Presidents stick with Prop 16, drop playoff study

The NCAA Presidents Commission has chosen to stay the course on new Division I initial-eligibility standards, but it also has recommended several major changes designed to allay concerns about educational access for minorities.

Only one other topic — whether to continue with discussions about creating a Division I-A football championship — was considered at any length by the presidents at their June 28-29 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri. On that subject, the NCAA Joint Policy Board chose to eliminate the NCAA Special Committee to Study a Division I-A Football Championship, thus ending any formal examination of the matter.

Initial-eligibility standards

The Commission received the report of the NCAA Special Committee to Review Initial-Eligibility Standards, which recommended a liberalization of the Proposal No. 16 provisions approved at the 1992 NCAA Convention. That special committee also recommended delaying the implementation of any new initial-eligibility standards.

After a long debate, the Commission chose to stay with Proposal No. 16, but it also offered several new ideas pertaining to partial qualifiers.

The Commission proposed:

■ Partial-qualifier status that would allow prospective student-athletes with an SAT score as low as 600 (15 ACT) to receive athletically related financial aid, provided he or she has a corresponding grade-point average of 2.750 (4.000 scale). (The full-qualifier index minimums called for by Proposal No.

16 are 700 SAT/2.500 GPA and 900 SAT/2.000 GPA.)

■ That a partial qualifier would be able to practice with his or her team as a freshman.

■ That a partial qualifier would have an opportunity to earn a fourth year of athletics eligibility by meeting existing NCAA academic satisfactory-progress standards.

Although the refusal to alter or delay the provisions of Proposal No. 16 has the potential to put the Commission at odds with segments of the membership, Commission Chair Judith E. N. Albino said she believes the presidents' approach will satisfy the access concerns that have been expressed often in the academic-standards debate.

Competitive-safeguards committee favors change in spring football practice

Injury rate prompts group to recommend to Council that practice be eliminated or reduced

The NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports — basing its action on five years of data from the Injury Surveillance System (ISS) — has recommended that the NCAA Council sponsor legislation to either eliminate or greatly modify spring football practice.

The ISS data show a consistently higher rate of injury in spring practice, compared to in-season practices.

Although the committee is concerned about out-of-season practice in all sports, spring football is the only one in which the ISS presents evidence supporting a change. During the five years that spring ISS data have been gathered, the injury rate for spring football has been roughly double that for the fall.

One of three actions was recommended by the competitive-safeguards

Slight drop:

Size of arenas in Division I tourney results in decline in men's basketball attendance

By Gary K. Johnson
NCAA STATISTICS COORDINATOR

The demand for tickets to the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship is high — from the first round to the championship game. One reason not all fans get to see the games in person is the limited size of tournament arenas.

This year, the size of tournament arenas was the key factor behind a slight drop in attendance for the men's basketball season.

In games involving a Division I team, total attendance nationally was down by 46,497. That number takes into account 130,968 fewer people attending the NCAA tournament in 1994 after record-setting crowds in 1993. The biggest decreases from 1993 to 1994 came in the Midwest region and the Final Four.

In the Midwest in 1993, the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis, Rosemont Horizon in Chicago and St. Louis Arena combined to attract 202,296 fans. Compare that to 1994's Oklahoma City Myriad Convention Center, the Kansas Coliseum in Wichita and Reunion Arena in Dallas, which drew a total of 102,750, including at least five sold-out sessions (out of eight).

Student-athlete welfare

Special committee report to be submitted to Council

The report of the Special Committee to Review Student-Athlete Welfare, Access and Equity has been accepted by the NCAA Presidents Commission and next will be submitted to the NCAA Council at its August 8-10 meeting.

The special committee recommends that the Council and Presidents Commission sponsor three proposals for new legislation at the 1995 Convention. It also proposes several amendments to existing legislation.

Student-athlete welfare, access and equity is the 1995 Convention topic in the strategic plan of the Presidents Commission. The committee's complete report appeared in the June 29 issue of The NCAA News.

For more information, see the June 29 and June 15 issues of The NCAA News.

Restructuring

Joint Policy Board settles on division committees

Separate Divisions I, II and III subcommittees will be appointed to address the membership restructuring issue.

The NCAA Joint Policy Board, meeting recently in conjunction with the Presidents Commission, chose to take that approach rather than forming a single committee to examine the matter. An "oversight" committee is to be formed out of the division subcommittees. Appointments are expected to be announced within two weeks.

Meanwhile, the August 31 deadline is approaching for those interested in submitting membership restructuring proposals. The original deadline was March 1, but in February, the Joint Policy Board moved the deadline back six months.

At the time, the Joint Policy Board said that while legislation is still possible for the 1995 Convention, it preferred that the 1995 event be used instead as a forum for discussion of the matter, with legislation to be considered at the 1996 Convention.

The special committee asked the Joint Policy Board for an extension of the study, but the Board declined. The Joint Policy Board comprises the executive committee of the Presidents Commission and the NCAA Administrative Committee.

NCAA President Joseph N. Crowley said the special committee did an excellent job in focusing the attention of the membership on the issue, but added that "all indications are that it is an idea whose time has not come."

Initial eligibility

Commission endorses Prop 16, with partial-qualifier changes

The NCAA Presidents Commission decided to support the provisions and effective date of 1992 Convention Proposal No. 16 at its recent meeting in Kansas City, Missouri.

The NCAA Special Committee to Review Initial-Eligibility Standards had recommended more liberal Division I initial-eligibility standards and a later effective date for any new standards than the current one of 1995. The Commission considered the options and stuck with Proposal No. 16, but it also recommended adding more inclusive criteria for partial qualifiers.

Under the Commission's proposal, a partial qualifier could receive athletically related financial aid with an SAT score as low as 600, provided he or she had a corresponding grade-point average of at least 2.750 (4,000 scale). Although partial qualifiers would not be eligible to compete or travel in their freshman season (practice would be permissible), they would be eligible for four seasons of competition if they met existing NCAA satisfactory-progress standards.

To become part of the 1995-96 NCAA Manual, the partial-qualifier recommendations would have to be approved by the 1995 NCAA Convention.

I-A playoff

Joint Policy Board dissolves panel studying I-A playoff

Formal discussion about creating an NCAA Division I-A Football Championship ended June 29 when NCAA Presidents Commission Chair Judith E. N. Albino announced a Joint Policy Board decision to dissolve the committee studying the matter.

The NCAA Special Committee to Study a Division I-A Football Playoff had conducted two meetings and reviewed extensive research on the subject. At the conclusion of second meeting, the committee decided that merit for an event existed, but that it had not

Final Four ticket applications

Ticket applications for the 1995 NCAA Final Four returned to a more normal level this year after demand for the 1994 event in Charlotte, North Carolina, far surpassed all records.

Tickets for the 1995 Final Four, which will be played in Seattle's Kingdome, were mailed in late June to individuals whose applications were selected.

The NCAA received 98,886 applications for the 1995 Final Four, the sixth-largest number ever and 72.3 percent more than in 1989, when the Final Four was last played in Seattle. The total number of tickets requested for 1995 was approximately 197,000.

The Kingdome will seat about 38,000 for the Final Four, and approximately 14,000 (36 percent) of the tickets have been set aside for the four participating institutions. The general public has been allocated 9,460 tickets. The remaining tickets are reserved for representatives of the NCAA membership (for example, presidents, directors of athletics and various committee members), members of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, and the host institution or agency.

Applications from more than 300 cities and towns in Washington were represented in the applicant pool. Applications were received from 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and seven foreign countries.

Those whose tickets were not selected soon will receive their refund checks. Those checks were mailed in late June, also.

Auburn football in elite group

The 1993 Auburn University football team has been chosen as one of the "Top 10 Teams in America" by the JM Perry Corporation, joining one other athletics team on a list that features some of the nation's most visible companies and other prominent "teams."

The California-based organizational development company assessed the team-building characteristics of businesses and organizations throughout the country.

"We made the selection based on factors such as trust, commitment, cooperation and reinforcement among group members," said J. Mitchell Perry, founder and president of the company. "Being a top-10 team has more to do with performance than with winning."

The Tigers, who were unable to participate in postseason competition and were ineligible to vie for the Southeastern Conference title in 1993 because of NCAA probation, finished 11-0 last season.

The San Francisco Giants were the only other sports team on the top-10 list. Other winning "teams" were the Space Shuttle Endeavor astronauts; Xerox Corporation; Eastman Chemical Company; Fox Television Network; Steiner/Bressler Advertising; Catalytica, Inc.; Curaflex; and the City of East Palo Alto, California.

Textbook case

The University of Missouri, Columbia, athletics department recently announced a three-year agreement with MBS Textbook Exchange, Inc., that will provide textbooks for Missouri student-athletes.

The value of the contribution is estimated at $250,000 and will enable the athletics department to address other financial needs, said Missouri athletics director Joseph R. Castiglione.

"This is a very special gift to nearly 400 University of Missouri student-athletes," Castiglione said. "The generosity of Bob and Connie Pugh, Dan and Susan Schuppan, and the MBS organization will allow us to commit precious dollars to other aspects of the MU athletics program at a time when rising costs in many areas put pressure on our budget."

The gift from MBS Textbook Exchange, a Columbia, Missouri, company, joins the existing Walsworth Book Endowment at Missouri as the source for all educational books and supplies needed by Tiger student-athletes.

"MBS made this gift for all the right reasons," Castiglione said. "They're a locally owned company that benefits from Columbia's stature as a major Midwest educational center, and they wanted to Francis continues as director of the Institute of Transportation Management at Colorado State.

Council-appointed committees

Postgraduate Scholarship Committee: Jack Lengyel, director of athletics, U.S. Naval Academy, appointed to replace David B. Keilitz, no longer at a member institution.

Recruiting Committee: James Allen, student-athlete, University of Oklahoma, appointed to replace Bill Curley, Boston College, no longer an undergraduate student-athlete.

Championships committees

Division III Championships Committee: Sam S. Bedrosian, director of athletics, Central College (Iowa). He formerly was at Aurora University.

Sports committees

Division I Women's Basketball Committee: Linda Bruno named commissioner of the Atlantic 10 Conference, effective in mid- to late July.

Field Hockey Committee: Heidi Pike, field hockey coach, Wheaton College (Massachusetts), appointed to replace Linda A. Smurl, no longer at Babson College. Appointment is effective September 1, 1994.

Men's Ice Hockey Rules Committee: Richard Umile, men's ice hockey coach, University of New Hampshire, appointed to replace Michael McShane, resigned.

Division II Women's Volleyball Committee: Rhonda L. Williams, women's volleyball coach, Metropolitan State College of Denver, appointed to a new position on the committee in accordance with the 1994 Convention action that expanded the committee; Roseanne L. Wegrich, women's volleyball coach, California Polytechnic State University, Pomona, appointed to replace Marlene Piper, no longer at a member institution; Peggy E. Martin, Central Missouri State University, appointed to replace Piper as chair.

Men's Water Polo Committee: John Loughran, men's water polo coach, Queens College (New York), appointed effective September 1, 1994, to replace John Benedick, who declined the appointment.

Many safety issues yet to be addressed

By Kathy D. Clark
UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO

The NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports has taken particular interest in the work of the NCAA Special Committee to Review Student-Athlete Welfare, Access and Equity.

Since both committees possess a common interest in protecting the health and safety of our student-athletes and in establishing environments that foster positive relationships between student-athletes and coaches, the opportunity for open discussion during the special committee's study has been beneficial.

As a member of the competitive-safeguards committee since 1989 (chair since 1992), I have had the great privilege to be involved with medical and athletics professionals and with the NCAA sports sciences staff. All have been tireless in their pursuit to make the college athletics environment safe and healthful for those who are fortunate enough to be a part of it.

The involvement of the NCAA Presidents Commission in these pursuits and its focus on the welfare of the student-athlete places a degree of attention on the safety of the student-athlete that is necessary and appropriate. No committee is equipped to address completely the myriad topics that encompass an issue — especially one as broad as student-athlete welfare, access and equity. Nevertheless, the special committee has done a laudable job in setting a framework to focus attention on student-athlete welfare issues. The establishment of an NCAA Council-appointed committee to provide a continuing voice of advocacy for student-athlete welfare, one of the recommendations of the special committee, would complement the ongoing efforts of the competitive-safeguards committee and ensure that maximizing student-athlete health and safety remains a fundamental responsibility of NCAA institutions.

During my tenure on the competitive-safeguards committee, I have seen the NCAA take action to address pressing health and safety concerns. The Association approved a year-round drug-testing program to ensure

Learn sportsmanship, then the rules

A presentation by E. K. Hull of Dartmouth College, then chair of the NCAA Football Rules Committee, to the 1921 NCAA Convention.

It seems likely that the work of the Football Rules Committee as a legislative body will, in the immediate future at least, be restricted to the consideration of relatively minor questions and that the greatest contribution which the committee can make to the game will be found in close cooperation with the colleges in maintaining the prestige and good name of football.

I want to point out in this connection the obvious fact that the rules committee, by the mere phrasing of rules and providing for their enforcement, can neither preserve the ideals of the game nor supply the proper environment nor the right kind of spirit under which these contests should take place. The objective under which we are all seeking can be reached only through the close cooperation of the rules committee and the respective college administrations, both academic and athletic, and for that cooperation, your committee makes a definite appeal. If the members of this Association will take the lead, it is inevitable that the secondary schools and all other academic institutions must sooner or later follow.

Let me give two illustrations of the kind of cooperation I have in mind. One is suggested by an incident that took place within the last month. I was discussing standards of sportsmanship with a prominent football player who played for his last year on one of the best-known elevens in the East during the past season. I asked him if he had ever read the Football Code in the front of his rules book. He replied that he had never heard of it.

The more things change...

How contemporary themes were viewed in the past

Now the Football Code was prepared by the rules committee in an attempt to set forth the standards of sportsmanship under which the lovers of football feel the game should be played if it is to endure permanently as the greatest of all academic sports. The rules committee can prepare such a Code, but it cannot force the boys who are learning the game to read it. In every college and secondary school in the country, hours upon hours are devoted to teaching the boys the physical technique of the game and the technical rules which govern the play. Why not teach them the Code first of all?

I would like to suggest that the colleges composing the membership of this national organization make sure that in each one of their respective institutions enough time is taken at the beginning of every season to make certain that every candidate for the team reads and thoroughly understands the Code and is told definitely and unequivocally that his institution stands squarely behind it and the type of sportsmanship it undertakes to establish.

Another illustration. The rules committee, through its Central Board on Officials, can help in the education of officials and can assist in suggesting available officials for the more important games. It can prepare and maintain a list of officials believed to be competent and who are available for employment. The rules committee, however, cannot by itself provide the protection, prestige and moral backing to which every competent official is entitled while he is acting in the performance of his duty.

This is distinctly up to the college authorities, both academic and athletic. There are even now too many thoroughly competent and honest officials who hesitate to inflict penalties lest they thereby incur the dissatisfaction or hostility of the authorities of the college involved, and thus perhaps lose the opportunity of thereafter officiating in games where the college penalized is a contestant...

I would like to suggest that every institution which is a member of this Association take definite affirmative steps to let it be generally and unmistakably understood that the institution stands squarely behind, and will support to the limit, every fearless, competent official and his decisions and that no such official shall ever suffer from having done his duty on the field, whether from unfavorable comment or criticism or the withholding of future patronage.

The game of football is a wonderful game. Its appeal is irresistible. Its contests take place under the highest tension. It is played before great crowds of partisan and anxious spectators. Both the preparation for and the playing of these contests are surrounded with extensive and often ill-advised and overdone publicity. The aggregate gate receipts from these contests are enormous.

A game which can maintain its best standards under all these conditions is certainly worthwhile, but it will require all the concerted efforts of all its friends to counteract some of the undermining tendencies which are almost certain to develop from the conditions under which the game is played today.

Year-round testing begins for II football this fall

Beginning this fall, Division II football athletes will be subject to year-round drug testing.

The program will be similar to the one implemented for Divisions I-A and I-AA football athletes in 1990 and Division I track and field athletes in 1992. Year-round testing now will be done for the 145 NCAA institutions that sponsor Division II football.

Besides the year-round testing programs for football and track and field, the Association tests student-athletes after NCAA championship competition and in conjunction with postseason football bowl games.

Notification of testing will be provided 48 hours in advance. Upon notification, the institution will submit a complete football squad list (NCAA Form No. 94-5e) to the NCAA via fax machine.

The NCAA will select randomly 14 student-athletes from the squad list. An NCAA testing crew then will visit the university. Athletics directors soon will receive instructions for their department's role in administering the test.

In a package to be mailed July 8, athletics directors at Division II football-playing institutions will be asked to provide a calendar for the period from August through December so the testing process will not interfere with travel and academic schedules. Calendars will be provided later in the year for the period from January through June.

■ Drug-testing questions and answers

Proposal No. 53, which was passed at the 1990 NCAA Convention, authorized the NCAA Executive Committee to establish a year-round drug-testing program. Division II football athletes will be subject to year-round testing beginning this August. These questions and answers were developed by the NCAA sports sciences staff to assist member schools in educating student-athletes about the testing program and about eligibility sanctions for a positive test.

General questions

What guidelines has the NCAA Executive Committee set for the year-round testing program?

Student-athletes competing in Division I or II football or Division I track and field are subject to year-round drug testing.

Samples collected during year-round testing are analyzed for anabolic agents, diuretics, peptide hormones and analogues, and urine manipulators (for example, probenecid and related compounds).

Will the NCAA test at Division II postseason football games?

Yes. The Executive Committee will continue to operate the postseason drug-testing program. All student-athletes competing at NCAA championships and postseason football games will be subject to testing at those events. Samples collected as part of the postseason program will be analyzed for substances from all NCAA banned-drug categories.

NCAA Drug Testing for 1994-95

	I-A and I-AA football	II football	Men's and women's track	Other sports
Preseason testing?	Yes*	Yes*	Yes*	No
In-season testing?	Yes*	Yes*	Yes*	No
Postseason testing?	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes

*Testing for anabolic agents, diuretics, peptide hormones and analogues, and urine manipulators only.

How does the year-round drug-testing program operate?

Schools that sponsor Division II football will be subject to year-round drug testing any time between the first day of preseason practice and the end of that institution's spring term. The NCAA will test athletes in these programs at least once during each testing year. In addition, 25 percent of those schools will be tested more than once.

Testing will be coordinated with an institution's academic and travel schedules.

Who chooses the Division II football student-athletes to be tested? How are they notified?

The NCAA will select student-athletes for year-round testing. Student-athletes will be chosen randomly by the NCAA from the institution's football squad list. The NCAA will choose 14 football student-athletes. The institution will be notified 48 hours before the scheduled drug-testing and the institution will notify the student-athletes selected.

To what degree is the school to be involved with an NCAA on-campus drug test?

The institution will designate a site coordinator (representative of the institution) to assist the NCAA testing crew while on campus; will provide the NCAA with institutional calendars in order to schedule testings; will notify the student-athletes to be tested and complete an official NCAA notification form alerting the student-athlete to the date, time and location of the drug test; will have a representative present during the testing to certify student-athlete identity; and will be responsible for the security of the collection station and for student-athlete compliance with the collection protocol.

Does the student-athlete need to provide identification?

Pending Executive Committee approval, beginning this fall, individuals from Division I football and track and field programs will be required to provide photo identification. At this time, individuals from Division II football programs will be required to provide identification, with photo preferred.

What time of day is testing conducted?

The time of testing will be decided by the institution. Student-athletes will be scheduled for testing according to their academic schedules. In most cases, testing will begin early in the morning and will be completed well before noon.

Will the testing protocol currently used for NCAA championships and bowl testing be followed for the year-round testing program?

There will be minor changes in the current testing protocol; however, any changes will be included in the 1994-95 drug-testing brochure.

Specimens are analyzed at NCAA laboratories at the University of California, Los Angeles, and Indiana University, Bloomington.

Sanctions and eligibility

What are the sanctions for a positive NCAA drug test?

See NCAA Bylaw 18.4.1.5 in the 1994-95 NCAA Manual.

When does the period of ineligibility begin?

The period of ineligibility begins at 12:01 a.m. the day the specimen was provided or was to be provided.

Do individual sanctions differ according to whether the student-athlete tested positive at an NCAA championship or as part of the year-round testing program?

No. The sanctions do not differ. For example, a football student-athlete who tests positive from an NCAA campus drug test is subject to the same sanctions as the student-athlete who tests positive at an NCAA championship or postseason football game.

Are there team sanctions for a student-athlete's positive drug test?

No, unless a student-athlete tests positive and the institution fails to rule him or her ineligible.

Many schools and conferences have drug-testing programs. Are they required to adopt these sanctions for institution- or conference-administered drug tests?

No. Although schools and conferences may adopt these sanctions for their testing programs, NCAA legislation requires that a student-athlete be declared ineligible only on the basis of a positive NCAA-administered drug test. Institutional or conference drug tests (as distinguished from an NCAA-administered drug test) would not affect the student-athlete's eligibility under NCAA rules.

Restoration of eligibility

What is the process for eligibility restoration?

Institutional requests for restoration of a student-athlete's eligibility as a result of a positive drug test should be submitted to the NCAA director of eligibility.

Are student-athletes tested during their period of ineligibility?

Yes. All student-athletes who are ruled ineligible as a result of a positive drug test and who will be eligible for eligibility restoration will be subject to NCAA testing at any time during their period of ineligibility. In addition, all student-athletes who are ruled ineligible will be subjected to a mandatory exit drug test before the last month of their minimum period of ineligibility (for example, the 11th month of a one-year suspension). The results of any NCAA drug tests conducted during the period of ineligibility would be provided to the NCAA Eligibility Committee. The school will be responsible for the cost of the exit retest.

Other questions

When will additional information about the drug-testing programs be available?

The annual brochure about NCAA drug programs will be mailed to all NCAA member schools and conferences August 5. This brochure will contain information about the year-round and postseason testing program.

An educational videotape about the drug-testing program will be redistributed this summer to Division II football programs.

Whom do I contact if I have additional questions about the NCAA drug-testing program?

Questions or comments about the NCAA drug-testing program should be directed to the sports-sciences staff at the national office.

Contact Frank D. Uryasz, NCAA director of sports sciences, at 6201 College Boulevard, Overland Park, Kansas 66211-2422. The telephone number is 913/339-1906.

Baltimore bliss

First- and second-round games for the 1995 Division I Men's Basketball Championship scheduled at the Baltimore Arena March 16 and 18 already are sold out.

"The tournament has created tremendous excitement at UMBC and all over Baltimore," said Martin Schwartz, assistant athletics director at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, which is serving as host. "We're looking forward to an outstanding event."

Maryland-Baltimore County became the third host to announce its venue is sold out for the 1995 men's tournament.

Siena College and the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference announced recently that first- and second-round games in Albany, New York, are sold out.

East regional games in Birmingham, Alabama — to be hosted by the Southeastern Conference — also are sold out.

Total of 356 summer basketball leagues certified

A total of 356 summer basketball leagues were certified by the Association for 1994 competition as of June 30.

Student-athletes from NCAA institutions participate each summer in one of hundreds of leagues certified by the Association in accordance with NCAA Bylaws 14.7.5.2 and 30.14.

Following is a listing of all leagues — 173 for men, 66 for women and 117 combining men's and women's competition — that were certified as of the end of June. Included in the list are several leagues that have not been reported in previous issues of The NCAA News. Leagues appearing in the News for the first time are indicated with an asterisk.

Further information about certification of leagues can be obtained from Christopher D. Schoemann, NCAA legislative assistant, at the national office.

Administrative Committee minutes

Conference No. 11 June 26, 1994

1. Acting for the NCAA Council, the Administrative Committee:

a. Appointed Larry R. Gerlach, faculty athletics representative and professor of history at the University of Utah, to the Council, replacing G. James Francis, no longer eligible to serve.

b. Appointed James Allen, football student-athlete, University of Oklahoma, to the Recruiting Committee, replacing Bill Curley, no longer an undergraduate student-athlete after the end of this academic year.

c. Appointed Heidi Pike, field hockey coach, Wheaton College (Massachusetts), to the Field Hockey Committee, replacing Linda Smurl, whose appointment was to have been effective September 1 but who is no longer at a member institution.

d. Appointed the following Council subcommittees:

(1) Playing and practice seasons subcommittee: Division I — David R. Hart Jr., athletics director, East Carolina University; Doris R. Soladay, associate athletics director, Syracuse University; Patricia Viverito, senior associate commissioner, Missouri Valley Conference; Mary Jo Warner, senior associate athletics director, George Washington University; Division II —

Clint Bryant, athletics director, Augusta College; Rita M. Castagna, athletics director, Assumption College; Division III — Lawrence R. Schiner, athletics director and faculty athletics representative, Jersey City State College; Robert E. Williams, athletics director, Swarthmore College.

(b) Personnel limitations subcommittee: Division I — Warner Alford, athletics director, University of Mississippi; Shirley Walker, coordinator of women's sports, Alcorn State University; Deborah A. Yow, athletics director, St. Louis University; Division II — Janet R. Kittell, athletics director, California State University, Chico; Division III — Linda E. Hopple, executive director, Middle Atlantic States Athletic Conference.

e. Approved a request from the Special Committee to Review Student-Athlete Welfare, Access and Equity that Donald F. Behrend, chair, be allowed to attend the August Council meeting to present the special committee's report.

c. Denied a request for a waiver of NCAA Bylaw 11.7.1.1.2 to permit Oklahoma to temporarily replace the head men's basketball coach during the July 1994 evaluation period, noting that in the past waivers have been granted for institutions to replace a countable coach if the coach was unable to perform his or her duties due to extenuating circumstances (e.g., suspension, prolonged serious illness), and that the fact that the coach in this situation chose to assist with coaching the USA Basketball team in the Goodwill Games does not constitute an extenuating circumstance.

2. Report of actions taken by the NCAA executive director per Constitution 4.3.2.

a. Acting for the Council:

Approved 10 summer basketball leagues (five for men, one for women and four for both men and women) per Bylaws 14.7.5.2 and 30.14, as reported in issues of The NCAA News.

b. Acting for the Executive Committee:

Approved per Bylaw 31.4.4.1 honorariums to be paid to institutions that hosted off-campus competition in the 1994 Division I Men's Basketball Championship.

Refinement of qualifying standards sought in I softball

To receive automatic qualification, a conference would require teams to play each other at least twice

The NCAA Division I Women's Softball Committee has recommended to the NCAA Executive Committee that a conference require its members to play a minimum of two games against each conference opponent to be awarded automatic qualification or play-in privileges for the Division I championship.

Meeting June 27-30 in Kansas City, Missouri, the committee also forwarded to the Executive Committee a proposal that would count forfeits — for selection purposes only — as a loss for the forfeiting team and a win for the offended team. Forfeits would be counted as such unless there is mutual agreement between the involved coaches that a forfeit will not be counted as a win or a loss for either team.

In response to some confusion among teams this year, the softball committee also will recommend to the NCAA legislative services staff the following definition of a tournament: "Competition is considered a tournament if a champion is declared and if round-robin competition is conducted vs. common opponents or if the competition structure consists of pool play, single elimination, double elimination or a combination of the three with a champion declared."

II softball seeks eight-team bracket for '96 championship

After overseeing its first six-team final at the 1994 championship, the NCAA Division II Women's Softball Committee is proposing that an eight-team final be played beginning in 1996.

The committee will recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that an eight-region alignment replace the current six-region setup. The committee agreed that an eight-region format would distribute more equitably the number and strength of schools currently competing in Division II. An eight-region alignment would result in eight three-team regionals instead of six four-team regionals.

If the eight-region alignment is not approved, the committee will request adjustments in current regional alignments that would result in the transfer of selected institutions within the South, Mid-Atlantic and Central regions.

At its June 27-30 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, the committee also reviewed its decision to eliminate automatic qualifiers for the 1995 and 1996 championships. The committee upheld its decision with regard to those years but will re-examine automatic qualification for the 1997 championship.

In another action, the committee voted to recommend Salem, Virginia, as the site for the 1995 championship, which will be May 18-21. Longwood College would serve as the host institution.

III softball recommends Salem, Virginia, as host of 1996 championship

The NCAA Division III Women's Softball Committee will recommend the selection of Salem, Virginia, as the site for the 1996 NCAA Division III Women's Softball Championship.

The recommendation is subject to approval by the NCAA Executive Committee. Salem also has been recommended as the site of the 1995 NCAA Division II Women's Softball Championship (see story elsewhere on this page).

In other actions at its June 27-30 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, the softball committee voted to recommend no change in the policy of selecting a minimum of three and a maximum of six teams per region under the new six-region alignment.

The committee also will recommend that five conferences be awarded automatic qualification for the 1995 championship. Those conferences are the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin and Iowa Intercollegiate Athletic, New Jersey Athletic, Massachusetts State College Athletic and State University of New York Athletic Conferences.

Other highlights

In other actions at its June 27-30 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, the Division I Women's Softball Committee:

■ Voted to recommend the following conferences for automatic qualification to the 1995 championship: the Big East, Big Eight, Big Ten, Big West, Metropolitan Collegiate Athletic, Mid-American Athletic, Midwestern Collegiate, Missouri Valley, Pacific-10 and Western Athletic Conferences.

■ Voted to recommend the following pairings of conferences for play-in competition: Ohio Valley Conference at Mid-Continent Conference; Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference at Southland Conference; Big South Conference at Trans America Athletic Conference; Patriot League at North Atlantic Conference; Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference at Atlantic 10 Conference; and Northeast Conference at Ivy Group.

■ Established dates and sites for ASA Fast-Pitch Umpire School clinics in 1994: September 24-25 at Bowling Green State University; October 1-2 at California State University, Fresno; October 1-2 at the University of Connecticut; October 1-2 at the University of South Carolina, Columbia; October 15-16 at Illinois State University; and October 22-23 at the University of Texas at Arlington.

■ Voted to recommend to the NCAA Committee on Financial Aid and Amateurism that softball financial aid award limits be raised from 11 to 16.

■ Voted to recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that the top-25 poll be eliminated since the National Softball Coaches Association will sponsor a national poll beginning with the 1995 season.

■ Further defined field dimensions for tournament play. In regional and championship play, the distance to the outfield fences must not exceed 220 feet. Outfield fences shall be a minimum of 190 feet in left and right fields. If a portable fence is used, it must be placed at a distance of 190 feet in left and right fields and 220 feet in centerfield. All portable fencing must be secured so as to prevent balls from rolling under.

■ Voted to forward the following recommendations with financial impact to the Executive Committee for consideration in May 1995: increase the travel party from 24 to 28 for all rounds of the championship; develop a ratings percentage index for Division I softball; and eliminate the possibility that teams from the same conference are placed in the same regional.

■ Heard a presentation by Kathy Veroni on behalf of the National Softball Coaches Association.

■ Heard a bid presentation for the 1996 Women's College World Series from representatives of the city of Columbus, Georgia. Columbus will serve as the venue for Olympic softball competition in 1996. The committee also heard a presentation from the Oklahoma City All Sports Association and the Amateur Softball Association. Those groups are bidding to host the Women's College World Series from 1996 through 2000.

Automatic qualification reviewed at II men's basketball meeting

Automatic championship qualification, selection criteria and play-in games highlighted discussions at the June meeting of the NCAA Division II Men's Basketball Committee.

The committee met June 26-29 in Kansas City, Missouri.

The NCAA Executive Committee had asked the Division II committee to re-examine the need for automatic qualification to the Division II Men's Basketball Championship in light of recent regionalization in Division II.

The basketball committee believes that the conference structure is the backbone of Division II and that automatic qualification should be retained to encourage development of strong conferences.

The committee recommended automatic-qualification criteria, which would include a conference's overall record for two years, nonconference record, nonconference record against Division II opponents, NAIA record, Elite Eight appearances and NCAA tournament records. The committee also voted to award no more than three automatic berths per region.

The recommendations will be forwarded to the Executive Committee.

The committee also added four factors to its present championship-selection criteria: head-to-head competition, results against common opponents, records vs. Division II opponents whose records are above .500, and an effective-play rating.

The committee reaffirmed that the 16 play-in games should be recognized as the first round of the championship, although it did not recommend reimbursement for travel expenses and per diem for those games. If play-in games do become an official part of the tournament, the committee recommended that it be allowed to assign game officials and that the NCAA provide promotions and merchandising assistance.

The Executive Committee, meeting in May, deferred until August a decision on this matter.

It was noted that revenue generated at each of the 16 play-in sites in 1994 was sufficient to reimburse all 32 teams for travel expenses and per diem.

Other highlights

In other actions at its June 26-29 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, the Division II Men's Basketball Committee:

■ Voted to recommend automatic qualification for the following 20 conferences for the 1995 championship: California Collegiate Athletic, Central Intercollegiate Athletic and Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Associations, and Colorado Athletic, Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic, Great Lakes Valley, Gulf South, Lone Star, New England Collegiate, New York Collegiate Athletic, North Central Intercollegiate Athletic, Northeast-10, Northern California Athletic, Pacific West, Peach Belt Athletic, Pennsylvania State Athletic, Rocky Mountain Athletic, South Atlantic, Southern Intercollegiate Athletic and Sunshine State Conferences.

■ Heard a presentation from Bob Hanson on behalf of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

■ Met with representatives from Louisville, Kentucky, to discuss administration of the 1995 championship, which will be at the Commonwealth Convention Center. Seating capacity for the event will be 7,174.

Championships issues involve men's golf subcommittee

The men's subcommittee of the NCAA Men's and Women's Golf Committee discussed championships administration issues during its June 24-27 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri.

The subcommittee reviewed its developing relationship with the United States Golf Association, which is responsible for the enforcement of rules during NCAA championships. The subcommittee approved a program outlining the overall involvement of the USGA in a partnership with NCAA men's golf championships and future host institutions.

In other championships matters, the subcommittee recommended the University of South Carolina at Aiken to the NCAA Executive Committee as host for the 1995 Division II Men's Golf Championships. The subcommittee intends to select a site for the Division III championships later this summer.

In addition, the subcommittee will review proposals for the 1997 and 1998 Division I championships in January 1995, during the Golf Coaches Association of America convention. The 1995 championships will be at Ohio State University and the 1996 championships will be at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga.

Regarding other matters, the subcommittee plans to survey the Division I membership this fall on the possibility of combining the current three-regional format into two regionals. The subcommittee believes this would provide more consistent administration, similar to that for the national championships.

The subcommittee, after consulting with the women's subcommittee on NCAA Bylaw 31.1.12.1, also recommended to the Executive Committee that professional sports personnel be allowed to participate in advertising televised during NCAA championships. The subcommittees noted that because the Division I men's and National Collegiate women's championships are the only televised collegiate golf events during the year, it is unreasonable to expect golf manufacturers to spend the money to create commercials excluding professionals only for those telecasts.

Other highlights

In other actions at its June 24-27 meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, the men's subcommittee of the Men's and Women's Golf Committee:

- Worked with the women's subcommittee to develop a common system of reporting scores at the championships site.
- Determined that results of the annual USA-Japan competition will be considered in the championships selection process.
- Reviewed and endorsed the criteria developed by the NCAA Gender-Equity Task Force regarding financial-aid limits.
- In Division II, moved Longwood College from District 3 North to District 2 and the University of Northern Colorado from District 5 to District 7.
- Voted to reallocate five berths in the Division II championships from District 3 South to District 2.
- Agreed to survey the Division II membership regarding the possible establishment of regional competition as a method of qualification for the national championships.

Women's subcommittee prepares for possible separate tournament

The women's subcommittee of the NCAA Men's and Women's Golf Committee will recommend a format for a new National Collegiate Women's Golf Championships for Divisions II and III members — provided that a proposal to establish separate championships for Division I is adopted at the 1995 NCAA Convention.

The subcommittee met June 24-27 in Kansas City, Missouri.

If the proposal passes, the subcommittee will recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that three regions of equal size (determined by number of teams per region) be created for Division II and that one team from each region (a total of 15 golfers) be selected to compete in the National Collegiate championships. In Division III, four regions of equal size would be created and one team from each region (a total of 20 golfers) would be selected. The remaining 28 berths in the 63-person field would be allocated based upon strength of regions, with positions assigned to each region based upon proportionality of sponsorship.

The subcommittee also determined the following regional allocations for the proposed 1995 Division I championships: East regional — 102 berths (South District: nine teams and one individual; Midwest District: four teams and two individuals; Middle Atlantic East District: six teams and four individuals); West regional — 102 berths (West District: nine teams and one individual; Far West District: 11 teams and one individual).

For the 1995 Division I championships, seven teams and three individuals would qualify from the East regional and 11 teams and two individuals would qualify from the West regional. The number of berths is based upon performance within each region over the last three years.

The subcommittee also established that regular-season competition must be conducted on courses of at least 5,800 yards to be counted in the selection process.

Rifle committee enacts deadline to submit rosters

The NCAA Men's and Women's Rifle Committee adopted three policies and set three important dates for the 1995 championships during its annual meeting June 28-30 in Bar Harbor, Maine.

The committee established a deadline of 24 hours after official notification from the host institution for coaches of participating teams to notify the host of the number of student-athletes who will compete in the team competition, as well as whether an individual will accept or decline an invitation to compete.

Previously, there was no deadline, but with the championships cap of 56 competitors, the committee believes it is important to ensure that all those slots are filled by competitors who will be present at the championships site.

In another change of policy, inner 10s — the method by which tied scores are broken — will be scored at the same time all other scoring is tallied. Previously, inner 10s only were tallied after it had been determined that there was a tie. The change will give coaches a chance to challenge those scores.

Also, after a one-year experiment using six scorers at the championships, the committee has voted to return to a previous system using eight scorers.

The committee also established important dates for the 1995 championships.

The period for obtaining qualifying scores from certified competition will be January 1 through February 12, 1995. Certified-competition report forms will be due at the NCAA national office by February 15. The championships will be March 2-4, a change from the customary dates on the second weekend of March.

Women's Academic All-America at-large teams named

An Oregon State golfer and a Kenyon swimmer honored in March as Division III woman swimmer of the year lead the GTE Academic All-America women's at-large teams as university- and college-division team members of the year, respectively.

Margo Evashkevski, who also was a four-year starter in basketball at Oregon State, posted a 77.6 scoring average as a golfer this year and placed in the top 10 in four of 10 tournaments. A business major with a perfect 4.000 grade-point average, Evashkevski was honored in the university division as the individual who best represents the qualities of an Academic All-America team member.

Carla Ainsworth, a member of the Kenyon team that won its 11th consecutive Division III swimming and diving team title this year, was honored as team member of the year in the college division. Ainsworth, a junior, swept the freestyle events at this year's championships and also was a member of three victorious Kenyon relay teams. She holds a 3.710 GPA as a chemistry/history major.

The complete university- and college-division teams, as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America, follow:

Schneider, Erikson top men's academic at-large squad

A volleyball player on the first non-West Coast team to win an NCAA men's volleyball championship and a tennis player at Oberlin head the GTE Academic All-America men's at-large teams as university- and college-division team members of the year, respectively.

Byron Schneider, a cocaptain on Penn State's National Collegiate volleyball championship team, was honored as the individual in the university division who best represents the qualities of an Academic All-America team member. The senior, who helped Penn State to a 25-3 record this year, carried a 3.780 grade-point average (4.000 scale) as a bioengineering major at Penn State.

Oberlin's Carl Erikson was named team member of the year in the college division. The senior posted a combined 42-2 record in singles and doubles matches this year and earned all-North Coast Athletic Conference honors for the fourth straight year. He posted a 4.130 GPA (4.000 scale) in computer science/mathematics.

Twenty-nine additional summer basketball events are certified

An additional 29 summer basketball events were certified before the beginning of the Division I summer evaluation period.

The events were certified in accordance with legislation regulating Division I men's and women's basketball coaches' attendance at camps.

In accordance with NCAA Bylaw 13.13.5, basketball coaches at Division I institutions may attend only institutional summer basketball camps as defined in Bylaw 13.13.1.1 and noninstitutional organized events held during the July evaluation period that are certified under Bylaw 30.15.

The Division I men's evaluation period began July 5 and extends through July 31. The Division I women's evaluation period is July 8-31.

To date, 165 events have been certified by the Association. Other certified events were listed in the June 22 and 29 issues of The NCAA News.

More information about certification of events can be obtained from Christopher D. Schoemann, NCAA legislative assistant, at the national office.

Following are the 16 men's and 13 women's events certified most recently, with sites and dates of camps and names, addresses and (where available) telephone numbers of principal owners or operators.

committee, which met June 14-17 in Mackinac Island, Michigan:

■ Eliminate spring football practice.

■ Permit only noncontact spring football practice.

■ Reduce the number of contact spring football practices — from the current 10 contact and five noncontact to five contact/10 noncontact.

The committee also emphasized that rules regarding equipment that can be worn in non-contact practices — limited to headgear, shoes, pants and porous lightweight jerseys — should be strictly enforced. Although shoulder pads are permitted under current rules, the committee continues to oppose their use in noncontact practices.

Also during the meeting, the committee expressed concern that no one is representing the unique needs of college athletics in the national health-care debate currently underway in Congress.

The committee has recommended that the Association take an active advocacy role. Related, time-sensitive insurance issues prompted the committee also to recommend that a consultant be retained to work with both the committee and the Association on the issue.

The committee also took the following actions:

■ Discussed the preliminary report of the NCAA Special Committee to Review Student-Athlete Welfare, Access and Equity and noted that it does not address cheerleader safety at member institutions. The competitive-safeguards committee will draft a statement on the issue, which will be reviewed at the next committee meeting. The committee also expressed concern about increased practice opportunities and their relationship to "overuse" injuries. The committee also reported that sports medicine staffs are concerned that they do not have the manpower needed to adequately monitor these practices.

■ Produced a revised committee guideline regarding mandatory equipment, standards and specifications for review by the NCAA Executive Committee. The new guideline better outlines the mechanism for addressing mandatory equipment and the process for development of standards for such equipment, which primarily are intended to prevent catastrophic injury.

■ Recommended that the Council change the guidelines regarding composition of the competitive-safeguards committee to designate at least one but not both of the athletics trainers' positions for an individual responsible for a member institution's total athletics program. The committee believes that the current

Research subcommittee

The research subcommittee of the NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports reviewed recommendations for external sports science research in five areas and ranked them in priority order during the competitive-safeguards committee's June 14-17 meeting in Mackinac Island, Michigan.

The rankings will be used by the NCAA Research Committee in recommending funding for research.

The five areas, in order of priority, are (1) continued support of catastrophic-injury data collection, which has been going on for 10 years, (2) assessment of gender equity in medical coverage and injury prevention, (3) development of an appropriate tool for quantifying and identifying "overuse" injuries, particularly in female student-athletes, (4) causative factors in gender-specific musculoskeletal injuries [such as anterior cruciate ligament injuries, which occur more frequently in women than men in similar sports], and (5) an annual survey of drug use, as opposed to past studies that have been conducted every three years.

The subcommittee also developed a new long-range plan, which includes a mission statement describing a commitment to the following: fostering and evaluating applicable sports science research, creating and disseminating helpful sports science information to member institutions, monitoring injury rates and suggesting rules modifications as needed, and interacting with other groups for the advancement of sports sciences.

Handbook

The research subcommittee also made changes made in the NCAA Sports Medicine Handbook, which will be delivered to NCAA athletics trainers, team physicians and athletics directors early in the fall. The changes include new guidelines and the deletion or modification of others.

The subcommittee reviewed new guidelines on concussions and second-impact syndrome (injury resulting from multiple impacts to the head), brachial plexus injuries (commonly known as "burners"), and the effects of cold temperatures on athletes.

A modification to current guideline 4F regarding head stabilization, "Guidelines for Helmet Fitting and Removal in Athletics," was reviewed and adopted. The modification was recommended by representatives of the emergency medical technician profession.

The subcommittee also decided to remove guideline 2K, "Hyperventilation Syndrome in Underwater Swimming," from the publication due to a perceived lack of current concern regarding the topic.

At its next meeting, the subcommittee plans to develop standards for inclusion of guidelines in the handbook.

Injury surveillance

In an action involving the Injury Surveillance System, the subcommittee reviewed and endorsed an NCAA national office staff recommendation to convert the ISS to a personal-computer-based system. A recommendation to offer financial assistance to participating member schools also was discussed.

The subcommittee also:

■ Reviewed information from statistical consultant John Flueck of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, and endorsed conference participation in the ISS. The committee hopes to start pilot programs in selected conferences this fall.

■ Reviewed and acknowledged the work of the NCAA Men's Ice Hockey Rules Committee relating to helmet modification — including a recommendation that Hockey Equipment Certification Council-approved helmets be made mandatory by 1996. The rules committee also discussed the possibility of a better stabilization system on the helmet and new rules requiring players to wear mouthpieces.

■ Agreed to request discussion by the NCAA Women's Lacrosse Committee on the permissibility of wearing helmets or face protection, at an individual player's discretion.

■ Decided to remove the numerical tables from the ISS summary booklets and show results primarily with graphs. The booklets will have three sections — the introduction, individual-sport data depicted by graphs, and graphs comparing the featured sport with other sports.

Regarding other issues, the subcommittee:

■ Responded to a request from the NCAA Wrestling Committee to update the section in the NCAA Wrestling Championships Handbook on proper ways to cover skin infections for competition.

■ Commended the Wrestling Committee for making rules changes addressing extreme weight fluctuation in the sport. The subcommittee learned that the first revision since 1975 of the American College of Sports Medicine's policy on weight loss will be released later this year. After receiving the report, the subcommittee will review it to see if further rules changes are necessary.

■ Reviewed a report by the National Strength and Conditioning Association on the current debate among strength coaches regarding the value of explosive-lift strength conditioning. It was determined that the competitive-safeguards committee is not in a position to mediate the debate.

■ Discussed the advisability of football players wearing helmets during noncontact summer practices. Proponents claim that players benefit by getting accustomed to the extra weight on the head and the extra heat caused by having the head covered. A legislative interpretation regarding the issue has been developed; however, the subcommittee suggested that more research is needed on heat acclimatization.

■ Reviewed Association-produced videotapes on eating disorders that were produced and distributed to the membership in 1988. The subcommittee learned that information contained in the videotapes remains mostly current. A possible weakness of the tapes is that they do not address foods that student-athletes should eat for proper nutrition. Only foods that should be avoided are addressed.

■ Reviewed correspondence regarding meal allowances and training-table issues. The issue was forwarded to the NCAA Student-Athlete Advisory Committee for comment.

■ Selected Sue Williams of the University of California, Davis, to replace G. Dennis Wilson of Auburn University as subcommittee chair.

Commission

Presidents 'don't want to be in a position of exploiting athletes,' stick with Proposal No. 16

"When we have the opportunity to talk through the issues and lay out the data, it will be clear that this approach provides a way of increasing access to the level that has been requested while maintaining the standards," said Albino, president of the University of Colorado.

Proposal No. 16 will become a rule August 1, 1995, unless the 1995 Convention alters it in some way. Although the Presidents Commission endorsement of Proposal No. 16 carries substantial weight, any eight Division I member institutions can join together to propose alternative legislation before the July 15 deadline. As of July 6, such legislation had not been proposed.

The Presidents Commission recommendations regarding partial qualifiers also would require Convention approval.

The special committee must submit its report to the NCAA Council in August, and the Council still could propose legislation based on its recommendation.

The Commission stuck with Proposal No. 16, Albino said, because the NCAA must send student-athletes the message that they are not professional athletes and that their education comes first. "We don't want to be in a position of exploiting student-athletes...so we have to be in a position of making sure they can succeed," she said.

The primary concerns about Proposal No. 16 had to do with a "double cut" of standards and with whether its effective date and criteria had been adequately conveyed to high-school counselors, coaches and athletes.

The NCAA Academic Performance Study indicated that requiring both a minimum grade-point average and a minimum standardized-test score will have a disproportionate "false negative" effect on minorities ("false negatives" are those who would not meet the criteria but would have graduated anyway). On the other hand, the APS did show that the tougher standards would raise graduation rates. Albino said she believed that minorities who are displaced by the stricter standards will be replaced by other minorities, who — although possibly less qualified athletically — will be better qualified academically.

As for notification, a survey by Louis Harris and Associates, Inc., showed problems with how well the new standards are understood. However, Albino said the presidents believe that the benefits of demanding more of prospective students will outweigh the short-term problems.

I-A playoff

The decision to end the exploration of a Division I-A football championship was made by the Joint Policy Board, which met in conjunction with the Presidents Commission.

The Special Committee to Study a Division I-A Football Championship was appointed by the Joint Policy Board in March. It conducted two meetings and concluded that the concept of a football championship had merit but that it needed more time to explore a number of complex issues before it could make any recommendation. Those issues in 128,302 people. At the Charlotte Coliseum in 1994, the two sellout crowds totaled 47,348.

For all three NCAA divisions combined, 28,390,491 people went through the turnstiles to see men's college basketball games in 1993-94. That figure is 136,857 fewer fans from the year before, but the average attendance for all games dropped by less than 100 people per game.

This was the first year that the Association's men's attendance figures included only NCAA institutions. The 1993 totals and averages, which have been adjusted to provide a true comparison with this year, are reflected in charts on this page.

Big Ten, Syracuse tops again

The Big Ten Conference has been the conference leader in attendance since 1977, and it did it again this season by averaging 12,696 fans. The 11 teams of the Big Ten brought in 2,107,600 spectators, down slightly from last year's national conference record of 2,163,693.

The 12 teams of the Southeastern Conference are closing the gap on the Big Ten, as the SEC jumped from fifth place to second. The SEC set its own conference record with 2,049,021 fans in 181 sessions for an average of 11,321 spectators per game.

Perennial team attendance champion Syracuse averaged 24,649 at home games to rank first for the 10th consecutive year, despite a slight drop from last season. Kentucky again took second, North Carolina moved up to third and national-champion Arkansas finished fourth. Those were the only schools to average more than 20,000 fans a game.

South Dakota was the Division II attendance leader at 4,852 per game, replacing Alabama A&M, which dropped to second place. Despite a big drop in average attendance, 1993 Division III attendance champion Calvin still reigned, with 2,734 fans a game.

The top conference in Division II — for the 14th consecutive year — was the North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference with 362,572 spectators and a 2,627 average.

CONFERENCE MEMBERS

The Southern Conference announced it will realign into two divisions — northern and southern — for the 1994-95 men's basketball season. The northern division includes Appalachian State, Davidson, East Tennessee State, Marshall and Virginia Military. The southern division includes Citadel, Furman, Georgia Southern, Tennessee-Chattanooga and Western Carolina.

SPORTS SPONSORSHIP

Case Reserve announced it will add women's softball as a varsity sport, beginning with the 1995-96 academic year.

Oakland will add women's soccer as a varsity sport, beginning this fall.

CORRECTIONS

The last name of the new assistant athletics director for sports information at Houston was reported incorrectly in the NCAA Record section of the June 22 issue of The NCAA News. Donna Turner was named to the post.

Safety

safe, equitable competition and to provide a deterrent to the use of banned drugs. We passed legislation to break the link between tobacco use and athletics participation. We disseminated guidelines to help schools administer sports-medicine programs in a manner that minimizes the risks associated with participation in college athletics. We instituted grants programs to help schools develop and implement alcohol and other drug prevention programs. We developed resource materials and funded research in the areas of injury surveillance, nutrition and eating disorders, addictive behaviors, performance-enhancing drugs, sexual behavior, and equipment safety.

Even with all of those accomplishments, additional health and safety issues need to be addressed by the NCAA membership if we are to promote the ideals of student-athlete welfare.

Student-athletes must be educated about safe, legal and effective ways to enhance their athletics performance. Athletics departments that encourage student-athletes to use "nutritional" supplements — or allow for the distribution of these substances through the department or through coaches — encourage the mind-set that performance enhancement comes from a can or a bottle and not from hard work, sound nutrition and good coaching.

Member institutions must comply with Federal and state regulations regarding the distribution of prescription and over-the-counter medication to student-athletes. A recent investigation by state authorities of a member institution's drug-dispensing practices illustrates why we must comply with laws designed to protect the health of individuals seeking care in our training rooms.

We must advocate the needs of the student-athlete as we debate the merits of various models for national health-care reform. Will a new health-care plan restrict access to specialists to address the unique needs of injured athletes? Will it not provide insurance for athletics injuries or preexisting conditions? Will athletes be limited to schedules that do not allow for the rapid treatment and rehabilitation we expect for timely return to play?

Athletics trainers should be consulted when considering offering additional practice opportunities for student-athletes. Opportunities for practice are expanded without considering medical staffing to provide a safe environment for student-athletes.

Schools that operate drug-testing programs should review thoroughly their drug-testing policies and procedures. Recent court decisions may impact on how member institutions conduct their drug-testing programs.

As my tenure on the competitive-safeguards committees comes to an end, I am encouraged by the renewed interest in promoting student-athlete safety issues. Many of these issues provide unique challenges because they cannot be acted upon via national legislation. They do, however, provide the opportunity for the entire NCAA membership in all its forms to investigate methods to help student-athletes make wise, healthy and safe decisions both on and off the playing field.

1994 Column No. 27

NCAA Bylaw 15.5.5.2.1 Exception to financial aid limitations — Division I-AA football

Division I-AA institutions should note that effective August 1, 1994, Division I-AA football programs that satisfy the criteria set forth in Bylaw 15.5.5.2.1 are exempt from the Division I-AA football overall-counter and initial-counter requirements of Bylaws 15.5.1 and 15.5.5. During its April 28, 1994, telephone conference, the NCAA Interpretations Committee determined that an institution that conducts a Division I-AA football program that meets the criteria set forth in Bylaw 15.5.5.2.1 may elect to continue to use the initial- and overall-counter limitation set forth in Bylaw 15.5.5.2. Under such circumstances, if a student-athlete receives athletically related aid and participates in football and another sport, the student-athlete must count in the institution's financial aid limitations in the sport of football. If the institution uses the exception set forth in Bylaw 15.5.5.2.1, a student-athlete who participates in the sport of football and another sport must be counted in the institution's financial aid limitations in the other sport.

Correction

Bylaw 13.7.1.6.1, 1994-95 NCAA Manual

Division I institutions should note that the 1994-95 Manual incorrectly indicates that Bylaw 13.7.1.6.1 is applicable to all Division I institutions. Bylaw 13.7.1.6.1 is applicable only to Division I-AA institutions.

requirement for both male and female athletics trainers greatly reduces the field of viable committee candidates, since not many women are an institution's head athletics trainer.

■ Discussed whether to investigate if there is anything unique about how special populations — such as minorities, handicapped student-athletes, pregnant athletes and others — are affected by health-care issues.

■ Reviewed staff and committee presentations at recent meetings of sports medicine profes-

Drug testing and education subcommittee

The drug-testing and education subcommittee of the NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports recommended changes in the drug-testing protocol during the competitive-safeguards committee's June 14-17 meeting in Mackinac Island, Michigan.

The first of the recommendations to the NCAA Executive Committee would modify the selection plan for track and field athletes in the year-round program. One individual would be selected randomly from each of four groups: sprinters/hurdles, distance runners, jumpers, and throwers (including decathlon). Previously, four athletes have been chosen at random from the entire squad. Since many teams have many more distance runners than participants in other events, the subcommittee believes that ensuring representation from each group will increase the tests' effectiveness.

In another recommendation, photo identification — which has been recommended but not required for Division I student-athletes participating in the year-round testing program — would become mandatory.

The subcommittee also voted to require a student-athlete to produce a concentrated (i.e., sp. gravity > 1.010) specimen before being released from the drug-testing station. This change is deemed necessary because of the increasing number of problems associated with dilute specimens. The change could result in student-athletes being detained longer, but the rule also would prevent or discourage them from drinking too much water before a drug test.

Editorial changes to the drug-testing protocol also were approved, as was a change in Section No. 5.4.1, which would require a student-athlete who defers a drug test during an NCAA individual championship to wait until the completion of all of that event's championship competition before being tested.

In other drug-testing and education actions, the subcommittee:

■ Agreed to gather additional information from the rifle community regarding the use of alcohol as an ergogenic aid. There is some belief that small amounts can reduce shooters' arm tremors. The committee agreed to a future discussion of whether the NCAA should add breath alcohol testing at the NCAA rifle championships.

■ After discussing at length possible alternatives, endorsed the current practice of direct observation of collection of samples for drug testing. The subcommittee noted that methods and products readily available for manipulation of specimens makes it essential for medical crews to continue to monitor student-athletes closely at all times during the collection process.

■ Accepted laboratory research reports from Foothills Hospital and Cornell University on projects funded on the recommendation of the NCAA Special Planning Committee for Drug Testing, which was dissolved last year after the Executive Committee determined that it had fulfilled its charge. The subcommittee recommended continued funding of drug-testing laboratory research and agreed to work with the National Football League, United States Olympic Committee and NCAA Research Committee on a plan for continued funding. The subcommittee also agreed that funding commitments for two or three years are more practical for the labs, given the long-term nature of some of the research.

■ Agreed to communicate with coaches organizations and other concerned groups regarding whether legislation should be sponsored to require student-athletes who test positive in other athletics organizations' drug tests to be tested by the NCAA before being eligible to compete in Association competition.

■ Agreed to contact the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators and National Athletic Trainers Association about sponsoring informational NCAA drug-testing and education sessions at their next annual meetings, for the purpose of education of administrators.

■ Discussed the use of supplements by student-athletes and agreed to the following: reissue of a communiqué to member institutions about the dangers of supplement use, investigation of whether the new Student-Athlete Handbook can include information about drug testing and supplement use, a request that the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee address the problem, and a request that participants in the sports sciences speakers' grant program include the topic in their presentations.

■ Scheduled a meeting December 7 in Indianapolis with representatives of selected drug-testing organizations and the Indiana University Medical Center laboratory, to discuss common areas of concern. The subcommittee also received a report from California State University, Fresno, on the development of a manual to assist schools in starting assistance programs for the purpose of promoting student-athlete health and wellness. Copies of the Fresno State report are available from the NCAA sports sciences staff.

■ Received reports from the University of Virginia on its APPLE (Athletic Prevention Programming and Leadership Education) II and APPLE III conferences, which are funded with a grant from the NCAA.

■ Agreed that, according to surveys conducted by the Betty Ford Center, there does not appear to be any desire for a follow-up session for those who participated in the Professional-in-Residence program.

■ Took three actions involving the tobacco ban that goes into effect this fall. First, the subcommittee reviewed plans for posters on the use of spitting tobacco and agreed to develop two posters focusing on the tobacco ban. The subcommittee also agreed to propose legislation to extend the ban to all games personnel and to extend the ejection penalty to include anyone caught using tobacco. The subcommittee also recommended that the Research Committee endorse a study proposed by researchers at the University of Illinois, Champaign, on effects of the ban.

■ Agreed to bring to the attention of the NCAA Presidents Commission problems associated with athletics drug-distribution systems currently in place at many NCAA institutions and the problem of unqualified personnel dispensing prescription medication.

■ Reviewed plans for the Presidents Commission's study of integrity, sportsmanship and ethical conduct and noted the possibility of competitive-safeguards committee involvement.

■ Discussed drug-use trends on college campuses and reviewed promising programs aimed at changing students' perceptions of the level of alcohol and other drug use on their campuses.

■ Discussed the NCAA ban on and penalties for marijuana use and agreed to consider the topic again at the committee's winter meeting.

included the impact of a championship on student-athletes, increased benefits for student-athletes, the format of a championship and the manner in which revenues from a championship would be distributed.

"There is no question that more time and information are needed to resolve these issues before a championship could be created," said NCAA President Joseph N. Crowley, president of the University of Nevada. "If there were any significant level of interest among the NCAA membership in a championship, it would make sense to continue working.

"However, the level of interest simply isn't there. The special committee did an excellent job in focusing the attention of the membership on this issue, but all indications are that it is an idea whose time has not come."

Albino declined to say that the prospects of a football playoff are dead.

"I wouldn't use terms quite that strong," she said, "...but the committee will not be continuing its work. It is an idea that I expect will continue to draw some interest from segments of Division I-A."

Other business

■ The Joint Policy Board had been expected to appoint a Special Committee on Membership Restructuring, but it chose instead to appoint separate subcommittees in Divisions I, II and III to address the issue. Out of those subcommittees, the Board will appoint an "oversight" committee.

The appointments are expected to be announced within two weeks.

■ The Commission received the report of the NCAA Special Committee to Review Student-Athlete

Welfare, Access and Equity.

■ The Division III subcommittee of the Commission reviewed a draft of a revised Division III philosophy statement, while the Division II subcommittee discussed the possibility of reviewing the Division II statement.

Minutes of the Presidents Commission's June meeting will be published in an upcoming edition of The NCAA Register, a monthly supplement to The NCAA News.
