Association selects Today's Top Six winners

Two NCAA individual champions, the 1992 Heisman and Wade Trophy winners and two football all-Americans have been selected as this year's Today's Top Six.

The honorees are football player Michael Compton, West Virginia University; football player Carlton Gray, University of California, Los Angeles; track and field athlete Clyston "Steve" Holman, Georgetown University; gymnast Missy Marlowe, University of Utah; basketball player Susan Robinson, Pennsylvania State University, and football player Gino Torretta, University of Miami (Florida).

New member joins Council

Jerry L. Kingston, professor of economics and faculty athletics representative at Arizona State University, is the Pacific-10 Conference's new representative on the NCAA Council.

Kingston

Kingston replaces Michael B. McGee, former director of athletics at the University of Southern California, as the conference's representative. McGee recently became athletics director at the University of South Carolina, Columbia.

Kingston is in his sixth year as Arizona State's faculty representative. He has been on the Arizona State faculty since 1969. His teaching interests are in the field of labor economics, and his research activities have centered on the federal-state unemployment insurance program.

He currently serves as chair of the NCAA Academic Requirements Committee.

Financial committee offers concepts package

A list of 17 "legislative concepts" has been developed by the NCAA Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Intercollegiate Athletics and will be forwarded to various constituencies within the membership for consideration.

Part of a package that includes longer-term legislative considerations as well as proposed recommendations to institutions and conferences for ways to achieve economies in their programs, the concepts were approved by the committee for circulation in a December 16 telephone conference.

In addition, the special committee established a subcommittee to develop for membership reaction a proposal to modify the NCAA division structure to afford Divisions I and II institutions greater flexibility in their athletics programs.

Under this concept, institutions would decide on a sport-by-sport basis the grant-in-aid level at which each sport would be sponsored. There would be financial aid maximums for all sports but not minimums. Each institution would have greater flexibility in controlling the costs of its athletics programs.

Also, two tiers of championships could be conducted in each sport, with each institution currently in Division I or II selecting the level at which it chooses to compete.

Hold merit

Charged with developing a package of legislative proposals for the NCAA Presidents Commission to consider for the 1994 Convention, the concepts do not represent the special committee's finished product, according to James E. Delany, commissioner of the Big Ten Conference and chair of the committee.

"Since late September, the special committee has heard and considered numerous proposals, rejecting some and retaining oth-

Cost-reduction proposals drawing opposition

This is the sixth in a series of seven articles covering the legislation that will be voted upon at the NCAA Convention next month in Dallas. This article features proposals in the awards/expenses/amateurism and governance groupings.

Several proposals intended to reduce costs in intercollegiate athletics are featured in the awards/expenses/amateurism grouping at the 1993 Convention, but all would be withdrawn if the NCAA Council and Presidents Commission have their way.

Of four proposals offered by member conferences to cut costs, the one that appeared to be drawing the most attention—at least until last week—was Proposal No. 145, which would establish limits on the size of travel squads in Division I.

The proposal would establish the following limits for regular-season conference and nonconference competition: baseball, 22 participants; men's and women's basketball, 12 each; men's and women's cross country, 10 each; men's and women's fencing, 12 each; field hockey, 16; football, 60; men's and women's golf, seven each; men's gymnastics, 13; women's gymnastics, 12; men's ice hockey, 20; men's and women's lacrosse, 32 each; men's and women's rifle, 12 total; men's and women's skiing, 12 each; men's and women's soccer, 18 each; women's softball, 20; men's and women's swimming, 20 each; men's and women's tennis, eight each; men's indoor track, 25; women's indoor track, 22; men's outdoor track, 30; women's outdoor track, 26; men's and women's volleyball, 12 each; men's water polo, 15, and wrestling, 13.

Briefly in the News

Newcomer makes mark

Not many college basketball players waited until their senior year of high school before beginning competitive careers. But Gaynor O'Donnell can claim that distinction, and a few others as well.

O'Donnell, a senior point guard at East Carolina University and the Division I assists leader through December 14, grew up in Merseyside, England. Although she began tinkering around with the game of basketball when she was a junior high school student, she did not play competitively until a foreign-exchange program sent her—as a high-school senior—thousands of miles from home to Goldsboro, North Carolina.

At Southern Wayne County High School, she received the 1989 Mid-Eastern 4A player-of-the-year award and since then has enjoyed a fine career at East Carolina, where she is the school's career assists leader.

"In England, we never really kept statistics so I didn't really know what an assist was," she said. "I wasn't really complimented on my passing until I came to the (United) States, and then to break a record like that (school career mark)... I feel good about it."

Last summer, she claimed another distinction. O'Donnell met the Queen of England, Prince Edward and British athletes Daly Thompson and Virginia Wade at a party honoring Britain's Olympic gold-medal athletes at Buckingham Palace. O'Donnell received an invitation because a team she played for in the Commonwealth Games won the gold medal.

Check in, not out recent contest against North Dakota State University: "They check in, but they don't check out."

When the Rangers sent Alisha Strzok into the game with 9 minutes, 2 seconds remaining, none of the five Regis (Colorado) players headed for the bench. So the Rangers had six players on the court.

"(My teammate) asked me who I had and I said, 'No. 15,'" North Dakota State player Lynette Mund told the Fargo (North Dakota) Forum. "Then it was who had No. 11.

Then everyone started asking who had No. 4. That's when we realized they had six players on the court.

"We didn't know which players to guard... it was just total confusion."

With a 6-5 advantage on the floor, Regis scored, but then referees realized what had happened. They allowed the Regis basket to stand, but gave North Dakota State two technical free throws, which the Bison converted.

Sweet receives honor

NCAA President Judith M. Sweet, director of athletics at the University of California, San Diego, has been named the 1992 Thrifty Car Rental Holiday Bowl's honorary chair.

The honor is awarded annually to an individual "who has contributed to the San Diego community in a meaningful way." The bowl game will be played December 30 at Jack Murphy Stadium in San Diego.

Sweet, who has served as UC San Diego's athletics director since 1975, was impressed with the accolade.

"I am overwhelmed with the honor," she said. "It is truly a privilege to be a part of one of San Diego's finest events."

Record hockey crowd

A collegiate nontournament record crowd of 18,147 jammed into the Palace in Auburn Hills, Michigan, to see the University of Michigan and University of Notre Dame battle in men's ice hockey. Michigan prevailed, 5-1.

The previous record of 16,643 was set last February 22 at Joe Louis Arena in downtown Detroit when Michigan met state rival Michigan State University.

The largest crowd to watch a collegiate ice hockey game is 21,576, set during the championship round of the 1984 Great Lakes Invitational Tournament, also at Joe Louis Arena.

Facilities

The installation of lights at Scott Field at Abilene Christian University will enable the Wildcat baseball team to play several night games next spring. A majority of the $144,000 in funding for the project was provided by the family of the late Crutcher Scott, longtime Abilene, Texas, businessman and member of the Abilene Christian board of trustees, for whom the stadium is named.

The men's and women's track teams at Virginia Polytechnic Institute will be running outdoors by 1994, thanks in part to an anonymous donor who contributed $500,000 for construction of a track. A little more than $1.1 million has been pledged for the project. Currently, Virginia Tech has only an indoor facility, which it purchased in 1980 from Madison Square Garden and erected in Rector Field House.

Westfield State College rolled out the carpet—Astroturf, more specifically—in an October 17 dedication ceremony for its refurbished outdoor athletics complex. Simply called the Athletic Complex for the past 20 years, the facility was renamed Alumni Field. The new surface and a new eight-lane track cost $1.8 million and will be financed over the next seven years by Westfield State alumni.

Patriot League selects woman commissioner

Constance H. Hurlbut has been selected to become executive director of the Patriot League, making her the first woman picked to head a Division I all-sports conference for men and women.

The Patriot League sponsors 22 sports, including Division I-AA football.

Hurlbut, associate executive director of the Ivy Group since 1989, will succeed Carl Ullrich July 1, 1993. Ullrich will retire after a 42-year career in athletics as a coach and administrator.

Hurlbut was selected for the position after a search by an eight-member committee headed by the Rev. John E. Brooks, president of the College of the Holy Cross.

"This committee believes that Constance Hurlbut, who was chosen from among 65 candidates, will provide exciting, innovative and positive leadership for the Patriot League as we enter a new age for intercollegiate athletics," Brooks said.

Ullrich, the Patriot League's second executive director, said Hurlbut brings noteworthy experience in working on Ivy Group campuses with a variety of athletics and institutional officials. "She will bring a stimulating, positive and new approach to the leadership of the league," he said.

Hurlbut has been with the Ivy Group for 6½ years, also having served as assistant executive director of the league.

After her graduation from the University of Pennsylvania in 1983, she was an Asa S. Bushnell intern in the Eastern College Athletic Conference and then was assistant commissioner of the ECAC for two years.

She is married to Steve Hurlbut, associate commissioner of the Northeast Conference.

Media can have letter, judge says

A judge has ordered Auburn University to provide a newspaper with an official letter of inquiry it has received from the NCAA.

Lee County Circuit Judge James Gullledge gave the university until February 5, 1993, to comply with his order to give the letter to The Birmingham News. "That way Auburn can fully comply with the NCAA request for a response," the judge told The Associated Press.

He said he issued the ruling December 7.

The News, citing Alabama's open records law, filed suit earlier this month against university President William V. Muse, athletics director Mike Lude and Auburn's board of trustees.

Auburn attorney Tommy Thagard of Montgomery said then that releasing the NCAA letter "would seriously jeopardize an ongoing internal investigation being conducted by Auburn University."

Thagard said the university would consider whether to appeal Gullledge's ruling.

Committee approves membership trust plan

New approach would place $67 million in trust by 1996-97

The NCAA Executive Committee, acting on a recommendation from the Budget Subcommittee, has approved allocating to the membership trust fund all revenues from the CBS Sports television contract that exceed the average annual revenues of that seven-year agreement.

The Executive Committee took the action at its December 6-7 meeting.

Directing the money in this manner will place about $67 million, including interest income, in the membership trust by the end of the 1996-97 fiscal year. In the event that future negotiations result in rights fees equal to or greater than the current annual average ($143 million), the money in the trust fund would be distributed to Division I member institutions using the current revenue-distribution process.

In discussing the Association's 1992-93 budget, which includes an allocation of $2,637,000 to the trust fund, the Executive Committee at its August meeting considered the total television rights fees accruing from the current CBS contract and reviewed projections related to the growth of the membership trust fund using two approaches: One was to continue allocating two percent of the annual rights fee to the fund, and the other was to calculate the average annual rights fees over the term of the contract and allocating to the trust all revenues in excess of the annual average.

The committee expressed its concern regarding the possibility that future television negotiations might not sustain the revenue levels in the current contract. The rationale for the membership trust fund is that it provides a mechanism through which the Association would be financially able to continue various programs and services for a limited time in the event future negotiations resulted in an overall reduction in revenues from television rights fees.

The NCAA Presidents Commission previously had recommended that the Association's annual general operating budget should include, at a minimum, an allocation to the trust fund of two percent of the rights fees for each year of the current contract. In preparing the 1991-92 budget, the Executive Committee agreed to reduce the initial allocation to the trust to one percent of the 1991-92 rights fees ($1,228,500).

Tuning in: Women's TV growth mostly on cable

By Ronald D. Mott
THE NCAA NEWS STAFF

Check your local listings.

That usually is the advice television networks give to viewers who are in search of some program or another on a local affiliate station.

Check your local listings very carefully. This is perhaps the advice these same networks should deliver to viewers in search of a basketball game involving their favorite women's college basketball team.

Television coverage of women's basketball has grown dramatically over the past decade, particularly with the exposure that the Women's Final Four receives on CBS. But if one does not scour those local listings, finding a live regular-season women's basketball game on the tube sometimes can be a challenging task.

Networks such as ESPN, SportsChannel, Prime Network and others do actively produce and broadcast women's basketball, but consistently getting these games to viewers is another matter. Depending upon local cable systems, women's basketball games that are seen in some markets may be nowhere to be found in others.

League agreements

The Mid-Continent Conference recently reached an agreement with SportsChannel to broadcast 10 women's basketball games live during the season. The games reach an estimated 2.2 million homes in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Indiana, said Jim Corno, group vice-president for the Midwest region of SportsChannel and vice-president/general manager of SportsChannel's Chicago-based affiliate.

"We feel we make a substantial commitment to women's basketball," Corno said. "We're producing 23 live women's basketball games and there will be other games that we'll likely pick up, including the Great Midwest Conference championship and the Mid-Continent Conference championship."

"I don't know of any other regional sports network that will

Thanks in part to recent deals among the NCAA, conferences and television networks, coverage of women's basketball games—including the Women's Final Four—is increasing.

devote this much time to women's basketball. I think the reason you don't see this type of coverage outside of cable is because of the advertising dollars and the ratings."

In many cases, conferences will reach an agreement with a regional sports carrier that will require the conference to share in the costs of production. Sometimes, institutions themselves will negotiate a deal with the networks. Often the goal is not to make a lot of money but rather not to lose a lot.

But Corno said that because of cooperative ventures, SportsChannel is more willing to broadcast games.

"This is a real collective effort," he said. "But because of the local and regional aspect, we feel we serve our purpose."

"(SportsChannel) felt that women's basketball was becoming more popular and they encouraged it," said Mark Rudner, assistant commissioner of the Big Ten Conference, which also has an agreement with SportsChannel. "There was no reluctance on SportsChannel's part to enter into this agreement. Raycom produces and distributes two 30-minute specials on women's basketball for us, and last year we cleared 32 stations."

Last year, the Big Ten sponsored a survey of Division I conferences concerning their television packages for women's athletics. It found that most Division I conferences held agreements with sports networks to broadcast women's athletics.

Greater exposure

Coverage of regular-season women's basketball games continues to increase each year through the regional-based sports networks, but the sport gets its biggest boost through exposure on ESPN, the cable sports giant, and CBS.

ESPN has released a schedule of 10 regular-season contests and five postseason women's games it plans to broadcast this season. ESPN also will televise each of the four Division I regional finals, as well as the Division II championship game.

In addition to live coverage of the Women's Final Four, which is on the same weekend as the men's Final Four, CBS will broadcast live three regular-season women's basketball games this season.

"Obviously, the last three years have been a boom for women's basketball on the network level," said Len DeLuca, vice-president, programming/planning at CBS Sports. "The (Division I) women's championship game has emerged as a staple in its late-afternoon time slot. It is a very solid product. It has sought its own audience and its own level."

NCAA Productions is involved as well. It produces Division I women's regional semifinals for live broadcasts nationally on Prime Network and also produces a live tournament selection show for ESPN.

The future

While women's college basketball may not reach the level of national television network attention that men's college basketball garners, it continues to make its mark at the regional level. That is where a large portion of its continual growth will occur, some say.

"What I hope happens is that conferences continue to work on their packages," said Donna A. Lopiano, executive director of the Women's Sports Foundation and former director of women's athletics at the University of Texas at Austin. "What women's athletics needs more of right now is exposure. That's the most effective promotion/advertising/credibility vehicle you can give to women's basketball right now."

Lopiano also said she foresees women's athletics suffering from reductions in television rights fees that networks will be willing to pay to broadcast college sports in the future.

"I don't see the rights fees staying where they are," she said. "The networks have overextended themselves to men's sports, and women's sports are going to suffer from those packages."

Regional coverage is likely to remain at center stage for women's athletics for some time to come. But some say that women's basketball, in particular, is undergoing growing pains similar to those experienced by now-successful ventures like the Division I Men's Basketball Championship and professional basketball.

"I think the reason you don't see this type of coverage outside of cable is because of the advertising dollars and the ratings," Corno said. "It wasn't that long ago that the NBA was having its championship games on ABC on a delayed basis. I think as the game (women's basketball) grows, so will the coverage."

"I think a lot of it has to do with participation. The interest will be created and it will grow. You have to give a lot of credit to the conferences."

Volleyball committee recommends taking 1995 championship to Massachusetts

If California schools are to continue their domination of the NCAA Men's Volleyball Championship, they apparently will have to do it in the Eastern half of the country during the 1994 and 1995 seasons.

The Men's Volleyball Committee, meeting December 17-20 in Albuquerque, New Mexico, voted to recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that the 1995 championship be held at Springfield College in Springfield, Massachusetts. Springfield would become the farthest-East site ever for the championship.

The 1994 championship will be held at Indiana University-Purdue University, Fort Wayne, which would host its second championship.

In addition, the committee met with members of the NCAA Division I Women's Volleyball Committee to discuss common issues, including corporate sponsors, official ball sponsors, training of line judges and rally scoring.

The committee also met with representatives from Sport Court, Inc., the official supplier of volleyball playing surfaces, to discuss the use of one of the company's surfaces during the 1993 championship at the University of California, Los Angeles. Sport Court floors have only volleyball lines marked on them and would easily allow for more attractive placement of NCAA seals and championship logos.

Other highlights

In other actions at its December 17-20 meeting in Albuquerque, New Mexico, the Men's Volleyball Committee:

- Discussed possible sites for the 1996 championship.
- Discussed the allocation of promotional funds from the Mikasa ball contract and recommended to the Executive Committee that those funds be directed toward televising the 1993 championship semifinal matches.
- Designated April 26 and May 2 as dates for selection calls for the 1993 championship.
- Clarified rule 12-3-d regarding rally scoring in the 1993 United States Volleyball Association Rule Book, as it pertains to the NCAA championship, to read, "The winning team shall be the team which scores 15 points and has gained a two-point advantage, with no point cap or limit"
- Discussed the U.S. Volleyball Association start-up grants program and identified potential recipients for 1993-94.
- Reconfirmed that the committee's annual meeting will be held in conjunction with the NCAA Division I Women's Volleyball Championship.

Finance committee in touch with reality

By James E. Delany

CHAIR, NCAA SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO REVIEW FINANCIAL CONDITIONS IN INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

In the last six years, three NCAA Conventions have been targeted for the specific purpose of reducing the costs of intercollegiate athletics through the passage of national legislation.

Repeated efforts to address the cost challenge at the national level can best be explained by the following realities:

1. Expenditures have continued to rise to the level of available resources (in the 1990 edition of Revenues and Expenses of Intercollegiate Athletics Programs, Mitchell H. Raiborn estimates that expenses rose 53 percent between 1985 and 1989).
2. Institutions have felt constrained in their ability to unilaterally effect reduction in areas perceived to affect conference and national competitiveness.
3. As institutional budgets have come under greater pressure, intercollegiate athletics has experienced stabilization or reduction in the direct and institutional subsidies.
4. The challenges of gender equity and Title IX have increased at a time when media, corporate and institutional revenues are projected to be flat or in decline.

As chair of the NCAA Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Intercollegiate Athletics, I would like to share some thoughts on the work of the committee and some of the cost-reduction approaches we may take in responding to the charge of the NCAA Presidents Commission.

The special committee believes that the need for cost reduction is real, although the causes of and solutions to the financial challenge are as varied as the institutions that make up the NCAA. The committee believes that institutions have primary responsibility to sponsor sports consistent with the available resources.

In the past, NCAA Conventions have in certain instances micromanaged the costs of intercollegiate athletics through national legislation. The committee's attitude has been that this approach is unwise, costly

Value of values becoming clear

By Wilford S. Bailey
AUBURN UNIVERSITY

Widely publicized scandals in government and business are viewed by many as evidence that our society has lost touch with fundamental values and standards of ethical behavior.

Consistent with this view is the recent conclusion of the Committee on National Challenges in Higher Education: "Restoring respect for fundamental values and ethical behavior" is one of the five most important challenges that will face the American people during the remainder of this decade and well into the 21st century.

In no phase of higher education is this challenge greater than in addressing the abuses in college sports—a problem that has persisted for a century but now poses a serious threat to the credibility of higher education. As a scientist, I am inclined to believe that alternatives for correcting this problem can be evaluated most incisively by use of the medical metaphor: Abuses in college sports constitute an illness of higher education. To effectively control any disease, the fundamental causes must be addressed.

The fundamental causes are:

- Disregard for the central mission of the university.

- Failure to adhere to basic ethical values of behavior.

The lack of wholeness in the relationship of athletics and education has been addressed quite vigorously in the last decade, and research provides evidence that progress is being made in this area. More can be expected as the result of recent additional changes in academic requirements for achieving and maintaining eligibility for participation in athletics. (Some of those requirements do not become effective until 1995.)

Progress also has been made in other areas, particularly in emphasis on institutional control under authority of the university's chief executive officer. That such progress has been made was affirmed recently by the Knight Foundation Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics, which issued a 1991 report on problems in college sports and its recommendations for reform. A cochair of the commission expressed the view that more reform had been accomplished in the past two years than during the previous 30 to 40 years.

That such progress has been made, and that the NCAA Presidents Commission is providing leadership and maintaining momentum for reform, is encouraging. But for truly meaningful reform to be achieved in this decade, the effort must address a different kind of issue: ethical conduct by coaches, student-athletes and others who attach themselves to college sports.

"It has been shown that college years represent a major opportunity for the development of moral values... values on which civilized society and learning depend."

Fortunately, the Presidents Commission has recognized this need and has made a commitment to address this issue. The next phase of the Commission's reform effort is titled "Integrity: Sportsmanship and Ethics in Intercollegiate Athletics." This is to be the primary focus of the Commission's reform effort for the 1996 NCAA Convention as the next phase of its strategic plan for reform. Much effort will be required in the next three years to identify appropriate approaches addressing this major and complex issue and to find ways to effectively implement them.

Reform can't take the place of principle

"I've never been in favor of a playoff system, and even with our current situation (Texas A&M has only a small chance for the national championship despite a 12-0 record), I haven't changed my mind.

"I don't want to be viewed as un-American, but I like the system we have. I've just never seen the need for us to have a definite No. 1. With the bowls, there are lots of winners at the end of the year instead of just one. I know college football is a holdout in terms of a playoff, and I know it works in the other sports. I really don't have an answer on why we should be different. I just like it the way it's always been."

Funding high-school sports

The Associated Press

Wilson edited a report on the high-school athletics funding crisis:

"The situation is very bad virtually everywhere in the country...."

"In terms of proposed solutions, people recommended developing a better understanding of the commercial value of high-school sports. They felt it would be necessary for high-school sports administrators to become fluent in the vocabulary of the business community and to have better understanding of the economic motivations that attract corporate involvement.

"Without some outside funding, it will be impossible to fund high-school sports at the same level they've been in the past. I would say in many school districts, that needs to begin immediately."

Courage fuels swimmer's miraculous recovery

By Gary T. Brown
THE NCAA NEWS STAFF

This holiday season, University of Notre Dame swimmer Haley Scott hopes to unwrap her most precious gift—herself.

Scott is scheduled to have the body brace she has worn since June removed as part of her miraculous recovery from the severe spinal injuries she suffered in a bus accident last January that claimed the lives of two teammates.

Scott was the most seriously hurt of 35 others who were injured in the crash. Three of her vertebrae were shattered by the impact when the bus overturned.

Doctors told Scott shortly after the accident that she would never walk again. Metal rods were inserted during two surgeries the night of the crash to help stabilize Scott's spine, but she remained paralyzed below the waist.

Three days later

Scott refused to realize the extent of her injuries, thinking she would regain movement when the swelling in her back subsided. With enormous resolve, she was wiggling her toes three days later, walking in a matter of weeks and resuming life as a freshman at Notre Dame by mid-March.

Doctors were astounded that Scott experienced any recovery at all. Now, she is planning to make that recovery complete by returning to the pool.

"My final goal is to compete again," she said. "I'd like to start training in January and continue all the way through next fall and be ready for our season opener."

"But honestly, getting the brace off is all I want right now. I can't even imagine how excited I'll be when that happens."

Scott's experience has been a source of inspiration to the Notre Dame campus and the Fighting Irish swim team, both of which have been equally important to Scott. Within days after the accident, she received a giant laminated card with signatures from nearly 90 percent of the student body. Teammates called daily to encourage her, and she received stacks of letters from the Notre Dame community and from around the country offering support.

Although she was told by doctors that she would never walk again, University of Notre Dame swimmer Haley Scott is determined to complete an astonishing recovery by returning to competition.

It was the type of assistance Scott considers critical to her recovery.

Team crucial

"Not being on a team would have made this a lot more difficult," she said. "I have turned to the strength of my teammates to get by. My team, my coach and everyone on campus have been 200 percent supportive."

"I don't know how people go through something like this without that kind of support."

Notre Dame swimming coach Tim Welsh sees Scott as the embodiment of the values around which he has built his coaching foundation.

"We have a team definition that says the purpose of Notre Dame swimming is to pursue athletics excellence with self-discipline and love for one another," he said. "Haley's faith, courage, determination, discipline, trust and love are all values that we assume. Her healing renews and strengthens our spirit and our faith as it renews and strengthens her body."

Scott's spirit and faith were tested in May when the metal rods in her back loosened, forcing her and her family to seek further medical advice. Physicians in South Bend, Indiana, and Phoenix recommended anterior spinal surgery as her only option. The procedure required two complicated seven-hour operations to remove the old rods and straighten her spine through a bone graft where the three damaged vertebrae had been. New rods were inserted, and she was then wrapped in the plastic body brace.

Those weeks were the worst. Scott was exasperated with the pain and frustration, but she again relied on her will and the strength of her friends and family.

'Meaning of courage'

Scott was back on the Notre Dame campus in September, receiving the Maxwell House Spirit of Notre Dame Award from athletics director Richard A. Rosenthal.

"Haley has given new definition to the meaning of courage at Notre Dame," Rosenthal said during the presentation.

Scott's relationship with the institution, as well as her commitment to athletics, has remained strong. At no time after the accident did Scott consider leaving Notre Dame or the athletics arena.

At the same time, administrators at Notre Dame did what they could to help Scott fulfill her collegiate experience. Scott's scholarship was renewed without any athletics obligation. Upon her return to campus she was told to pursue her academic progress at her own pace.

"I couldn't imagine not being here," Scott said. "For some reason I've always felt that this is where I'm supposed to be."

"And I still think that being an athlete is the greatest thing in the world. I know that my being in such good shape was a huge bonus in going through rehabilitation; and my state of mind as an athlete, the determination, the stubbornness and the competitive drive were also helpful."

'Very determined'

"Haley's a very determined person," said Scott's mother, Charlotte. "We knew from the beginning that it (the severity of the injury) didn't matter—that she was alive and had her mental faculties—those were the two gifts we had. Anything more we knew Haley would take care of herself."

"I can't imagine Haley being anywhere safer than Notre Dame," she added. "They've always made us feel that we have a family there."

Welsh agreed.

"All the talk about the Notre Dame 'family' has been true," he said. "We continue to have all the support resources at Notre Dame—medical, administrative and psychological—to assist us. We are surrounded by friends, students, coaches, administrators, priests and faculty who know and care for us."

"In all those senses, the collegiate environment has been very insulating. We know that being at Notre Dame has helped our recovery."

The Notre Dame swimming "family" is working through another season without Scott. Last year, the Irish missed only one meet because of the accident, despite having 20 swimmers who required medical treatment. The

Upcoming meetings

Faculty Athletics Representatives Association (FARA). Representatives from the NCAA compliance services and legislative services staffs will be involved in the FARA meeting. The general meeting will be Wednesday, January 13, from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the Stemmons Auditorium at the Loews Anatole Hotel in Dallas.

A meeting of recently appointed faculty athletics representatives has been scheduled for Tuesday, January 12, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Senators Hall of the Loews Anatole Hotel. The purpose of that meeting will be to acquaint recently appointed faculty athletics representatives with issues they will be facing. All interested faculty athletics representatives are asked to submit the registration form for the January 12 meeting (mailed November 18 by Richard J. Dunn, FARA chair) to the NCAA national office by January 5.

Compliance strategies

Rules education: The review of proposed and adopted legislation is a key component of an institutional rules-education program. To solicit the input of staff members regarding proposed NCAA and conference legislation, institutional administrators (responsible for rules education on campus) may wish to consider:

- Preparing and disseminating to various target groups "capsulized" versions of legislative proposals focusing on specific relevant topics.

- Soliciting comments through designated liaisons in each department.

- Conducting topical discussions with staff members so they can provide input.

- Ensuring that meetings are held with target audiences after each NCAA Convention and conference meeting to inform them of changes that may affect their programs or responsibilities.

The NCAA compliance services staff has developed a rules-education program document to assist institutions and conferences in enhancing their rules-education efforts. The document is contained in the 1992-93 NCAA Guide to Rules Compliance and also may be requested from compliance services through the 1992-93 NCAA Resource File Checklist.

From the membership

Here are some responses given by compliance coordinators during the 1992 NCAA regional seminars in response to an inquiry about significant athletics issues to discuss with coaches. The topics that were identified most frequently were:

- Recruiting rules.
- Playing- and practice-season rules.
- Initial and continuing eligibility.
- New legislation.
- Athletics certification.

- Academic profile of recruited prospective student-athletes.

- Lack of coaches' involvement in the legislative process.

- Benefits of an effective compliance program on campus.

In response to a question about the problems encountered in sharing these messages with coaching staff members, some compliance coordinators identified the following:

- Mandatory meetings are not enforced by the director of athletics and president.

- Travel schedules.

- Conflict with part-time coaches' schedules.

- Disinterest.

- Financial constraints that prevent providing coaches with rules-education materials.

- "Kill the messenger" attitude. Coaches blame compliance coordinator for rules.

- Coaches are not evaluated on their attendance at meetings and are not provided with tangible awards for attendance.

This material was provided by the NCAA compliance services staff as an aid to member institutions and conference offices. Institutions or conference offices with questions or issues concerning the content addressed in this column may contact John H. Leavens, assistant executive director for compliance services, at the NCAA national office.

Kicker goes out a hero in I-AA championship

A record crowd of 31,304 fans and a nationwide CBS television audience won't soon forget Marshall's 31-28 victory over Youngstown State in the NCAA Division I-AA Football Championship December 19 in Huntington, West Virginia.

With seven seconds left in the game and the score tied at 28, senior Willy Merrick took center stage in Marshall Stadium and kicked the first and last field goal of his collegiate career—a 22-yarder—to give the Thundering Herd its first football title. Merrick found himself on the spot when his younger brother, Dave, the team's regular placekicker, was suspended for missing practice.

"When it came down to about three minutes left and we were on the last drive... my roommate came over and said, 'Willy, you know this is going to come down to a kick,'" Merrick remembered.

One of those witnessing the elder Merrick's kick was teammate and junior linebacker William King. On the second play of the third quarter, King was injured while tackling Youngstown State running back Tamron Smith for no gain. King, who was momentarily unconscious and experiencing numbness in his neck, left the field on a stretcher and was taken to the hospital. However, King returned to the Marshall sideline before the end of the game.

For most of the game it seemed that Marshall (12-3) would beat Youngstown State (11-4) soundly.

At the end of the first half, Marshall was ahead, 14-0. The Herd dominated the line of scrimmage, giving quarterback Michael Payton, the Division I-AA player of the year, time to pass and Orlando Hatchett and Glenn Pedro holes to run through. Offensively, Youngstown State could gain only three first downs and muster 66 yards of total offense.

Marshall scored twice more in the third quarter to lead, 28-0, but then the Thundering Herd faltered and Youngstown State came storming back.

On the kickoff after Marshall's fourth touchdown, the Penguins' Malcolm Everette returned the ball 40 yards to give the Penguins good field position. Then, Nick Cochran connected with Herb Williams on a 30-yard touchdown pass to put Youngstown State on the scoreboard.

On Marshall's next possession, a mishandled snap on a punt gave the ball to Youngstown State, which then scored on a four-yard touchdown run by Smith.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter the momentum belonged to the Penguins. Youngstown State's big offensive linemen and Smith stepped it up a notch to score two rushing touchdowns and tie the game with 3:28 left.

"We didn't put in any new plays,"

Youngstown State coach Jim Tressel said. "We perhaps called a few better ones in the second half and executed pretty darn well."

Youngstown State's furious 28-point comeback rekindled memories of last year's title game between the same teams, in which the Penguins came back from an 11-point deficit and scored 19 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to win the championship.

"We had to shake off the thought, 'here we go again,'" Marshall coach Jim Donnan said.

"Coach called us to the sidelines and told us to drive it down the field for a field goal," Payton said. "I told the guys we had bled and sweated for three years, some of us for five, so we've got to get it done."

Marshall's explosive offense reignited and moved 81 yards downfield to put the ball on Youngstown State's five-yard line and set up Merrick's winning field goal.

Stanford stuns UCLA in I volleyball final

Loss snaps Bruins' 43-match streak

After coming within one game of upsetting top-ranked UCLA earlier this season, Stanford climbed the mountain when it counted most and knocked off the previously unbeaten Bruins, 15-8, 15-9, 6-15, 15-10, in the Division I Women's Volleyball Championship December 19 at New Mexico.

The loss snapped a 43-match winning streak for UCLA (33-1). The Bruins were attempting to become the first Division I women's team to win three consecutive championships.

Stanford (31-2) had suffered its only two defeats this season to UCLA, one a 3-2 decision on the Cardinal's home floor. The Bruins had, in fact, dealt out four of the five total losses suffered by the three tournament semifinalists.

"You just learn that you keep trying and your time comes," said Cardinal head coach Don Shaw. "We have a lot of players, coaches and other people associated with our program who have put in a lot of work, and this is kind of a culmination (of that work). The bottom line is that we've had a very good program."

Senior Bev Oden, the first four-time Division I volleyball all-American, paced the Cardinal upset, scoring 21 kills in 42 total attempts. Stanford also got double-figure kill totals from Cary Wendell and Kristi Paaso.

"It's a very sweet win," Shaw said. "We knew if we kept banging on the door that sooner or later a hole would be formed and somebody would open it. I guess we made our own hole."

The Cardinal nearly dug themselves a hole in game three, committing 10 errors and allowing UCLA to cut what had been a 2-0 Stanford lead in half.

"We struggled a little bit in game three," Shaw said. "We came back in game four and our side-out offense was tremendous. They know that if they keep siding out long enough that they'll get their chances, and that's exactly what they did."

The championship was Stanford's first after finishing second three times during a four-year period from 1984 to 1987.

The Cardinal knocked out last year's runner-up, Long Beach State (30-3), 15-10, 15-12, 6-15, 15-9, in the semifinals to reach the title match. Oden and Wendell each chalked up 21 kills against the 49ers.

UCLA's Natalie Williams, a two-time NCAA player of the year, led the Bruins with 21 kills in the championship. Her 31-kill performance helped the Bruins to a 15-12, 15-12, 15-10 semifinal victory over Florida (34-2), which was making its first semifinal appearance.

Up the middle

Pittsburg State University junior quarterback Brian Hutchins hands off to senior running back Ronald Moore at the Division II Football Championship December 12 in Florence, Alabama. Jacksonville State University beat Pittsburg State, 17-13, avenging last year's title-game loss to the Gorillas. The Gamecocks secured the victory when Eric King broke up a fourth-down pass from Hutchins at the goal line with less than 30 seconds to play.

Name game: Payton wins Payton award

Marshall quarterback Michael Payton, the all-time leading passer in the Southern Conference, has won the Walter Payton Award as the top player in Division I-AA.

Payton, who led Marshall to the I-AA championship December 19, finished ahead of quarterbacks

Steve McNair of Alcorn State and Jamie Martin of Weber State in voting among sports information directors for the award.

Payton completed 200 of 313 passes for 2,788 yards and 26 touchdowns during the regular season. He is the Southern Conference's career leader in passing yards (8,990), touchdown passes (66), completions (650) and total offense (9,279).

The Payton Award, sponsored by The Sports Network, is named for the former Chicago Bears running back who was a college star at Jackson State.

IBM, Fiesta Bowl link multiyear contract

IBM announced December 21 that it will sponsor the Fiesta Bowl through a multiyear contract.

Officials declined to disclose full terms of the contract, which renames the bowl for IBM and its Operating System/2 line.

Fiesta Bowl Executive Director

John Junker said the agreement would begin with this year's game but would be limited despite the renaming of the bowl.

IBM agreed to pay only an entitlement fee to NBC, which will broadcast the 1993 game, according to the Scottsdale (Arizona)

Progress.

Junker said the IBM support is enough to keep the Fiesta Bowl among the four "Tier One" bowls of the new coalition, which requires that each bowl divide at least $6 million between the teams it invites each year.

Postgraduate scholarship winners announced

Postgraduate scholarships of $5,000 each have been awarded by the NCAA to 29 football players at member institutions.

The NCAA annually awards 125 postgraduate scholarships to student-athletes who have excelled academically and athletically and who are in their last year of intercollegiate athletics competition.

In addition to the 29 football honorees, the NCAA awards grants to 28 basketball players (14 each for men and women) and to 68 student-athletes participating in sports other than football and basketball (34 each for men and women) in which the NCAA conducts championships.

Of the 29 football scholarships, 10 are awarded to Division I student-athletes, 10 are awarded in Divisions II and III and the remaining nine are awarded at large.

To qualify for an NCAA postgraduate scholarship, a student-athlete must have an overall grade-point average of 3.000 (4.000 scale) or its equivalent and must have performed with distinction as a member of the varsity team in the sport in which the student-athlete was nominated. The student-athlete must also intend to continue academic work beyond the baccalaureate degree as a full-time graduate student.

In addition, the student-athlete must have behaved, both on and off the field, in a manner that has brought credit to the student-athlete, the institution and to intercollegiate athletics.

Division I

David John Berardinelli (Bucknell University, 3.800 grade-point average in history and political science)—A prolific wide receiver, Berardinelli is one of 11 Bucknell players to surpass 1,000 career receiving yards. He ranks sixth on the Bucknell all-time receiving yards chart, and his 1991 season total was the seventh highest in school history. Berardinelli is a two-time GTE academic all-American and was the 1991 Patriot League football scholar-athlete of the year. A Rhodes Scholarship candidate, Berardinelli has received national dean's list recognition, the President's Award for Academic Achievement and a Chi Phi Academic Achievement Scholarship. He plans to study law after graduation.

Donald Joe Campbell (Appalachian State University, 3.680 grade-point average in biology and chemistry)—Campbell has been the starting quarterback at Appalachian State since his first game as a freshman and ranks as the all-time most-victorious quarterback in school history. He is second in all-time total offense at Appalachian State and fourth in passing. He was runner-up for freshman-of-the-year honors in the Southern Conference in 1989 and since has climbed to 10th on the conference's all-time total-offense list. A dean's list member for eight semesters and a GTE academic all-American, Campbell also is a four-time conference academic honor-roll selection. He hopes to pursue a degree in medicine.

Carlton Patrick Gray (University of California, Los Angeles, 3.389 grade-point average in communication studies)—An all-America defensive back at UCLA, Gray was a nominee for the 1992 Jim Thorpe Award, which recognizes the nation's top defensive back. Gray twice was named to the all-Pacific-10 Conference team and ranks second in career interceptions at UCLA. Gray is a GTE academic all-American, a conference all-academic selection and a National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholar-athlete, and is a recipient of the NCAA Today's Top Six award. He is active in the UCLA community-outreach program and devotes time to a hospital visitation project. Gray plans to study broadcast journalism in graduate school.

James Arthur Hansen (University of Colorado, Boulder, 3.941 grade-point average in aerospace engineering)—Hansen is a two-year starter at offensive tackle who earned all-Big Eight Conference honorable mention last year. He played the second most snaps of any Buffalo offensive lineman in 1991 and earned Colorado's lineman-of-the-week honors three times. Hansen is a Rhodes Scholarship recipient, a three-time academic all-American, a two-time Big Eight all-academic selection and the 1992 Colorado scholar-athlete of the year. He is a member of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and the College of Engineering Industry Advisory Board. A Special Olympics volunteer and a participant in Colorado's Reading Incentive Program, Hansen currently is pursuing a master's degree in aerospace engineering at Colorado.

Troy Andrew Hoffer (Ball State University, 3.959 grade-point average in community health education)—Hoffer is a two-year starter at strong safety for Ball State and was named to the Cardinals' all-special teams squad in 1991 after ranking seventh in tackles. He participated in the 1989 California Bowl as a freshman. Hoffer is a two-time GTE academic all-American and last year received Mid-American Athletic Conference all-academic honors in addition to Ball State's Physiology and Health Science Department Award for having the highest grade-point average as a junior. He is a volunteer for the YMCA and a guest speaker for Fellowship of Christian Athletes youth groups. Hoffer hopes to pursue a degree in physical therapy after graduation.

Scott Anthony Hufford (U.S. Air Force Academy, 3.720 grade-point average in aeronautical engineering)—Hufford averaged more than 41 yards in eight catches in 1991, scoring three touchdowns; and his 35.16 career yards-per-catch average is the highest in Air Force history. He has made the dean's list every semester at the academy and was a GTE academic all-district selection in 1991 in addition to being named to the Western Athletic Conference all-academic team. Hufford also is a National Honor Society member. He plans to study flight mechanics after graduation.

Michael Paul McElrath (U.S. Military Academy, 3.582 grade-point average in mechanical engineering)—As a starting free safety, McElrath was one of Army's leading tacklers in each of the last three seasons, compiling 343 during his career. He was named an all-East defensive back in 1990 and 1991 and was a preseason selection in 1992. McElrath has been a dean's list student since 1989 and has finished in the top five percent in his class each year. He is a three-time GTE academic all-American and was named a College Football Association scholar-athlete in 1991. McElrath also is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He hopes to pursue a postgraduate degree in either mechanical engineering or business.

Gregory Lamar Primus (Colorado State University, 3.000 grade-point average in microbiology)—The all-time career receiving-yardage leader in Colorado State history, Primus also ranks second all-time in that category in the Western Athletic Conference. He was a first-team all-WAC selection in 1991 and an honorable-mention all-American. He has been recognized as a WAC all-academic selection, a GTE academic all-American and a College Football Association scholar-athlete. He was selected to serve on Colorado State's search committee for a new director of athletics. He also served as a Big Brother in the Sidekicks Mentor Program. Primus plans to enter medical school after graduation.

Michael Lavern Stigge (University of Nebraska, Lincoln, 3.536 grade-point average in animal science)—A punter and place-kick holder, Stigge is Nebraska's first four-year starter since 1982. He holds the school record for the longest punt with an 87-yarder against Oklahoma State University in October. Stigge is a two-time GTE academic all-American, and if he is selected to the Big Eight Conference's all-academic squad again this year, he will become the first Cornhusker to do so for four consecutive years. He is active in the Husker Outreach Program, having delivered several keynote speeches to youth groups. Stigge plans to pursue a doctorate in veterinary medicine.

John William Wright (University of Illinois, Champaign, 3.660 grade-point average in speech communication)—A three-year starter at wide receiver, Wright averages more than 13 yards per catch and has scored four touchdowns for the Fighting Illini. Wright is a GTE academic all-American and has been named to the Big Ten Conference all-academic team three times. He was named Illinois' most outstanding junior male athlete in 1990. Wright, a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, plans to continue his speech communication studies in graduate school.

Divisions II and III

Christopher Michael Bisailon (Illinois Wesleyan University, 3.651 grade-point average in economics and business administration)—A four-year starter, Bisailon has established several Illinois Wesleyan receiving records, including game, season and career receiving yards and touchdown-pass receptions. Bisailon, who caught 55 career touchdowns, also broke the NCAA record for career touchdowns previously held by current San Francisco 49ers receiver Jerry Rice. Bisailon is a three-time GTE academic all-American and has earned dean's list recognition at Illinois Wesleyan four times. He is president of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and a member of the Student Advisory Board. His postgraduate plans include getting a master's degree in business.

Kevin Joseph Broderick (Stonehill College, 3.810 grade-point average in biology and business)—Broderick is Stonehill's starting strong safety and was the Eastern Collegiate Football Conference's second-team defensive back last season. He is the Stonehill team leader in tackles, averaging eight per game during his career. A GTE academic all-American and a six-time dean's list member, Broderick was named a 1992 College Football Preview national scholar-athlete and is a member of the Sigma Zeta National Honorary Science Society. After graduation, Broderick plans to enter medical school.

Montaque N. Brown (Ferris State University, 3.500 grade-point average in business management)—Brown was a candidate for the Harlon Hill Trophy, which recognizes the best player in Division II. He holds school records in career total tackles, solo tackles, fumble recoveries and interceptions. He is a three-time Midwest Intercollegiate Football Conference player of the week and was selected to three 1992 preseason all-America teams. He is serving as Ferris State's team captain for the second straight year. He has received several academic accolades, including the President's Academic Award and GTE academic all-American honors. Brown plans to study law.

Raymond Keith Cross Jr. (Washington and Jefferson College, 3.900 grade-point average in biology)—A starting defensive end for the Presidents, nearly one-fourth of Cross' career tackles were for losses. He was honorable-mention all-Presidents' Athletic Conference in 1991 and was Washington and Jefferson's defensive player of the week earlier this year. A two-time GTE academic all-American, he is president of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. Cross plans to enroll at the University of Pittsburgh school of medicine next fall.

Jason William Forrester (University of the South, 3.400 grade-point average in political science)—Forrester has started every game of his collegiate career at Sewanee as an offensive lineman. He is a two-time first-team all-Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference tackle and was selected as a 1992 Sporting News preseason all-American. He is a member of the Pi Sigma Alpha and Omicron Delta Kappa national honor societies and was awarded a scholarship to attend the British Studies Program in Oxford, England, last summer. Forrester also has interned with the United States Department of State at the American Embassy in Georgetown, Guyana. His postgraduate plans include the study of international affairs.

Timothy Gary Gelinske (University of North Dakota, 3.910 grade-point average in sociology and public relations)—A three-year starter at wide receiver, Gelinske has caught more than 100 career passes and 12 touchdowns. He also specializes in kick returns for the Fighting Sioux. As a junior, Gelinske was named North Dakota's male student-athlete of the year and landed a spot on the all-North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference team. He is a GTE academic all-American, a two-time NCC all-academic selection and a four-year dean's list member. Gelinske hopes to attend law school after graduation.

Arthur William Gilliland (Carleton College, 3.470 grade-point average in economics)—An all-Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference safety, Gilliland has started in every game while at Carleton and is the Knight secondary's leading tackler. Gilliland was a preseason academic all-American and a dean's list student at Carleton. He also is a student adviser/counselor at Carleton. Gilliland plans to pursue a postgraduate degree in business.

Bart Steven Moseman (Wheaton College (Illinois), 3.960 grade-point average in psychology and communications)—Moseman plays on both sides of the ball for the Crusaders; he started at receiver and defensive back and earned all-College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin honors at both positions. He has led Wheaton in receptions and receiving yards in each of his four seasons and either leads or is among Wheaton's career leaders in four receiving categories. He has received several scholarships, including a National Merit Scholarship, and he is a two-time GTE academic all-American. A Fellowship of Christian Athletes member, Moseman plans to pursue psychology and journalism in graduate school.

Brent Alan Sands (Cornell College, 3.820 grade-point average in education and psychology)—Sands is a three-time all-Midwest Collegiate Athletic Conference defensive back and is one of Cornell College's leading career tacklers. He has compiled 14 career interceptions and has earned several team defensive honors, including being named defensive MVP. Sands is a two-time GTE academic all-American and a three-time conference all-academic selection. A vice-president of Beta Omicron fraternity, Sands plans to pursue a postgraduate degree in elementary education.

Roderick Dorian Trantum (Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 5.000 grade-point average (5.000 scale) in electrical engineering)—Trantum holds several school receiving records, including career, season and game receptions, and 60 yards. A 96-yard reception by Trantum also is a school best. He is a two-time Eastern College Athletic Conference all-star. Trantum also is a two-time GTE academic all-American, a National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholar-athlete and a member of the ECAC honor roll. He also is president of the Tau Beta Pi National Engineering Honor Society and treasurer of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. Trantum plans to pursue a master's degree in science and electrical engineering at MIT.

At large

Brian Douglas Andersen (University of California, Davis, 3.229 grade-point average in mechanical engineering)—An all-Northern California Athletic Conference defensive end, Andersen has averaged more than four sacks and 30 tackles per season. Andersen was named UC Davis' most outstanding sophomore in 1990. He blocked two field goals this season. He was awarded a Pacific Energy Association Scholarship and has served two internships with major California construction firms. His postgraduate plans include a master's degree in business administration.

Daniel Lee Boyd (Mississippi State University, 3.310 grade-point average in microbiology)—Boyd is a preseason 1992 all-Southeastern Conference linebacker who has been Mississippi State's second-leading tackler in each of the last two seasons. He led the Bulldogs in solo tackles last year. He twice has been named the SEC defensive player of the week and was ABC-TV's player of the game against Auburn University. Boyd is a College Football Association scholar-athlete and a two-time GTE academic all-American. He also is a two-time SEC honor-roll member, a presidential scholar and a four-time Bulldog scholar. He plans to enroll in dental school.

James Cary Brabham (Southern Methodist University, 3.240 grade-point average in finance)—A starting free safety for the Mustangs, Brabham has had 10 or more tackles in 22 of his 38 starts. As a junior, he led the Southwest Conference in passes broken up and was third on the squad and sixth in the conference in tackles with 114—his third season with 100 or more tackles. He is a College Football Association scholar-athlete and a GTE academic all-American. He has spent two years as a middle-school tutor. Brabham hopes to enroll in law school.

Torin Jay Cunningham (Pomona-Pitzer Colleges, 3.647 grade-point average in economics)—A stellar offensive guard, Cunningham has played every offensive down in all 28 games while at Pomona-Pitzer. He was a Pomona scholar as a sophomore and an economics department liaison as a senior. He spent last spring studying in Scotland as part of the Pomona Program in Glasgow. Cunningham hopes to have a career as an orthopedic surgeon and plans to enroll in medical school.

Christopher H. Hutchinson (University of Michigan, 3.329 grade-point average in movement science)—Hutchinson has played on the defensive line and at outside linebacker for the Wolverines. He is a two-time all-Big Ten Conference selection and ranks second in Michigan history with 20 career sacks. He was a Football News all-American in 1990 and was named the nation's outstanding freshman defensive lineman by The Sporting News in 1989. A two-time conference all-academic selection, Hutchinson also volunteers at a children's hospital and works with government housing-project youths through sports camps. He plans to study medicine after graduation.

Darren Keith Rimmer (Northeast Louisiana University, 3.512 grade-point average in legal studies)—Rimmer began his career at Northeast Louisiana on the defensive line, but moved to offensive guard this season after the Indians graduated four starters. He has earned all-Southland Conference honors and has been named defensive lineman of the week three times. Rimmer is a GTE academic all-American and a three-time conference all-academic selection. He is Northeast Louisiana's student-body president and is a member of the school's judicial board and the academics appeals committee. Rimmer hopes to attend law school.

Jason Edward Seurer (University of South Dakota, 3.870 grade-point average in accounting)—A four-year starter at quarterback, Seurer holds 12 school records, including those for passing yards, completions and attempts. He ranks second in all-time total offense and career touchdown passes. Seurer is a four-time North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference all-academic selection and a seven-time dean's list member. He was inducted into the Beta Gamma Sigma National Business Honor Society in 1991. He hopes to pursue a master's degree in business administration.

David Claude Tingstad (Boise State University, 3.730 grade-point average in economics and political science)—After starting for three years at fullback, Tingstad moved to tailback for his senior season and became the team's leading rusher. He is a three-time Big Sky Conference all-academic selection and was winner of the 1992 Ellis Lamborn Economic Scholarship. Tingstad devotes time to youth reading programs and Sunday school teaching. His postgraduate plans include law school.

Steven Philip Young (University of Utah, 3.810 grade-point average in English and business)—As Utah's punter, Young averaged more than 40 yards per kick for the last two years. He specializes in pinning opponents deep in their own territory, allowing just two touchbacks during his career. He also serves as Utah's holder on place kicks. Young is a Western Athletic Conference all-academic selection and recipient of Utah's Football Academic Achievement Award. He has interned in the office of the Utah lieutenant governor and has spoken to several youth groups. He already has begun work on a master's degree in business administration at Utah.

Academic all-America football squad named

The GTE academic all-America teams for football, selected by members of the College Sports Information Directors of America, feature a Rhodes Scholar from Colorado and an electrical engineering major at MIT as academic all-Americans of the year.

Jim Hansen, an offensive lineman at Colorado who recently was awarded a Rhodes Scholarship, was named academic all-American of the year in the university division, and Roderick Trantum, who has compiled a perfect 5.000 grade-point average as an electrical engineering major at MIT, is academic all-American of the year in the college division.

The team also features an honoree whose father was a first-team academic all-America selection in the late 1960s. John Wright Jr. of Illinois and his father, John Wright Sr., who also played for the Fighting Illini, become the first father/son combination to earn first-team honors.

Players selected for the team either are varsity starters or key reserves for their teams and maintain a cumulative GPA of at least 3.200 (4.000 scale).

The academic all-America football team:

Executive Committee minutes

Meeting December 6-7, 1992

Following are the minutes of the December 6-7, 1992, meeting of the NCAA Executive Committee, which was held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Kansas City, Missouri. All actions taken by the committee are included:

1. Opening Remarks. NCAA President Judith M. Sweet, University of California, San Diego, welcomed guests Joseph N. Crowley, University of Nevada, and Charles N. Lindemann, Humboldt State University, noting that they were attending the meeting in their capacity as nominees for the positions of NCAA president and Division II vice-president, respectively.

2. Approval of Previous Minutes. It was voted that the minutes of the August 12-14 meeting be approved as distributed.

3. Actions Taken by Executive Director. It was voted that the actions taken by the executive director on behalf of the Executive Committee since the August 12-14 meeting be approved.

4. Administrative Committee Minutes.

a. Minute No. 1-j of Administrative Committee Telephone Conference No. 18 was revised to specify that the executive director would acknowledge each chair's service on an NCAA committee (rather than each individual committee member's service) by sending a letter in that regard to the chief executive officer of the chair's institution when his or her service ends.

b. It was voted that Administrative Committee Telephone Conference Nos. 15-20 be approved as revised.

(Note: Subsequent to this action, the Division II Championships Committee indicated that it planned to ask the Administrative Committee to reconsider its decision on behalf of the NCAA Council to grant a waiver of Bylaw 21.1.1.3 to permit an individual to continue as a member and chair of a Division II sports committee.)

5. Financial Affairs and Related Matters. Secretary-Treasurer B. J. Skelton, Clemson University, presented the report of the Budget Subcommittee.

a. Twelve-month comparison of budget to actual revenue and expenditures. The Executive Committee reviewed a report comparing the Association's general operating budget to actual revenue and expenditures for fiscal year 1991-92. It was noted that revenues exceeded expenses by approximately $3.6 million, due to actual expenditures being less than budgeted in several areas (including a $1 million decrease in national office expenses). The report was received without action.

b. Report of treasurer for fiscal year 1991-92. Skelton reported an unallocated surplus of approximately $5.7 million in the 1991-92 budget as of August 31, 1992. The Budget Subcommittee recommended that $1 million be transferred to the Funded Operating Reserve, that $1,228,500 be placed in the membership trust reserve, and that $3 million be returned to the membership through the revenue-distribution plan. It was suggested that the Division I Championships Committee develop a specific recommendation regarding the basis upon which the $3 million would be returned through the revenue-distribution plan.

(1) It was voted that $1 million be transferred to the Funded Operating Reserve.

(2) It was voted that $1,228,500 be placed in the membership trust reserve.

(3) It was voted that $3 million be returned to the membership through the revenue-distribution plan.

(4) The Division I Championships Committee recommended that the $3 million be returned to the membership as a one-time supplemental payment using the broad-based component of the 1991-92 revenue-distribution plan, in the same percentages as are currently allocated for the grants-in-aid and sports-sponsorship funds comprising that component (i.e., $2 million to the grants-in-aid fund and $1 million to the sports-sponsorship fund). Further, it recommended that the moneys be distributed as soon as possible with a memorandum of explanation about the one-time nature of the payment.

It was voted that the recommendation be approved.

(5) It was voted that the remainder of the treasurer's report be accepted.

c. Television rights fees. The Executive Committee was reminded that at its August meeting, it had discussed the fact that the annual rights fee from the CBS television contract, when averaged over the seven-year period of the contract, is approximately $143 million each year. At that time, the Executive Committee had expressed support for the concept of placing the rights fees in excess of $143 million in reserve each year, in view of the uncertain future of television negotiations upon the expiration of the current contract (i.e., after the 1996-97 academic year). The Budget Subcommittee recommended that the Executive Committee take formal action in this regard.

It was voted that the annual television rights fees in excess of $143 million during the remaining years of the CBS contract be placed in the membership trust reserve; that in the event of a decline in rights fees in future years, these moneys be used to continue current Association programs and services after 1996-97; and that if the moneys are not needed for this purpose, they be returned to the membership through the current revenue-distribution plan.

d. Composition of Budget Subcommittee. Skelton reported that at the request of the Committee on Review and Planning, the Budget Subcommittee had discussed restructuring its composition to assure greater continuity in its considerations from year to year. Toward this end, the Budget Subcommittee recommended that outgoing NCAA officers attend the first meeting subsequent to the expiration of their terms of service.

It was voted that the recommendation be approved.

e. Execution of contracts. The Budget Subcommittee noted that currently, only the executive director and chief financial officer are authorized to execute contracts on behalf of the Association. It recommended that in light of the recent national office restructuring, this authority be extended to the chief operating officer, and that the director of operations be authorized to execute contracts valued at $50,000 or less.

It was voted that the recommendations be approved retroactively to May 1, 1992.

f. Pension plan. The Budget Subcommittee recommended that effective immediately, the staff pension plan be administered by a committee comprising the personnel manager, director of accounting, associate executive director for Conventions and meeting planning, and group executive director for administration and finance. Further, it agreed to permit the staff to develop a specific plan that would provide each participant the opportunity to direct his or her pension account through a limited number of investment options developed by the trustee. This plan will be reviewed at the subcommittee's May or July 1993 meeting.

It was voted that the recommendations be approved.

6. Negotiations with Host Communications, Inc. The Executive Committee was advised that agreement had been reached granting Host Communications, Inc., various NCAA broadcast, publishing and licensing rights for the three-year period beginning September 1, 1993, and ending August 31, 1996. Further, it was noted that responsibility for the administration of the corporate partner program would be reassigned from the NCAA Foundation to the public affairs group at the national office.

7. NCAA Foundation. The Executive Committee was advised that during its November 11 telephone conference, the Administrative Committee had appointed the Special Committee to Review the Mission of the NCAA Foundation, comprising the following individuals: from the Foundation, John A. DiBiaggio, Tufts University, and President Sweet, chair; from the Executive Committee, Cedric W. Dempsey, University of Arizona, and Joan C. Cronan, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, and from the Committee on Review and Planning, Wilford S. Bailey, formerly at Auburn University, and Kenneth J. Weller, formerly at Central College (Iowa). It was noted that the special committee's recommendations regarding the mission of the Foundation would be reviewed by the Executive Committee before the hiring of the Foundation president.

8. Referrals from NCAA Council. The Executive Committee reviewed the following recommendations referred to it by the Council:

a. The Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism recommended that the Executive Committee review its previous interpretation that moneys from the special assistance fund for student-athletes may not be used to pay the premiums for a student-athlete's individual health insurance (beyond that provided by the institution). It also asked that the Executive Committee consider the viability of permitting special assistance funds to be used to purchase institutionally administered health insurance for student-athletes who have no insurance coverage. The latter recommendation was supported by the Council.

The Executive Committee agreed to refer these recommendations to the Special Advisory Committee to Review Recommendations Regarding the Distribution of Revenues for consideration at its spring 1993 meeting.

b. The Committee on Review and Planning recommended that the national office staff exert more of a leadership role in formulating the Association's annual budget, especially in establishing budget priorities that could lead to cost-cutting. Executive Director Richard D. Schultz noted that the staff was addressing this matter. No action was taken by the Executive Committee.

9. Report of Gender-Equity Task Force. Phyllis L. Howlett, cochair of the task force, presented a report on its deliberations to date, noting that the task force was supportive of the preliminary work of the Executive Committee relative to the championships study. The report was received with no action.

10. Report of Committee on Financial Conditions in Intercollegiate Athletics. Jerry M. Hughes of Central Missouri State University, a member of the committee, and Howlett, a consultant, indicated that the committee was reviewing issues related to both institutional and Association financial conditions and would consider holding hearings in early spring.

a. It was agreed that if at some point the financial conditions committee requested that a representative of the Executive Committee attend one of its meetings, that representative should be the secretary-treasurer.

b. It was noted that special committees are formed from time to time that may address issues relating to or affecting one another's charges. It was suggested that an effort be made by some body (perhaps the NCAA Joint Policy Board, if it is established by the adoption of Proposal No. 50 at the 1993 Convention) to coordinate special committees' efforts in these cases. No specific action was taken.

11. Proposed Legislation for 1993 Convention. The Executive Committee reviewed proposed legislation for the 1993 Convention that, if adopted, would affect its responsibilities or the general operating budget. It took the following actions:

a. No. 3—Council, Executive Committee and Presidents Commission Membership—Altered Status. Agreed to support the proposal to permit a member of the Council, Executive Committee or Presidents Commission to complete his or her term of office when legislative action alters the membership status of the individual's institution.

b. No. 13—Heritage Bowl. Reaffirmed support for the proposal specifying that all members of the Mid-Eastern and Southwestern Athletic Conferences shall participate in the Division I-AA Football Championship, if eligible and selected for participation, and that members of those conferences that participate in the Division

c. No. 17—Initial-Eligibility Clearinghouse. Reaffirmed support for the proposal specifying that the fulfillment of academic credentials necessary to receive an official visit before an early signing period in Division I, and the fulfillment of the Association's freshman academic requirements in Divisions I and II, shall be certified by an initial-eligibility clearinghouse approved by the Council.

(1) The Executive Committee noted that the cost to the Association is expected to be less than $500,000, and that agreement had been reached with American College Testing to administer the clearinghouse. The staff was asked to send a brief summary clarifying these costs and key components of the proposal to conferences for consideration at their meetings in the coming weeks.

(2) It was agreed that ACT would not have an information or display booth at the 1993 Convention.

d. No. 18—Distribution of Graduation-Rate Report. Agreed to oppose the proposal to require the NCAA, rather than member institutions, to provide information from the graduation-rate disclosure report to prospects' guidance offices and high-school and two-year college coaches, noting that the estimated cost to the Association was $151,000.

e. No. 50—Joint Policy Board. Reaffirmed support for the proposal to establish an NCAA Joint Policy Board comprising the Administrative Committee and the officers of the Presidents Commission, to review and concur in the Association's budget, legislative process and agenda, evaluation and supervision of the executive director, and other nonlegislative policies as may be identified by the Council or Presidents Commission.

f. No. 54—Committee on Infractions. Reaffirmed support for the proposal to increase from six to eight the size of the Committee on Infractions and to specify that the two additional members shall be members of the general public.

g. No. 55—Infractions Appeals Committee. Reaffirmed support for the proposal to establish an Infractions Appeals Committee to replace the Council steering committees as the appellate bodies related to findings of major violations by the Committee on Infractions.

h. No. 74—Individual Eligibility—Drug Testing. Reaffirmed support for the proposal to specify that all student-athletes who test positive for a banned drug during an initial positive drug test will lose at least one season of competition or the equivalent of one season of competition during their period of ineligibility.

i. Nos. 97 and 97-1—First Contest Date—Division I Baseball. Reaffirmed opposition to the proposal and related amendment to establish March 1 as the first permissible contest date during the traditional segment in Division I baseball, and asked Dempsey to represent the Executive Committee's position on the Convention floor.

j. No. 149—Principle of Nondiscrimination. Agreed to support the proposal to establish a principle of nondiscrimination in the Association's principles for the conduct of intercollegiate athletics.

k. No. 152—Championship Criteria—Minimum Sponsorship Exception. Reaffirmed support for the proposal to specify that National Collegiate Championships that do not meet the minimum percentage sponsorship criteria for maintaining the championship may continue to be sponsored during the 1994-95 academic year; and asked the chairs of the Divisions I, II and III Championships Committees to represent the Executive Committee's position on the Convention floor.

l. No. 153—Championship Criteria—Minimum Sponsorship Exemption. Agreed to oppose the proposal to permit championships that do not meet minimum sponsorship criteria to be sponsored without the provision of transportation and per diem expenses; and asked the chairs of the Divisions I, II and III Championships Committees to represent the Executive Committee's position on the Convention floor.

m. No. 154—Division I Championships Eligibility. Agreed to support the proposal to permit a Division I institution that conducts a Division II or Division III football program, but that must reclassify its football program in Division I for the 1993-94 academic year in accordance with Bylaw 20.4.1.1, to be eligible to participate immediately in the Division I-AA Football Championship without satisfying the two-year conformity period set forth in Bylaw 18.4.2.2-(b); and asked Don J. Djilulia, St. Joseph's University (Pennsylvania), to represent the Executive Committee's position on the Convention floor.

n. No. 155—Resolution: Division III Men's and Women's Soccer. Agreed to take no position on the resolution to require the Division III Championships Committee to direct the Men's and Women's Soccer Committees to study their selection dates and explore the feasibility of a final four Division III Men's and Women's Soccer Championship site in an area of suitable climate.

o. No. 156—Basketball Officiating Committee. Reaffirmed support for the proposal to increase from 12 to 16 the membership of the Basketball Officiating Committee, and to specify that the additional members shall represent men's basketball officiating interests and women's basketball officiating interests in Divisions II and III, respectively.

p. No. 159—Division I-AA Football Committee. Reaffirmed opposition to the proposal to increase from four to five the size of the Division I-AA Football Committee, and to specify that the additional member shall be selected from an institution that is eligible for but elects not to participate in the Division I-AA Football Championship; and asked Charles S. Boone, University of Richmond, to represent the Executive Committee's position on the Convention floor.

q. No. 160—Division I-AA Football Committee. Reaffirmed opposition to the proposal to limit membership on the Division I-AA Football Committee to individuals from institutions that are eligible for and elect to participate in the Division I-AA Football Championship; and asked Boone to represent the Executive Committee's position on the Convention floor.

Minutes

12. Appeal Procedures. The Executive Committee reviewed a recommendation that the appeal procedures approved at its May 1992 meeting be revised to eliminate the requirement that in order to be heard, an appeal must include new information that was not considered or available when the original decision was made. It was noted that decisions as to what constitutes "new information" were highly subjective and result in inconsistent application of this policy to appealing institutions or individuals.

It was voted that the policy be revised to eliminate the requirement that appeals must include new information.

13. Revision of Automatic Qualification Criteria. The Executive Committee reviewed a recommendation that Bylaw 31.3.4.2-(a) be revised to clarify that the Executive Committee may grant a waiver of the two-year waiting period for eligibility for automatic qualification to new conferences, in addition to the authority that exists to waive the waiting period for conferences that have undergone membership changes.

It was voted that the revision be approved.

14. Policies for NCAA Honors Dinner. The Executive Committee reviewed the following recommendations of the NCAA Honors Committee:

a. That seating for the Convention delegates attending the honors dinner remain open;

b. That the doors to the ballroom be opened not later than 30 minutes before the start of the dinner;

c. That the individual(s) presiding in a scheduled Convention meeting immediately before the honors dinner announce the time that the doors to the ballroom will be open, and

d. That the nonsmoking policy in effect for the Convention be applicable to the honors dinner.

e. It was voted that the recommendations be approved as submitted; and that additionally, alcoholic beverages be prohibited in the ballroom.

15. Attendance by Executive Committee Members at NCAA Championships. In their separate meetings, the Divisions I, II and III Championships Committees considered whether Executive Committee members should attend selected NCAA championships to enhance communication with sports committees and the coaching communities, observe the conduct of the events and gain a better understanding of issues in various sports.

a. The Division I Championships Committee suggested that it would be more beneficial to invite selected sports committee chairs to each of its regularly scheduled meetings, so that over a two- or three-year period it would have met with all chairs.

b. The Division II Championships Committee did not believe it was necessary for Executive Committee members to attend championships; the Division III Championships Committee suggested they attend selected championships only if there was a specific reason to do so.

c. No action was taken. As a result, it was the sense of the meeting that Executive Committee members' attendance at championships would continue to be considered on a case-by-case basis if a need was identified.

16. National Collegiate Championships and Related Matters. Eugene F. Corrigan, Atlantic Coast Conference; Hughes, and Mary R. Barrett, University of Massachusetts, Boston, chairs of the Divisions I, II and III Championships Committees, respectively, reported their committees' actions on recommendations from sports committees.

The Executive Committee took the following actions on the committees' recommendations regarding their respective championships:

a. Men's and women's fencing. Changed the dates of the 1994 National Collegiate Men's and Women's Fencing Championships from March 26-30 to March 18-22, in order to avoid a conflict with the Junior World Fencing Championships.

b. Men's gymnastics. Designated the University of Illinois, Champaign, as the host institution for the East regional of the 1993 National Collegiate Men's Gymnastics Championships, April 3.

c. Men's and women's swimming.

(1) Division I.

(a) Designated Indiana University, Bloomington, as the host institution for the 1994 Division I Women's Swimming and Diving Championships, March 17-19;

(b) Designated the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, as the host institution for the 1994 Division I Men's Swimming and Diving Championships, March 24-26;

(c) Designated Indiana University, Bloomington, as the host institution for the 1995 Division I Men's Swimming and Diving Championships, March 23-25, and

(d) Effective with the 1993 men's and women's championships, approved the inclusion of platform diving as an event at the zone qualifying meets; specified that individuals be required to compete in two of the three diving events (platform, one-meter or three-meter diving) in order to earn points to qualify for the championships; and approved the formula for allocating the number of berths for each zone into the championships.

(2) Division III. Effective with the 1994 Division III Men's and Women's Swimming and Diving Championships, changed the qualifying periods to end one week earlier than currently scheduled.

d. Division I baseball.

(1) Awarded automatic qualification for the 1993 Division I Baseball Championship to the following: Atlantic Coast, Atlantic 10, Big East, Big Eight, Big South, Big Ten, Big West, Eastern College Athletic, Metropolitan Collegiate Athletic, Mid-American Athletic, Midwestern Collegiate, Missouri Valley, North Atlantic, Pacific-10, Southeastern, Southern, Southland, Southwest, Sun Belt, Trans America Athletic, West Coast and Western Athletic Conferences; the Colonial Athletic Association, and the Ivy Group.

The Division I Championships Committee noted that at the May 1993 meeting, further consideration should be given to the appropriate number of berths that should be awarded to a single conference in view of anticipated changes in access to championships.

(2) Approved the elimination of the requirement that a team must compete in its conference postseason tournament in order to be considered as an at-large entrant into the tournament;

(3) Reviewed but took no action on the specific recommendations for administering a play-in system for nonautomatic-qualifying conferences, noting that such action would be considered in May 1993 upon the completion of the championships study, and

(4) Endorsed the American Baseball Coaches Association/USA Today Baseball Poll for publication in The NCAA News.

e. Division I men's basketball. Designated the following as sites for sessions of the 1996 Division I Men's Basketball Championship:

(1) First- and second-round sessions: East—Providence Civic Center, Providence, Rhode Island (Providence College, host), March 14 and 16; Richmond Coliseum, Richmond, Virginia (Virginia Commonwealth University, host), March 15 and 17; Southeast—Hoosier Dome, Indianapolis (Butler University and the Midwestern Collegiate Conference, cohosts), March 14 and 16; Orlando Arena, Orlando, Florida (Stetson University, host), March 15 and 17; Midwest—Reunion Arena, Dallas (Southwest Conference, host), March 14 and 16; Bradley Center, Milwaukee (Marquette University, host), March 15 and 17; West—University Arena, Albuquerque, New Mexico (University of New Mexico, host), March 14 and 16; University Activity Center, Tempe, Arizona (Arizona State University, host), March 15 and 17, and

(2) Regional sessions: East—Georgia Dome, Atlanta (Metropolitan Collegiate Athletic Conference, host), March 21 and 23; Southeast—Rupp Arena, Lexington, Kentucky (University of Kentucky, host), March 22 and 24; Midwest—Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome, Minneapolis (University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, host), March 21 and 23, and West—McNichols Arena, Denver (University of Colorado, Boulder, host), March 22 and 24.

f. Division I women's basketball. Denied the appeal of the North Atlantic Conference for automatic qualification into the 1993 Division I Women's Basketball Championship.

g. Division I men's lacrosse. Denied Princeton University's appeal of the public reprimand issued by the Men's Lacrosse Committee relative to a misconduct situation that occurred during the 1992 Division I Men's Lacrosse Championship, and noted that all sports committees should act as expeditiously as possible in addressing behavior that might warrant a misconduct penalty.

h. Women's softball.

(1) Division I. Designated the Oklahoma City All-Sports Association as the sponsoring agency and the University of Oklahoma as the host institution for the 1994 and 1995 Women's College World Series, May 26-30 and May 25-29, respectively, to be held at the Amateur Softball Association Hall of Fame Stadium, Oklahoma City.

(2) Division II. Designated the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletic Association as the host conference for the 1993 Division II Women's Softball Championship, May 21-23, at the Johnson County Girls Softball Association Complex, Shawnee, Kansas.

i. Men's and women's track and field. Designated the following as host institutions for the regional qualifying meets of the 1993 Division III Men's and Women's Cross Country Championships, November 13: West—Claremont McKenna-Harvey Mudd-Scripps Colleges; Midwest—University of Wisconsin, Oshkosh, and Central—Wartburg College.

j. Other Division II business. The Division II Championships Committee reported that it had taken the following actions in its separate meeting:

(1) Determined the format for a two-hour panel discussion on championships issues during the Division II business session at the 1993 Convention;

(2) Discussed the ongoing efforts to emphasize regionalization of competition in Division II championships;

(3) Noted that sponsorship of Division II wrestling had fallen below the minimum requirement of 20 percent as of September 1992, and that the Division II Wrestling Championships would be discontinued after the 1994 event if sponsorship was below the minimum percentage requirement as of September 1993;

(4) Discussed the status of the Division II Field Hockey, Men's Lacrosse and Men's Ice Hockey Championships, which were established under the provisions of Bylaw 18.2.3.1 and thus were not required to meet the minimum sponsorship requirements for the establishment of championships.

(a) The Division II Championships Committee indicated that the intent of the Division II Steering Committee in establishing these championships was that when legislation pertaining to membership restructuring took effect in September 1993 (with compliance required during 1993-94), these championships would be required to adhere to the provisions of Bylaw 18.2.10 for failure to meet minimum sponsorship requirements. Because Bylaw 18.2.3.1 authorizing their establishment did not contain such provisions, however, the championships would continue indefinitely with minimal sponsorship.

(b) The Division II Championships Committee recommended that legislation be proposed for the 1994 Convention to specify that effective August 1994, consistent with the intent of the Division II Steering Committee, these three championships would be subject to the provisions of Bylaw 18.2.10. (Note: The practical effect of this legislation would be that as of August 1994, these championships would have two years to meet the requirements of Bylaw 18.2.3 for the continuation of a championship; if they failed to do so, they would be discontinued in accordance with Bylaw 18.2.10.)

(c) The Executive Committee agreed to review proposed legislation to this effect at its May 1993 meeting.

(5) The Division II Championships Committee noted that Bylaw 20.4.1.3 permitted Divisions II and III institutions to classify in Division I any one men's sport, other than football and basketball, and any one women's sport, other than basketball, and any single sport in which the only NCAA championships opportunity is the National Collegiate Championship.

(a) The Division II Championships Committee recommended that legislation be proposed for the 1994 Convention to specify that Division II institutions be permitted to also classify in Division I a sport in which there is a Division I and a Division III championship, but not a Division II championship.

(b) The Executive Committee agreed to review proposed legislation to this effect at its May 1993 meeting.

k. Other Division III business. The Division III Championships Committee reported that it took the following actions in its separate meeting:

(1) Agreed to conduct a panel discussion on championships issues during the Division III business session at the 1993 Convention;

(2) Reviewed a report on the current practices of Division III sports committees relative to automatic qualification, and

(3) Reviewed a report on regionalization of Division III championships.

17. Review of Championships Study. The Divisions I, II and III Championships Committees reported on their discussions regarding the comprehensive review of the championships program.

a. Division I. Corrigan reported that the Division I Championships Committee recommended that the following proposals be submitted to the membership for review and comment shortly after the 1993 Convention, with final action to be taken at the May 1993 meeting:

(1) Minimum sponsorship requirements for the establishment or continuation of championships. That legislation be proposed for the 1994 Convention, effective August 1994, to:

(a) Establish 40 as the minimum number of institutions required to maintain either a division or National Collegiate Championship;

(b) Establish 60 as the minimum number required to establish a new division or National Collegiate Championship, and specify that sponsorship of the sport in which the championship would be established must be at least 60 institutions for two consecutive years at the time legislation is proposed;

(c) Eliminate all exemptions to the provisions for the discontinuation of a championship, and specify that a championship would be discontinued subsequent to the year in which it failed to meet the minimum sponsorship requirement (i.e., if it failed to meet the minimum in September 1994, it would be discontinued after the 1994-95 academic year);

(d) Specify that all championships would receive per diem and transportation reimbursement until such time as they are discontinued (i.e., a championship that failed to meet minimum sponsorship requirements would not be permitted to continue without such reimbursement), and

(e) Specify that for combined men's and women's championships (i.e., fencing, skiing and rifle), minimum sponsorship requirements would be based on the number of institutions that sponsor the sport, rather than on the number of separate men's and women's programs.

(2) Mileage restriction. That effective with the 1993-94 academic year, the mileage restriction on air transportation for all Division I championships other than men's and women's basketball be increased from 250 to 400 miles (i.e., institutions located within 400 miles of a competition site, rather than the current 250 miles, be required to use ground transportation rather than air); and that no mileage restriction be applied to the Division I Men's and Women's Basketball Championships.

(3) Brackets and field sizes. That the brackets for team championships and field sizes for individual-team championships be adjusted to provide comparable competitive opportunities, based on sponsorship levels (i.e., championships in sports sponsored by comparable numbers of institutions would have the same or comparable numbers of berths); and that the following adjustments be made:

(a) Increase the size of the following championships, all effective with the 1993-94 academic year: women's basketball, from 48 to 64 teams, and award automatic qualification to all eligible conferences; women's volleyball, from 32 to 48 teams; women's softball, from 20 to 32 teams; men's soccer, from 28 to 32 teams; women's soccer, from 12 to 16 teams; women's swimming, from 230 to 270 individuals; women's indoor track, from 213 to 240 individuals, and women's outdoor track and field, from 280 to 357 individuals.

(b) Reduce the size of the following championships, effective with the 1993-94 academic year: men's water polo, from eight to four teams, and direct the Men's Water Polo Committee to recommend how it will ensure representation from institutions outside the state of California; men's and women's fencing, from 154 to 120 individuals (i.e., from eight to six men's teams and from 12 to eight women's teams); men's and women's skiing, from 160 to 148 (i.e., reduce by six men and six women), and men's and women's rifle, from 56 to 48 individuals (i.e., from eight to six teams).

(4) Play-ins and automatic qualification. That increased access be provided to non-automatic-qualifying conferences through a system of play-ins in the Division I Baseball, Women's Volleyball, Women's Softball and Men's Soccer Championships, and that the sports committees responsible for these championships recommend the details of the specific play-in system for their respective championships for consideration at the May 1993 meeting, consistent with the following principles:

(a) The number of play-in games would be based on the number of eligible conferences and the size of the bracket in each sport, so as to ensure that at least 50 percent of the bracket was allocated for at-large teams. Play-in conferences would be determined by the respective sports committees approximately a year in advance of the championship so that play-in games could be completed the week before championships selections.

(b) Pairings of play-in teams would be determined by the sports committee on the basis of geographical proximity. Competition would be held on the campus of one of the two participating teams.

(c) As is currently the case for qualifying rounds of individual-team championships, administrative (games) expenses for the play-ins would be paid by the NCAA. Transportation and per diem expenses would be paid only for the teams that previously would have received automatic qualification but now would be required to participate in a play-in.

(By way of example, Championship X has a 48-team bracket; 28 conferences are eligible for automatic qualification; 24 berths would be filled by conference qualifiers. Conference Nos. 21, 22, 23 and 24 would play in against Conference Nos. 25, 26, 27 and 28; only Conference Nos. 21, 22, 23 and 24 would receive transportation and per diem expenses for the play-in.)

(5) Per diem and traveling parties. That the following adjustments be made in per diem and traveling parties, effective with the 1993-94 academic year:

(a) Men's basketball. Reduce per diem from $150 to $120.

(b) Women's basketball. Increase traveling party as follows: First- and second-round games—from 28 to 45 for the visiting team only; Women's Final Four—from 70 to 100; and phase in increases in the traveling party for regional tournaments to 55 and eventually to 60 over a period of time.

(c) Women's volleyball. Increase the traveling party from 20 to 22.

(d) Baseball. Reduce per diem from $120 to $80, and reduce the traveling party for the College World Series from 40 to 35.

(e) Football. Reduce per diem from $120 to $80, and reduce the traveling party for the finals from 135 to 100.

(f) Men's ice hockey. Reduce per diem from $120 to $80, and reduce the traveling party from 40 to 31 for preliminary rounds and from 50 to 31 for the finals.

(g) Men's lacrosse. Reduce per diem from $120 to $80, and reduce the traveling party from 42 to 40 for preliminary rounds and from 45 to 40 for the finals.

(6) Men's and women's indoor and outdoor track. That institutions that participate in both the indoor and outdoor track championships receive reimbursement for transportation and per diem expenses for either the indoor or outdoor championships (at the institution's choosing), but not both. It was noted that this policy currently is in effect for the Division III Men's and Women's Indoor and Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

(7) Men's tennis. That the Division I men's subcommittee of the Men's and Women's Tennis Committee pursue the concept of establishing a regional qualifying system for qualification into the Division I Men's Tennis Championships, for further consideration at the May 1993 meeting.

(8) Seeding. That the Division I Women's Volleyball, Men's Soccer and Women's Softball Committees be authorized to seed the top four teams on a national basis if they wish to do so.

(9) It was voted that the proposals be submitted to the membership for review and comment as outlined.

(10) Awards. The Division I Championships Committee recommended that an ad hoc committee comprising members of the three division championships committees be formed to review the championships awards program.

It was voted that the recommendation be approved.

b. Division II. Hughes reported that the Division II Championships Committee recommended that the following proposals be submitted for review and comment during the Division II business session at the 1993 Convention:

(1) Brackets and field sizes. That the sizes of the following championships be increased, based on the same principles as outlined by Division I, all effective with the 1993-94 academic year: women's volleyball, from 20 to 28 teams; women's softball, from 16 to 24 teams; women's cross country, from 92 to 132 individuals; women's tennis, from 70 to 90 individuals, and women's outdoor track and field, from 170 to 220 individuals.

(2) Per diem and traveling parties. That the traveling party for the Division II Men's Basketball Championship be reduced from 22 to 20, consistent with the traveling party for the Division II Women's Basketball Championship and comparable to other Division II events.

(3) Men's and women's indoor and outdoor track. That institutions that participate in both the indoor and outdoor track championships receive reimbursement for transportation and per diem expenses for either the indoor or outdoor championships (at the institution's choosing), but not both. It was noted that this policy currently is in effect for the Division III Men's and Women's Indoor and Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Minutes

(4) It was voted that the proposals be submitted for review and comment during the Division II business session at the 1993 Convention.

c. Division III. Barrett reported that the Division III Championships Committee recommended that the following proposals be submitted for review and comment during the Division III business session at the 1993 Convention:

(1) Bracket and field sizes. That the sizes of the following championships be adjusted, based on the principles as outlined by Divisions I and II, effective with the 1993-94 academic year: women's basketball, from 32 to 40 teams; women's volleyball, from 24 to 32 teams; women's softball, from 20 to 28 teams; women's soccer, from 20 to 24 teams; women's cross country, from 136 to 184 individuals; women's tennis, from 100 to 112 individuals, and women's outdoor track and field, from 246 to 315 individuals.

It was the sense of the meeting that the Division III Championships Committee should reconsider the proposed increases in the women's softball and soccer championships and propose some lesser increases for consideration by the Division III membership.

(2) It was voted that the proposals for Division III championships, other than women's softball and soccer, be submitted for comment during the Division III business session of the 1993 Convention; and that the women's softball and soccer proposals be reconsidered.

(Note: Subsequent to the meeting, the Division III Championships Committee agreed to propose that the women's softball championship be increased by four teams, rather than eight, and that the women's soccer championship not be increased.)

18. Dates and Sites. The Executive Committee was advised that during its November 25 telephone conference, the Administrative Committee approved dates for the August 1994 and August 1995 Council and Executive Committee meetings based on the following considerations: that the Council meeting generally begin no later than August 1; that there be sufficient time between the Council and Executive Committee meetings to permit individuals who are members of both to return to their campuses for a few days between meetings; that the Executive Committee meeting conclude before the August 15 deadline for proposed legislation, and that if possible, meetings not begin on or be scheduled over an entire weekend.

a. The Executive Committee approved the August 1994 and August 1995 meeting dates and agreed that at its May 1993 meeting, the new Executive Committee should confirm dates and sites beyond 1995.

b. The complete meeting schedule to date is as follows:

(1) May 3-6, 1993, Hyatt Regency Monterey, Monterey, California. (Budget Subcommittee, May 3; Executive and championships committees, May 4-5; Executive Committee, May 6.)

(2) August 10-13, 1993, Hyatt Regency Beaver Creek, Beaver Creek, Colorado. (Budget Subcommittee, August 10; Executive and championships committees, August 11-12; Executive Committee, August 13.)

(3) December 4-6, 1993, Kansas City, Missouri; hotel to be determined. (Budget Subcommittee, December 4; Executive and championships committees, December 5-6; Executive Committee, December 5-6.)

(4) May 2-5, 1994; site to be determined. (Budget Subcommittee, May 2; Executive and championships committees, May 3-4; Executive Committee, May 5.)

(5) August 10-13, 1994; site to be determined. (Budget Subcommittee, August 10; Executive and championships committees, August 11-12; Executive Committee, August 13.)

(6) December 3-5, 1994, Kansas City, Missouri; hotel to be determined. (Budget Subcommittee, December 3; Executive and championships committees, December 4-5; Executive Committee, December 4-5.)

(7) May 1-4, 1995; site to be determined. (Budget Subcommittee, May 1; Executive and championships committees, May 2-3; Executive Committee, May 4.)

(8) August 10-13, 1995; site to be determined. (Budget Subcommittee, August 10; Executive and championships committees, August 11-12; Executive Committee, August 13.)

19. NCAA International. The executive director outlined the concept of an NCAA International Christmas Challenge being considered by NCAA International, involving NCAA and international men's basketball teams. It was noted that other entities were discussing similar basketball competition, both domestic and foreign, and that some consideration should be given to coordinating efforts in order to avoid potential conflicts. It also was suggested that consideration be given to including women's basketball in the NCAA International efforts at the appropriate time.

20. Executive Committee Nominations. The Executive Committee agreed to forward two recommendations to replace Corrigan (whose term expires January 1993) and Dempsey (who will serve in an ex officio capacity as the new secretary-treasurer) on the Executive Committee.

21. Championships Reserve. The Executive Committee agreed to discuss at its May meeting possible uses for the $4.3 million championships reserve, which was established at the August 1992 meeting in anticipation of increased costs resulting from the championships study, in the event it was not needed to fund changes in the championships program.

22. Appreciation. The Executive Committee and staff expressed their appreciation to the outstanding service and leadership of President Sweet and Corrigan.

Finances

Special committee believes that the need for cost reduction in college athletics is real and has added to the complexity of managing our problem. Further, the committee believes that certain reductions should and can occur only at the national legislative level.

The special committee intends, after soliciting input from affected constituencies, to recommend such changes to the NCAA Presidents Commission for presentation at the January 1994 NCAA Convention. At the present time, the committee is primarily focused on practices that can be curtailed without affecting the quality of competition and without reducing student-athlete or coaching opportunities while yielding significant reduction in operational expenditures.

The committee believes that perhaps the best long-term hope for cost containment relates to changes within the NCAA divisional structure and regulatory scheme. Hopefully, these approaches would result in enhancing institutional flexibility and cost savings relative to sports sponsorship while reducing the regulatory burden on sports that historically have not experienced extensive commercialization and resultant pressures.

The committee recognizes that divisional restructuring and sports deregulation may require study and legislative implementation beyond the 1994 NCAA Convention.

Finally, the NCAA has studied various forms of need-based aid over the past decade. At this time, the special committee does not possess sufficient data to determine the cost savings that might be associated with any one of the various need proposals under review within the NCAA Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism. Pending the development of an appropriate database in this area, the special committee intends to share the various need-based approaches that it has reviewed while outlining a summary of the strengths and weaknesses of each model. This approach will allow the membership to begin assessing the policy implications of adopting various need-based aid options pending a thorough review of the financial impact of such legislative changes.

The special committee intends to share its preliminary legislative and policy recommendations with the membership and various professional and coaching associations in early 1993. A period of about 90 days will be set aside to receive written and in-person comment from affected parties. Between April 15 and June 1, the special committee will review reactions from the membership and settle on final recommendations to the NCAA Presidents Commission.

The special committee looks forward to interacting with the NCAA membership regarding this very important task.

James E. Delany is commissioner of the Big Ten Conference.

Values

Challenge is great for education

result of research of recent years (especially the past decade) provides reason for optimism.

It has been shown that college years represent a major opportunity for the development of moral values—such as basic norms as respect, responsibility, honesty, non-violence and promise-keeping—on which civilized society and learning depend.

Of particular interest are recent research findings showing that intensive intervention programs help student-athletes achieve a significantly higher level of reasoning than student-athlete peers not taking the same course. Similar programs addressing the same principles have been developed as workshops for coaches.

The parallel development of instructional technologies (interactive video disks and computer-assisted instruction programs) provides ways for helping to create exciting real-world dilemmas in the classroom for students studying ethics, values and critical thinking.

This initiative by the NCAA should receive widespread support from our nation's citizens, not only because of its promise for achieving integrity in college sports, but because it will provide opportunities for promoting value development and moral reasoning for a society that, as we know, is fascinated by sports.

Saving face

Talk about putting on your game face. In a unique promotion designed to increase attendance, California State University, Fullerton, basketball coach Brad Holland transformed himself into clones of his Big West Conference rival coaches. Fans attending games at Titan Gym will be admitted free if they possess or adopt for that game one of the identifying trademarks of the rival coach. For example, because University of California, Irvine, coach Rod Baker has a mustache, all fans with mustaches will be admitted free to the February 13 game between the schools. To illustrate the schedule and coaches' features, Holland, who is in his first season at Cal State Fullerton, subjected himself to a half-day session in makeup at NBC Studios in Burbank, California.

Financial

Special committee to review financial conditions develops 17 'legislative concepts'

ers," Delany said. "The concepts that are being forwarded to the membership for input are all those the committee believed held some merit."

A memorandum will be mailed, probably after the holidays, to each institution's chief executive officer, director of athletics, senior woman administrator and faculty athletics representative. The special committee also will seek input from coaches associations and other affiliated organizations.

The committee plans to allow 45 to 60 days for the membership to study the concepts and react in writing. Hearings for representatives of specific organizations will be held in February, and a second set of hearings for representatives of coaches associations is likely.

Areas of study

The Presidents Commission asked the special committee to study all issues that impact on financial conditions in college athletics and specifically identified five areas of study, including:

- Elements affecting financial control and financial integrity;
- The amount, source and basis of financial aid for student-athletes;
- The need to provide equitable athletics programs for men and women;
- Compensation of athletics personnel, and
- The influence of athletics foundations, booster organizations and media revenues.

The concepts developed by the special committee include the following:

- Develop compensation guidelines for athletics department personnel to be included as a part of the Division I self-study process and Division I athletics certification program;
- Establish limits on the number of student-athletes, coaches, support personnel and administrative personnel, including bands and spirit squads, permitted to travel to regular-season and postseason competition at the expense of the athletics department or of the institution;

- Establish a 10 percent reduction in Divisions I-A and I-AA squad sizes (based on 1991-92 division averages) and seek reaction to squad-size reductions in all sports;

■ Eliminate training-table meals in the off-season;

■ Eliminate pregame off-campus housing before regular-season "home" competitions;

■ Prohibit the provision of off-campus housing for "away" contests when the site of competition is 120 miles or less from campus, except in those instances in which the competition is played before 2 p.m. the following day. A conference waiver process would be available. (The committee is seeking reaction to this restriction for week-day games only or for all contests.);

■ Reduce preseason practice opportunities for all fall sports by 25 percent (for example, football and volleyball would be reduced from 29 days to 22, and soccer and field hockey would be reduced from 21 days to 16);

■ Reduce off-campus recruiting contact and evaluation days in all Division I football subdivisions and in Division I basketball from 110 to 70;

■ Reduce off-campus in-person recruiting contacts with and evaluations of prospective student-athletes in all Division I football subdivisions and in Division I basketball from seven (three contacts and four evaluations) to four total;

■ Decrease the number of allowable visits to campus by prospective student-athletes in all Division I football subdivisions and in Division I basketball by 20 percent (that is, football visits would be reduced from 70 to 56 and basketball visits reduced from 15 to 12);

■ Limit the permissible number of Division I-A full-time assistant football coaches engaged in off-campus recruitment to seven designated coaches (in Division I-AA, the maximum number of coaches who could recruit would be reduced from seven to six) and eliminate "tag-team" recruiting;

■ Eliminate all printed material developed for distribution to prospective student-athletes. Permissible materials would be those prepared by each institution's admissions office and available to all potential students;

■ Examine telephone contact policy between coaches and prospective student-athletes and seek the reaction of coaches associations and other interested individuals regarding other economies that could be made in this area;

■ Establish transportation limitations for weekend competitions in all sports so that (1) for distances between an institution's campus and the site of competition of less than 200 miles, round-trip ground transportation would be required, (2) for distances between 200 and 300 miles, ground transportation would be required for travel to the competition with air travel permitted on the return trip and (3) for distances greater than 300 miles, the mode of travel would be at institutional discretion. (Waivers could be approved by a conference office based on weather considerations.);

■ Establish transportation limitations in all sports, requiring that round-trip ground transportation be used for all weekday competitions in which the visiting team would travel less than 150 miles one way. (Waivers could be approved by a conference office based on weather considerations.);

■ Either eliminate "tag-team" recruiting in Division I basketball (all three coaches could recruit at the same time) or set a limit of 140 on the number of man-days that can be committed to off-campus recruiting, and

■ Either eliminate a Division I full-time assistant football coach or eliminate administrative personnel responsible for recruiting.

Financial aid 'models'

The special committee also considered several financial-aid "models" in consultation with the NCAA Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism and agreed to present all of these models (with a covering page identifying unresolved issues) for reaction. Depending on the availability of research data on the cost implications of each model, legislation may be developed as early as the 1994 Convention.

The committee also will recommend that for institutions—regardless of division—sponsoring football, a differential should be established that requires the institutions to sponsor a greater number of women's sports and a reduced number of men's sports.

Longer-term concept

In regard to longer-term legislative concepts that the special committee may forward to the Presidents Commission for consideration, the group agreed to advance three concepts for reaction from the membership.

They include the following:

■ Eliminate all off-campus recruiting rules except in the sports of football, men's and women's basketball, and women's volleyball. Also, simplify the regulatory approach in those sports (other than football, basketball and women's volleyball) by requiring adherence only to (1) amateur rules, (2) academic rules, (3) number of contests and (4) identification of traditional season and permit market, conference and institutions to address all other regulatory schemes;

■ Move toward convening NCAA Conventions in alternating years beginning in 1996, and

■ Establish grants-in-aid limitations in football and basketball to permit 20 initial awards per year in football and seven initial awards in basketball every two years, with no more than four in any one year. (The committee noted that this approach is thought to reward institutions for retention of student-athletes, eliminate incentives for coaches to "run off" scholarship student-athletes, encourage recruitment of academically qualified student-athletes and maintain a reduced grants-in-aid cost, given the most optimistic rates for attrition.)

Seek reaction

Finally, the committee agreed to seek reaction to recommendations that could be forwarded to conferences and institutions for their consideration in achieving savings.

Those possible recommendations include:

■ Recommend that as deregulation takes hold, institutional presidents and athletics directors should take advantage of reduced compliance burdens by reducing support-services staff assigned compliance responsibilities;

■ Recommend that conferences explore on-campus housing opportunities during the month of January when institutions are between academic periods;

■ Recommend that institutions be discouraged from building "athletics-only" facilities and the Association of Physical Plant Administrators be used as a resource for comparative data and professional expertise (the committee noted that the escalating costs of designing, constructing and maintaining athletics facilities are significant problems that pose a threat to the financial security of many programs; however, it was agreed that facility decisions are best left to the discretion of each institution), and

■ Identify a ratio that correlates the number of support-staff personnel to the number of student-athletes served (for example, one weight trainer per 100 student-athletes).

The special committee's timetable calls for its package of proposed legislation to go to the Presidents Commission in June.

Two join NCAA staff

Jeffrey Freedman and Kathryn Statz have joined the NCAA national office staff as eligibility representatives in the membership services group.

Freedman, a recent University of Denver school of law graduate, is a former basketball and tennis captain at Macalester College, where he was honored as an academic all-American in tennis. He graduated Phi Beta Kappa, magna cum laude, from the institution and also was a Rhodes Scholar semifinalist.

Freedman

Statz

After his graduation from Macalester, Freedman studied for a semester at the London School of Economics, then competed as an internationally ranked tennis player on the European and North American professional tennis satellite tours.

Since his graduation from law school in May, he had been assisting as a coach with the Israeli Junior Davis Cup team.

Statz most recently served as director of legislative services for the Great Midwest Conference.

She is a journalism graduate of Mundelein College in Chicago. At Mundelein, she played basketball and volleyball, was captain of the volleyball team, served as president of the Women's Athletics Association and was the winner of the Outstanding Student Leader Award.

Statz was a participant in the NCAA Women's Enhancement Program and served as an intern in the NCAA national office in 1990-91.

AFCA convention draws crowd

More than 3,000 football coaches from all levels of the profession are expected to attend the 70th annual convention of the American Football Coaches Association January 3-6 in Atlanta.

The meeting will feature a three-day coaching clinic, committee meetings on various subjects related to the profession and several other functions, including the AFCA Awards Luncheon and the Kodak Coach of the Year Banquet.

Among convention highlights:

■ Presentation of the McDonald's Coaches' Trophy to the coach of the team ranked No. 1 in the final USA Today/CNN Top 25 Coaches' Poll.

■ Presentation of a $50,000 academic scholarship by McDonald's Corporation to the No. 1-ranked institution. The scholarship in turn will be presented by the school to an incoming freshman who does not participate in intercollegiate athletics.

■ Announcement of the national Kodak Coach of the Year in four divisions and recognition of 20 regional award winners.

■ Presentation of the Amos Alonzo Stagg Award to ABC-TV sports announcer Keith Jackson.

Hancock officials undecided about return

The John Hancock Bowl is undecided whether it will return to the college football bowl coalition because of what a spokesman described as limited options for pairing teams in the game.

Tom Starr said December 21 that the New Year's Eve bowl game in El Paso, Texas, is happy with this year's matchup between Baylor University and the University of Arizona, but added that bowl officials were severely limited in their choices.

"Had we been working in the old system, I think our selection process would have taken a different scope," Starr told The Associated Press. "We would have had a more versatile outlook and there would have been more teams we would have been looking at."

Starr said John Hancock Bowl officials will decide during the 1993 NCAA Convention in Dallas if it will remain in the coalition.

Proposals

Council asks sponsors to resubmit cost-reduction proposals to financial committee

Proposal No. 145 also would provide an exception annually in each sport for one trip to compete against one traditional rival.

The Council asked the amendment's sponsor, the Pacific-10 Conference, to withdraw the proposal and submit it to the NCAA Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Intercollegiate Athletics, which is expected to recommend legislation for consideration at the 1994 Convention.

Last week, the conference agreed to do so.

Sponsors of the other three cost-related proposals in the grouping also are being asked by the Council to withdraw the measures and submit them to the financial-conditions committee. Those proposals would:

- Eliminate training-table meals outside the playing season in Division I.

- Prohibit a team in Division I from spending the night before a home contest in off-campus housing or extra-cost facilities like hotels.

- In all divisions, require a football team traveling no more than 250 miles and all other teams traveling no more than 150 miles to use ground, rather than air, transportation. The legislation would provide for exceptions to or waivers of those requirements.

Also featured in the awards/expenses/amateurism grouping are three Council-sponsored proposals. One would increase the times during which student-athletes could receive necessary expenses to participate in developmental training programs sponsored by the U.S. Olympic Committee or national governing bodies for Olympic sports.

The other Council proposals would permit a professional league's recognized scouting bureau to administer one on-campus medical examination during the academic year to a student-athlete and would allow institutions or conferences to sell their media guides at outlets outside of their campuses or offices.

Governance

Two of the three proposals in the Convention's governance grouping also are sponsored by the Council.

The first is a proposal that would amend the NCAA constitution by adding a principle of nondiscrimination. The principle, originally recommended by the NCAA Minority Opportunities and Interests Committee, reads as follows:

"The Association shall promote an atmosphere of respect for and sensitivity to the dignity of every person. It is the policy of the Association to refrain from discrimination with respect to its governance policies, educational programs, activities and employment policies."

Also sponsored by the Council is a proposal that would eliminate from the constitution the statement that all interpretations requested by a member institution and issued by the Association's legislative services staff are binding on the institution.

The proposal's purpose is to encourage institutions and conferences to take greater responsibility for understanding and applying NCAA rules, while ensuring that the staff acts in an advisory rather than a regulatory manner. The membership would retain the ability to request a review of an application of NCAA legislation from the Interpretations Committee.

The grouping's other proposal is a resolution that could lead the way to federation of rules on a sport-by-sport basis, thus permitting the Association more flexibility in the governance of a particular sport.

Sponsored by 12 member institutions, the resolution would direct the Council to appoint a committee to study the concept and report to the 1994 Convention on the feasibility of developing legislation for consideration in 1995.

Summary

Following is a summary of the proposals in the awards/expenses/amateurism and governance groupings. Also indicated are positions (if any) taken by the Council, Presidents Commission and Executive Committee and the business sessions in which the proposals will be acted upon.

Awards/expenses/amateurism

No. 139: Permit an individual to receive actual and necessary expenses for developmental training programs conducted during any vacation period published in the institution's catalog, as opposed to only during the summer vacation period, provided the programs do not conflict with the individual's participation in institutional competition. Sponsored by the Council, as recommended by the Olympic Sports Liaison Committee. General business session; all divisions voting together.

No. 140: Permit student-athletes to receive one on-campus medical examination during the academic year from a professional league's recognized scouting bureau without jeopardizing their eligibility in that sport. Sponsored by the Council, as recommended by the Professional Sports Liaison Committee. General business session; all divisions voting together.

No. 141: Permit a member institution or member conference to use noninstitutional outlets for the sale of an institution's or conference's media guide. Sponsored by the Council, as recommended by the Communications Committee. General business session; all divisions voting together.

No. 142: Preclude Division I institutions from providing training-table meals to student-athletes outside the playing season. Sponsored by the Pacific-10 and Big Ten Conferences. The Council has asked the sponsors to withdraw the proposal and refer it to the Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Intercollegiate Athletics; otherwise, it is opposed by the Council and the Presidents Commission. Division I business session.

No. 143: Specify that institutions that do not differentiate between student-athletes and students generally in their housing assignment policies are exempt from the limitations on athletics housing set forth in Bylaw 16.5.2.2. Sponsored by the Ivy Group. Division I business session.

No. 144: In Division I, eliminate off-campus or extra-cost housing for the home team the night before a home contest in all sports on those days when institutional dormitories are open. Sponsored by the Big Ten Conference. The Council has asked the sponsors to withdraw the proposal and refer it to the Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Intercollegiate Athletics; otherwise, it is opposed by the Council and the Presidents Commission. Division I business session.

No. 145: Establish travel-squad limitations in Division I in all sports for which the Association sponsors championships, for both regular-season conference and non-conference competition; also, to provide an exception for one trip annually in each sport for a contest against a traditional rival. Sponsored by the Pacific-10 Conference. The Council has asked the sponsors to withdraw the proposal and refer it to the Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Intercollegiate Athletics; otherwise, it is opposed by the Council and Presidents Commission. Divisions I, II and III business sessions.

No. 145-1: Amend No. 145 to permit two additional student-athletes to travel when an away trip involves more than one contest date. Sponsored by the Ivy Group. Divisions I, II and III business sessions.

No. 145-2: Amend No. 145 to increase travel-squad size limits in selected sports to levels employed by the Ivy Group. Sponsored by the Ivy Group. Divisions I, II and III business sessions.

No. 145-3: Amend No. 145 to increase from 20 to 21 the proposed travel-squad size limit in men's ice hockey. Sponsored by the North Atlantic Conference and 17 other members that play Division I ice hockey. Divisions I, II and III business sessions.

No. 146: Resolution that the NCAA Council study or refer to a committee the implementation of travel-squad limits at the national level and that the Council consider the recommendations from this study and the sponsorship of such legislation at the 1994 NCAA Convention. Sponsored by the Big Ten Conference. General business session; all divisions voting together.

No. 147: Establish mode-of-travel restrictions for off-campus competition based on mileage to a site of competition; also, provide for exceptions to or waivers of this legislation. Sponsored by the Big Ten Conference. The Council has asked the sponsors to withdraw the proposal and refer it to the Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Intercollegiate Athletics; otherwise, it is opposed by the Council and Presidents Commission. General business session; all divisions voting together.

No. 148: Specify that the limitation on travel expenses before athletics events does not apply to the United States Gymnastics Federation (USGF) collegiate championships. Sponsored by the Pacific West Conference and one other member. General business session; all divisions voting together.

Governance

No. 149: Establish a principle of nondiscrimination in the Association's principles for the conduct of intercollegiate athletics. Sponsored by the Council, as recommended by the Minority Opportunities and Interests Committee. Supported by the Executive Committee. General business session; all divisions voting together.

No. 150: Specify that an interpretation of NCAA legislation issued by the NCAA legislative services staff is not binding. Sponsored by the Council. General business session; all divisions voting together.

No. 151: Resolution that the NCAA Council appoint a committee to study the concept of federation by sport; also, that this committee report to the 1994 Convention concerning the feasibility of developing legislation to be considered by the membership at the 1995 NCAA Convention. Sponsored by 12 members. General business session; all divisions voting together.

women's team, after finishing 11-7 in dual meets last season, has left the blocks strong this year with two dual-meet victories and titles in the Notre Dame Relays and the National Catholic Championships.

Next year, the Irish hope to have Scott back in the lineup. She was an all-state swimmer at Xavier High School in her hometown of Phoenix and had been impressive in her first two months of competition at Notre Dame before the accident. Doctors are confident now that she will swim competitively again, although the extent of her recovery may not be known until the bone grafts fully heal.

Still, then, she remains an inspiration to every Notre Dame swimmer.

"We are a team that is training and racing together again on our campus," Welsh said. "We insulate one another in this way. Haley's experience has allowed us to express our care for one another more directly and more personally."

"There has been no 'distraction' in the sense of not focusing on athletics excellence and on swimming fast. The team's internal drive to surpass their previous bests has been strong, continuous and powerful."

Two universities discontinue football programs

California State University, Fullerton, in Division I-A and Cameron University in Division II have decided to discontinue their football programs.

Cal State Fullerton, however, will work to restore the sport in 1994 at the Division I-AA level, President Milton A. Gordon announced December 7.

Gordon said he made the decision to drop the program after a thorough review of funding implications and two open forums conducted at his request by the school's eight-member Athletics Council, according to The Associated Press.

Gordon said funding realities were the major factor in his decision to abandon Division I-A football immediately.

The Titans, a member of the Big West Conference, had a 2-9 record this season and had a 5-29 record through the past three years.

A new football stadium on campus was finished before this season and the Titans played four games there, averaging under 5,000 in a stadium that seats 10,000.

Meanwhile, Cameron regents cited declining public support for their decision to discontinue that program.

CORRECTIONS

Due to an editor's error, the institution at which Cherri Mankenberg serves as women's basketball coach was incorrectly reported in the Briefly in the News section of the December 7 issue of The NCAA News. Mankenberg coaches at Nebraska-Omaha.

Due to errors by an editor, two items in the NCAA Record section of the News contained incorrect information about the recent appointment of Rob Kaminski as publications editor at Michigan State. The first item, appearing in the October 5 issue, incorrectly reported the position that Kaminski served in before moving to Michigan State. It should have reported that he served as assistant sports information director at Central Michigan, after serving as SID at Wabash. The second item, appearing in the December 7 issue and announcing the appointment of a successor to Kaminski at Central Michigan, erroneously named the school where Kaminski was hired and also incorrectly reported Kaminski's new title.

Due to an editor's error, a photo caption in the December 16 issue of the News prematurely identified Charles N. Lindemann of Humboldt State University as NCAA Division II vice-president. Anthony F. Ceddia of Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania will continue to serve as Division II vice-president until the end of the 1993 Convention, when Lindemann is expected to be elected to the post.

Deaths

Edward W. "Moose" Krause, former athletics director and basketball coach at Notre Dame, died December 11 at age 79. He coached the Fighting Irish basketball team for six years, compiling a 98-48 mark. Krause served as Notre Dame AD from 1949 to 1980. A two-sport standout at Notre Dame in the early 1930s, Krause earned three letters in football as a tackle and won all-American honors as center on the basketball squad. He was named to the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1976.

James A. Musick, a football standout who played on two Rose Bowl-winning squads while at Southern California, died December 15 at a Santa Ana, California, nursing home. He was 82. Musick, who played four seasons with the Boston Redskins of the NFL before a knee injury cut short his career in 1936, became Orange County (California) sheriff in 1947 and retired in 1975.

William C. Putnam, an all-American basketball guard for UCLA in the 1944-45 season, died of a heart attack December 12. He was 70. Putnam helped the Bruins win their first Pacific Coast Conference championship in 1945. He also lettered for UCLA in football in 1944. Later, Putnam served as an assistant coach at UCLA under Wilbur Johns for the 1946-47 season and for John Wooden from 1948 to 1962.

Jim Thacker, who worked as a television broadcast announcer covering Sun Belt Conference basketball, ESPN college football, Atlantic Coast Conference basketball and NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship tournament games, died December 15 of a stroke. He was 64. Thacker retired in 1981 as sports director of a television station in Charlotte, North Carolina.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

University of Southern California

The University of Southern California (USC) invites applications and nominations for the position of Director of Athletics. Founded in 1880, USC is the oldest and largest private research university, and one of only four private AAU universities, in the western half of the United States. USC enrolls more than 27,000 students, nearly half of whom study at the graduate level. The university comprises 18 professional schools in addition to the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School.

USC has long been a dominant force in the world of intercollegiate athletics. Trojan teams have won more national championships—74 men's and 13 women's—than any other university in the nation. The Trojans have also won at least one national title in 26 consecutive years (1959-1985). USC has won the National Collegiate All-Sports Championship—an annual ranking by USA Today—six times since the inception of this ranking in 1971.

USC has produced more Olympians than any other college or university in the United States—264 men and women from USC have competed in the Olympics since 1904. Our alumni and students have won 181 Olympic medals, including 83 gold, 52 silver and 46 bronze. USC is the only university in the world whose students and alumni have won at least one gold medal in every Summer Olympics since 1912.

Along with their accomplishments on the playing fields, USC student-athletes have received more NCAA postgraduate scholarships than the students of any other institution. In addition, USC has had 20 first-team academic all-Americans.

The Director of Athletics is responsible for the management of the university's entire intercollegiate athletics program, which includes 12 men's sports and nine women's sports. The department of intercollegiate athletics employs a total staff of 105 full- and part-time employees, and has a total annual operating budget of nearly $20 million.

Preferred qualifications for this position include, but are not limited to: unquestioned personal integrity; strong commitment to the personal development and academic achievement of student-athletes; strong commitment to winning athletic championships; sensitivity to equity and diversity issues; experience in the administration of budgets, personnel and contracts; knowledge of NCAA rules and regulations; excellent communications skills; and ability in fund-raising.

Nominations and applications will be reviewed starting December 15, 1992, and will be accepted until a selection is made.

Nominations and applications should be sent to the attention of: Mr. Patrick C. Haden, Chairman, USC Athletic Director Search Advisory Committee, Administration 110, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California 90089-0012. Applications from, and nominations of, women and minorities are especially encouraged.

Trinity's student body consists of 2,500 students, 2,300 of whom are undergraduates. Highly selective admission standards and a comprehensive educational program characterize this well-endowed university. Trinity is located in San Antonio, Texas, which has a population of 850,000 within a metropolitan area of 1.2 million. Exciting opportunities exist beyond the campus in a bicultural atmosphere.

Candidates for the position of Director of Athletics must have strong communication, interpersonal, organizational and managerial skills. Commitment to academic excellence for student-athletes, sensitivity to equity among programs, and an appreciation of the roles of intercollegiate athletics, recreational sports and intramurals are essential.

The Director of Athletics, responsible for the supervision of the NCAA Division III athletic program for men and women, reports to the Vice-President for Academic Affairs. The Director has administrative responsibility for all aspects of the intercollegiate, intramural and recreational programs. Strong preference will be given to candidates with Division III experience as director or associate director, an advanced degree in a related field, and financial management experience in an intercollegiate athletic program.

The contract period is for 12 months beginning on or about June 1, 1993. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Candidates are requested to send a letter of application, resume and three letters of recommendations by January 25, 1993, to:

1992 Column No. 45

NCAA Bylaw 14.6.5.3.10

One-time transfer exception

In accordance with Bylaw 14.6.5.1, a transfer student from a four-year institution is not eligible for intercollegiate competition at a Division I or II institution until the student has fulfilled a residence requirement of one full academic year (two full semesters or three full quarters) at the certifying institution. Further, a transfer student-athlete admitted after the 12th class day may not utilize that semester or quarter for the purpose of meeting the residence requirement. A transfer student from a four-year collegiate institution is not subject to the residence requirement for intercollegiate competition if the student satisfies any of the conditions set forth in Bylaw 14.6.5.3. (Note: During the student-athlete's first academic year of full-time enrollment, the provisions of Bylaw 14.6.5.3 may serve as a basis for a waiver of or an exception to the residence requirement only for Divisions I and II transfer students who are qualifiers per Bylaw 14.02.9.1.)

Under the exception provisions of Bylaw 14.6.5.3.10, a student-athlete who transfers to the certifying institution from another four-year collegiate institution is not subject to the one-year residence requirement provided:

1. The student will be a participant at the institution to which he or she has transferred in a sport other than Division I basketball, Division I-A or I-AA football, or Division I men's ice hockey;

2. The student has not transferred previously from one four-year institution to another four-year institution

(regardless of whether the student was enrolled in a two-year college between attendance at two four-year institutions);

3. The student is in good academic standing and meets the satisfactory-progress requirements. The transferring student must be one who would have been eligible had he or she remained at the institution from which the student transferred, and the student also must be eligible at the certifying institution as a regularly enrolled full-time, degree-seeking student who is admitted in accordance with the regular, published entrance requirements of the institution;

4. The student's previous institution certifies in writing that it has no objection to the student being granted an exception to the transfer-residence requirement, and

5. If the student transfers to the certifying institution from a Division III member institution and meets the foregoing conditions, he or she may be eligible to compete but may not receive athletically related financial aid during the first academic year in residence at the certifying institution.

Division II institutions should note that the one-time transfer exception is applicable to all Division II sports, including basketball and football. Finally, a student who qualifies for the one-time transfer exception at midterm and participates at a second institution during the succeeding term would not be charged with more than one season of competition, provided participation occurs during the same academic year.

Correction

Division I football recruiting calendar

Division I institutions should note that there was an error in a recent Legislative Assistance column (Column No. 42; November 30, 1992, edition of The NCAA News). The column incorrectly states that a contact period is in existence in Division I football from January 7, 1993, through February 3, 1993. The contact period should be listed as January 7, 1993, through February 1, 1993 (8 a.m.). Thus, the correct dates for the Division I recruiting calendar are as follows:

December 1 through December 23—contact period [exception: December 7 (8 a.m.) through December 11 (8 a.m.) for two-year college prospects and their educational institutions—dead period];

December 24, 1992, through January 1, 1993—dead period;

January 2 through January 3—contact period;

January 4 through January 6—dead period;

January 7 through February 1 (8 a.m.)—contact period;

February 1 (8 a.m.) through February 5 (8 a.m.)—dead period;

February 5 (8 a.m.) through February 8—contact period, and February 9 through April 30—quiet period.

This material was provided by the NCAA legislative services staff as an aid to member institutions. If an institution has a question or comment regarding this column, such correspondence should be directed to Nancy L. Mitchell, assistant executive director for legislative services, at the NCAA national office. This information is available on the Collegiate Sports Network.

education and health. He was the recipient of the C. P. Yost Award for the top student in the school of physical education and was named West Virginia's most outstanding senior. He is a Big East scholar-athlete and a National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholar-athlete.

Compton is involved in the "Books are Cool" statewide outreach program in cooperation with the West Virginia Education Fund and works with disabled and special-needs children at West Virginia Children's Hospital. A frequent speaker to youth groups, he delivered the keynote speech to the 1992 West Virginia American Legion Boys' State.

Carlton Gray

An all-American defensive back at UCLA, Gray was a nominee for the Jim Thorpe Award, which recognizes the nation's top defensive back. Gray, who twice was named to the all-Pacific-10 Conference team, ranks second in career interceptions at UCLA.

Gray also is an academic all-American, an all-conference academic selection and a National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholar-athlete. He has compiled a 3.389 grade-point average while earning a communications studies degree.

He is active in the UCLA community outreach program and devotes time to a hospital visitation project. He is involved in minority affairs on campus, volunteers in feeding the homeless and speaks to several community and school groups.

Clyston "Steve" Holman

Holman is the reigning NCAA Division I outdoor 1,500-meter track champion. He is a seven-time Big East Conference champion and was recognized as Georgetown's most outstanding student-athlete in 1992. In addition, Holman is a two-time Penn Relays champion and was named the outstanding performer at the 1992 Big East indoor championships. He also was a 1992 Olympian.

An academic all-American, Holman was named the 1992 Big East male scholar-athlete of the year, graduating with a degree in English and a 3.401 grade point average. He served as a tutor for Sursum Corda Housing in Washington, D.C., for four years and has been a contributing writer to the Blackboard Newsletter, a Georgetown publication for African-American students.

Missy Marlowe

Marlowe is a five-time NCAA gymnastics champion, including her victories in the 1992 all-around, balance beam, uneven bars and floor exercise. She became the first contestant to win four individual titles in one year. She established NCAA championships records in the all-around (39.65), floor exercise (9.975) and balance beam (9.90) and is the only collegian to have scored a perfect 10.00 on every apparatus.

She was a 1988 Olympian, a five-time U.S. national team member, a Pan American Games gold medalist and a United States Gymnastics Federation athlete of the year.

Marlowe graduated with a 3.070 grade-point average, majoring in exercise and sports sciences. She was a volunteer worker for Special Olympics, the Multiple Sclerosis Society and the American Lung Association. She has spoken throughout Utah to elementary and junior and senior high-school students concerning drug awareness and goal setting.

Susan Robinson

Robinson, the 1992 Margaret

Wade Trophy Winner as national player of the year in women's basketball, is Penn State's all-time scoring leader. She was named to the NCAA Midwest region all-tournament team.

Robinson has been awarded an NCAA postgraduate scholarship and a Rawlings postgraduate scholarship and is a member of Athletes in Action. She serves as a Big Sister in the Second Mile Program and speaks regularly to youths about staying in school, the value of hard work and saying no to drugs.

An academic all-American and dean's-list student, Robinson compiled a 3.560 grade-point average and graduated with a degree in exercise and sports sciences.

Gino Torretta

Torretta, the 1992 Heisman Trophy winner, has quarterbacked the Miami Hurricanes to a No. 1 ranking in the wire-service polls and a berth in this year's USF&G Sugar Bowl against second-ranked University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa. He is a consensus all-American quarterback and recipient of the Davey O'Brien Award, which recognizes the nation's top senior quarterback.

Torretta received the Maxwell Award as the most outstanding player in college football and twice has been named Big East Conference player of the year.

Currently enrolled in graduate school, Torretta earned his undergraduate degree in business administration and compiled a 3.425 grade-point average. He was a 1992 Toyota Leadership Award recipient and was recognized as a Hitachi/College Football Association scholar-athlete.

He is active in the Metro-Dade Miami Police "Join a Team, Not a Gang" program and is a DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) volunteer. He speaks frequently at elementary schools.

'Tis the season

Brian Moore (left), a member of the Boys' Club of Newark, New Jersey, got a special Santa Claus greeting from Seton Hall University basketball player Luther Wright. Seton Hall played host to a holiday party December 13 for members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Newark. Approximately 1,300 boys and girls and their parents, along with 40 children who live at St. Rocco's Shelter in Newark, were treated to a holiday luncheon, entertainment and a visit with Santa. The children all went home with gifts. The annual event is run by volunteers from Seton Hall and the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Newark.
