most out of themselves. The playing field is level. All you have to do is take the rest of the world and find a way to make that playing field as level as it is most times in professional sports."

Is infantry like this? Are fire fighters color-blind? Musicians, perhaps? Are there professions in which people are thrown together with a common goal and stop seeing things in black and white?

I don't know. But I believe pro sports comes close to achieving this state. Being white or black ceases to be so important. People are people. The good, the bad and the ugly.

I hope Darryl Strawberry stands up next to Orel Hersher. I hope Michael Jordan stands up next to Larry Bird. They could ask people to stop hating and fearing that which they do not know. They could speak out.

Most of the stuff about pro-athletes-as-role-models is bunk, but not in the sensitive areas of race relations. This is one time we can look up to the pro ball players and respect them for their actions.

More efficient compliance-review process now in place

NCAA member institutions seeking extra support in the evaluation of their compliance programs have assistance on call from NCAA national office staff.

NCAA compliance services personnel, now a branch within the newly organized membership services group, began offering institutions a compliance-review service in 1986 as a supplemental self-study exercise.

In the six years of its existence, the compliance review has been refined to operate more smoothly, largely through the development of a procedures manual and the addition of more experienced compliance representatives. This has resulted in a more streamlined program, which has reduced the waiting period some institutions previously endured before a staff member could arrange an on-campus visit.

"We are encouraging requests from the membership for our services," said David A. Knopp, NCAA director of compliance services. "During the first couple of years, institutions routinely had to wait six to eight months. Now, we can schedule a review to begin within a couple of months of a request."

"In addition to having eliminated the backlog of requests, we also have proceduralized the system quite a bit to the point that the time frame for a typical review is now eight to 10 weeks, start to finish."

The program works this way: A formal request for a compliance review is made by an institution's chief executive officer. Once the review is scheduled and assigned to a compliance representative, a needs-assessment questionnaire is completed by telephone. Materials submitted by the CEO are reviewed before the first campus visit.

A two- to three-day on-campus visit is then made during which an NCAA compliance representative interviews 15 to 20 individuals involved in the institution's compliance program. This group includes the CEO; athletics administrators; coaches; administrators from financial aid, admissions and registrar's offices; student-athletes, and board of trustees members and athletics boosters, as available.

A confidential report summarizing the observations of the visit and evaluating strengths and concerns in the existing compliance program is then forwarded to the CEO. A second visit is scheduled two to three weeks later to address identified areas of enhancement.

"We call it a discussion visit," Knopp said. "At that time we meet in group sessions with some of the people we interviewed during the first visit to talk about potential enhancements and assist those institutional personnel in mapping out the institution's procedures in key compliance areas."

"We offer alternatives for the institution to consider to reduce its vulnerability to inadvertent or intentional rules violations. But the institution decides what actions to take in order to tailor-make solutions that fit its situation."

Knopp said the reviews offer no clear-cut answers for assembling a faultless compliance system. Even with a most effective compliance system in place, violations still may occur, he said.

"Institutions cannot always stop people from breaking the rules—if that's what they choose to do," he said. "Our services are designed to help put the institution in a position to detect the violation early, to act decisively, and to demonstrate that its policies and procedures are characteristic of institutional control and integrity."

Institutional and/or conference representatives interested in receiving more information about compliance reviews or in scheduling a review should contact Knopp or John H. Leavens, assistant executive director for compliance services, at: The NCAA, 6201 College Boulevard, Overland Park, Kansas 66211-2422, telephone 913/339-1906.

Compliance briefs

General Information

NCAA Compliance Assistant software program:

A new version of the NCAA Compliance Assistant software program (Version 2.02) will be distributed early in June to provide users with the revised NCAA Squad List form that will be used for the 1992-93 academic year.

Specifically, new columns have been added to the squad list to track the term a student-athlete first enrolled at the certifying institution, as well as changes in status of student-athletes who initially appear on the squad list and whose status changes (quit the team, eligibility expired, medical exception granted because of a career-ending injury or condition) during the academic year. NCAA legislation and bylaw references also will be updated.

The Compliance Assistant software program (including update versions as they are developed) is available to Division I member institutions at no cost. The program may be ordered by contacting the NCAA compliance services staff.

Graduation-Rates Disclosure Form: The 1991-92 NCAA Division I Graduation-Rates Reports recently were mailed to Division I chief executive officers for verification of information reported on the 1991-92 Graduation-Rates Disclosure Form (91-6).

Upon return of the signed verification, the official copy of the graduation-rates reports will be printed and forwarded to chief executive officers, faculty athletics representatives, athletics director and senior women administrators at Division I institutions for distribution during the 1992-93 recruiting year to prospects, prospects' parents, guidance offices, and prospects' high-school and two-year college coaches, according to NCAA Bylaw 13.3.1.2.

Upcoming meetings

Attention: financial aid administrators. Representatives from the NCAA compliance services and legislative services staffs will be participating in the following June regional association meeting: Western Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, Los Angeles June 7-9, 1992.

Black Coaches Association (BCA). Representatives from the NCAA membership services staff will be involved in the BCA national convention. The meeting, which will include a discussion on the coaches certification program, will be conducted in Atlanta May 27-30.

College Football Association (CFA). A representative from the NCAA compliance services staff will participate in the annual CFA meeting. The meeting, which will include a panel discussion on the proposed NCAA athletics certification program, will be conducted in Dallas May 29-31.

Compliance strategies

Financial aid: In accordance with NCAA Bylaw 15.3.5, the renewal of institutional financial aid shall be made on or before July 1 before the academic year in which it is to be effective. Also, if an institution decides not to renew or decides to reduce financial aid for the ensuing academic year, the institution must inform the student-athlete that he or she, upon request, shall be provided a hearing before the institutional agency making the award.

Problem:

Renewal/nonrenewal notices often are not sent to returning student-athletes by the July 1 deadline.

Suggestions:

With the cooperation of the financial aid office, establish a timetable sufficiently in advance of July 1 by which all requisite information regarding renewals will be compiled.

Confirm annually the procedure that will be used to determine whether aid will be renewed and to notify the student-athlete, with particular attention to individual responsibilities.

Problem:

Failure to notify nonrenewals of opportunity for a hearing before the institutional agency making the award.

Suggestions:

In concert with the institution's regular financial aid authority, establish specific procedures for reducing or canceling aid and for appealing those decisions.

Be specific concerning the agency or the individuals responsible for hearing the appeal.

Provide information to student-athletes (for example, place the information in the student-athlete handbook) and coaches concerning procedures for canceling or reducing aid, the criteria established for reducing or canceling aid and the student-athlete's rights and responsibilities.

Additional compliance strategies concerning the administration of financial aid are maintained at the NCAA national office and may be obtained by contacting the compliance services staff.

This material was provided by the NCAA compliance services staff as an aid to member institutions and conference offices. Institutions or conference offices with questions or issues concerning the content addressed in this column may contact John H. Leavens, assistant executive director for compliance services, at the NCAA national office.

Steve Sturek, compliance coordinator for the Trans America Athletic Conference, and Gary White, associate director of athletics at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, were among those who attended a regional rules-compliance seminar May 6-8 in New Orleans

Compliance seminar attracts crowd of 200

About 200 people attended the first of four NCAA regional rules-compliance seminars May 6-8 in New Orleans.

The other three are scheduled for San Diego, May 27-29; Chicago, June 17-19, and Baltimore, June 25-27.

Kevin C. Lennon, director of compliance services, said interpretations and compliance service resource centers were especially popular at the New Orleans meeting. Attendees received interpretations of NCAA legislation at the interpretations center, while the compliance center featured information on eligibility, enforcement and data processing (including the Compliance Assistant and legislative assistance software).

Breakout sessions examined compliance coordination, the role of the faculty athletics representative and compliance issues in Division II. The Division II session, which attracted 40 administrators, was a new and popular feature, Lennon said.

The legislative services staff conducted beginners and advanced versions of rules reviews, focusing on questions involving eligibility, recruiting, playing and practice seasons, and coaching limitations.

A round-table approach was used to discuss specific compliance duties (such as the coaches certification program or monitoring playing seasons). Also, round tables were used to discuss relieving the administrative burden associated with compliance.

This is the fourth year for regional compliance meetings.

Western Kentucky keeps football alive

Football will return for at least one more season at Western Kentucky University, the school's board of regents has decided.

The board voted, 6-4, in favor of President Thomas C. Meredith's proposal to provide $450,000—the estimated cost of dismantling the program—to fund the sport in the school's 1992-93 budget, The Associated Press reported.

Western Kentucky considered abandoning its 79-year-old football program because of state funding cuts to public higher education.

With the money the regents agreed to provide, Western Kentucky's projected football budget for the next year will be $765,000, down 21 percent from about $959,000 in 1991, said athletics director Louis M. Marciani.

The regents also voted to allow the athletics department to keep money from football ticket sales instead of funneling it into the school's general fund as it had done for years.

"Now that we can get out here and sell tickets and make our money off it, we can get rolling," Marciani said. "I consider this a day of liberation."

The regents eliminated money for three of the six full-time assistant coaches and both part-time assistants. Head Coach Jack Harbaugh said he needs more than three assistants to prepare a Division I-AA team.

"The plan put together today calls for a head coach and three assistants and that is totally unacceptable," he said. "We'll be playing teams this year that have nine coaches and one I-A school that has 12 assistants."

Track committee issues reprimands

The NCAA Division I Men's and Women's Track and Field Committee has issued public reprimands to the track and field programs at the University of Kansas and Kansas State University. The action follows the involvement of two student-athletes in a misconduct incident during the 1992 NCAA Division I Men's and Women's Indoor Track Championships in March.

Todd Trask of Kansas State and Jason Teal of Kansas pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor after the theft of a bottle of champagne. In addition to the public reprimand, the committee withheld the per diem reimbursements for participation in the championships and ordered the two universities to reimburse the NCAA for the travel costs of the student-athletes to the event.

"Actions such as this only serve to discredit the institutions, the sport of track and field, and the championships," said Mark T. Young, committee chair and women's track coach at Yale University.

Championships previews

Sophomore Annika Sorenstam of Arizona is aiming for a second straight individual title. The Wildcats also are heavy favorites to win their first team championship.

National Collegiate women's golf

Opponents see sophomore-led Arizona as team to beat

Event: 1992 National Collegiate Women's Golf Championships.

Overview: Arizona: That sums up the expectations of most observers heading into the championships. The Wildcats have a shot differential of -5.31 (actual strokes compared to the course rating), more than five strokes better than San Jose State, the only other team that has a negative differential. Led by defending champion Annika Sorenstam and Leta Lindley, both sophomores, the Wildcats have three of the top six and four of the top 16 individuals expected to make the field. Freshman Vicki Goetze of Georgia is the tourney's rising star.

Field: A total of 102 golfers representing six districts will compete for the team and individual championships.

Dates and sites: The championships will be May 27-30 at the Karsten Golf Course in Tempe, Arizona; Arizona State is the host.

Results: Championships results will appear in the June 3 issue of The NCAA News.

Championships notes: Arizona has had the individual champion each of the last two years (Sorenstam last year and Susan Slaughter in 1990). But the Wildcats never have won the team title. They finished third last year, 15 strokes behind UCLA and San Jose State, which tied for the top spot. UCLA won the championship on the first sudden-death playoff hole.

What they are saying

Kim Haddow, head coach
Arizona

"There are definitely (several) teams that will be right in there. We're not sitting back by any means. I think that's what makes these girls great. They are working just as hard now as in the beginning of the year. They aren't just sitting there. We have been in the top two for the last three years. We're now going to just let the scores do the talking. Annika Sorenstam, like the rest of our team, takes each tournament as it comes. I think she definitely has a good chance to win the whole thing. But there are others who have a chance, too."

Mark Gale, head coach
San Jose State

"We're the only team that has beaten Arizona (by one stroke at the Stanford Invitational last fall). They beat us by 28 shots later in the season, and we were second. That's the way they have been beating everybody this year. They are in a league by themselves. They have four superb players. If they play anything like they have been, it will be very difficult for anybody to beat them."

Division II men's track

Falcons appear to be mightier than ever

Event: 1992 Division II Men's Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Overview: St. Augustine coach George Williams simply never runs out of ammunition. The three-time defending champion Mighty Falcons look more than ready to continue their dominance of Division II track. The closer contest may be for second place and involves host Angelo State, Abilene Christian, Cal State Los Angeles and Cal State Bakersfield. Angelo State edged Abilene Christian in the Lone Star Conference championship by one point, winning the last event.

Field: The NCAA Executive Committee has approved a qualifying procedure that allows for a maximum field of 236 athletes.

Dates and sites: The championships will be May 28-30 at Angelo State.

Results: Championships results will appear in the June 3 issue of The NCAA News.

Championships notes: Division II has been a division of streaks. Cal Poly San Luis Obispo won three straight outdoor track titles beginning in 1979. Abilene Christian then reeled off seven straight titles before St. Augustine's began its streak in 1989.... Those three schools head the list of most team titles won. Abilene Christian's seven leads Cal Poly San Luis Obispo's six, followed by the three by St. Augustine's.

What they are saying

David Noble, head coach Angelo State

Last year's runner-up

"If half of St. Augustine's team doesn't make the meet, we have a chance. We're hoping to be a top-five team. It should be between us, Cal State Los Angeles and Abilene Christian. We're hoping that being at home will be enough incentive for us to do our best. All you can do is score as many points as possible and then just hope. St. Augustine's is just the quality of the division. There is no contest, unless they stay home."

John Turek, head coach
Cal State Los Angeles

"I think we and Angelo State have a good chance to finish strong. Abilene Christian also will be tough. We have to have a big performance from Bryan Bridgewater in the 100- and 200-meter dashes. He also anchors the 400-meter relay and is on the 1,600-meter relay. We also have to have some of our provisional athletes qualify. If George Woods (high jump and 110-meter hurdles) has a big meet, that would help us. It would take a great meet from us and a lousy meet from them for us to beat St. Augustine's."

The fourth straight team title appears to be in the grasp of Antonio Pettigrew (receiving baton) and St. Augustine's

Alabama A&M, Abilene Christian and Cal State Los Angeles are hoping to catch defending team champion Cal Poly San Luis Obispo

Division II women's track

Contenders hope strengths carry the day

Event: 1992 Division II Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Overview: The match-up here is Cal Poly San Luis Obispo's middle distance runners vs. the speed and leaping ability of Alabama A&M, Abilene Christian and Cal State Los Angeles. Last year, the mix produced the closest meet in the history of the championships, with Cal Poly San Luis Obispo edging Alabama A&M, 72-71.

Field: The NCAA Executive Committee has approved a qualifying procedure that allows for a maximum field of 170 athletes.

Dates and sites: The championships will be May 28-30 at Angelo State.

Results: Championships results will appear in the June 3 issue of The NCAA News.

Championships notes: Only two schools—Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Abilene Christian—have won a Division II women's outdoor track team championship. The Mustangs of Cal Poly won the first three and the last three; Abilene Christian's four are sandwiched in between.

What they are saying

Deanne Johnson, head coach
Cal Poly San Luis Obispo

Three-time defending champions

"Right now, with the (hurdles, sprints and jumps) power that the others (Alabama A&M, Abilene Christian and Cal State Los Angeles) have, it will be tough for us to match it. It's a tough one to call. My hope is that they will knock each other off. If they are standing at the end, my hat is off to them."

Joe Henderson, head coach
Alabama A&M

*1992 indoor champions;
1991 outdoor runners-up*

"The 400-meter dash will be a key for us (the Bulldogs finished Nos. 1, 2, 5 and 6 in the 400 indoors). The same girls run the 400-meter hurdles, so those will be our major events. We have Tameka Hutchins in the long jump. She won indoors. She has been injured, but she is getting better. Gloria Morgan will be there in the 800 meters."

Brandon Jones (left) of Lincoln (Pennsylvania) has the Lions roaring in the speed events

Division III men's track

Lions look for boost in field events

Event: 1992 Division III Men's Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Overview: Defending champion Wisconsin-La Crosse and 1991 runner-up Lincoln (Pennsylvania) again will battle it out for the title. Lincoln returns its entire 400-meter relay team, led by Brandon Jones, the fastest qualifier in the 100 meters (10.2 seconds). The difference may be Lincoln's qualifiers in the jumps.

Field: The NCAA Executive Committee has approved a qualifying procedure that allows for a maximum field of 344 athletes.

Dates and sites: The championships will be May 27-30 at Colby.

Results: Championships results will appear in the June 3 issue of The NCAA News.

Championships notes: Lincoln (Pennsylvania) and Wisconsin-La Crosse have won four of the last seven Division III titles between them. One or the other of the two teams has been runner-up in six of those years. Glassboro State leads the division with five team championships, followed by Southern-New Orleans (now NAIA) with three and Frostburg State, Lincoln (Pennsylvania) and Wisconsin-La Crosse with two each. Southern-New Orleans leads in individual titles with 19, followed by Glassboro State with 18. Lincoln (Pennsylvania) could move into the lead this year. The Lions have won 16 individual titles and are favored in the two relays, the 100-meter dash and the 400-meter hurdles.

What they are saying

Cyrus Jones, head coach
Lincoln (Pennsylvania)
1991 runners-up

"We are kind of short a couple of people, but I think we'll be able to hold our ground. We have all of our returning 400-meter relay, our 110-meter hurdler (Shannon Flowers) and Brandon Jones in the 100 and the 200. He's already been clocked in 10.2 (fully automatic) in the 100. We qualified a high jumper, a triple jumper and a long jumper. We hope to be able to give Wisconsin-La Crosse some competition in the field. We hope to be able to dominate the track and get enough points in the field events to win."

Mark Guthrie, head coach
Wisconsin-La Crosse
Defending champion

"I think, based on what has happened so far, Lincoln (Pennsylvania) has to be the favorite. St. Thomas (Minnesota), with Leonard Jones (jumps) and Pat Ahern (throws), who both have qualified provisionally for the Olympic trials, will be very tough. They can spread those guys over several events and get a lot of points. I don't see how we'll compete for a national title. It will be a real uphill struggle even to have a chance. David Coates is the defending champion at 200 meters. He will have to perform well, as will the field event performers."

Division III women's track

Indoor titlists take on two-time champs

Event: 1992 Division III Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Overview: Coming off its fourth title in five years at the indoor championships, Christopher Newport is looking for a 1992 sweep. Behind Jennifer Martin (100- and 200-meter dashes and long jump) and the relay teams, the Lady Captains figure to be at or near the top of a tightly bunched field. Also expected to challenge: UC San Diego, Wisconsin-Oshkosh, Cortland State and Occidental.

Field: The NCAA Executive Committee has approved a qualifying procedure that allows for a maximum field of 246 athletes.

Dates and sites: The championships will be May 27-30 at Colby.

Results: Championships results will appear in the June 3 issue of The NCAA News.

Championships notes: Wisconsin-Oshkosh has won the last two team championships, tying the Titans with Wisconsin-La Crosse for the second-best total. Christopher Newport's three crowns lead the division. . . . This is the end of the road for multipurpose athlete Kim Oden of Nebraska Wesleyan. Oden is three-time defending champion in the high jump. She also has won the last two heptathlon titles. Oden has won every NCAA outdoor (five) and indoor (three) individual championship ever claimed by Nebraska Wesleyan. . . . Christopher Newport has won the most individual titles (13) in the 10-year history of the championships.

What they are saying

Vince Brown, head coach
Christopher Newport
1992 indoor champions

"I think it could be one of three or four teams. Occidental will be right in the thick of it. (Wisconsin-Oshkosh) is always tough. A surprise team could be Montclair State. Just like indoors, if we have one person who takes that step forward and we can rally around, we can be competitive. Indoors, it was Tony (Antoinette) Bass. She scored 26 points indoors. If that happens again, we'll have a good meet."

Deb Vercauteren, head coach
Wisconsin-Oshkosh
1990, 1991 outdoor champions

"I agree with Vince. Christopher Newport always has to be considered a threat. Occidental is real strong. Montclair State looks real strong in the sprints. We're probably the most diversified team out there. Our strength will be to score in as many different areas as possible. We have some real strong individuals, but our key will be who scores in the sixth, seventh and eighth position."

Bill Harvey, head coach Occidental

"I think Oshkosh is the team to beat, period. They have too many people in too many events. It's fine to have stars. But when you have a team that is as deep as Wisconsin-Oshkosh, you can afford to have a couple of kids have bad meets and not be affected. Deb will scream that I am wrong, but she screamed last year and the year before, and look who won those."

Christopher Newport's Antoinette Bass (center) hopes to clear the way for a fourth team title

Maryland rallies twice to claim women's lacrosse title

After serving as bridesmaid for the past two years, Maryland (14-1) stormed back from a three-goal second-half deficit and a one-goal overtime deficit to down Harvard, 11-10, and claim the National Collegiate Women's Lacrosse Championship May 17 at Lehigh.

"A lot of people reminded me of that (being runner-up twice) this week," Maryland coach Cindy Timchal said. "When you get to this spot, anything can happen. But we had it in the back of our minds that we could win."

It was perhaps in no one's mind more than Terrapin senior Leigh Frendberg. Teammate Betsy Elder's pass set up Frendberg for her second overtime game-winner in as many days, this one coming with 1:15 left in the first extra period, giving Maryland the title for the first time since 1986. Patty Parichy, assisted by Kerstin Manning, had tied the game, 10-10, two minutes earlier.

"This isn't just for us, but for everyone else who got here the last two years and didn't win," Manning said.

The Terrapins, who lost to Virginia, 8-6, in last year's final and to Harvard, 8-7, in 1990, took control early, building a 3-0 lead 11:11 into the first half. Harvard rallied for a 5-5 half-time tie.

The Crimson carried its momentum into the second half, building a 9-6 lead with 21:27 left in regulation.

Three unanswered Maryland goals, the last of which came from Frendberg with 52 seconds left in regulation, forced the six-minute overtime period.

"You've got to credit our players' courage and the way they sustained and came from behind," Timchal said. "They beat the 1990 champion and the 1991 champion in less than 24 hours. That shows true character."

Frendberg had one assist in addition to her three goals. Elder also had three goals and an assist. Mandy Stevenson had 19 saves.

Harvard's Liz Berkery's four goals led the Crimson. Sarah Leary had 13 saves.

In Maryland's 8-7 overtime semifinal win over Virginia May 16, neither team led by more than two goals. Elder paced the winners with three goals. Frendberg's clincher came with 1:27 left in the first overtime on an assist from Theresa Ingram. Stevenson had five saves.

Harvard, which finished the season at 14-2, advanced to the final with a 10-5 win over Princeton. Sarah Winters had four goals to lead the Crimson. Leary had seven saves.

UC Davis tops Hampton for Division II men's tennis crown

Bolstered by the play of Mark Segesta, Marc Lamonica and Steve Summer, UC Davis dropped only four of 19 sets and won its first NCAA Division II Men's Tennis Championship May 10 at Central Oklahoma.

The championships' No. 3 seed, UC Davis defeated No. 4 Hampton, 5-1, in the final. The Aggies' triumph capped a championships performance in which they eliminated Southwest Baptist, 5-1, in first-round play and No. 2 seed Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, 5-2, in the semifinals.

Hampton, which was vying for its third team title, gained its berth in the final by knocking off defending champion and No. 1 seed Rollins, 5-4, in semifinal play. The second-place finish marked the fifth time overall and fourth in the past eight years that Hampton finished second.

Segesta, Lamonica and Summer, the Aggies' Nos. 1, 3 and 4 singles players, respectively, each won three matches. Seven of the trio's victories were two-set triumphs and accounted for nearly half of the Aggies' match victories.

Summer continued his strong play in individual competition, where he teamed with Jeff McCann to win the doubles title. The triumph marked the second consecutive year UC Davis has won the doubles crown. Segesta and Dave Allen claimed the 1991 title.

Summer and McCann, the championships' No. 8 seed, outlasted Southern Illinois-Edwardsville's duo of Kyler Updyke and Hughes Laverdiere, 6-4, 6-4, to claim the doubles crown. The duo's performance was highlighted by victories over the No. 1 doubles team of Max Allman and Mark Ollivier of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Abilene Christian's tandem of Lance Cowart and Brent Klapprott, the No. 3 seeds.

Philipp Schertel of Armstrong State prevented a UC Davis sweep of the team and individual titles. Schertel, the No. 2 seed, rallied from a one-set deficit to defeat Segesta, the No. 1 seed, 1-6, 6-0, 6-3, in the singles final. The title was the second straight for an Armstrong State player. Pradeep Raman claimed the 1991 title.

Schertel, who also defeated Rollins' Paul Lennix, the No. 8 seed, won six singles matches during the championships. Four of the six triumphs came via two-set sweeps.

Pomona-Pitzer sweeps the field in Division III women's tennis

Pomona-Pitzer became the first team in Division III women's tennis and only the second in NCAA women's tennis history to sweep the team and individual championships titles when it completed the feat May 12-18 at the Division III Women's Championships in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Pomona-Pitzer, the No. 1 seed, won its first team title May 15, outlasting Kenyon, the No. 2 seed, 5-4. The Sagehens, appearing in their first team final, became the eighth team in the championships' 11-year history to win the team title. No team has ever won back-to-back team crowns.

Less than three days after helping Pomona-Pitzer to the team title, Shelley Keeler, the Sagehens' No. 1 singles player, gave Pomona-Pitzer a sweep of the individual titles by winning the singles title and teaming with Erin Hendricks to win the doubles crown.

Keeler, who was seeded second in the singles competition, defeated top-seeded Caroline Bodart of Menlo, 6-1, 6-4, in the final. It marked the first time a Sagehens' player has won the singles crown.

Keeler and Hendricks completed the titles sweep when they defeated Emory's Debbie Frisk and Jill Tobin, 6-2, 6-4, in the doubles final. The title was the second consecutive doubles crown for Keeler and Hendricks and the third straight for Keeler. Keeler teamed with Caryn Cranston to win the 1990 crown.

Since the NCAA established division championships in women's tennis in 1982, only Stanford, in Division I, had swept both the team and individual championships before Pomona-Pitzer's performance. The Cardinal completed the feat in 1990.

Keeler and Hendricks broke the 3-3 deadlock and put Pomona-Pitzer within one victory of the championship when they defeated Katja Zerck and Kathryn Lane, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 in No. 1 doubles.

The No. 2 doubles team of Cranston and Brenda Peirce followed with the title-clinching victory, defeating Kenyon's Britt Harbin and Lisa Weisman, 6-3, 6-3.

Trenton State perfect in winning Division III lacrosse title

In a battle of unbeaten, Trenton State won its second straight Division III women's lacrosse championship and completed a 16-0 season, defeating William Smith, 5-3, at Lehigh May 17.

It was the lowest-scoring title game in the eight-year history of the tournament.

The Lions took a 4-0 first-half lead on goals from Jill Cossa, Cathy Swezey, Lori Bucci and Kerri Perinchief. Trenton State built its lead to 5-0 on an unassisted goal by Perinchief to open the second half.

William Smith, 15-1, got its first score with less than six minutes left, as Angela Heap found the net, unassisted. Terri-Lee Fiedler scored 37 seconds later, then assisted Jennifer Munnely and brought the Herons within two goals with 4:36 left.

Lion goalkeeper Gina Carey had 11 saves; the Herons' Courtney Hutchinson had 14.

Carey and the Trenton State field defense held William Smith to its lowest goal total of the season. William Smith's defense, backed by goalkeeper Courtney Hutchinson, did the same to Trenton State. That the game was low scoring was no surprise to Trenton State coach Sharon Goldbrenner, whose fourth lacrosse national title matched her four field hockey national trophies.

"We had to deny the ball," Goldbrenner said. "They had a very quick midfield, and they played good possession on the offensive end."

"The two best goalkeepers in Division III were featured today," she said. "They're both all-Americans and have great skills."

Carey, who was in the cage for last year's championship and also has been on the winning team in two out of the three field hockey championship games in which she has played, said experience made the difference. Despite the score, she was not entirely pleased with her play.

"It helps to play under pressure," she said. "No, this was not one of my better games of the season, but I did what I had to do to win. I feel as though Trenton State has the best defense in Division III."

The Lions advanced to the final the previous day with a 17-3 victory over Roanoke. Swezey and Lynn Amato had five goals and one assist apiece. Carey had seven saves.

William Smith was an 11-4 semifinal winner over 1991 runner-up Ursinus the same day. Jennifer Munnely and Amy Hoover had three goals apiece. Hutchinson made five saves.

Missouri Southern claims II softball

Pinch hitter Dana Presley's bases-loaded single drove in the game's only run, and Andrea Clarke scattered seven hits over seven innings as Missouri Southern State won its first NCAA Division II Women's Softball Championship, defeating Cal State Hayward, 1-0, May 17 in Shawnee, Kansas.

The Lady Lions managed just three hits off starter Leslie Johnson through the game's first four innings. Designated player Renee Weih led off Missouri Southern State's half of the fifth inning with an infield hit.

Carrie Carter followed with a hit, and Sharla Snow's bloop single loaded the bases with no outs. Cindy Cole's bunt down the third-base line forced the runner out at home but left the bases loaded. Presley, pinch hitting for Stacy Harter, then knocked the game-winning single as Carter came in to score.

Head coach Pat Lipira had no doubts about going with Presley.

"We've got the bases loaded and no outs and basically two lead-off hitters coming up in my number nine and one hitters. When the number nine hitter didn't get the job done, I had to go with Dana," Lipira said. "We needed her power. She can get the ball out of the infield. Really we were just looking for a sacrifice. Dana was the perfect player to get the ball out of the infield."

Presley, who had one other at-bat in the tournament, saw Lipira coming her way.

"I saw coach looking in the dug-out and I said, 'Oh no, she's looking for me.' Coach said, 'Dana, go swing the bat.' I was praying up there. Coach told me to get that pitch up there and get it to the outfield."

Each team came up with a base hit in every inning through the third. Both teams then sat down in order in the fourth.

Cal State Hayward's most serious threat came in the top of the sixth. After a strikeout by Char Rector, Charlotte Wiley and Danette Davis had consecutive singles. Amy Circo then hit a line drive at Cole, who tossed to shortstop Katrina Marshall to double up Wiley.

"We could have bunted. Amy's a great bunter and would have done it," Pioneer coach Fred Williams said. "We weren't making contact, but I had a feeling we were going to get some hits. That play kind of broke our backs."

Cal State Hayward's Diane Ferrero reached on an infield single in the top of the seventh inning, but Clarke got Stephanie House to ground out and Tonja Hadley to hit into a double play to end the game.

"Andrea Clarke is something else," Lipira said. "She is so intense for a sophomore. You would think she's a senior on the mound. She doesn't let anything get her down. It helps that she has Diane Miller as her catcher. They work well together. Andrea has had a fantastic year."

Clarke allowed 15 hits in three games but just one unearned run in 21 innings pitched.

Missouri Southern State advanced to the championship game with wins over Saginaw Valley State (8-1) and Bloomsburg (1-0). The Lady Lions finished the year with a 50-7 record. Cal State Hayward came through the loser's bracket, losing its first game to Bloomsburg (3-0) before defeating Saginaw Valley State (11-0) and Bloomsburg (4-3). The Pioneers ended the season with a 49-10 record.

The all-tournament team included: Marty Laudato, catcher, Bloomsburg; Clarke, pitcher, Missouri Southern State; Johnson, pitcher, Cal State Hayward; Harter, first base, Missouri Southern State; Rector, second base, Cal State Hayward; Wiley, shortstop, Cal State Hayward; Snow, third base, Missouri Southern State; Carter, outfield, Missouri Southern State; Robyn Crispi, outfield, Cal State Hayward; Circo, outfield, Cal State Hayward; Miller, at large, Missouri

Trenton State takes III softball crown on one-hit shutout

Becky Koenig tossed a one-hit shutout and Lori Lubieski drove in three runs as Trenton State defeated Buena Vista, 4-0, to win the NCAA Division III Softball Championship May 17 at Central College in Pella, Iowa.

Buena Vista's only hit came with two outs in the top of the second inning when Brenda Bumann singled to left. The Beavers' lone scoring threat ended when Bumann was picked off at first base.

Koenig struck out one batter and did not issue a walk in seven innings. She picked up the win in each of Trenton State's three games, allowing just one earned run in 17 and two-thirds innings pitched.

The Lions got offensive help in the bottom of the third inning. Jeanne Hengemuhle's one-out triple scored Rachel Hudak. Hengemuhle came in on a double by Lubieski. Lubieski drove in two insurance runs in the bottom of the fifth with a single to centerfield.

The victory gave Trenton State its fourth national title in 11 straight appearances in the finals. The Lions won championships in 1983, 1987 and 1989.

Trenton State advanced to the championship game with wins over Eastern Connecticut State (3-0) and Buena Vista (3-2). The Lions finished the year with a 48-2 record. Buena Vista defeated Montclair State, 8-0, before losing to Trenton State in its second game. The Beavers came back to beat Montclair State, 1-0, to earn a shot at the Lions in the finals. Council minutes

Following are the minutes of the April 13-14, 1992, meeting of the NCAA Council, which was held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Kansas City, Missouri. All actions taken by the Council are included.

1. Opening Remarks.

a. President Judith M. Sweet, University of California, San Diego, extended the Council's welcome to Lt. Gen. Claudius E. Watts III, The Citadel, the newest member of the Council; Wilford S. Bailey, former NCAA president and a consultant to the NCAA Presidents Commission, and Daniel I. Dutcher, who had assumed primary staffing responsibilities for the Division III Steering Committee. Sweet also noted that due to the absence of Frank Windegger of Texas Christian University, who serves as the Council's liaison to the Professional Sports Liaison Committee, Charles Theokas of Temple University, the committee's chair, would be presenting recommendations of the committee later in the meeting.

b. Sweet also encouraged Council members to be motivated to the greatest extent possible by their responsibility to the membership as a whole and to doing what is best for the membership, rather than for the special interests of particular institutions, conferences or geographical regions.

2. Previous Minutes.

a. The Council reviewed minutes from the Council's January 5-6, 1992, meeting.

(1) It was noted for the record that the reference to the full initial-eligibility index in Minute No. 3-a-(1) refers to the full range of the truncated index recommended by the Presidents Commission, as opposed to the full index originally recommended by the Academic Requirements Committee.

(2) It was noted for the record that Minute No. 3-l-(8) should be amended to state that the Special Advisory Committee to Review the Implementation of 1990 Convention Proposal No. 24 reviewed and approved two versions of the Graduation Rates Disclosure Forms and that those forms would be forwarded to the Administrative Committee for formal approval.

(3) It was voted that the minutes of the January 5-6, 1992, meeting be approved as amended.

b. It was voted that the minutes from the Council's January 10, 1992, meeting be approved as distributed.

c. It was the sense of the meeting that Minute No. 3-a-(1)-(c) from the Council's October 7-9, 1991, meeting should be amended to state that a minimum ACT score of 18 would continue to apply to students who entered collegiate institutions during the 1990-91 and 1991-92 academic years.

3. Major Issues in Athletics. Council members discussed major issues in intercollegiate athletics identified for this meeting.

a. The Council received a quarterly report of the Association's governmental affairs. [Note: A summary of the report appeared in the April 8 issue of The NCAA News.]

(1) Executive Director Richard D. Schultz reported that during consideration of the Federal Higher Education Reauthorization Bill, the U.S. House of Representatives adopted an amendment requiring institutions awarding athletically related financial aid to maintain and to make available annually information concerning intercollegiate athletics program revenues and expenses. Schultz summarized recent changes in the bill that are designed to reduce considerably the administrative burden imposed by this legislation.

(2) Schultz indicated that no action had been taken on a variety of other measures related to intercollegiate athletics introduced in Congress last session, including the Collegiate Athletics Reform Act introduced by Rep. Tom McMillen, D-Maryland.

(3) Schultz summarized recent Association actions in relation to due process legislation that has been adopted or is under consideration in a number of states, noting several developments that appeared to be favorable to the Association.

(4) The Council received the report without taking formal action.

b. Council members considered recommendations contained in the report of the Special Committee on Certification.

(1) The special committee recommended that the Council replace two current committee members, representing Divisions II and III, with Division I representatives, and expand the committee to 12 members in order to permit a broader representation of Division I interests. It was the sense of the meeting that the recommendation be approved.

(2) The special committee recommended that the expanded committee be authorized to continue to receive the advice and assistance of representatives of the Presidents Commission, the Knight Foundation Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics, the Committee on Review and Planning, and Division II members. It was the sense of the meeting that the committee's recommendation be approved. [Note: Subsequently, the Administrative Committee authorized representatives of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators to provide similar assistance to the committee.]

(3) The special committee recommended that it be authorized to call upon selected individuals outside the committee in the months ahead to assist in the development of specific written materials (e.g., self-study instrument, user's guide for participating institutions and conferences). It was the sense of the meeting that the committee's recommendation be approved.

(4) Council members emphasized the need to give careful attention to the relationship of athletics certification with the work of regional accrediting agencies and, wherever possible, to eliminate redundancies in the two activities.

(5) It was the sense of the meeting that a simple chart be developed to describe an institution's involvement and responsibilities in the certification process as they are envisioned by the special committee.

(6) It was noted for the record that the program's estimated costs did not include expenditures for NCAA staff travel and personnel, costs absorbed by institutions in completing self-study reports, and costs incurred by conferences in providing additional services to their members.

(7) It was noted for the record that the report of the Committee on Review and Planning that would be presented later in this meeting contained a cautionary note concerning athletics certification. The Committee on Review and Planning took the position that while athletics certification should prove helpful in correcting problems identified in an institution's program, it cannot and should not be construed as a guarantee of compliance with NCAA legislation. The committee urged that steps be taken to explain the purpose and proper emphasis of the proposed certification program carefully, both to the membership and to the general public.

(8) The Division I Steering Committee recommended the following:

(a) That the special committee consider including in the certification process a requirement that the institution present a statement by the governing board acknowledging the authority of the chief executive officer for control of the athletics program.

(b) That the special committee consider clarifying the term special needs in the operating principle related to academic integrity; further, that the committee consider revising the wording in that principle to state that if it is determined that a student-athlete has a special need, the student-athlete shall receive special assistance.

(9) The Division II Steering Committee reported that it is content with a limited role as interested observers in the development of a certification program for Division I and that the steering committee intends to maintain contact with Division II chief executive officers in this regard.

(10) The Division III Steering Committee reported its discussion of possible revisions to the current Institutional Self-Study Guide (ISSG) as an alternative to certification in Division III and reported the following actions in this regard:

(a) Requested that the Administrative Committee appoint a special committee to identify appropriate and necessary revisions of the ISSG for Division III, with specific attention to gender equity.

(b) Requested that the Administrative Committee approve development of an appropriate survey regarding this topic for distribution during the late spring or early summer 1992; further, that the Division III subcommittee of the Presidents Commission be requested to participate in developing and distributing the survey.

(c) Agreed to review this topic again during the steering committee's August meeting.

(11) It was the sense of the meeting that certification legislation recommended by the special committee be presented again for the Council's review during its August meeting.

c. The Council reviewed results of the gender-equity study authorized by the Council in response to a request by the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators and administered by the Committee on Women's Athletics.

(1) Schultz said the study had prompted the NCAA to examine further its role in helping members achieve gender equity in intercollegiate athletics, and he outlined plans for a gender-equity task force to develop recommendations on how the Association should proceed.

(2) The Division II Steering Committee reported plans to establish a subcommittee to review the results of the gender-equity survey applicable to Division II and to review the issue of gender equity in Division II member institutions. The steering committee also reported its intention to discuss gender-equity concerns during the Division II business session of the 1993 NCAA Convention.

(3) The Division III Steering Committee recommended that in its study, the gender-equity task force consult with the Committee on Women's Athletics and members of the Presidents Commission and that the task force refer to the long-range plan of the Minority Opportunities and Interests Committee.

d. The Council considered the report and recommendations of the Special Committee to Review Legislative Procedures.

(1) Council members reviewed statements by the special committee concerning simplification of the legislative process and alternative methods of evaluating the effectiveness of legislation after it has been adopted. It was noted for the record that the committee will conduct a joint meeting in June with the Presidents Commission's Subcommittee on the Role and Authority of the Commission and that recommendations of the special committee regarding these issues special committee, except that those recommendations be couched in terms of the administrative review process favored by the Council.

(3) The Council considered various proposed changes to the current legislative calendar, including those contained in 1992 Convention Proposal No. 114, which was defeated. It was the sense of the meeting that the matter be referred to the special committee for further review.

e. The Council discussed at length recent and proposed changes in the Association's enforcement procedures as recommended by the Special Committee to Review the Enforcement and Infractions Process and by the Committee on Infractions.

(1) The Council turned its attention to a listing of specific changes proposed by the Committee on Infractions for implementation in the enforcement and infractions process. The committee recommended that the NCAA enforcement staff submit an enhanced letter of preliminary inquiry in person to an institution's chief executive officer; that hearings before the committee continue to be tape-recorded but that a court reporter also be used under certain circumstances in hearings before the Committee on Infractions; that legislation be developed to affirm that conflict-of-interest policies apply to the enforcement staff, the Committee on Infractions and the appellate body; that the chair or a member of the

(b) It was noted that the committee's recommendations concerning tape recordings and documentary evidence contained the statement that representatives of the institution and other individuals involved in a particular case shall be provided reasonable access to pertinent information, including tape recordings of interviews and documentary evidence, following the submission of an official inquiry to the institution and involved individuals. It was the sense of the meeting that the committee be requested to consider whether this information should be made available as soon as practicable after the information has been obtained.

(2) It was moved and seconded that the committee's recommendations be approved, except as modified by the actions of the Council noted above.

(a) The motion was amended to include the statement that the committee's recommendation concerning its composition should be revised to state that the committee should be expanded from its current six members to include two individuals from the general public (who shall not be associated with an NCAA member institution or conference, or professional sports organization). It was suggested that, in considering appropriate qualifications for these positions, the committee may wish to include experience in judging administrative proceedings, interviewing witnesses and hearing testimony.

New England's finest

The five winningest coaches in New England Division III history in their respective sports all coached for Eastern Connecticut State University. Four of the five are still active. Former softball coach Clyde Washburne (far left) retired in 1988. The coaches (from left), their sports and their won-lost records: Washburne, softball, 260-100-1 over 11 years; Bob Miller, women's basketball, 317-137 in 18 years; Floretta Crabtree, women's volleyball, 480-224 in 17 years; Bill Holowaty, baseball, 708-257-2 in 24 years through April 22, and Jeff Anderson, softball, 158-40 in five years.

would be held in abeyance until they have been discussed in that meeting.

(2) The special committee reported that, consistent with the provisions of 1992 Convention Proposal No. 117, it had reviewed further the issue of establishing increased Council waiver authority.

(a) The special committee recommended that the Council sponsor legislation to authorize waivers of legislation based on objective evidence that demonstrates circumstances in which the overall record warrants a waiver of the normal application of the legislation. The committee also recommended that the Council establish a committee to hear all waiver requests and that any legislation be subject to the waiver process; further, that the Council consider establishing separate waiver committees by division.

(b) The Council reviewed a number of alternatives to the committee's recommendations, developed for Council review at the request of the Administrative Committee.

The Council expressed support for a suggestion that the term waiver not be used in this regard and that the Council instead establish an administrative review process to consider situations on a case-by-case basis. Such an administrative review panel would consider matters that had been acted upon initially by an appropriate organizational entity, with which the involved institution disagreed. The panel then would look at the complete record and decide if there was justification for a different ruling.

(c) It was voted that legislation be drafted consistent with the recommendations of the committee make public announcements regarding major infractions cases; that the enforcement staff continue to tape-record interviews whenever possible; that following submission of an official inquiry to a member institution and involved individuals, reasonable access to pertinent information be provided to the institution and involved individuals; that the NCAA maintain custody of tape recordings and documentary evidence; that a summary disposition process be implemented by which an institution may elect to reach early resolution of a major infractions case; that specific procedures be put in place by which the Committee on Infractions shall determine the schedule of hearings; that the committee be expanded from its current six members to include one or two individuals from the general public, and that an appellate body be established that consists of five members, at least one of whom should be from the general public.

(a) It was noted that the letter of preliminary inquiry proposed by the committee would contain a statement advising that individuals associated with the institution should not discuss the case prior to interviews by the enforcement staff and institution, except for consultation with legal counsel. It was the sense of the meeting that this aspect of the letter of preliminary inquiry should be clarified to recognize that communications on campus concerning alleged rules violations cannot reasonably be prohibited, it being understood that communications intended to impede the investigation of such allegations clearly should not be permitted.

(b) The amended motion was adopted.

(3) It was voted that the Council consider in its August meeting specific legislation regarding open infractions hearings and the use of nonmember hearing officers.

(4) It was noted for the record that a special committee will be announced in the near future to review the penalty structure in NCAA infractions cases [Note: The committee was announced in the April 29 issue of The NCAA News.]

4. Committee Reports. [Note: The Council received reports from a number of committees, including a number of information items. Only Council actions or points noted for the record are reflected in these minutes.]

a. Academic Requirements. The Council reviewed the report of the Academic Requirements Committee and took the following actions:

(1) Recommended that the Executive Committee authorize the use of funds for development of a poster outlining new initial-eligibility requirements for distribution to all high schools.

(2) Approved a recommendation that effective with courses taken during the 1993-94 academic year and thereafter, a course that is taken in preparation for the first course normally taken to fulfill the progression of core-curriculum requirements set forth in NCAA Bylaw 14.3.1.2 may not be utilized as a core course, regardless of the course content.

(3) Approved a recommendation that effective with courses taken during the 1993-

94 academic year and thereafter, in order for a course to count as a computer science course in the additional academic course area specified in Bylaw 14.3.1.1, at least 75 percent of the instruction in the course must be in one or more of the following areas: the development and implementation of electronic spreadsheets, electronics networking, database management, and graphics design.

b. Communications.

(1) It was voted that the Council sponsor legislation to amend Bylaw 12.5 to permit a member institution (or member conference) to use noninstitutional outlets for the sale of institutional (or conference) media guides.

(2) The committee recommended that the Council sponsor legislation to prohibit the use of the images of current student-athletes on trading cards.

It was moved and seconded that the Council sponsor such legislation. (Defeated For 16, Against 18.)

c. Eligibility. The Eligibility Committee recommended that it be permitted to meet with the Council Subcommittee on Eligibility Appeals. It was noted for the record that discussions between the two groups would be limited to procedural matters.

It was voted that the committee's recommendation be approved.

d. Financial Aid and Amateurism.

(1) It was voted that the Council not require Divisions II and III institutions that sponsor one or more sports in Division I to meet the Division I minimum financial aid requirements set forth in Bylaw 20.9.1.2.

(2) The committee recommended that the Council forward to the Interpretations Committee a recommendation that in considering whether the provisions of Bylaw 15.01.7 permit an institution to calculate an individual cost of attendance that may not be the same for each student-athlete, or whether the cost of attendance for all students must be uniform, institutions should use for student-athletes the cost-of-attendance policies and procedures that are used for students generally.

It was voted that the recommendation of the committee be forwarded to the Interpretations Committee without the Council having taken a position on this issue.

(3) The committee recommended that the Council sponsor legislation to amend the provisions of Bylaw 15.02.3.1 to reflect that on-campus employment earnings during the academic year count as institutional financial aid only if the athletics interests of the institution interceded on behalf of the recipient.

(a) It was the sense of the meeting that any such proposal should make clear that the provisions of Bylaw 15.5.1.2.4 would not be applied any differently if the proposal were to be approved.

(b) It was voted that the Council sponsor legislation consistent with the committee's recommendation.

(4) Noting that financial issues will be a primary concern of the Association in the next 18 months, the committee recommended that the Council authorize the financial aid committee to study cost reductions in the area of financial aid, including consideration of need-based financial aid, consistent with the timetable outlined by the Presidents Commission in its strategic plan; further, that if the Council authorizes this study, it seek Executive Committee approval for the committee to conduct additional meetings in the next year in order to study the financial aid issues identified by the Presidents Commission.

It was voted that the Council approve the committee's recommendations and support authorization of funds by the Executive Committee for the committee's proposed study.

(5) It was voted that the Council sponsor legislation to require that state reciprocity agreements be considered countable financial aid for purposes of Bylaw 15.5.

(6) The Division I Steering Committee reported that it had reviewed and approved a schedule recommended by the committee for calculating and reporting inflationary adjustments to the minimum aggregate financial aid expenditures set forth in Bylaw 20.9.1.2.(b).

(7) The Division I Steering Committee reported that it had approved a schedule proposed by the financial aid committee for administering exceptions to the minimum financial aid requirements set forth in Bylaw 20.9.1.2 based on higher-than-normal Pell Grant allocations. The steering committee also reported that it had approved a policy in this regard requiring that in order for a Division I institution that is part of a branch or multicampus system for which institution-specific data are not available through the U.S. Department of Education to qualify for this exception, the institution must supply to the committee institutional enrollment and Pell Grant allotment information based upon official documentation submitted to the central administration of the system of which the institution is a part.

(8) The Division I Steering Committee reported that it had reviewed the financial aid committee's recommendation that the Council sponsor legislation for the 1993 Convention consistent with 1992 Convention Proposal No. 72, which was defeated. The steering committee recommended that the matter be remanded to the committee, with the understanding that the committee should attempt to identify an alternative proposal that might be acceptable to institutions on either side of this issue. It was the sense of the meeting that the steering committee's recommendation be approved.

(9) The committee requested that the Council reconsider its interpretation of Bylaw 15.4.6.2, which permits a student-athlete to receive an award that meets the criteria of that bylaw without consideration of need if the award includes criteria in addition to the academic requirements, provided that the additional criteria are not based on athletics ability or participation. The committee recommended that the interpretation be revised to indicate that the criteria in Bylaw 15.4.6.2 are the only criteria under which a student-athlete may receive such an award without consideration of the student-athlete's need; further, that if the Council approves the committee's recommendation, this information be communicated directly to Division III financial aid and admissions personnel through an Association mailing, in addition to publication in The NCAA News.

(a) The Division III Steering Committee reported that it had affirmed the current interpretation that academic honor awards may include criteria in addition to the academic criteria set forth in Bylaw 15.4.6.2, provided that additional criteria are not based on athletics ability or participation and the award is consistent with such awards provided to all students.

(b) The Division III Steering Committee concluded that a mailing to Division III financial aid administrators concerning this action would not be necessary but that the action of the steering committee should be noted in The NCAA News.

(c) The steering committee reported that it had agreed to review proposed legislation during its August meeting to clarify the provisions of Bylaw 15.4.6.2 in this regard.

e. Initial-Eligibility Clearinghouse.

(1) The Council reviewed a proposal to amend Bylaw 14.3.1 to specify that the fulfillment of the Association's freshman academic requirements shall be certified by an initial-eligibility clearinghouse approved by the Council.

It was voted that the Council sponsor such legislation, with the understanding that if specific proposals submitted by interested parties at a later date provide insufficient or unsatisfactory information, the Council consider modifying its action in this regard.

(2) It was voted that functions of the proposed clearinghouse be expanded to include the academic credentials required for prospective student-athletes in Division I to receive an official visit prior to the early National Letter of Intent signing periods, pursuant to 1992 Convention Proposal No. 18; further, that proposed legislation consistent with this action be submitted to the Council for review during its August meeting.

f. Initial-Eligibility Waivers. The Council reviewed actions taken by the Council Subcommittee on Initial-Eligibility Waivers during telephone conferences conducted November 21, December 10 and December 13, 1991, and March 24, 1992, and during an in-person meeting January 6, 1992.

It was voted that the actions of the subcommittee be approved.

g. Legislative Review.

(1) The committee recommended that the Council amend current procedures for incorporation of interpretations in the NCAA Manual to permit the incorporation of interpretations that are circulated to the delegates at the NCAA Convention in the same year in which those interpretations are circulated, with the understanding that such items be incorporated with an accompanying note that these items had not yet completed the required cycle of approval for incorporation.

It was voted that the committee's recommendation be approved, with the understanding that the accompanying note identify these items only as "19 . Convention interpretation."

(2) The committee noted the importance of calling the membership's attention to significant editorial revisions that are approved by the Council in the interim between Convention action and publication of the Manual. The committee recommended that such revisions be printed in The NCAA News at approximately the same time the Manual is mailed to the membership.

It was voted that the recommendation be approved.

(3) The committee recommended that the Council consider the issue of adopting rules on a sport-specific basis and offer comments concerning whether and, if so, how the issue should be pursued.

(a) The executive director suggested that consideration be given to developing sport-specific rules for sports in two broad categories, distinguished generally on the basis of particular sports visibility and institutional priorities.

(b) It was voted that the Council support the committee's recommendation that an appropriate committee (e.g., Recruiting Committee) be requested to identify specific areas within Bylaw 13 that should be amended for specific sports; further, that any specific proposals be referred to the Legislative Review Committee to assure that the language of each proposal adequately expresses its intent and that each proposal is properly placed in the Manual.

(4) The committee requested that the Council comment as to whether deregulation should be aggressively pursued and, if so, in what manner.

It was voted that the primary objectives of deregulation are the simplification of current rules and the elimination of unnecessary or obsolete legislation; further, that the Council support the committee's recommendation that different bylaws be reviewed each year for deregulation over a five-year period.

h. Minority Opportunities and Interests.

(1) The committee recommended that the Council approve appointment of one of its members to the Special Committee on Athletics Certification.

(a) It was voted that the committee's recommendation be approved.

(b) It was voted that the Council's previous action in this regard be amended to state that the Council approve appointment of a member of the Minority Opportunities and Interests Committee and/or a minority representative from historically black colleges and universities.

(2) The committee recommended that the Council sponsor legislation that would permit athletics department staff members to participate in established, formal professional enhancement programs administered by professional sports organizations; to permit participating staff members to receive compensation and expenses consistent with that received by other program participants, and to specify that the Council shall establish necessary policies and guidelines regarding participation by an institution's staff members in such a program.

It was voted that the Council sponsor legislation consistent with the committee's recommendation.

(3) The committee recommended that the Council support a review of the NCAA conference grant program to establish accountability and to evaluate the success of programs designed to enhance minority and women's participation.

It was voted that the committee's recommendation be forwarded to the Executive Committee with the Council's support.

(4) The committee recommended that a survey be conducted to examine current circumstances regarding minority participation in administrative and officiating positions at the conference level.

It was voted that the committee's recommendation be approved.

i. Olympic Sports Liaison.

(1) Noting offers of financial support from national governing bodies to NCAA institutions interested in sponsoring sports programs in those sports in which NCAA championships are in jeopardy, as well as opinions expressed by the Executive Committee and the Division I Championships Committee that NCAA championships in Olympic sports should not be supported indefinitely if there is not sufficient interest among the membership, the committee recommended that the Council request that the Executive Committee establish a meaningful formula to determine the minimum number of institutions that must sponsor a sport in order to conduct an NCAA championship in that sport; further, that the Executive Committee also be encouraged to explore other championships opportunities that institutions could consider as an alternative to an NCAA championship if it is discontinued.

It was voted that the committee's recommendation be forwarded to the Executive Committee for discussion during its summer meeting.

(2) The committee recommended that the Council sponsor legislation to amend Bylaw 12.1.2.5 to permit the receipt of actual and necessary expenses for developmental training programs conducted during any vacation period published in an institution's official catalog, provided that the activity does not conflict with dates of institutional competition.

It was voted that the Council sponsor proposed legislation in this regard.

(3) The committee recommended that the Legislative Review Committee incorporate into the Manual a 1989 interpretation that a coach and a student-athlete from the same institution may participate in Olympic and national team development programs and competition, and that no limitations exist on the number of student-athletes from the same institution who may participate under these circumstances. It was noted for the record that the Legislative Review Committee already was in the process of incorporating this interpretation into the Manual.

j. Professional Sports Liaison. Theokas joined the meeting to present his committee's report.

(1) It was moved and seconded that the Council sponsor proposed legislation to amend Bylaw 12.2.4 to permit a student-athlete to enter a professional league's draft without jeopardizing eligibility in that sport, with the stipulation that the student-athlete has a 30-day period after the draft to declare the student-athlete's intention to return to college; further, that the effective date of this legislation be August 1, 1994. (Defeated For 14, Against 21.)

(2) It was voted that work continue on the development of an educational seminar for enrolled student-athletes with professional athletics potential; further, that the NCAA Foundation continue its efforts to identify appropriate sources of revenue for this program, and finally, that the staff review the possibility of videotaping the sessions or using satellite technology to ensure widespread distribution of this forum.

(3) It was moved and seconded that the Council sponsor proposed legislation to amend Bylaw 12.6.1.4 to permit a member institution to receive donations in kind (i.e., equipment, facility improvements, other noncash donations) from a professional sports organization. (Defeated For 22, Against 14 two-thirds majority required.)

(4) The committee recommended that the Council sponsor a proposal to amend Bylaw 11.1.5 to indicate that staff members of an athletics department shall be permitted to contact an agent, professional sports team or professional sports organization on behalf of a student-athlete, provided the staff member does not receive any compensation, gratuities or other remuneration for such services. Council members raised questions concerning the application of current legislation in this regard, and it was the sense of the meeting to refer the matter to the committee and the staff for further review.

(7) It was voted that the Council amend Bylaw 30.12.10.1 to permit sanctioned summer leagues to begin competition the preceding Friday if June 1 falls on a Sunday or Monday.

(8) The committee recommended that the Council refer to the Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports the issue of whether tobacco products should be banned from practice and competition in all sports for players, coaches and officials.

It was voted that the issue be referred to the Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports, it being noted that the Professional Sports Liaison Committee would support such a prohibition.

(9) The committee recommended that the Council approve the allocation of funding for 10 summer baseball leagues.

It was voted that the committee's recommendation be approved.

(10) The Council reviewed its 1991 interpretation that member institutions' athletics department staff members would not be permitted to be directors of summer baseball leagues, inasmuch as there is an indirect contact between the staff member and the player. The committee recommended that the Council reverse its previous interpretation based upon indications that this type of situation does not negatively impact either the student-athlete or the athletics department staff member and will not compromise the intent of the legislation prohibiting out-of-season practice. The Council discussed the committee's recommendation but took no action in this regard.

k. Proposal No. 24 (1990 Convention).

(1) It was voted that the Council amend Bylaw 30.1.1.5 to specify that Division I member institutions shall identify the specific baccalaureate degree programs of studies pursued by the student-athletes included in the freshman cohort graduation rates specified in Bylaws 30.1.1.3 and 30.1.1.4 and who graduated within six years.

(2) It was voted that the Council confirm that pursuant to Bylaw 13.3.1.2, Divisions I and II member institutions will be required to provide graduation-rates reports to a prospect, the prospect's parents, the prospect's guidance offices and the prospect's coaches as soon as possible following the initiation of the recruitment of the prospect; further, that prior to recruitment, a member institution will be required to distribute graduation-rates reports to these individuals only upon request and that member institutions will not be required to distribute graduation-rates reports to any other parties, although they may do so at their discretion, and finally, that the national office will make available for sale to the public an aggregate volume that will contain a copy of each member institution's graduation-rates report and that each Division I member institution and conference will receive a copy of this aggregate report.

(3) It was voted that the Council approve the establishment of a public relations plan in anticipation of the public release of institution-specific graduation-rates reports during the late spring or early summer of 1992; further, that the public release of the graduation-rates reports be coordinated with the Communications Committee, appropriate national office staff members and, if feasible, an independent public relations firm.

l. Review and Planning. The committee recommended that the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee be requested to discuss means of approaching the issue of ethical behavior of student-athletes and that it consider inviting Bailey to meet with it in that regard.

It was voted that the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee be urged to move forward in a purposeful discussion of this recommendation.

m. Special Events.

(1) It was voted that the Council sponsor a proposal to amend Bylaw 21.3.24 to limit the composition of the Special Events Committee to individuals who represent Division I-A institutions to specify that at least one member be appointed from each member conference involved in a certified bowl game that is in full compliance with Executive Regulation 31.5.1, and to eliminate the Postseason Football Subcommittee of the Special Events Committee.

(2) It was voted that the Council sponsor a proposal to amend Bylaw 16.1.4.2 to apply awards limitations set forth in Bylaws 16.1.4.2.1 and 16.1.4.2.4 to all-star games.

n. Women's Athletics.

(1) The committee recommended that the Council sponsor legislation that would allow an institution to provide a student-athlete legitimate and normal expenses to participate in activities and events associated with National Girls and Women in Sports Day.

It was voted that the Council sponsor such legislation, with the understanding that the opportunity to provide such expenses would be limited to participation in activities and events in the state in which the institution is located or participation in a national celebration in Washington, D.C.

(2) The committee recommended that the Council direct the Special Committee on Athletics Certification to solicit comments from the Committee on Women's Athletics and other Association committees in the development of gender-equity and minority standards. It was noted for the record that the Special Committee on Athletics Certification had made clear its commitment to solicit comments in a manner consistent with the recommendation of the Committee on Women's Athletics, and it was the sense of the meeting that no further action was required.

(3) The committee recommended that the Council sponsor legislation to eliminate grant-in-aid reductions in women's programs that would become effective August 1, 1993, for women's basketball and August 1, 1994, for women's equivalency sports.

It was voted that this issue be referred to the gender-equity task force that would be appointed in the near future.

9. NCAA Conventions.

a. The Council received a compilation of recommendations regarding NCAA Convention arrangements and operations. It was noted that arrangements for NCAA Conventions are under the jurisdiction of the Executive Committee.

(1) It was the sense of the meeting that the staff be directed to explore alternative methods for distributing stands for voting devices in order to relieve Convention delegates of the necessity of having to keep the stands in their possession.

(2) The Council reviewed a suggestion that the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee be advised that its members should not take positions on the Convention floor contrary to Council positions but should report its concerns directly to the Council.

It was voted that this suggestion be removed from the compilation in order to more properly address procedural issues that will improve communications between the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and the Council.

(a) The Division I Steering Committee recommended that the proposal be remanded to the Executive Committee to clarify the intent of the last sentence in the proposal regarding limitations on television broadcasts.

It was the sense of the meeting that the Council sponsor the proposal.

d. The Council reviewed a compilation of proposed amendments to the Association's administrative regulations, on which the Council is authorized to act in the interim between NCAA Conventions. It was noted that all amendments to Bylaw 30 approved by the Council will be published in The NCAA News.

(1) The Division II Steering Committee reported that it had approved a proposed amendment to Bylaw 30.1.1 to specify that Division II institutions that sponsor sports in Division I are permitted to use persistence rates to report graduation-rates information in those sports, consistent with the manner in which the institutions will report graduation-rates information in all their other sports, and to specify that those institutions are required to report only the enrollment and graduation-rates information applicable to members of Division II, as opposed to the additional reporting requirements applicable in Division I.

(2) The Council considered a proposal to amend Bylaw 30.1 to specify that Division III institutions shall report annually enrollment and persistence-rates information; to specify that Division III institutions that sponsor sports in Division I are permitted to use persistence rates to report graduation-rates information in those sports, consistent with the manner in which those institutions will report persistence-rates information in all of their other sports, and to specify that those institutions are required to report only the enrollment and persistence-rates information applicable to members of Division III, as opposed to the additional reporting requirements applicable in Division I. (1) It was the sense of the meeting that the Council amend Bylaw 14.8.3.1 to specify that the prohibition against competition on an outside team during the academic year does not apply to a student-athlete at a Division I or II member institution who fails to make an institution's team after participating only in limited preseason tryouts.

(2) It was the sense of the meeting that the Council amend Bylaws 16.7.2.1 and 16.8.1.2.1.1 to specify that time limitations related to the provision of travel expenses do not apply to travel prior to and after contests in the 48 contiguous states for member institutions located in Hawaii and Alaska.

(3) It was the sense of the meeting that the Council amend Bylaw 21.3.25.2 to permit student-athletes who are members of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee to request that they be reelected for one term, subject to the approval of the chair.

a. The Council reviewed a number of interpretations related to restricted-earnings coaches' involvement in camps and clinics. The Interpretations Committee recommended that the Council consider sponsoring legislation to place limitations on the amount of compensation that may be received by restricted-earnings coaches from employment in any camp or clinic during the academic year. The committee also recommended that the Council consider sponsoring legislation to define summer for purposes of Bylaw 11.02.3 as June, July and August. [Conference No. 2, Minute No. 7.]

(1) The Division I Steering Committee reported that it had directed that legislation be drafted to state that the income of restricted-earnings coaches that is either athletically related or received from representatives of institutions athletics interests be limited (in combination with institutional compensation) to $12,000 during the academic year and $4,000 during the summer.

(2) The steering committee reported that it had chosen not to take action concerning any definition of summer for these purposes.

b. The Council reviewed an interpretation that an institution may provide a highlight film to a student-athlete as a permissible award, provided the retail value of the highlight film is included in the student-athlete's award limitations. The Division I Steering Committee recommended that the interpretation be revised to clarify that the reference to film in this interpretation also would include videotape. It was the sense of the meeting that the steering committee's recommendation be approved. [Conference No. 4, Minute No. 2.]

c. The Council reviewed an interpretation that a student-athlete who is registered and enrolled in a minimum full-time program of studies (as determined by the regulations of the institution) and attends any class(es) on the first day of classes begins the student's five-year period of eligibility (Division I) or uses one of the student's 10 semesters or 15 quarters of eligibility (Division II or III), even if the student drops to part-time status during that first day of classes. [Conference No. 6, Minute No. 2.]

(1) The Division III Steering Committee recommended that the Council reject the interpretation as not practical and unrealistic.

(2) After discussion, the Council declined to take any formal action, thus leaving the Interpretations Committee action in place.

d. The Division III Steering Committee reported that it had considered a recommendation of the Interpretations Committee that the Council review the issue of whether a Division III conference is permitted to provide prospects with any recruiting materials and, if so, what types of recruiting materials. The steering committee reported its intention to review this issue during its August meeting, pending receipt of additional information concerning conference activities in this regard. [Conference No. 6, Minute No. 8.]

e. It was the sense of the meeting that the minutes of 1992 Interpretations Committee Conference Nos. 1 through 6 be approved as amended by the specific actions of the Council and the division steering committees.

11. Reports of Division Steering Committees. The division vice-presidents reported on actions taken in the steering committee meetings that had not been reported earlier in this meeting. The Council took the following actions in that regard:

a. R. Elaine Dreidame, University of Dayton, reported that the Division I Steering Committee had confirmed that meetings of other NCAA committees should not be scheduled, as a general rule, at the same time as meetings of the Council and the Executive Committee.

b. Anthony F. Ceddia, Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania, reported the following actions of the Division II Steering Committee:

(1) Recommended that the Council sponsor legislation to permit a transfer student from a two-year college who was not a qualifier to be eligible for practice and competition the first academic year in residence at a Division II institution only if the student has spent at least two semesters or three quarters in residence at the two-year college. It was the sense of the meeting that the Council sponsor the proposal.

(2) Recommended that the Council consider sponsoring legislation to expand the membership of the Basketball Officiating Committee to include individuals representing Division II men's and women's basketball officiating interests and to include individuals representing Division III men's and women's basketball officiating interests; further, that the duties of the committee be expanded to include monitoring of Division II and Division III men's and women's basketball officiating programs.

(a) The Division III Steering Committee indicated its support for such a proposal.

(b) It was voted that the Council sponsor proposed legislation consistent with the steering committee's recommendation.

(3) Requested that legislation be drafted to clarify the issue of daily and hour limitations that apply to student-athletes participation in spring football practice during spring vacation periods; further, that research be conducted to determine whether any such legislation could be adopted through the Council's authority to modify legislation consistent with the original proposal's intent, and finally, that the steering committee review specific proposals in this regard during its August meeting.

c. John H. Harvey, Carnegie Mellon University, reported the following actions of the Division III Steering Committee:

(1) Approved nonathletics achievement awards per Bylaw 15.4.6.4 for the University of Rochester and Wentworth Institute of Technology; further, determined to consider during the steering committee's August meeting possible revisions of Bylaw 15.4.6.4 to include additional criteria by which the steering committee would approve such awards.

(2) Reviewed a request submitted by the U.S. Coast Guard Academy for a waiver of the first contest date in football established under the provisions of Bylaw 17.7.3; agreed that no authority exists by which to waive the application of NCAA rules in this instance.

Arkansas State ready to move to Division I-A

Arkansas State University said its football program would move up from Division I-AA to Division I-A this season when it joins the Big West Conference.

The Big West council voted May 14 to extend football memberships to Arkansas State, Louisiana Tech University, Northern Illinois University and the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

Arkansas State had been classified Division I-AA since 1981.

"This reclassification places us into a position with other institutions with which we want to be associated academically as well as athletically," Arkansas State President Eugene Smith told The Associated Press. "This marks the achievement of a long-time goal that has taken a lot of work from many, many folks. It stems from a significant commitment by the people of Arkansas and the Mid-South who have been steadfast in their support of this move."

Arkansas State is the third college to gain Division I-A status since 1981. The others are the University of Akron and Louisiana Tech.

Arkansas State became a member of Division I in football in 1975, then elected to be in I-A three years later when the division split into Divisions I-A and I-AA.

An institution is not required to provide the data to any party other than those specified by the bylaw.

However, as the result of an NCAA Council decision, the book containing individual graduation-rate data for Division I institutions will be available for purchase from the Association by all interested parties, including representatives of the news media.

Public release

Shortly after the documents are distributed to member institutions and conferences, a news conference announcing the availability of the reports will be organized by the special committee in cooperation with the NCAA Communications Committee.

In the news conference, Association officials will explain how information in the reports was developed and what the data means.

Officials also will discuss how the Association has attempted to meet the Federal requirement that graduation-rate data reported through an athletics association or conference must be "substantially comparable" to data required by the Student Right-to-Know Act. The act authorizes the U.S. Secretary of Education to permit institutions to provide the required graduation-rate data through an organization like the NCAA, provided that the information is substantially comparable to the data required by the act.

In preparation for public release, copies of the two-page summary forms recently were provided to chief executive officers at Division I member institutions to permit a final review of the data. CEOs were asked to offer responses by May 21.

Other highlights

In other actions during its May 11-12 meeting in Dallas, the NCAA Special Advisory Committee to Review Implementation of 1990 Convention Proposal No. 24:

- Noted that the 1992-93 Graduation-Rates Disclosure Form was distributed to Division I institutions May 1 and is due October 1, 1992, and that the first disclosure form to be completed by Divisions II and III institutions will be distributed in early July 1992 for completion by July 1, 1993. The initial Divisions II and III report will focus on the class that first enrolled during the 1991-92 academic year.

- Agreed to prepare a memorandum for Division III institutions' chief executive officers explaining recent changes in the disclosure form and providing other information about the program. The memorandum will be sent to CEOs prior to distribution of the disclosure forms.

- Discussed steps that can be taken to prepare

Divisions II and III institutions for the first public release of graduation-rate data from those schools, including possibly providing those institutions with samples of Division I institutions' reports.

- Discussed the status of the development of proposed regulations that will be issued by the U.S. Department of Education regarding the Student Right-to-Know Act. A "Notice of Proposed Rule-Making" is expected to be released soon by the department, and the special committee will meet at that time to review the information and discuss its comparability to the Association's current reporting requirements.

- Discussed the possibility of obtaining from institutions a "transfer-cohort graduation rate" in place of the "refined" rate currently required by Association legislation. The special committee will seek a reaction to that concept from the NCAA Presidents Commission prior to presenting a recommendation to the NCAA Council in August.

Long shot

Trenton State's Jeanne Hengemuhl launches a one-out triple and scores Rachel Hudak in the Lions' 4-0 victory May 17 over Buena Vista in the NCAA Division III Softball Championship at Central College (Iowa). The title was the fourth in 11 years for Trenton State. See story on page 10.

Gator Bowl announces a $3 million payout

The Gator Bowl Association announced that teams participating in the 48th annual Gator Bowl December 31, 1992, will share a $3 million payout pool, the largest in the bowl's history.

"This year will be a record payout for us, eclipsing the $2.6 million paid to Clemson and West Virginia in 1989," Gator Bowl Association President Dave Middleton said. "We feel by increasing our payout, we will put ourselves in position to be one of the premier bowls in the country and attract the top teams. We have signed an agreement with the Southeastern Conference for a top team and feel we are in great shape to get a top name opponent, too."

The association also announced a three-year extension of TBS Sports' broadcast rights to the bowl game after completing a one-year agreement.

"TBS Sports is in the right place for the Gator Bowl," Middleton said. "They offered us a good contract, a good playing date and have committed to promoting the bowl with all of their resources. The Gator Bowl is their No. 1 bowl and that is important to us."

The 48th Gator Bowl will be in Jacksonville, Florida.

Orders being taken for athletics directory

The 1992-93 National Directory of College Athletics will be available this August, and orders are being taken now.

Sports information directors by now should have received update/change forms. The forms will not look like those in years past. However, if the form says "Collegiate Directories" or "The National Directory of College Athletics," it is the correct form to fill out and return. Institutions are asked to return the change/update form as soon as possible.

Those who have already returned their change/update forms and need to make more changes may mail them to Kevin Cleary, Editor, The National Directory of College Athletics, P.O. Box 450640, Cleveland, Ohio 44145, or fax them to 216/835-8835.

Prices for the 1992-93 directories are $17.95 for the men's edition and $12.95 for the women's copy, plus shipping and handling of $2 per book. For more information, contact Cleary at 216/835-1172.

room), auxiliary hotels (those with additional sleeping and meeting rooms) and overflow hotels (additional sleeping rooms only).

In San Antonio, the NCAA will headquarter at the Marriott Rivercenter and will use the Marriott Riverwalk, Hilton and Hyatt Regency as auxiliary hotels. A convention center will be used for meeting space, and the Menger will be used for sleeping rooms on an overflow basis.

In San Diego, the headquarters will be at the Marriott Marina. The Hyatt Regency will serve as the auxiliary hotel, and the Embassy Suites as the overflow. A convention center also will be used.

To develop a group of Convention complexes, the Executive Committee set these criteria for any city wishing to host the event:

- It must have and enforce laws prohibiting gambling, especially on football, basketball, baseball and ice hockey games (either collegiate or professional).

- It must be located below 38 degrees north latitude.

- It must have received at least a 60 percent approval rating in the most recent survey of Convention delegates.

- It must meet or exceed the meeting-space and sleeping-room requirements established by Convention management.

The Executive Committee may waive one or more of those conditions, if necessary.

As for dates, delegates have expressed a strong preference for conducting the opening business session on Sunday. The current policy, one that keeps with the Sunday through Wednesday format, is to schedule the opening business session on the first Sunday after January 6. The earliest possible dates under that guideline are January 7-10, and the latest are January 13-16. With the exception of the 1993 Convention, which will be in Dallas, all future options adhere to that plan.

Officials at the institution said in addition to the new hardwood floor, the walls, ceiling and rafters will be refurbished, as will parts of the TARTAN surface that will remain on the outer edges of the floor. The total cost of the project is estimated at $175,000.

Sports medicine

Study: Soccer causes head, neck injuries

One-third of Norway's former top soccer players suffer from permanent head and neck injuries that result in headaches, dizziness and impaired memory, according to researchers.

According to medical research reported in the newspaper Aftenposten, one-third of 37 former national team players had symptoms of central cerebral atrophy (brain shrinkage) from years of heading the ball, United Press International reported. X-rays showed clear damage to the neck, corresponding to a premature aging of 10 years.

Baylor program stays close to home in building dominant relay teams

By David D. Smale
The NCAA News Staff

Streaks, like most everything else, come big in Texas. So it is no surprise that Baylor University, home of some of the fastest runners on the planet, has an impressive streak in track's 1,600-meter relay.

What may be surprising is how the Bears have done it.

They have won 18 straight 1,600-meter relays and 71 of their last 74 heading into the Division I Men's Outdoor Track Championships in Austin, Texas, early next month. But in a sport in which national and international recruiting are the norms, the Baylor program has stayed close to home, developing consistently dominant relay teams mostly with athletes who attended Texas high schools within 200 miles of the Waco campus.

Take Michael Johnson (something nobody has been able to do recently). Johnson was not highly recruited out of Skyline High School in Dallas. But through coach Clyde Hart's training regimen, Johnson blossomed at Baylor. By the time he left in 1990, he was ranked No. 1 in the world in the 200- and 400-meter dashes.

Content with locals

While Hart does occasionally go after great runners from other states, he seems content to stay with local runners who may have been overlooked by other programs.

"I think it would be foolish for me to go out all over the world when we have great kids in the state of Texas," he said.

"It's just a practical thing. The five on our team right now are all from Texas (freshman Deon Minor, Paris; sophomore Corey Williams, Laneville; sophomore Tony Miller, Mount Pleasant; junior Ethridge Green, San Antonio, and junior Daniel Fredericks, El Paso)." Only Minor and Miller were nationally rated when they signed.

"We have gotten pretty lucky with a few kids," Hart continued. "We look for kids with a combination of speed and strength. We also look for kids who are motivated and have good work habits. People sometimes just look at performances without looking at how far they have already come."

"And then luck works in there. We have guessed right on a number of kids. We saw something in them. Plus, we have a lot of tradition in the event, so the kids come in with role models from our past."

The tradition is strong. Besides Johnson, 1991 graduate Ray Pierre was a member of the American-indoor-record-setting 1,600-meter relay team. Willie Caldwell is a former NCAA 500-meter and TAC 400-meter champion. Mark Collins may have started the trend when he qualified for the 400-meter dash finals at the 1976 Olympic Trials.

Four of Baylor's current team members, Minor, Fredericks, Green and Miller, have run the open 400-meter dash in less than 46 seconds. The fifth, Williams, has a best of 46.09.

But Hart doesn't want an entire team exclusively made up of 400-meter-dash runners.

"We don't just go get runners to win the 1,600-meter relay, though that is a goal," he said. "Our alums now expect us to win it. But we get the kids who can help the team effort. I think our training program is what helped Michael Johnson be ranked No. 1 in the world in the 200- and the 400-meter dashes. We work on speed and endurance."

Challenging Johnson

Minor may be the one who can challenge Johnson's legacy at Baylor. He won the NCAA indoor 400-meter championship and already is being compared to Johnson, now a volunteer coach at Baylor. But Hart will not join in.

"I don't think it would be fair to either one to compare them," he said. "Deon is further along at this stage than Michael was. Michael came so far. They are two distinct individuals."

While Minor was highly recruited (he was the No. 1-ranked 400-meter runner in high school last year), he is more the exception than the rule as far as Baylor recruits. It is when they get to the Waco campus that most of them find that they have little afterburners hidden in their feet.

Hart's training regimen is somewhat secret, but he says, "We have a

Baylor University's 1,600-meter relay is led by Deon Minor routine that we feel a kid can use to compete the whole year. They also have a wide range of events to compete in. Our five quarter-milers scored more than 50 points in the Southwest (Athletic) Conference meet by running in the 200, 400 and 800."

Baylor headed into the conference meet virtually assured of winning the 1,600-meter relay. They did, but they didn't take it for granted. "We have a lot of pride," Hart said. "When you are tired and have a two-day meet behind you, it would be easy to coast. We set the Southwest Conference record uncontested. We won in around 3:01 and second was around 3:06."

Eventually, opposing coaches can only hope, the five burners now on the team will be gone. But the Bears have recruited two of the top high-school sprinters in the country and, in a break from the norm, one is from outside Texas.

But tradition says that one of the recruits nobody has yet heard of will be the one setting the track world on its collective ear in about five years.

Different kind of diamond for Southwest Louisiana wedding

It's understandable if University of Southwestern Louisiana senior outfielder Papo Ramos had a case of the butterflies May 2. Not only were his parents watching him play college baseball for the first time, but Ramos probably had his mind on activities after the game—like his wedding.

The 22-year-old Ramos exchanged wedding vows at home plate on Southwestern Louisiana's Cajun Field with a former volleyball player at the school, Tina Giron, also 22.

"I married the man of my dreams," Giron told USA Today.

The wedding was performed in Spanish, French and English and was witnessed by 1,487 friends and fans.

Conference moves into new headquarters

The Trans America Athletic Conference staff is enjoying its new Macon, Georgia, headquarters, where it moved March 31 from Athens, Georgia.

The new mailing address and phone and facsimile machine numbers are: The Commons, 3370 Vineville Avenue, Suite 108-B, Macon, Georgia 31204. The telephone number is 912/474-3394, (fax 912/474-4272).

Five institutions join to form football group

The University of Cincinnati, East Carolina University, Memphis State University, University of Southern Mississippi and the University of Tulsa have announced the formation of the Independent Football Alliance, with a goal of generating increased recognition.

The five schools will begin playing one another on a home-and-home basis beginning with the 1993 season, as schedules permit. The alliance will establish weekly statistics, power ratings and individual awards throughout the football season.

"This is a positive move for our football program," Cincinnati head football coach Tim Murphy said. "It will allow our players a higher profile in terms of awards and recognition, and it will increase the public's awareness of upcoming opponents, developing continuity for future rivalries."

Place-kicker award planned next season

The nation's best place-kicker probably will not stand much of a chance for the Heisman Trophy, so the Palm Beach (Florida) Sports Authority, Inc., has stepped in to help.

It announced the formation of the Lou Groza Collegiate Place-Kicker Award, which will go annually to college football's top place-kicker beginning with the 1992 season. A panel of sportswriters and sports broadcasters from across the country has been assembled to nominate and select the recipients.

"Kickers do not have the opportunity for recognition that most of the other positions in college football have," said Tom Seitz, executive director of the Palm Beach County Sports Authority, Inc. "The Groza Award will fill this void. Palm Beach County and all of south Florida is a hotbed for football talent, and it is appropriate for this community to honor one of the few remaining positions not recognized."

Pop Warner Awards dinner set for June

NCAA Executive Director Richard D. Schultz will be one of three major award recipients at the 32nd annual Pop Warner Awards Dinner, scheduled June 16 at the Wyndham Franklin Plaza Hotel in Philadelphia.

Schultz will receive the Warner Award, presented to an individual "who has demonstrated academic and athletic excellence." Joining him as award recipients will be former Pittsburgh Steeler and NFL Hall of Fame cornerback Mel Blount, who now serves as a consultant and member of the NFL Commissioner's Players Advisory Group, and Robert P. Levy, chair of DRT Industries, Inc.

Blount is this year's recipient of the Joseph J. Tomlin Memorial Medallion, presented for outstanding character development, physical fitness and scholastic achievement. Levy will receive the Gold Football Award for a distinguished record of service to youth, community, country or humanity.

Senior has field day, plays every position

Talk about having a "field day"

St. Mary's College (California) senior Greg Noble knows exactly what that means.

The San Ramon, California, native played a different defensive position each inning in St. Mary's 16-8 victory over the University of San Francisco May 8.

Noble's nine innings of defensive work went this way: first inning—third base, second inning—shortstop, third inning—second base, fourth inning—first base, fifth inning—right field, sixth inning—center field, seventh inning—left field, and eighth inning—catcher and then pitcher. Noble returned to the mound in the ninth inning.

Offensively, Noble was just as nifty, going three-for-five with two runs batted in and two runs scored.
