New criteria for contest exemptions urged

A special committee will propose legislation to change the current procedure for granting exceptions to limits on the number of contests an NCAA team may play in a season.

The NCAA Special Committee to Review Contest Exemptions agreed to recommend criteria for evaluation of events seeking such exemptions — including a certification process — after meetings June 5-6 in San Francisco with representatives of NCAA schools and other entities that sponsor events benefiting from such exceptions.

The committee will recommend to the NCAA Council that it sponsor legislation at the 1996 NCAA Convention to establish criteria for exemptions and grant responsibility for certification of exempted events to the NCAA Special Events Committee.

Currently, exceptions to legislation limiting contests in a season are considered on a case-by-case basis at NCAA Conventions. Such requests are considered by the membership as proposed amendments to legislation.

Events that obtain exemptions from contest limits are attractive to teams because participation in such events does not count against a team's annually permissible contests. Sometimes exempted events are scheduled before or after defined beginning and ending dates of playing seasons.

The number of events seeking exemptions from contest-limit legislation has grown in recent years, resulting in several votes by the membership on whether to grant exemptions. At the 1995 Convention, one preseason basketball tournament was awarded such an exemption by the membership, but another tournament's bid for an exemption was denied.

Concerns about the growing number of events seeking exemptions and a lack of criteria for consideration of those requests prompted formation of the Special Committee to Review Contest Exemptions.

Recommendations

The special committee will recommend that the proposed legislation:

- Reestablish exemptions that already have been granted to existing events. Some of those events would receive annual exemptions,

Positive drug-test rate increased during 1994

Positive-ineligible still under one percent, but marijuana use appears to be growing

The rate of student-athletes ruled ineligible for a positive drug test increased substantially in 1994, partly because of a lower threshold for a positive marijuana test and perhaps because of increased marijuana usage on campus.

The NCAA Executive Committee accepted reports at its May 2-4 meeting on tests conducted from January through June 1994 and from August through December 1994.

In the January through June period, only two student-athletes tested positive for marijuana — the only positive-ineligible results at any NCAA winter or spring championship during the period. In the fall testing period, however, 10 student-athletes tested positive for marijuana. Overall, the positive-ineligible rate of the 4,784 student-athletes tested in fall 1994 was 0.8 percent, which was more than double the fall 1993 rate of 0.3 percent.

Primarily because of marijuana usage, the percentage of positive-ineligibles from fall championships and football bowl games was especially higher than during the corresponding period in 1993. A total of 2.2 percent of tested student-athletes at championships and bowl games were ruled ineligible in fall 1994, compared with 0.7 percent in 1993. Of the 12 positive-ineligibles for championships and bowl games, 10 were for marijuana.

A primary factor was a lower cutoff standard for the THC metabolite (from 25 nanograms/milliliter to 15 ng/ml). The lower cutoff was approved in September 1994 to bring the Association's program in conformity with recommended government standards.

Another factor could be a recent increase in the use of marijuana by the overall student body. Ann K. Quinn Zobeck, drug-education coordinator at the University of Northern Colorado and a member of the NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports, said that reports of increased use are mostly anecdotal but that some evidence points to greater use. In particular, an increase has been noted in the number of campus disciplinary cases related to marijuana.

Zobeck pointed to a part of the 1993 National Survey on the Results of Drug Use in which possible trends were examined. In that section, she noted that although mar-

Dillon joins Council

Timothy J. Dillon, director of athletics at the University of Alaska Anchorage, has been appointed to the NCAA Council as a Division II representative.

He replaces Janet R. Kittell, who resigned as director of athletics at California State University,

Dillon

Chico, a Division II institution, to become associate director of athletics at Syracuse University.

Dillon has been athletics director at Alaska Anchorage since 1992. He previously served for two years as athletics director at the University of North Carolina, Asheville. Dillon also has been assistant commissioner of the Colonial Athletic Association.

After arriving in Anchorage, Dillon organized the school's successful bid to serve as host of the 1999 NCAA Division I Men's Ice Hockey Championship. The championship's semifinals and final will be staged in cooperation with several sports organizations in Southern California at the Arrowhead Pond at Anaheim. He also serves as president of Alaska Special Olympics.

Dillon has served as a member of the NCAA Men's Committee on Committees.

Dillon is a graduate of Slippery Rock University of Pennsylvania and holds a master's degree in athletics administration from Eastern Kentucky University.

Academic-enhancement fund to be mailed June 23

Academic-enhancement fund payments of $50,000 for each Division I institution will be mailed to the membership June 23 in another payment from the NCAA revenue-distribution plan.

The fund was increased this year as a result of the renegotiated television contract with CBS.

Here are the dates for the remaining distributions:

- Academic-enhancement June 23
- Special-assistance July 28
- Sports-sponsorship August 11
- Grants-in-aid August 25

Nominations

Membership invited to submit Council, committee nominations

Administrative personnel at NCAA member institutions are invited to submit nominations for upcoming vacancies on the NCAA Council.

Nominations must be submitted to Fannie

B. Vaughan, executive assistant, at the NCAA national office (fax 913/339-0035) and must be received no later than August 25.

The NCAA Nominating Committee will review nominations and make recommendations to fill the Council positions, as well as vacancies for NCAA officers.

Nominations for vacancies on the NCAA Executive Committee, general committees appointed by the Council and sports committees also are being accepted. Those nominations must be submitted to Vaughan and are due July 14.

Under the terms of a new policy adopted by the NCAA Council, committees may not add to the nominations received from the membership. If the members of a committee want to consider certain individuals, they should make certain that someone in the membership sends a nomination letter to Vaughan by the deadlines.

For more information, see the April 12 and April 5 issues of The NCAA News.

Membership growth by division

Division II has grown by 18.2 percent in the five years since the 1989-90 academic year and Division III has grown by 10.5 percent in the same period.

Division I membership, however, has remained almost static, increasing only 2.0 percent over the same period. The number of Division I-AA members has been especially constant, standing at either 106 or 107 for each of the last five years. Division I-AA membership went up sharply in 1992-93 when Division I members were required to keep all of their programs, including football, in Division I. The result was a commensurate decline in Division I-AAA membership.

Briefly in the News

Eagles scream for soft drinks

When a team wins a national championship, certain perks are in order. For some, it is a visit to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue to visit the president. For others, it might just be a trip to 1234 Main Street to visit the city council.

But for the University of Southern Indiana, which captured the NCAA Division II Men's Basketball Championship this year, being national champs has been a refreshing treat in more ways than one.

The university and Creative Beverage Company (CBC) of Evansville, Indiana, introduced in late April a new soda line commemorating Southern Indiana's first national title. The line's flavors are cola, lemon-lime, citrus, diet citrus and Dr. Hoops, a special blend of flavors.

"After winning the national-championship title, we found we relished being first," said H. Ray Hoops, president of Southern Indiana and the namesake of one of the flavors. "We are thankful to Creative Beverage Company for introducing this line. As far as we know, we are the only university to have its own soft-drink label."

Bruce Pearl, Southern Indiana men's basketball coach, said, "CBC told us every man, woman and child in the United States consumes 50 gallons of soft drinks per year. I would like to see them drinking Screaming Eagles cola and the other great-tasting flavors."

Pearl said he may have some strategic uses for the soft drink next season.

"We may be able to use it as an intimidation factor," he said. "I like the idea of visiting teams drinking Screaming Eagles soda during half time."

Hardwood history

Indiana University, Bloomington, is selling part of its famed history. The basketball court that has supported the soles of many great collegiate players is being sold to Hoosier fans.

For $25, one can purchase a small section of the hardwood. Larger sections of the flooring can be obtained, including the Indiana lettering along the baselines. Thousands of IU fans have placed orders for their share of Assembly Hall history.

"We've had 7,000 orders, but there's still plenty of floor," Jeff Horan, director of Indiana's Big Red Gift Store, told The Associated Press.

Indiana is selling the old hardwood to help cover the expenses of a $600,000 renovation of Assembly Hall. The new floor is expected to be in place by June 16.

Any possibility of buying, for instance, the place on the floor where Indiana star Calbert Cheaney set the Big Ten Conference scoring record? It's tough to say.

"If we really knew that, 'Hey, this is the exact spot,' that'd be one thing," Horan said. "But for us to say this is the spot and not really know, to arbitrarily point it out, we didn't think it was right to do."

It was dy-nooo-mite!

As former TV star Jimmie Walker might say of the 1995 Colonial Athletic Association baseball tournament, "It was Dy-nooo-mite!"

The league held its championship at Grainger Stadium, home of the Kinston

(North Carolina) Indians, a Class A professional team. Four evenings before the CAA championship game, the Indians staged an opening-night celebration that featured a fireworks display. One of the explosives did not detonate and was not discovered until Sunday, when clean-up crews made a sweep of the stands in preparation for the CAA championship game.

Fans and players were kept about 500 yards from the device and munitions experts from a nearby U.S. Marines camp were called in to detonate the explosive, which packed the punch of two sticks of dynamite. The start of the championship game between Old Dominion University and the University of Richmond was delayed 30 minutes.

Once play began, Old Dominion kept the fireworks popping, defeating Richmond, 15-7. The Monarchs left the tournament owning two records: base hits (70) and team batting average (.361).

News quiz

Answers to the following questions appeared in May issues of The NCAA News. How many can you answer?

1. True or false: Sporting behavior will be the NCAA Men's and Women's Basketball Rules Committees' only point of emphasis to officials, coaches, student-athletes and fans for the 1995-96 season.

2. The values of this year's basketball and "broad-based" funds of the NCAA revenue-distribution fund each were increased by the NCAA Executive Committee to what amount? (a) $8.5 million; (b) $31.5 million; (c) $40 million; (d) $50 million.

3. Each Division I institution will receive how much this year from the academic-enhancement fund of the NCAA revenue-distribution fund? (a) $20,000; (b) $30,000; (c) $40,000; (d) $50,000.

4. How much is the deductible for each case of athletically related injury under a newly approved contract for the NCAA's catastrophic-injury insurance program? (a) $20,000; (b) $25,000; (c) $30,000; (d) $35,000.

5. True or false: The NCAA Division II Men's and Women's Tennis Championships inaugurated a team-championship-only format this year after previously using a team-/individual-championships format.

6. What country will be the site of the first international bowl game to be certified by the NCAA? (a) Australia; (b) New Zealand; (c) Japan; (d) France.

7. Which school won a record seventh team title in this year's Division II Men's Golf Championships? (a) Florida Southern College; (b) California State University, Stanislaus; (c) University of Tampa; (d) University of South Carolina at Aiken.

8. St. Augustine's College has tied a record in the Division II Men's Outdoor Track and Field Championships by winning how many consecutive team titles? (a) five; (b) six; (c) seven; (d) eight.

Do what's right: Abide by the law

By Betty F. Jaynes

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL COACHES ASSOCIATION

I feel obliged to address Florida A&M University football coach Billy Joe's guest editorial in the May 24 issue of The NCAA News. It is with a spirited passion for justice (which some would view as militant) that I present the truthful intentions of Title IX in order to represent the class of citizens that supports Title IX and equal opportunity.

Coach Joe and others who are pressing for further review of Title IX insist that the Office for Civil Rights' interpretation of the 1972 law is "illogical, unfair and contrary to congressional intent." The truth of the matter is that Title IX is law because it calls upon America to provide all of its citizens with fair and equal opportunity.

Yet, it is unfortunate that we as leaders and spokespersons for athletics, from all walks of life and many diverse sports backgrounds, are resorting to accusations that not only attack one another, but also go against sports(wo)manship, a fundamental component of healthy, productive athletics participation and competition. Instead, we should all be aware of the history behind today's debate and should then focus on doing what is right for all of our athletes.

Primarily, Title IX is a 23-year-old law that never has reached full compliance in all sports settings in Federally aided educational systems and institutions. Back in the 1970s, athletics directors and football coaches were many of those who supported Title IX legislation. If we all would have joined forces and committed ourselves to bringing our specific areas of responsibility under compliance two decades ago, we could have progressed beyond this stale point of bickering and very likely could have achieved, or at least been well on our way to achieving, equality.

However, we chose a different path, which has shaped a challenging present and future for us all. The first challenge that today's supporters of Title IX have is to convey what the real "rhetoric and misinformation" are. Rhetoric and misinformation include, but are

Athletes hurt by current interpretation

In the following example, a hypothetical institution, "Gender Equity University" has an enrollment of 100 women and 100 men. Through accurate and reliable measurement, it is determined which of the students have the ability to participate in intercollegiate varsity athletics.

The assessment reveals that 60 women and 30 men meet minimal ability standards for varsity competition. Within both gender groups, there is a range of athletics ability from superior to just barely able to compete at the intercollegiate level. Gender Equity U. subsequently provides 30 (50 percent) varsity opportunities for the female athletes and 15 (50 percent) for the male athletes. Is Gender Equity U. in compliance with Title IX?

If you answer yes, you are an equal-opportunity advocate. If you answer no, you are a quota advocate. The equal-opportunity advocate would state that every female and male in the pool of qualified varsity aspirants has an equal chance (opportunity) at a varsity slot. The quota advocate would say that Gender Equity U. must raise the number of opportunities for men to 30 in order to be at the same female-male ratio as the student body.

At a May 25 Office for Civil Rights-sponsored Title IX working session held in Washington, D.C., a hypothetical scenario essentially identical to the one previously described was presented to Assistant Secretary Norma Cantu of the Department of Education's OCR. She clearly was uncomfortable in expressing her opinion as to whether Title IX was being violated. It is obvious why. The current interpretation from the Office for Civil Rights would mandate that Gender Equity U.'s male varsity opportunities mirror the number of female opportunities. And this is because prong three of the OCR Title IX compliance test mandates full and effective accommodation of the interests and abilities of the under-represented gender — until proportionality is achieved.

□ Letter

An OCR Title IX investigation of Gender Equity U. most likely would result in the school being forced to equalize the number of female and male athletes under the threat of having its Federal funds withheld or facing the expense of a court case. Thirty out of 60 females being accommodated while 30 out of 30 males are being accommodated is not equal opportunity. It is a quota.

Not only does this fictitious example demonstrate a flaw in the Department of Education's approach to interpreting Title IX, it is largely representative of what is occurring nationally on our college campuses today (except male athletes outnumber female athletes). There are millions of high-school athletes competing for approximately 300,000 NCAA opportunities. With 64 percent of high-school senior varsity athletes being male, a proportionality standard based upon the gender makeup of a university's entire student body is discriminatory to males.

Measure after measure indicates that, nationally, our colleges are denying more interested and able males than females varsity athletics opportunities. In light of this fact, it should be obvious why the destruction of thousands of male college varsity opportunities seems so wrong to so many people.

It is time to stop bean-counting and do what is fair and best for the entire pool of student-athletes who have the interest and ability to compete at the intercollegiate varsity level — regardless of their race, ethnicity or gender. The only people being hurt in this debate are the student-athletes.

□ Opinions

Tough standards appropriate for coaches

Marian Washington, women's basketball coach
University of Kansas

The Chronicle of Higher Education

"College coaches are treated differently from college professors when it comes to disciplinary matters because we are more involved with our young people than most. We have close working and personal relationships with our players, and we have a set of rules for them to follow. The examples we set have direct impacts on them, positive or negative."

Mark Johnson, baseball coach
Texas A&M University

The Chronicle of Higher Education

"We are teachers, first of all. The athletics arena is an extension of the classroom. If I want to use it properly to help my guys on the team. I have to be a role model. I have to do what I preach — walk my talk, as they say."

Mike Jarvis, men's basketball coach
George Washington University

The Chronicle of Higher Education

"Nobody is perfect. The question is that if you make a mistake, is there room in our profession for redemption? I would hope so, but there is definitely more judgment now than before."

Hunter R. Rawlings, president
University of Iowa

The Chronicle of Higher Education

"We have to make sure coaches understand that how one behaves not just as a coach but as a person is an important part of the job responsibilities, and that indiscretions are a serious matter."

Foreign athletes

Mel Rosen, track and field coach
Auburn University

The Atlanta Journal

"If the best happens to be a foreigner, you have to go the foreigner route.

"As an American who's looking to see the U.S. do well in international competition, you're hoping the Americans are running well. (But) the collegiate coach really doesn't have much of a choice, especially with the limit on scholarships now.

"The thing I never liked is a foreigner would come in, compete one year — or in an Olympic year — and never compete again. They just compete, and have no allegiance to the school, or even going to classes. That, I can't see. But if you get a foreign kid who's young, stays four years, goes to class, I have no problem with that."

Initial-eligibility standards

Nolan Richardson, men's basketball coach
University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

Nashville Tennessean

"I see these great Southeastern Conference players in professional ball and then I think about the academic rules the NCAA has voted in, and I go, 'Hey, I wonder if this kid or that kid would've ever gotten a chance?' I'm afraid I know the answer to that in a lot of cases.

"I understand that we need some limits out there. We shouldn't be signing a bunch of kids who can't do college work. But I don't want somebody standing there with a pencil and a calculator saying, 'You deserve a scholarship because you made an 18 on your ACT,' and then turn to another kid and say, 'Sorry, son. You just made a 16. You don't belong in college....'

"When I start talking about things like this, people say, 'Aw, that's just ol' Nolan blowing off steam again.' Maybe I am. But when you're talking about taking away opportunity from some kid just so you can make some kind of holier-than-thou statement to the public, it's wrong. I've got a problem with that."

Eating disorders

Pan Fanaritis, women's track and field coach
Denison University

The Rocky Mountain News

"People think that it's gotten better because they think it's not in the public eye as much. It hasn't improved at all. If you go to any college track meet, you're going to see a lot of distance runners with eating problems.

"It's just a difficult issue to deal with as a coach because usually, to a point, as you're losing weight, you're running better. As a coach, it's like, 'Do I shoot myself in the foot here?' Also, you have to cross some sacred boundaries because nine times out of 10, it's family-related."

State legislation relating to college athletics

This report summarizes legislation currently pending before state legislatures that could affect, or is otherwise of interest to, the intercollegiate athletics programs and student-athletes of NCAA member institutions.

Set forth below is a list of 14 bills from nine states. The report includes one bill that has been introduced and 13 pending bills on which action has been taken since the last report (May 31 issue of The NCAA News). The newly introduced bill is marked with an asterisk. Pending bills identified by previous reports on which no action has been taken do not appear in this report.

The State Legislation Report is based largely on data provided by the Information for Public Affairs on-line state legislation system as of June 8, 1995. The bills selected for inclusion in this report were drawn from a larger pool of measures that concern sports and therefore do not necessarily represent all of the bills that would be of interest to individual member institutions. Bills pending before the governing bodies of the District of Columbia and U.S. territories are not available on an on-line basis and are not included in this report.

The NCAA has not independently verified the accuracy or completeness of the information provided by Information for Public Affairs and is providing this summary as a service to members. For further information regarding a particular bill, members should contact the state legislature concerned.

The bills set forth below address the following subjects:

Subject	Number of Bills
Trainers.....	5
Anabolic steroids.....	2
Athlete agents.....	2
Gender equity.....	2
Coaches/athletics officials.....	1
Foundations/booster groups.....	1
Scalping/tickets.....	1

Final action has been taken since the last report on one bill related to athletics trainers and one resolution related to foundations and booster groups. The legislatures of five states — Connecticut, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas — have adjourned since the last report, bringing to 30 the number of state legislatures that have done so. In Oklahoma, South Carolina and Tennessee, pending bills will carry over to 1996. In Connecticut and Texas, pending bills died at the conclusion of the legislative session if they had not been cleared for the governor's signature.

California S. 491 (Author: Solis)

Provides that anabolic steroid products not included in the Federal Controlled Substances Act shall be excluded from the list of Schedule III controlled substances.

Status: 2/17/95 introduced. 5/8/95 passed Senate. 6/6/95 passed Assembly Committee on Public Safety.

Colorado H. 1002 (Author: Agler)

Allows athletics trainers to screen athletes for physical limitations that may pose a risk of injury.

Title IX

Twenty-three years later, it's time to comply with the law

not limited to, the following: that OCR's interpretations of Title IX have (1) had a reverse effect on the original intent of the law, (2) done away with thousands of male participation opportunities, and (3) failed to create very many new participation opportunities for females.

The reality and truth of the matter are as follows:

(1) OCR's interpretations have not had any reverse effect on Title IX's original intent. Rather, they have reflected OCR's commitment to enforcing the law.

(2) OCR's interpretations have not done away with thousands of male sports opportunities. Rather, when opportunities were lost, the institutions did that themselves, in several instances making such decisions based on available financial resources and what was fair to both genders. However, the fact is that overall opportunities for males have continued to grow, even as opportunities have increased for women. Had many of the institutions made efforts to achieve Title IX compliance and gender equity before this point, they already would have developed and provided balanced programs for women and men on a fairer and more equal basis.

"If we all would have joined forces and committed ourselves to bringing our specific areas of responsibility under compliance two decades ago, we could have progressed beyond this stale point of bickering and very likely could have achieved, or at least been well on our way to achieving, equality."

■ Betty F. Jaynes

(3) Title IX rulings are not failing to create many new participation opportunities for females. Female participation in intercollegiate athletics has increased tenfold since Title IX was drawn up. However, this still does not achieve equal opportunity, as $179 million more dollars are spent on men's sports per year than on women's sports. And again, institutions are the culprit in many cases. If these schools are ordered by the courts to comply with the law, many do so by cutting men's sports to achieve proportionality instead of adding women's sports to accomplish the same goal. Oftentimes these measures are taken due to monetary constraints, which brings me to my next point.

Just as football coaches and other men's sports coaches claim that they are not anti-Title IX or anti-women's athletics, I claim that women's sports coaches and pro-Title IX advocates are not anti-football. Yet, we do recognize the need for all sports to operate under financially prudent budgets so that athletics departments can adequately fund as many women's and men's sports as possible. Even under circumstances where some high-contact sports may incur higher equipment expenses for the safety and protection of their participants, there are plenty of other areas of operation that could be altered to cut costs.

A more equal distribution of resources, which will lead to a more equal amount of women's sporting opportunities, will be a byproduct of all this fiscal revamping, but may come about only if the NCAA passes such legislation. And in the long run, windows of opportunity will open for women in sports to the point at which Title IX compliance and gender equity are achieved.

I do agree with coach Joe in his assertion that current application of the law is not gender-equal. I would like to expand on that thought by reminding today's leaders and those who will follow in our footsteps that application of the law has never been gender-equal because there has never been full compliance with the law. Once we are in compliance, then application of the law will be gender-equal, opportunities will be gender-equal, and we will have overcome those challenges.

Now is the time for action and responsibility. Let's do what is right and encourage each other to abide by the law. Its intentions were realized in writing 23 years ago in order to provide an equal and level playing field for women and men, girls and boys. I salute all who have taken a stand for Title IX and encourage those who see it in another light to reconsider your views, for we are a powerful society that can achieve anything we put our minds to, including equality, opportunity and justice for all.

Betty F. Jaynes is executive director of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association.

Women's crew meets requirements for championship

Deadline to submit an amendment to sponsor championship is July 15

Women's crew has met sponsorship requirements for establishment of an NCAA championship.

The NCAA membership is being reminded that a proposal to sponsor a National Collegiate Championship for women's crew must be sponsored by eight or more active member institutions (or a voting member conference on behalf of at least eight of its members) and received in the national office by 5 p.m. (Central time) July 15, in order to be voted on at the 1996 NCAA Convention.

Crew, adopted as one of nine emerging sports for women at the 1994 Convention, was sponsored by 71 member institutions as of October 1994. That exceeds the 40 that are required to establish a championship in a women's sport in which the Association does not already conduct a championship.

Women's squash and women's ice hockey also are making progress toward fulfilling the requirements necessary to establish a national championship. As of October 1994, women's squash was sponsored by 23 institutions; women's ice hockey was sponsored by 15.

Some sports currently stage a non-NCAA-sanctioned national championship, but the benefits of establishing an NCAA national championship are considered attractive to most programs, according to Donna J. Noonan, NCAA director of championships.

"(In an NCAA national championship) game expenses, per diem and travel expenses are taken care of," Noonan said. "You get the support of the national office."

"Plus, there's more of a national credibility when you attach 'NCAA' to a championship. It creates an awareness. Media outlets tend to pick it up quicker."

Such benefits can only help the sport, said Janet M. Justus, NCAA director of education resources.

"Having an NCAA national championship certainly bolsters the image of the sport," Justus said. "And exposure will only enhance the sport's future viability."

Individuals interested in sponsoring an amendment to establish a national championship in crew should contact the NCAA legislative services staff at 913/339-1906.

POWER PLAY

With a barrage of home runs and precision bunts, Cal State Fullerton steamrolls to its third I baseball title

The dominance of Cal State Fullerton at this year's College World Series was both heavy-handed and subtle.

The Titans hit four home runs and sacrificed four runners into scoring position — both championship-game records — June 10 in defeating Southern California, 11-5, and winning their third Division I Baseball Championship title.

During their unbeaten sweep through the championship series at Omaha, Nebraska, the Titans hit a record .372 as a team and clubbed 11 home runs. They also set a series team record for slugging percentage (.648).

Equally impressive, however, was the way they dissected defenses with the bunt to move runners, no matter who was hitting. Outfielder/relief pitcher Mark Kotsay, who hit .563 for the tournament with three home runs and 10 runs batted in, also tied for the team lead with two sacrifice bunts.

Kotsay was named the tournament's most outstanding player.

Said head coach Augie Garrido, who also guided the Titans to College World Series titles in 1979 and 1984, "I'm really glad we won. The reason behind that is because the players deserve (it). I was in the back, behind the curtain; our team still played together. It's all because of teamwork that we won this."

That the Titans struck early in the championship game was not a surprise. Cal State Fullerton scored 22 of its 39 runs in the first two innings of its four series games, and the title game was no different.

Tony Miranda singled to start the game and was safe at second on a fielder's choice after C. J. Ankrum's sacrifice. Kotsay then homered to straight-away center field for a 3-0 lead.

The Trojans bounced back to tie the game in the top of the second when Ernie Diaz homered to left field with two aboard. But the Titans scored four times in the bottom of the second after two sacrifice bunts. Kotsay hit his second homer in as many innings — a two-run shot — and an RBI ground out by Miranda and a run-scoring single by Ankrum gave Cal State Fullerton a 7-3 lead.

Southern California continued its own home-run derby in the top of the third when Walter Dawkins and Geoff Jenkins both hit solo shots. But that was all the Trojans would score.

In the seventh, the Titans sealed the victory with a three-run home run to right field by Tony Martinez and a solo home run by Miranda to left-center field.

Titans starter Ted Silva won his 18th game of the season and the second of the College World Series, despite a stiff breeze blowing out to right field.

Said Silva, "If the wind was going to be blowing, I knew it was going to be a slugfest; we just outslugged them today."

Both teams combined to set four championship-game records and six series team marks. For the series, 39 records either were broken or tied.

"I couldn't have accomplished anything I accomplished here without my teammates," said Kotsay, who set individual College World

With impressive performances from the plate and from the mound, Cal State Fullerton outfielder/relief pitcher Mark Kotsay was a logical choice as the tournament's most valuable player.

Series career records for batting average (.517), slugging percentage (1.103) and grand slams (two). "They have pushed me. Day in and day out I have been challenged by my teammates and that alone has made me a better athlete. I laid it on the line. I didn't have any fear this whole series."

Joining Kotsay on the all-tournament team from Cal State Fullerton were catcher Brian Loyd, third baseman Martinez and pitcher Silva. Other members of the team included Southern California second baseman Wes Rachels, outfielder Jenkins and pitcher Randy Flores; Miami (Florida) shortstop Alex Cora; Tennessee designated hitter Scott Schroeffer; and Florida State first baseman Doug Mientkiewicz and outfielder J. D. Drew.

Additional 117 summer basketball leagues are certified

Another 117 summer basketball leagues have been certified by the Association, increasing to 292 the number approved this year.

Student-athletes from NCAA institutions participate each year in hundreds of leagues certified in accordance with NCAA Bylaws 14.17.5.2 and 30.14.

Questions about the application process or requirements for NCAA certification of summer leagues should be directed to Christopher D. Schoemann, NCAA legislative assistant, at the national office.

Following are the leagues — 39 for men, 20 for women and 58 combining men's and women's competition — recently approved for participation.

Other approved leagues were published in the April 19 and 26, May 3, 17, 24 and 31, and June 7 issues of The NCAA News. The News soon will publish a comprehensive list of all certified leagues.

II women's basketball adopts new regional format

Regional competition in the Division II Women's Basketball Championship will take on a new look in 1996, and the NCAA Division II Women's Basketball Committee spent much of its annual meeting June 5-8 in Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, planning for the new format.

Beginning with the 1996 tournament, six teams will compete at each of eight regional sites, removing the necessity for teams to compete in first-round games the week of regional competition.

The format was approved by the NCAA Executive Committee at its May meeting. The women's basketball committee recommended the change with the goals of making travel easier and providing more time for preparation for and promotion of the games.

Previously, 32 teams opened the tournament with a first-round game the week of regional competition. Sixteen sites were necessary to conduct those games. The 16 winners then advanced to eight regional tournaments.

The new format will see the No. 3-seeded team play the No. 6-seeded team and the No. 4 seed play the No. 5 seed on a Thursday or Friday. Winners advance to play the Nos. 2 and 1 seeds, respectively, the next night, with a champion determined on the third night. Regionals can be conducted Thursday through Saturday or Friday through Sunday.

The host school will be either the No. 1 or the No. 2 seed, depending on several factors the committee has established.

In addition to the tournament format, the Division II Women's

Other highlights

In other actions at its June 5-8 meeting in Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, the Division II Women's Basketball Committee:

- Voted to recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that, beginning in 1996-97, the expanded Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference be realigned from the South Central region to the North Central region. Current members of the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference will merge with members of the Colorado Athletic Conference in 1996-97.

- Agreed to work toward enhancing score-reporting and record-update procedures in an attempt to reduce demands on sports information directors.

- Discussed the committee's selection criteria and decided to maintain its current procedures.

- Voted to recommend to the Executive Committee that the following 20 conferences be granted automatic qualification into the 1996 tournament: California Collegiate Athletic, Central Intercollegiate Athletic, Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic and Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Associations, and Colorado Athletic, Great Lakes Valley, Gulf South, Lone Star, New England Collegiate, New York Collegiate Athletic, North Coast Intercollegiate Athletic, Northeast-10, Northern California Athletic, Northern Sun, Peach Belt Athletic, Pennsylvania State Athletic, Rocky Mountain Athletic, South Atlantic, Southern Intercollegiate Athletic and Sunshine State Conferences.

Basketball Committee analyzed its current minimum financial guarantee. The committee decided to continue its current requirement that a host school guarantee a minimum of $1,500 in net receipts.

Forty-three more summer basketball events are certified

Another 43 summer basketball events have been certified in accordance with legislation regulating Division I men's and women's basketball coaches' attendance at camps.

In accordance with NCAA Bylaw 13.13.5, basketball coaches at Division I institutions may attend only institutional summer basketball camps as defined in Bylaw 13.13.1.1 and noninstitutional organized events — such as camps, leagues, tournaments and festivals — held during the July evaluation period and certified under Bylaw 30.15.

The Division I evaluation period for men and women is July 8-31.

To date, 241 events have been certified by the Association. Other certified events were reported in the April 12 and 19, May 3, 10, 17 and 31, and June 7 issues of The NCAA News.

The dates of a camp that was reported in the May 31 issue of the News have been corrected. The Big "D" All-Stars in Hotlanta event for boys at Atlanta Christian College will be July 23-28. A Big "D" All-Stars in Hotlanta event for girls will be offered June 9-14, as reported in the May 31 issue of the News.

More information about certification can be obtained from Christopher D. Schoemann, NCAA legislative assistant, at the NCAA national office.

Following are the 21 men's and 22 women's events recently certified, with sites and dates of the camps and names, addresses and telephone numbers of principal owners.

Selection process in III hockey revised

The NCAA Divisions II and III Men's Ice Hockey Committee recently discussed at length a new selection procedure that will take effect for Division III in 1996.

The procedure, which was approved by the NCAA Executive Committee last August, attempts to address a regional imbalance of schools affecting the quality of competition.

It allows the committee to select a minimum of three and a maximum of four teams from the West region and a minimum of four and a maximum of five teams from the East.

The committee, which met June 5-8 in South Lake Tahoe, California, agreed that if a fifth team is selected from the East, one of the five East teams will fly to compete in the West region.

Geographical consideration will take precedence when determining which of the five institutions will fly to the West.

The committee also considered a proposal from the St. Paul Minutemen to host the Division III championship finals at a predetermined site in Maplewood, Minnesota. The committee voted not to accept the proposal because the new selection procedure creates a situation where three teams from the East could advance to the finals.

Other highlights

In other actions at its June 5-8 meeting in South Lake Tahoe, California, the Divisions II and III Men's Ice Hockey Committee:

■ Discussed eliminating automatic qualification for the Division III championship, but no formal action was taken. The committee agreed to study the automatic-qualification issue throughout the year and include it as an agenda item for next year's meeting.

■ Voted to recommend that automatic qualification be granted to the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic and the State University of New York Athletic Conferences and the Northern Collegiate Hockey Association for the 1996 Division III championship.

■ Confirmed that first-round competition in the 1996 Division III championship will be March 8-9 and the semifinals and final March 15-16. All competition will be at on-campus facilities.

■ Confirmed that the Division II championship will be played March 8-9 on the campus of one of the two competing institutions.

■ Agreed to announce the selections for the 1996 Divisions II and III championships at 10 a.m. (Central time) March 3.

■ Agreed to increase the regional advisory committees from four to five members for both the East and West regions.

■ Agreed to conduct evaluation conference calls on the following dates: December 12; January 9, 16, 23 and 30; and February 6, 13, 20 and 27.

Interpretations Committee minutes

Conference No. 5 May 8, 1995

Acting for the NCAA Council, the Interpretations Committee issued the following interpretations:

Intercollegiate Competition/ Open Lanes

1. Student-Athletes Participating in "Open Lanes" as Part of Collegiate Competition. A student-athlete who participates in an open lane as part of a collegiate competition (e.g., dual meet) is considered to be representing the institution against outside competition, regardless of whether the student-athlete's performance is included in the scoring of the competition. Under such circumstances, the student-athlete's participation satisfies the definition of intercollegiate competition and the student-athlete is charged with both a date of competition/contest and a season of competition in the applicable sport. [Reference: NCAA Bylaw 14.02.6-a (intercollegiate competition)]

Financial Aid/Nonrenewal/Hearing
2. Nonrenewal of Institutional Financial Aid/Hearing Opportunity. The committee reviewed issues related to the hearing opportunity provided to student-athletes whose financial aid is not renewed or is reduced for the ensuing academic year and determined the following:

a. When an institution notifies a student-athlete (who received a financial aid award the previous academic year and who has eligibility remaining in the sport) that the student-athlete's aid is not going to be renewed or is going to be reduced for the ensuing academic year, written notification must be provided to the student-athlete that he or she has the opportunity to request a hearing before the institutional agency making the award.

b. When an institution notifies a student-athlete that the student-athlete's financial aid is going to be reduced or canceled during the period of the award for one of the reasons set forth in 15.3.4.1, written notification must be provided to the student-athlete that he or she has the opportunity for a hearing before the institutional agency making the award. Further, any reduction or cancellation of aid during the period of the award may occur only after the student-athlete has had an opportunity for a hearing.

c. An institution's athletics department staff member may be a member of a committee (other than an athletics department or faculty athletics committee) that conducts hearings related to the nonrenewal or reduction of a student-athlete's financial aid. Under such circumstances, the athletics department staff member must be a standing member of the committee and may not serve as a member of a committee only for a specific student-athlete's hearing.

[References: 15.3.5.1 (institutional obligation), 15.3.5.1.1 (hearing opportunity required), 15.3.4.1 (reduction or cancellation permitted) and 15.3.4.1.3 (hearing opportunity required)]

Appearances/Employment/ Exhausted Eligibility

3. Compensation For Appearances Subsequent to Exhausting Eligibility. The committee referred to the Council the issue of whether a student-athlete who has exhausted eligibility in a particular sport may receive compensation from an outside entity for participation in activities related to the student-athlete's name, picture or appearance (e.g., autograph signings, speaking engagements) without including such compensation in the student-athlete's financial aid limit. The committee asked the Council also to consider whether, if the receipt of such compensation is permissible, an institution or representatives of its athletics interests should be allowed to arrange such activities for its student-athletes. [References: 15.1.1 (types of aid included in the limit) and 15.2.6.4 (after eligibility exhausted — all divisions), and IC 7/26/94, Item No. 5, and IC 12/15/93, Item No. 16]

Outside Teams/Fund-Raising/ Athletics Representative

4. Institution Providing List of Athletics Representatives to Student-Athletes. It is not permissible for an institution to provide to a student-athlete a list of its athletics representatives (i.e., boosters) for the purpose of contacting such individuals to participate in fund-raising activities related to the student-athlete's participation on an outside organization's competitive tour. [References: 16.02.3 (extra benefit), 16.12.2.1 (extra-benefit — general rule) and 16.8.1.3 (expenses for other competition), and IC 6/03/92, Item No. 3]

Partial Qualifier/ Nonqualifier/Practice

5. Nonqualifier or Partial Qualifier Observing a Member Institution's Practice (Divisions I and II). A student-athlete who is not a qualifier and, therefore, not eligible for practice sessions may observe a member institution's practice session that is open for observation to the general public, provided the institution's coach does not direct comments toward or instruct the partial qualifier or nonqualifier during such a practice session. [Reference: 14.3.2.4 (practice session attendance)]

Evaluation/Observations/ Multiple Contests

6. Coach Observing Multiple Competitions in Same Facility (Divisions I and II). An institution's coaching staff member who is attending an event in which multiple competitions are occurring at the same time in the same facility is charged with an evaluation of each prospect participating in the event that the coach observes for evaluation purposes (i.e., the coach is assessing the prospect's athletics ability). For example, if three volleyball competitions are occurring simultaneously in the same facility and a coach is observing the competition occurring only on one court, the coach is charged only with an evaluation of all prospects participating on that court, even though prospects participating on other courts in the same facility are within the coach's view. [References: 13.1.9 (limitations on number of evaluations — all sports), 13.1.9.5 (evaluations in team sports), 13.1.9.6 (evaluations in individual sports) and 13.1.9.7 (observations)]

Head Coach/Division I-A Football

7. Division I-A Head Football Coach Visiting Prospect's Educational Institution (Division I-A). A Division I-A head football coach who visits a prospect's educational institution during a contact period uses the coach's one contact per 13.1.2.7 for all football prospects being recruited at that institution, inasmuch as any visit to a prospect's educational institution during a contact period counts as a contact for all football prospects at that educational institution. [References: 13.02.3.1 (visit to prospect's educational institution — Divisions I-A and I-AA football) and 13.1.2.7 (off-campus contact)]

Medical Exams/Orientation Sessions

8. Medical Exams For Prospects Visiting Institution For Orientation Sessions (Division I). It is not permissible for an institution to administer medical exams to prospective student-athletes in conjunction with a visit to the institution's campus to attend a general orientation session conducted for all prospective students. [References: 13.12.2.6.2 (after signing or acceptance for enrollment), 13.16.2.4 (permissible expenses — student orientation sessions — Division I), 16.12.1.10 (student orientation sessions — Division I) and 17.7.8.2 (medical exams)]

Drug-test rate

Percentage ruled ineligible rises; increase in the number testing positive for marijuana a key factor marijuana use was not increasing among college students in 1993, it was much higher among high-school students at the time. By now, those students have reached college.

"Also, I think the perception of marijuana being bad has gone way down," Zobeck said. "On our campus, students are not afraid to talk about it or to write about it in papers. Some feel strongly that it should be legalized. It all contributes to the perception that it's not harmful."

"I think the perception of marijuana being bad has gone way down."

■ Ann K. Quinn Zobeck
NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards
and Medical Aspects of Sports

Zobeck said that the last examination of drug use by student-athletes showed that marijuana use by student-athletes was less than for the student body in general. However, she said that student-athletes tend to mirror the overall student body, so if the overall use is up, use by student-athletes likely would increase, too.

Even without the number of positive marijuana tests, the rate of positive-ineligibles still was up in 1994. In the winter and spring period, 0.7 percent of those tested were ruled ineligible because of a positive test, compared to 0.3 percent for winter and spring 1993. Of the 29 student-athletes who were ruled ineligible because of positive tests in winter and spring 1994, 27 were detected in the Association's year-round testing program in football and track and field. Of those 27, all of the positives were for anabolic steroids or masking agents. Six student-athletes did not show up for testing or refused to provide a specimen, which is treated the same as a positive test under the terms of the program.

Eight positive-ineligibles resulted in the fall period from the Association's new year-round testing program in Division II football.

In the winter and spring period, a total of 19 student-athletes (0.4 percent) tested positive but retained their eligibility when medical justification was documented, when an appeal was granted or until the results of a follow-up examination were provided (such athletes designated are designated as "positive-eligible" in the accompanying chart). In the fall, 33 student-athletes (0.7 percent) were positive-eligible.

Frank D. Uryasz, NCAA director of sports sciences, said that the Association does not attempt to interpret the results of the drug-testing program and that the results do not necessarily mean that less than one percent of all student-athletes are using drugs.

Any student-athlete failing the test is ineligible for at least one year after testing positive.

Exemptions

meaning that a team may participate in such an event annually and have that competition exempted from the annual contests limit.

The others would receive a "once-in-four-years" exemption, meaning that a team could participate in such an event only once in four years and have that competition exempted. (Events and their proposed exemptions will be published in a future issue of The NCAA News.)

Any event subsequently receiving an exemption would be exempted either annually or once in four years.

The special committee also is considering proposing that a team be permitted to participate in only one "once-in-four-years" exempted event annually. It also is considering proposing that no more than one team from a conference be permitted to participate in a single exempted event (except events for which teams are selected based on season-long performance, such as the postseason National Invitation Tournament in basketball).

■ Require exempted events and events seeking exemption to obtain certification annually from the Special Events Committee. The certification procedure would be similar to that currently used for special events such as bowl games and all-star contests.

■ Establish criteria and principles for use in evaluating events seeking exemptions.

■ Include among those criteria a requirement that the sponsors of such events help defray expenses of participating teams. Under the proposed legislation, events would be required to assume responsibility for some expenses immediately (for example, a $30 per diem for each member of a traveling party at an event) and would be expected to assume additional expenses within three years of adoption of the proposed legislation (for example, pay 50 percent of airfare for participating teams).

Rationale

The special committee believes that adoption of the proposed legislation will enable more teams overall and in each conference to participate in exempted events, and provide more student-athletes with the positive experiences of participation in such events.

It also believes that the adoption of criteria for granting exemptions will result in better management of such events.

The committee is planning a telephone conference June 26 to finalize its recommendations to the Council.

It also plans to provide copies of its final recommendations to representatives of events affected by the proposals.

As part of its effort to inform and seek input from event sponsors, the committee met with representatives of several schools and entities that sponsor currently exempted events. Those meetings included discussions of the operation of events and consideration of the financial implications of proposed exemption and certification criteria.

The participating sponsors included:

■ Football events: National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (sponsor of two preseason football contests).

■ Basketball events: San Juan Shootout; Maui Classic; University of Hawaii, Manoa; University of Alaska Anchorage; National Invitation Tournament; University of Hawaii at Hilo.

■ Sports other than football and basketball: Sun Bowl All-America Classic (golf) and universities in Hawaii and Alaska. (The committee also reviewed correspondence from organizations sponsoring events in women's softball and volleyball.)

CONFERENCE MEMBERS

The Northeast-10 Conference announced the addition of LeMoyné-Owen as a conference member, effective in the 1996-97 academic year.

SPORTS SPONSORSHIP

The Big West Conference will add women's soccer as a championship sport in fall 1996. The addition of soccer in the Big West will bring the number of championship sports to 18 — 10 women's and eight men's sports.

The Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference announced it will add men's and women's lacrosse as sponsored sports. Men's competition will begin in spring 1996 and women's competition will begin in spring 1997.

Utah State announced the addition of women's soccer, beginning in fall 1996.

AGREEMENTS

Raycom, Inc., and the Major College Baseball Alliance have signed a three-year agreement to manage and televise the inaugural Major College Baseball All-Star Game. Raycom will own television rights for the game, which will feature top Division I baseball players and will be inaugurated in April 1996.

CORRECTIONS

The name of an administrator who was promoted at Dartmouth was reported incorrectly in the NCAA Record section of the June 7 issue of The NCAA News. Jo-Ann Nester was promoted to associate athletics director for compliance and administration.

The number of consecutive team championships won by the LSU women's outdoor track and field team was reported incorrectly in a story on the Division I Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships in the June 7 issue of The NCAA News. The LSU women have won nine straight team titles, matching the record number won by the Southern California men's outdoor track and field team from 1935 through 1943.

1995 Column No. 24

NCAA Bylaw 13.16

Precollege expenses — fund-raising activities involving prospects

NCAA institutions should note that in accordance with Bylaw 13.16.1, an institution or a representative of an institution's athletics interests shall not offer, provide or arrange financial assistance, directly or indirectly, to pay (in whole or in part) the costs of a prospect's educational or other expenses for any period before his or her enrollment or so the prospect may obtain a postgraduate education. Thus, it is not permissible for an institution, in response to requests from high-school groups, to provide items (e.g., autographed balls, jerseys) to assist high schools in raising money for the high school's athletics (or other) programs. Further, during its June 6, 1991, telephone conference, the NCAA Interpretations Committee determined that an institution may not donate institutional memorabilia (e.g., jerseys, hats, T-shirts) to any organization for the purpose of being auctioned to raise funds to provide financial assistance to high-school students to attend the collegiate institutions of their choice.

Regarding permissible activities, in accordance with Bylaw 13.16.1.5.1.1, an institution may donate used athletics equipment to a nonprofit foundation established to distribute such equipment to high schools, provided the request for such donations is initiated by the foundation and the institution has no part in selecting the high schools that are to receive the equipment. Also, during its June 30, 1993, telephone conference, the Interpretations Committee determined that an institution's coach may participate in activities to raise funds to be donated to a foundation that will distribute the funds to high-school athletics programs, provided the request to participate in such activities is initiated by the foundation, the coach does not make actual financial contributions to the foundation and the coach or the coach's institution is not involved in selecting those high schools that are to receive the financial assistance.

NCAA Bylaw 13.11.1

Comments prior to signing

NCAA institutions should note that in accordance with Bylaw 13.11.1, prior to the signing of a prospect to a National Letter of Intent or institutional tender of financial aid, a member institution may comment publicly only to the extent of confirming its recruitment of the prospect. The institution may not comment generally about the prospect's ability or the contribution that the prospect might make to the institution's team. In addition, the institution is precluded from commenting in any manner as to the likelihood of the prospect's signing with the institution. Further, pursuant to Bylaw 13.11.1.1, it is not permissible for athletics department staff members to evaluate or rate a prospect for news media, scouting services or recruiting services prior to the prospect's signed acceptance of the institution's written offer of admission as a student and/or written tender of financial assistance to be provided upon the prospect's enrollment. During its February 16, 1995, telephone conference, the Interpretations Committee determined that it also is not permissible for a media entity to be present during any on-campus or off-campus recruiting contact that is made by an authorized institutional coaching staff member with a prospect.

NCAA Bylaw 14.5.5.3.11-(c) — one-time transfer exception/satisfactory progress

Division I institutions should note that legislative assistance column No. 19 (May 10, 1995, edition of The NCAA News) indicates that a student-athlete using the one-time transfer exception is not subject to the applicable percentage-of-degree requirements at the prior institution. The column should state the following:

During its April 24-26, 1995, meeting, the NCAA Council reviewed the provisions of Bylaw 14.5.5.3.11-(c) and the language of 1995 Convention Proposal No. M-8 regarding percentage-of-degree requirements for a student-athlete using the one-time transfer exception and agreed to adopt intent-based legislation (effective immediately), pursuant to Constitution 5.4.1.1.1, to exempt from Bylaw 14.5.5.3.11-(c) the consideration of the percentage-of-degree requirements at both the prior and the certifying institution. Accordingly, a student-athlete no longer has to meet the "25/50/75" standard as a condition of fulfilling the satisfactory-progress provisions of the one-time transfer exception. Please note that a student transferring to a Division I institution still must meet the applicable percentage-of-degree requirement at the new school to be eligible in accordance with NCAA satisfactory-progress requirements. However, a student who does not meet the requirement upon transfer now may fulfill the percentage-of-degree requirement and be certified eligible at the beginning of the institution's next regular term pursuant to Bylaws 14.4.3.2.1.2 and 14.4.3.2.2.2

This material was provided by the legislative services staff as an aid to member institutions. If an institution has a question or comment regarding this column, such correspondence should be directed to Nancy L. Mitchell, assistant executive director for legislative services, at the NCAA national office. This information is available on the Collegiate Sports Network.
